us. [9]If they say to us, 'Wait until we get to you,' then we'll stay where we are, and not go up to them. [10]But if they say, 'Come up to us,' then we will go up, for the LORD is delivering them into our hands. That shall be our sign." [11]They both showed themselves to the Philistine outpost and the Philistines said, "Look, some Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have been hiding." [12]The men of the outpost shouted to Jonathan and his arms-bearer, "Come up to us, and we'll teach you a lesson." Then Jonathan said to his arms-bearer, "Follow me, for the LORD will deliver them into the hands of Israel." [13]And Jonathan clambered up on his hands and feet, his arms-bearer behind him; [the Philistines] fell before Jonathan, and his arms-bearer finished them off behind him. [14]The initial attack that Jonathan and his arms-bearer made accounted for some twenty men, b-within a space about half a furrow long [in] an acre of land.-b [15]Terror broke out among all the troops both in the camp [and] in the field; the outposts and the raiders were also terrified. The very earth quaked, and a terror from God ensued.

[16]Saul's scouts in Gibeah of Benjamin saw that the multitude was e-scattering in all directions.-e [17]And Saul said to the troops with him, "Take a count and see who has left us." They took a count and found that Jonathan and his arms-bearer were missing. [18]Thereupon Saul said to Ahijah, "Bring the Ark[f] of God here"; for the Ark[f] of God was at the time among[g] the Israelites. [19]But while Saul was speaking to the priest, the confusion in the Philistine camp kept increasing; and Saul said to the priest, "Withdraw your hand." [20]Saul and the troops with him assembled and rushed into battle; they found [the Philistines] in very great confusion, every man's sword turned against his fellow.

21*b*-And the Hebrews who had previously sided with the Philistines, who had come up with them in the army [from] round about—they too joined the Israelites-b who were with Saul and Jonathan. 22When all the men of Israel who were hiding in the hill country of Ephraim heard that the Philistines were fleeing, they too pursued them in battle. 23Thus the LORD brought victory to Israel that day.

The fighting passed beyond Beth-aven. 24*h*-The men of Israel were distressed-h that day. For Saul had laid an oath upon the troops: "Cursed be the man who eats any food before night falls and I take revenge on my enemies." So none of the troops ate anything. 25Everybody came to a i-stack of beehives-i where some honey had spilled on the ground. 26When the troops came to the beehives*i* and found the flow of honey there, no one put*b* his hand to his mouth, for the troops feared the oath. 27Jonathan, however, had not heard his father adjure the troops. So he put out the stick he had with him, dipped it into the beehive of honey, and brought his hand back to his mouth; and his eyes lit up. 28At this one of the soldiers spoke up, "Your father adjured the troops: 'Cursed be the man who eats anything this day.' And so the troops are faint." 29Jonathan answered, "My father has brought trouble on the people. See for yourselves how my eyes lit up when I tasted that bit of honey. 30If only the troops had eaten today of spoil captured from the enemy, the defeat of the Philistines would have been greater still!"

31They struck down the Philistines that day from Michmas to Aijalon, and the troops were famished. 32The troops pounced on the spoil; they took the sheep and cows and calves and slaughtered them on the ground, and the troops ate with the blood.[j] [33]When it was reported to Saul that the troops were sinning against the LORD, eating with the blood, he said, "You have acted faithlessly. Roll a large stone over to me today."[k] [34]And Saul ordered, "Spread out among the troops and tell them that everyone must bring me his ox or his sheep and slaughter it here, and then eat. You must not sin against the LORD and eat with the blood." Every one of the troops brought [l]-his own ox with him-[l] that night and slaughtered it there. [35]Thus Saul set up an altar to the LORD; it was the first altar he erected to the LORD.

[36]Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines by night and plunder among them until the light of morning; and let us not leave a single survivor among them." "Do whatever you please," they replied. But the priest said, "Let us approach God here." [37]So Saul inquired of God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hands of Israel?" But this time He did not respond to him. [38]Then Saul said, "Come forward, all chief officers of the troops, and find out how this guilt was incurred today. [39]For as the LORD lives who brings victory to Israel, even if it was through my son Jonathan, he shall be put to death!" Not one soldier answered him. [40]And he said to all the Israelites, "You stand on one side, and my son Jonathan and I shall stand on the other." The troops said to Saul, "Do as you please." [41]Saul then said to the LORD, the God of Israel, [m]-"Show Thammim."-[m] Jonathan and Saul were indicated by lot, and the troops were cleared. [42]And Saul said, "Cast the lots between my son and me"; and Jonathan was indicated.

you done?" And Jonathan told him, "I only tasted a bit of honey with the tip of the stick in my hand. I am ready to die." [44]Saul said, "Thus and more may God do:[n] You shall be put to death, Jonathan!" [45]But the troops said to Saul, "Shall Jonathan die, after bringing this great victory to Israel? Never! As the LORD lives, not a hair of his head shall fall to the ground! For he brought this day to pass with the help of God." Thus the troops saved Jonathan and he did not die. [46]Saul broke off his pursuit of the Philistines, and the Philistines returned to their homes.

[47]After Saul had secured his kingship over Israel, he waged war on every side against all his enemies: against the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, the Philistines, and the kings[o] of Zobah; and wherever he turned he worsted [them]. [48]He was triumphant, defeating the Amalekites and saving Israel from those who plundered it.

[49]Saul's sons were: Jonathan, Ishvi,[p] and Malchishua; and the names of his two daughters were Merab, the older, and Michal, the younger. [50]The name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz; and the name of his army commander was Abiner[q] son of Saul's uncle Ner. [51]Kish, Saul's father, and Ner, Abner's father, were sons of Abiel.

[52]There was bitter war against the Philistines all the days of Saul; and whenever Saul noticed any stalwart man or warrior, he would take him into his service.

[2]"Thus said the LORD of Hosts: I am exacting the penalty for what Amalek did to Israel, for the assault he made upon them on the road, on their way up from Egypt. [3]Now go, attack Amalek, and proscribe[a] all that belongs to him. Spare no one, but kill alike men and women, infants and sucklings, oxen and sheep, camels and asses!"

[4]Saul mustered the troops and enrolled them at Telaim: 200,000 men on foot, and 10,000 men of Judah. [5]Then Saul advanced as far as the city of Amalek and [b]lay in wait[b] in the wadi. [6]Saul said to the Kenites, "Come, withdraw at once from among the Amalekites, that I may not destroy you along with them; for you showed kindness to all the Israelites when they left Egypt." So the Kenites withdrew from among the Amalekites.

[7]Saul destroyed Amalek from Havilah all the way to Shur, which is close to Egypt, [8]and he captured King Agag of Amalek alive. He proscribed all the people, putting them to the sword; [9]but Saul and the troops spared Agag and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the second-born,[c] the lambs, and all else that was of value. They would not proscribe them; they proscribed only [b]what was cheap and worthless.[b]

[10]The word of the LORD then came to Samuel: [11]"I regret that I made Saul king, for he has turned away from Me and has not carried out My commands." Samuel was distressed and he entreated the LORD all night long. [12]Early in the morning Samuel went to meet Saul. Samuel was told, "Saul went to Carmel, where he erected a monument for himself; then he left and went on down to Gilgal."

[13]When Samuel came to Saul, Saul said to him, "Blessed are you of the LORD! I have fulfilled the LORD's command." [14]"Then what," demanded Samuel, "is this bleating of sheep in my ears, and the lowing of oxen that I hear?" [15]Saul answered, "They were brought from the Amalekites, for the troops spared the choicest of the sheep and oxen for sacrificing to the LORD your God. And we proscribed the rest." [16]Samuel said to Saul, "Stop! Let me tell you what the LORD said to me last night!" "Speak," he replied. [17]And Samuel said, "You may look small to yourself, but you are the head of the tribes of Israel. The LORD anointed you king over Israel, [18]and the LORD sent you on a mission, saying, 'Go and proscribe the sinful Amalekites; make war on them until you have exterminated them.' [19]Why did you disobey the LORD and swoop down on the spoil [d]-in defiance of the LORD's will?"-[d] [20]Saul said to Samuel, "But I did obey the LORD! I performed the mission on which the LORD sent me: I captured King Agag of Amalek, and I proscribed Amalek, [21]and the troops took from the spoil some sheep and oxen—the best of what had been proscribed—to sacrifice to the LORD your God at Gilgal." [22]But Samuel said:

"Does the LORD delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices
As much as in obedience to the LORD's command?
Surely, obedience is better than sacrifice,
Compliance than the fat of rams.
[23]For rebellion is like the sin of divination,
Defiance, like the iniquity of teraphim.[e]
Because you rejected the LORD's command,
He has rejected you as king."

[24]Saul said to Samuel, "I did wrong to transgress the LORD's command and your instructions; but I was afraid of the troops and I yielded to them. [25]Please, forgive my offense and come back with me, and I will bow low to the LORD." [26]But Samuel said to Saul, "I will not go back with you; for you have rejected the LORD's command, and the LORD has rejected you as king over Israel."

[27]As Samuel turned to leave, Saul seized the corner of his robe, and it tore. [28]And Samuel said to him, "The LORD has this day torn the kingship over Israel away from you and has given it to another who is worthier than you. [29]Moreover, the Glory[b] of Israel does not deceive or change His mind, for He is not human that He should change His mind." [30]But [Saul] pleaded, "I did wrong. Please, honor me in the presence of the elders of my people and in the presence of Israel, and come back with me until I have bowed low to the LORD your God." [31]So Samuel followed Saul back, and Saul bowed low to the LORD.

[32]Samuel said, "Bring forward to me King Agag of Amalek." Agag approached him [f]-with faltering steps;-[f] and Agag said, "Ah, bitter death is at hand!"[b]

[33]Samuel said:

"As your sword has bereaved women,
So shall your mother be bereaved among women."

And Samuel [b]-cut Agag down-[b] before the LORD at Gilgal.

[34]Samuel then departed for Ramah, and Saul went up to his home at Gibeah of Saul.

[35]Samuel never saw Saul again to the day of his death. But Samuel grieved over Saul, because the LORD regretted that He had made Saul king over Israel.

[1]And the LORD said to Samuel, "How long will you grieve over Saul, since I have rejected him as king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and set out; I am sending you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have decided on one of his sons to be king." [2]Samuel replied, "How can I go? If Saul hears of it, he will kill me." The LORD answered, "Take a heifer with you, and say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.' [3]Invite Jesse to the sacrificial feast, and then I will make known to you what you shall do; you shall anoint for Me the one I point out to you." [4]Samuel did what the LORD commanded. When he came to Bethlehem, the elders of the city went out in alarm to meet him and said, "Do you come on a peaceful errand?" [5]"Yes," he replied, "I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. Purify yourselves and join me in the sacrificial feast." He also instructed Jesse and his sons to purify themselves and invited them to the sacrificial feast.

[6]When they arrived and he saw Eliab, he thought: "Surely the LORD's anointed stands before Him." [7]But the LORD said to Samuel, "Pay no attention to his appearance or his stature, for I have rejected him. For not as man sees [does the LORD see];[a] man sees only what is visible, but the LORD sees into the heart." [8]Then Jesse called Abinadab and had him pass before Samuel; but he said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either." [9]Next Jesse presented Shammah; and again he said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either." [10]Thus Jesse presented seven of his sons before Samuel, and Samuel said to Jesse, "The LORD has not chosen any of these."

[11]Then Samuel asked Jesse, "Are these all the boys you have?" He replied, "There is still the youngest; he is tending the flock." And Samuel said to Jesse, "Send someone to bring him, for we will not b-sit down to eat-b until he gets here." [12]So they sent and brought him. He was b-ruddy-cheeked, bright-eyed,-b and handsome. And the LORD said, "Rise and anoint him, for this is the one." [13]Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the presence of his brothers; and the spirit of the LORD gripped David from that day on. Samuel then set out for Ramah.

[14]Now the spirit of the LORD had departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the LORD began to terrify him. [15]Saul's courtiers said to him, "An evil spirit of God is terrifying you. [16]Let our lord give the order [and] the courtiers in attendance on you will look for someone who is skilled at playing the lyre; whenever the evil spirit of God comes over you, he will play it[b] and you will feel better." [17]So Saul said to his courtiers, "Find me someone who can play well and bring him to me." [18]One of the attendants spoke up, "I have observed a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who is skilled in music; he is a stalwart fellow and a warrior, sensible in speech, and handsome in appearance, and the LORD is with him." [19]Whereupon Saul sent messengers to Jesse to say, "Send me your son David, who is with the flock." [20]Jesse took [b]-an ass [laden with]-[b] bread, a skin of wine, and a kid, and sent them to Saul by his son David. [21]So David came to Saul and entered his service; [Saul] took a strong liking to him and made him one of his arms-bearers. [22]Saul sent word to Jesse, "Let David remain in my service, for I am pleased with him." [23]Whenever the [evil] spirit of God came upon Saul, David would take the lyre and play it;[b] Saul would find relief and feel better, and the evil spirit would leave him.

liath of Gath, and he was six cubits and a span tall. [5]He had a bronze helmet on his head, and wore a breastplate of scale armor, a bronze breastplate weighing five thousand shekels. [6]He had bronze greaves on his legs, and a bronze javelin [slung] from his shoulders. [7]The shaft of his spear was like a weaver's bar, and the iron head of his spear weighed six hundred shekels; and the shield-bearer marched in front of him.

[8]He stopped and called out to the ranks of Israel and he said to them, "Why should you come out to engage in battle? I am the Philistine [champion], and you are Saul's servants. Choose[b] one of your men and let him come down against me. [9]If he bests me in combat and kills me, we will become your slaves; but if I best him and kill him, you shall be our slaves and serve us." [10]And the Philistine ended, "I herewith defy the ranks of Israel. Get me a man and let's fight it out!" [11]When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and terror-stricken.

[12]David was the son of a certain Ephrathite of Bethlehem in Judah whose name was Jesse. He had eight sons, and in the days of Saul the man was already old, advanced in years.[b] [13]The three oldest sons of Jesse had left and gone with Saul to the war. The names of his three sons who had gone to the war were Eliab the first-born, the next Abinadab, and the third Shammah; [14]and David was the youngest. The three oldest had followed Saul, [15]and David would go back and forth from attending on Saul to shepherd his father's flock at Bethlehem.

[17]Jesse said to his son David, "Take an ephah of this parched corn and these ten loaves of bread for your brothers, and carry them quickly to your brothers in camp. [18]Take these ten cheeses[b] to the captain of their thousand. Find out how your brothers are and bring some token[b] from them." [19]Saul and [c]-the brothers-[c] and all the men of Israel were in the valley of Elah, in the war against the Philistines.

[20]Early next morning, David left someone in charge of the flock, took [the provisions], and set out, as his father Jesse had instructed him. He reached the barricade[b] as the army was going out to the battle lines shouting the war cry. [21]Israel and the Philistines drew up their battle lines opposite each other. [22]David left his baggage with the man in charge of the baggage and ran toward the battle line and went to greet his brothers. [23]While he was talking to them, the champion, whose name was Goliath, the Philistine of Gath, stepped forward from the Philistine ranks and spoke the same words as before; and David heard him.

[24]When the men of Israel saw the man, they fled in terror. [25]And the men of Israel were saying [among themselves], "Do you see that man coming out? He comes out to defy Israel! The man who kills him will be rewarded by the king with great riches; he will also give him his daughter in marriage and grant exemption[d] to his father's house in Israel." [26]David asked the men standing near him, "What will be done for the man who kills that Philistine and removes the disgrace from Israel? Who is that uncircumcised Philistine that he dares defy the ranks of the living God?" [27]The troops told him in the same words what would be done for the man who killed him.

[28]When Eliab, his oldest brother, heard him speaking to the men, Eliab became angry with David and said, "Why did you come down here, and with whom did you leave those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your impudence and your impertinence:[e] you came down to watch the fighting!" [29]But David replied, "What have I done now? I was only asking!" [30]And he turned away from him toward someone else; he asked the same question, and the troops gave him the same answer as before.

[31]The things David said were overheard and were reported to Saul, who had him brought over. [32]David said to Saul, "Let [f]no man's[f] courage fail him. Your servant will go and fight that Philistine!" [33]But Saul said to David, "You cannot go to that Philistine and fight him; you are only a boy, and he has been a warrior from his youth!" [34]David replied to Saul, "Your servant has been tending his father's sheep, and if a lion or[b] a bear came and carried off an animal from the flock, [35]I would go after it and fight it and rescue it from its mouth. And if it attacked me, I would seize it by the beard and strike it down and kill it. [36]Your servant has killed both lion and bear; and that uncircumcised Philistine shall end up like one of them, for he has defied the ranks of the living God. [37]The LORD," David went on, "who saved me from lion and bear will also save me from that Philistine." "Then go," Saul said to David, "and may the LORD be with you!"

[38]Saul clothed David in his own garment; he placed a bronze helmet on his head and fastened [g]a breastplate on him.[g] [39]David girded his sword over his garment. Then he [h]tried to walk; but[h] he was not used to it. And David said to Saul, "I cannot walk in these, for I am not used to them." So David took them off. [40]He took his stick, picked a few[i] smooth stones from the wadi, put them in the pocket[b] of his shepherd's bag and, sling in hand, he went toward the Philistine.

[42]When the Philistine caught sight of David, he scorned him, for he was but a boy, ruddy and handsome. [43]And the Philistine called out to David, "Am I a dog that you come against me with sticks?" The Philistine cursed David by his gods; [44]and the Philistine said to David, "Come here, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the field."

[45]David replied to the Philistine, "You come against me with sword and spear and javelin; but I come against you in the name of the LORD of Hosts, the God of the ranks of Israel, whom you have defied. [46]This very day the LORD will deliver you into my hands. I will kill you and cut off your head; and I will give [j]-the carcasses-[j] of the Philistine camp to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth. All the earth shall know that there is a God in[k] Israel. [47]And this whole assembly shall know that the LORD can give victory without sword or spear. For the battle is the LORD's, and He will deliver you into our hands."

[48]When the Philistine began to advance toward him again, David quickly ran up to the battle line to face the Philistine. [49]David put his hand into the bag; he took out a stone and slung it. It struck the Philistine in the forehead; the stone sank into his forehead, and he fell face down on the ground. [50]Thus David bested the Philistine with sling and stone; he struck him down and killed him. David had no sword; [51]so David ran up and stood over the Philistine, grasped his sword and pulled it from its sheath; and with it he dispatched him and cut off his head.

When the Philistines saw that their warrior was dead, they ran. [52]The men of Israel and Judah rose up with a war cry and they pursued the Philistines all the way to Gai[l] and up to the gates of Ekron; the Philistines fell mortally

When [David] finished speaking with Saul, Jonathan's soul became bound up with the soul of David; Jonathan loved David as himself. [2]Saul took him [into his service] that day and would not let him return to his father's house.—[3]Jonathan and David made a pact, because [Jonathan] loved him as himself. [4]Jonathan took off the cloak and tunic he was wearing and gave them to David, together with his sword, bow, and belt. [5]David went out [with the troops], and he was successful in every mission on which Saul sent him, and Saul put him in command of all the soldiers; this pleased all the troops and Saul's courtiers as well. [6]When the [troops] came home [and] David returned from killing the Philistine, [a-]the women of all the towns of Israel came out singing and dancing to greet King Saul[-a] with timbrels, shouting, and sistrums.[b] [7]The women sang as they danced, and they chanted:

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain. Septuagint reads "the dancing women came out to meet David from all the towns of Israel."

b Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

Saul has slain his thousands;
David, his tens of thousands!

[8]Saul was much distressed and greatly vexed about the matter. For he said, "To David they have given tens of thousands, and to me they have given thousands. All that he lacks is the kingship!" [9]From that day on Saul kept a jealous eye on David. [10]The next day an evil spirit of God gripped Saul and he began to rave in the house, while David was playing [the lyre], as he did daily. Saul had a spear in his hand, [11]and Saul threw[c] the spear, thinking to pin David to the wall. But David eluded him twice. [12]Saul was afraid of David, for the LORD was with him and had turned away from Saul. [13]So Saul removed him from his presence and appointed him chief of a thousand, [d]-to march at the head of the troops.-[d] [14]David was successful in all his undertakings, for the LORD was with him; [15]and when Saul saw that he was successful, he dreaded him. [16]All Israel and Judah loved David, for he marched at their head.

[17]Saul said to David, "Here is my older daughter, Merab; I will give her to you in marriage; in return, you be my warrior and fight the battles of the LORD." Saul thought: "Let not my hand strike him; let the hand of the Philistines strike him." [18]David replied to Saul, "Who am I and [e]-what is my life-[e]—my father's family in Israel—that I should become Your Majesty's son-in-law?" [19]But at the time that Merab, daughter of Saul, should have been given to David, she was given in marriage to Adriel the Meholathite. [20]Now Michal daughter of Saul had fallen in love with David; and when this was reported to Saul, he was pleased. [21]Saul thought: "I will give her to him, and she can serve as a snare for him, so that the Philistines may kill him." So Saul said to David, [b]-"You can become my son-in-law even now through the second one."-[b] [22]And Saul instructed his courtiers to say to David privately, "The king is fond of you and all his courtiers like you. So why not become the king's son-in-law?" [23]When the king's courtiers repeated these words to David, David replied, "Do you think that becoming the son-in-law of a king is a small matter, when I am but a poor man of no consequence?" [24]Saul's courtiers reported to him, "This is what David answered." [25]And Saul said, "Say this to David: 'The king desires no other bride-price than the foreskins of a hundred Philistines, as vengeance on the king's enemies.'"—Saul intended to bring about David's death at the hands of the Philistines.—[26]When his courtiers told this to David, David was pleased with the idea of becoming the king's son-in-law. [b]-Before the time had expired,-[b] [27]David went out with his men and killed two hundred[f] Philistines; David brought their foreskins and [b]-they were counted out-[b] for the king, that he might become the king's son-in-law. Saul then gave him his daughter Michal in marriage. [28]When Saul realized that the LORD was with David [g]-and that Michal daughter of Saul loved him,-[g] [29]Saul grew still more afraid of David; and Saul was David's enemy ever after.

[30]The Philistine chiefs marched out [to battle]; and every time they marched out, David was more successful than all the other officers of Saul. His reputation soared.

Saul urged his son Jonathan and all his courtiers to kill David. But Saul's son Jonathan was very fond of David, [2]and Jonathan told David, "My father Saul is bent on killing you. Be on your guard tomorrow morning; get to a secret place and remain in hiding. [3]I will go out and stand next to my father in the field where you will be, and I will speak to my father about you. If I learn anything, I will tell you." 4So Jonathan spoke well of David to his father Saul. He said to him, "Let not Your Majesty wrong his servant David, for he has not wronged you; indeed, all his actions have been very much to your advantage. 5He took his life in his hands and killed the Philistine, and the LORD wrought a great victory for all Israel. You saw it and rejoiced. Why then should you incur the guilt of shedding the blood of an innocent man, killing David without cause?" 6Saul heeded Jonathan's plea, and Saul swore, "As the LORD lives, he shall not be put to death!" 7Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all this. Then Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he served him as before.

8Fighting broke out again. David went out and fought the Philistines. He inflicted a great defeat upon them and they fled before him. 9Then an evil spirit of the LORD came upon Saul while he was sitting in his house with his spear in his hand, and David was playing [the lyre]. 10Saul tried to pin David to the wall with the spear, but he eluded Saul, so that he drove the spear into the wall. David fled and got away.

That night 11Saul sent messengers to David's home to keep watch on him and to kill him in the morning. But David's wife Michal told him, "Unless you run for your life tonight, you will be killed tomorrow." 12Michal let David down from the window and he escaped and fled. 13Michal then took the household idol, laid it on the bed, and covered it with a cloth; and at its head she put a net of goat's hair. 14Saul sent messengers to seize David; but she said, "He is sick." 15Saul, however, sent back the messengers to see David for themselves. "Bring him up to me in the bed," he ordered, "that he may be put to death." 16When the messengers came, they found the household idol in the bed, with the net of goat's hair at its head. [17]Saul said to Michal, "Why did you play that trick on me and let my enemy get away safely?" "Because," Michal answered Saul, "he said to me: 'Help me get away or I'll kill you.'"

[18]David made good his escape, and he came to Samuel at Ramah and told him all that Saul had done to him. He and Samuel went and stayed at Naioth. [19]Saul was told that David was at Naioth in Ramah, [20]and Saul sent messengers to seize David. They[a] saw a band of prophets [b]-speaking in ecstasy,-[b] with Samuel standing by [c]-as their leader;-[c] and the spirit of God came upon Saul's messengers and they too began to speak in ecstasy. [21]When Saul was told about this, he sent other messengers; but they too spoke in ecstasy. Saul sent a third group of messengers; and they also spoke in ecstasy. [22]So he himself went to Ramah. When he came to [d]-the great cistern at Secu,-[d] he asked, "Where are Samuel and David?" and was told that they were at Naioth in Ramah. [23]He was on his way there, to Naioth in Ramah, when the spirit of God came upon him too; and he walked on, speaking in ecstasy, until he reached Naioth in Ramah. [24]Then he too stripped off his clothes and he too spoke in ecstasy before Samuel; and he lay naked all that day and all night. That is why people say, "Is Saul too among the prophets?"

Jonathan, "Why didn't the son of Jesse[o] come to the meal yesterday or today?" [28]Jonathan answered Saul, "David begged leave of me to go to Bethlehem. [29]He said, 'Please let me go, for we are going to have a family feast in our town and my brother has summoned me to it. Do me a favor, let me slip away to see my kinsmen.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

[30]Saul flew into a rage against Jonathan. "You son of a perverse, rebellious woman!" he shouted. "I know that you side with the son of Jesse—to your shame, and to the shame of your mother's nakedness! [31]For as long as the son of Jesse lives on earth, neither you nor your kingship will be secure. Now then, have him brought to me, for he is marked for death." [32]But Jonathan spoke up and said to his father, "Why should he be put to death? What has he done?" [33]At that, Saul threw[p] his spear at him to strike him down; and Jonathan realized that his father was determined to do away with David. [34]Jonathan rose from the table in a rage. He ate no food on the second day of the new moon, because he was grieved about David, and because his father had humiliated him.

[35]In the morning, Jonathan went out into the open for the meeting with David, accompanied by a young boy. [36]He said to the boy, "Run ahead and find the arrows that I shoot." And as the boy ran, he shot the arrows past him. [37]When the boy came to the place where the arrows shot by Jonathan had fallen, Jonathan called out to the boy, "Hey, the arrows are beyond you!" [38]And Jonathan called after the boy, "Quick, hurry up. Don't stop!" So Jonathan's boy gathered the arrows and came back to his master.—[39]The boy suspected nothing; only Jonathan and David knew the arrangement.—[40]Jonathan handed the gear to his boy and told him, "Take these back to the town." [41]When the boy got there, David [q-]emerged from his concealment at-[q] the Negeb.[r] He flung himself face down on the ground and bowed low three times. They kissed each other and wept together; David wept the longer.

[42]Jonathan said to David, "Go in peace! For we two have sworn to each other in the name of the LORD: 'May the LORD be [witness] between you and me, and between your offspring and mine, forever!'"

[1]David then went his way, and Jonathan returned to the town.

[2]David went to the priest Ahimelech at Nob. Ahimelech came out in alarm to meet David, and he said to him, "Why are you alone, and no one with you?" [3]David answered the priest Ahimelech, "The king has ordered me on a mission, and he said to me, 'No one must know anything about the mission on which I am sending you and for which I have given you orders.' So I have [a-]directed [my] young men to-[a] such and such a place. [4]Now then, what have you got on hand? Any[b] loaves of bread? Let me have them—or whatever is available." [5]The priest answered David, "I have no ordinary bread on hand; there is only consecrated bread—provided the young men have kept away from women." [6]In reply to the priest, David said, "I assure you that women have been kept from us, as always. Whenever I went on a mission, even if the journey was a common one, the vessels of the young men were consecrated; all the more then [c-]may consecrated food be put into their vessels today."-[c] [7]So the priest gave him consecrated bread, because there was none there except the bread of display, which had been removed from the presence of the LORD, to be replaced by warm bread as soon as it was taken away.—[8]Now one of Saul's officials was there that day, [d-]detained before the LORD;[-d] his name was Doeg the Edomite, Saul's [e-]chief herdsman.[-e]

[9]David said to Ahimelech, "Haven't you got a spear or sword on hand? I didn't take my sword or any of my weapons with me, because the king's mission was urgent." [10]The priest said, "There is the sword of Goliath the Philistine whom you slew in the valley of Elah; it is over there, wrapped in a cloth, behind the ephod. If you want to take that one, take it, for there is none here but that one." David replied, "There is none like it; give it to me."

[11]That day David continued on his flight from Saul and he came to King Achish of Gath. [12]The courtiers of Achish said to him, "Why, that's David, king of the land! That's the one of whom they sing as they dance:

Saul has slain his thousands;
David, his tens of thousands."

[13]These words worried David and he became very much afraid of King Achish of Gath. [14]So he concealed his good sense from them; he feigned madness [f-]for their benefit.[-f] He scratched marks on the doors of the gate and let his saliva run down his beard. [15]And Achish said to his courtiers, "You see the man is raving; why bring him to me? [16]Do I lack madmen that you have brought this fellow to rave for me? Should this fellow enter my house?"

22

David departed from there and escaped to the cave[a] of Adullam; and when his brothers and all his father's house heard, they joined him down there. [2]Everyone who was in straits and everyone who was in debt and everyone who was desperate joined him, and he became their leader; there were about four hundred men with him. [3]David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab, and he said to the king of Moab, "Let my father and mother come [and stay] with you, until I know what God will do for me." [4]So he [b-]led them to[-b] the king of Moab, and they stayed with him as long as David remained in the stronghold.[a] [5]But the prophet Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold; go at once to the territory of Judah." So David left and went to the forest of Hereth.

[6]When Saul heard that David and the men with him had been located—Saul was then in Gibeah, sitting under the tamarisk tree on the height, spear in hand, with all his courtiers in attendance upon him—[7]Saul said to the courtiers standing about him, "Listen, men of Benjamin! Will the son of Jesse[c] give fields and vineyards to every one of you? And will he make all of you captains of thousands or captains of hundreds? [8]Is that why all of you have conspired against me? For no one informs me when my own son makes a pact with the son of Jesse; no one is concerned[d] for me and no one informs me when my own son has set my servant [e-]in ambush[-e] against me, as is now the case."

[9]Doeg the Edomite, who was standing among the courtiers of Saul, spoke up: "I saw the son of Jesse come to Ahimelech son of Ahitub at Nob. [10]He inquired of the LORD on his behalf and gave him provisions; he also gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine." [11]Thereupon the king sent for the priest Ahimelech son of Ahitub and for all the priests belonging to his father's house at Nob. They all came to the king, [12]and Saul said, "Listen to me, son[c] of Ahitub." "Yes, my lord," he replied. [13]And Saul said to him, "Why have you and the son of Jesse conspired against me? You gave him food and a sword, and inquired of God for him—that he may rise [e]-in ambush-[e] against me, as is now the case."

[14]Ahimelech replied to the king, "But who is there among all your courtiers as trusted as David, son-in-law of Your Majesty and [f]-obedient to your bidding,-[f] and esteemed in your household? [15]This is the first time that I inquired of God for him; [g]-I have done no wrong.-[g] Let not Your Majesty find fault with his servant [or] with any of my father's house; for your servant knew nothing whatever about all this." [16]But the king said, "You shall die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house." [17]And the king commanded the guards standing by, "Turn about and kill the priests of the LORD, for they are in league with David; they knew he was running away and they did not inform me." But the king's servants would not raise a hand to strike down the priests of the LORD. [18]Thereupon the king said to Doeg, "You, Doeg, go and strike down the priests." And Doeg the Edomite went and struck down the priests himself; that day, he killed eighty-five men [h]-who wore the linen ephod.-[h] [19]He put Nob, the town of the priests, to the sword: men and women, children and infants, oxen, asses, and sheep—[all] to the sword.

[20]But one son of Ahimelech son of Ahitub escaped—his name was Abiathar—and he fled to David. [21]When Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the priests of the LORD, [22]David said to Abiathar, "I knew that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would tell Saul. I [i]-am to blame for all the deaths-[i] in your father's house. [23]Stay with me; do not be afraid; for [i]-whoever seeks your life must seek my life also.-[i] It will be my care to guard you."

23 David was told: "The Philistines are raiding Keilah and plundering the threshing floors." [2]David consulted the LORD, "Shall I go and attack those Philistines?" And the LORD said to David, "Go; attack the Philistines and you will save Keilah." [3]But David's men said to him, "Look, we are afraid here in Judah, how much more if we go to Keilah against the forces of the Philistines!" [4]So David consulted the LORD again, and the LORD answered him, "March down at once to Keilah, for I am going to deliver the Philistines into your hands." [5]David and his men went to Keilah and fought against the Philistines; he drove off their cattle and inflicted a severe defeat on them. Thus David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

[6]When Abiathar son of Ahimelech fled to David at Keilah, [a-]he brought down an ephod with him.[-a]

[7]Saul was told that David had come to Keilah, and Saul thought, "God has delivered[a] him into my hands, for he has shut himself in by entering a town with gates and bars." [8]Saul summoned all the troops for war, to go down to Keilah and besiege David and his men. [9]When David learned that Saul was planning[a] to harm him, he told the priest Abiathar to bring the ephod forward. [10]And David said, "O LORD, God of Israel, Your servant has heard that Saul intends to come to Keilah and destroy the town because of me. [11]Will the citizens of Keilah deliver me into his hands? Will Saul come down, as Your servant has heard? O LORD, God of Israel, tell Your servant!" And the LORD said, "He will." [12]David continued, "Will the citizens of Keilah deliver me and my men into Saul's hands?" And the LORD answered, "They will." [13]So David and his men, about six hundred in number, left Keilah at once and moved about wherever they could. And when Saul was told that David had got away from Keilah, he did not set out.

[14]David was staying [a]-in the strongholds of the wilderness [of Judah];-[a] he stayed in the hill country, in the wilderness of Ziph. Saul searched for him constantly, but God did not deliver him into his hands. [15]David was once at Horesh in the wilderness of Ziph, when David learned that Saul had come out to seek his life. [16]And Saul's son Jonathan came to David at Horesh and encouraged him in [the name of] God. [17]He said to him, "Do not be afraid: the hand of my father Saul will never touch you. You are going to be king over Israel and I shall be second to you; and even my father Saul knows this is so." [18]And the two of them entered into a pact before the LORD. David remained in Horesh, and Jonathan went home.

[19][b]Some Ziphites went up to Saul in Gibeah and said, "David is hiding among us in the strongholds of Horesh, at the hill of Hachilah south of Jeshimon. [20]So if Your Majesty has the desire to come down, come down, and it will be our task to deliver him into Your Majesty's hands." [21]And Saul replied, "May you be blessed of the LORD for the compassion you have shown me! [22]Go now and prepare further. Look around and learn what places he sets foot on [and] who has seen him there, for I have been told he is a very cunning fellow. [23]Look around and learn in which of all his hiding places he has been hiding, and return to me when you are certain. I will then go with you, and if he is in the region, I will search him out among all the clans of Judah."

[24]They left at once for Ziph, ahead of Saul; David and his men were then in the wilderness of Maon, in the Arabah, to the south of Jeshimon. [25]When Saul and his men came to search, David was told about it; and he went David went from there and stayed in the wildernesses of En-gedi.

[2]When Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, he was told that David was in the wilderness of En-gedi. [3]So Saul took three thousand picked men from all Israel and went in search of David and his men [a]-in the direction of the rocks of the wild goats;-[a] [4]and he came to the sheepfolds along the way. There was a cave there, and Saul went in [b]-to relieve himself.-[b] Now David and his men were sitting in the back of the cave.

Saul left the cave and started on his way. [9]Then David also went out of the cave and called after Saul, "My lord king!" Saul looked around and David bowed low in homage, with his face to the ground. [10]And David said to Saul, "Why do you listen to the people who say, 'David is out to do you harm?' [11]You can see for yourself now that the LORD delivered you into my hands in the cave today. And though [a]-I was urged-[a] to kill you, I showed you pity;[f] for I said, 'I will not raise a hand against my lord, since he is the LORD's anointed.' [12]Please, sir,[g] take a close look at the corner of your cloak in my hand; for when I cut off the corner of your cloak, I did not kill you. You must see plainly that I have done nothing evil or rebellious, and I have never wronged you. Yet you are bent on taking my life. [13]May the LORD judge between you and me! And may He take vengeance upon you for me, but my hand will never touch you. [14]As the ancient proverb has it: 'Wicked deeds come from wicked men!' My hand will never touch you. [15]Against whom has the king of Israel come out? Whom are you pursuing? A dead dog? A single flea? [16]May the LORD be arbiter and may He judge between you and me! May He take note and uphold my cause, and vindicate me against you."

[17]When David finished saying these things to Saul, Saul said, "Is that your voice, my son David?" And Saul broke down and wept. [18]He said to David, "You are right, not I; for you have treated me generously, but I have treated you badly. [19]Yes, you have just revealed how generously you treated me, for the LORD delivered me into your hands and you did not kill me. [20]If a man meets his enemy, does he let him go his way unharmed? Surely, the LORD will reward you generously for [h]-what you have done for me

Samuel died, and all Israel gathered and made lament for him; and they buried him in Ramah, his home.

David went down to the wilderness of Paran.[a]

[2]There was a man in Maon whose possessions were in Carmel. The man was very wealthy; he owned three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. At the time, he was shearing his sheep in Carmel. [3]The man's name was Nabal, and his wife's name was Abigail. The woman was intelligent and beautiful, but the man, a Calebite, was a hard man and an evildoer. [4]David was in the wilderness when he heard that Nabal was shearing his sheep. [5]David dispatched ten young men, and David instructed the young men, "Go up to Carmel. When you come to Nabal, greet him in my name. [6]Say [b]-as follows: 'To life!-[b] Greetings to you and to your household and to all that is yours! [7]I hear that you are now doing your shearing. As you know, your shepherds have been with us; we did not harm them, and nothing of theirs was missing all the time they were in Carmel. [8]Ask your young men and they will tell you. So receive these young men graciously, for we have come on a festive occasion. Please give your servants and your son David whatever you can.'"

[9]David's young men went and delivered this message to Nabal in the name of David. When they stopped speaking, [10]Nabal answered David's servants, "Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? There are many slaves nowadays who run away from their masters. [11]Should I then take my bread and my water,[c] and the meat that I slaughtered for my own shearers, and give them to men who come from I don't know where?" [12]Thereupon David's young men retraced their steps; and when they got back, they told him all this. [13]And David said to his men, "Gird on your swords." Each girded on his sword; David too girded on his sword. About four hundred men went up after David, while two hundred remained with the baggage.

[14]One of [Nabal's] young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, that David had sent messengers from the wilderness to greet their master, and that he had spurned[b] them. [15]"But the men had been very friendly to us; we were not harmed, nor did we miss anything all the time that we went about with them while we were in the open. [16]They were a wall about us both by night and by day all the time that we were with them tending the flocks. [17]So consider carefully what you should do, for harm threatens our master and all his household; he is such a nasty fellow that no one can speak to him."

[18]Abigail quickly got together two hundred loaves of bread, two jars of wine, five dressed sheep, five *seah*s of parched corn, one hundred cakes of raisin, and two hundred cakes of pressed figs. She loaded them on asses, [19]and she told her young men, "Go on ahead of me, and I'll follow you"; but she did not tell her husband Nabal. [20]She was riding on the ass and going down a trail[b] on the hill, when David and his men appeared, coming down toward her; and she met them.—[21]Now David had been saying, "It was all for nothing that I protected that fellow's possessions in the wilderness, and that nothing he owned is missing. He has paid me back evil for good. [22]May God do thus and more to [d]-the enemies of-[d] David if, by the light of morning, I leave [e]-a single male-[e] of his."—[23]When Abigail saw David, she quickly dismounted from the ass and threw herself face down before[b] David, bowing to the ground. [24]Prostrate at his feet, she pleaded, "Let the blame be mine, my lord, but let your handmaid speak to you; hear your maid's plea. [25]Please, my lord, pay no attention to that wretched fellow Nabal. For he is just what his name says: His name means 'boor' and he is a boor.

"Your handmaid did not see the young men whom my lord sent. [26]I swear, my lord, as the LORD lives and as you live—the LORD who has kept you from seeking redress by blood with your own hands—let your enemies and all who would harm my lord fare like Nabal! [27]Here is the present which your maidservant has brought to my lord; let it be given to the young men who are the followers of my lord. [28]Please pardon your maid's boldness. For the LORD will grant my lord an enduring house, because my lord is fighting the battles of the LORD, and no wrong is ever to be found in you. [29]And if anyone sets out to pursue you and seek your life, the life of my lord will be bound up in the bundle of life in the care of the LORD; but He will fling away the lives of your enemies as from the hollow of a sling. [30]And when the LORD has accomplished for my lord all the good He has promised you, and has appointed you ruler of Israel, [31]do not let this be a cause of stumbling and of faltering courage to my lord that you have shed blood needlessly and that my lord sought redress with his own hands. And when the LORD has prospered my lord, remember your maid."

[32]David said to Abigail, "Praised be the LORD, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me! [33]And blessed be your prudence, and blessed be you yourself for restraining me from seeking redress in blood by my own hands. [34]For as sure as the LORD, the God of Israel, lives—who has kept me from harming you—had you not come quickly to meet me, not [e]a single male[e] of Nabal's line would have been left by daybreak." [35]David then accepted from her what she had brought him, and he said to her, "Go up to your home safely. See, I have heeded your plea and respected your wish."

[36]When Abigail came home to Nabal, he was having a feast in his house, a feast fit for a king; Nabal was in a merry mood and very drunk, so she did not tell him anything at all until daybreak. [37]The next morning, when Nabal had slept off the wine, his wife told him everything that had happened; and his courage died within him, and he became like a stone. [38]About ten days later the LORD struck Nabal and he died. [39]When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Praised be the LORD who championed my cause against the insults of Nabal and held back His servant from wrongdoing; the LORD has brought Nabal's wrongdoing down on his own head."

David sent messengers [f]to propose marriage to[f] Abigail, to take her as his wife. [40]When David's servants came to Abigail at Carmel and told her that David had sent them to her to make her his wife, [41]she immediately bowed low with her face to the ground and said, "Your handmaid is ready to be your maidservant, to wash the feet of my lord's servants." [42]Then Abigail rose quickly and mounted an ass, and with five of her maids in attendance she followed David's messengers; and she became his wife.

[43]Now David had taken Ahinoam of Jezreel; so both of them became his wives. [44]Saul had given his daughter Michal, David's wife, to Palti son of Laish from Gallim.

[a]The Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah and said, "David is hiding in the hill of Hachilah facing Jeshimon." [2]Saul went down at once to the wilderness of Ziph, together with three thousand picked men of Israel, to search for David in the wilderness of Ziph, [3]and Saul encamped on the hill of Hachilah which faces Jeshimon, by the road. When David, who was then living in the wilderness, learned that Saul had come after him into the wilderness, [4]David sent out scouts and made sure that Saul had come. [5]David went at once to the place where Saul had encamped, and David saw the spot where Saul and his army commander, Abner son of Ner, lay asleep. Saul lay asleep inside the barricade[b] and the troops were posted around him.

[6]David spoke up and asked Ahimelech the Hittite and Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, "Who will go down with me into the camp to Saul?" And Abishai answered, "I will go down with you." [7]So David and Abishai approached the troops by night, and found Saul fast asleep inside the barricade,[b] his spear stuck in the ground at his head, and Abner and the troops sleeping around him. [8]And Abishai said to David, "God has delivered your enemy into your hands today. Let me pin him to the ground with a single thrust of the spear. I will not have to strike him twice." [9]But David said to Abishai, "Don't do him violence! No one can lay hands on the LORD's anointed with impunity." [10]And David went on, "As the LORD lives, the LORD Himself will strike him down, or his time will come and he will die, or he will go down to battle and perish. [11]But the LORD forbid that I should lay a hand on the LORD's anointed! Just take the spear and the water jar at his head and let's be off." [12]So David took away the spear and the water jar at Saul's head, and they left. No one saw or knew or woke up; all remained asleep; a deep sleep from the LORD had fallen upon them.

13 David crossed over to the other side and stood afar on top of a hill; there was considerable distance between them. 14 And David shouted to the troops and to Abner son of Ner, "Abner, aren't you going to answer?" And Abner shouted back, "Who are you to shout at the king?" 15 And David answered Abner, "You are a man, aren't you? And there is no one like you in Israel! So why didn't you keep watch over your lord the king? For one of [our] troops came to do violence to your lord the king. 16 You have not given a good account of yourself! As the LORD lives, [all of] you deserve to die, because you did not keep watch over your lord, the LORD's anointed. Look around, where are the king's spear and the water jar that were at his head?"

17 Saul recognized David's voice, and he asked, "Is that your voice, my son David?" And David replied, "It is, my lord king." 18 And he went on, "But why does my lord continue to pursue his servant? What have I done, and what wrong am I guilty of? 19 Now let my lord the king hear his servant out. If the LORD has incited you against me, let Him be appeased[c] by an offering; but if it is men, may they be accursed of the LORD! For they have driven me out today, so that I cannot have a share in the LORD's possession, but am told, 'Go and worship other gods.' 20 Oh, let my blood not fall to the ground, away from the presence of the LORD! For the king of Israel has come out to seek a single flea—as if he were hunting a partridge in the hills."

21 And Saul answered, "I am in the wrong. Come back, my son David, for I will never harm you again, seeing how you have held my life precious this day. Yes, I have been a fool, and I have erred so very much." [22]David replied, "Here is Your Majesty's spear. Let one of the young men come over and get it. [23]And the LORD will requite every man for his right conduct and loyalty—for this day the LORD delivered you into my[d] hands and I would not raise a hand against the LORD's anointed. [24]And just as I valued your life highly this day, so may the LORD value my life and may He rescue me from all trouble." [25]Saul answered David, "May you be blessed, my son David. You shall achieve, and you shall prevail."

David then went his way, and Saul returned home.

David said to himself, "Some day I shall certainly perish at the hands of Saul. The best thing for me is to flee to the land of the Philistines; Saul will then give up hunting me throughout the territory of Israel, and I will escape him." [2]So David and the six hundred men with him went and crossed over to King Achish son of Maoch of Gath. [3]David and his men stayed with Achish in Gath, each man with his family, and David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelite and Abigail wife of Nabal the Carmelite. [4]And when Saul was told that David had fled to Gath, he did not pursue him any more.

[5]David said to Achish, "If you please, let a place be granted me in one of the country towns where I can live; why should your servant remain with you in the royal city?" [6]At that time Achish granted him Ziklag; that is how Ziklag came to belong to the kings of Judah, as is still the case. [7]The length of time that David lived in Philistine territory was a year and four months.

[8]David and his men went up and raided the Geshurites, the Gizrites, and the Amalekites—

When he returned and came[b] to Achish, 10Achish would ask, "Where[c] did you raid today?" and David would reply, "The Negeb[d] of Judah," or "the Negeb of the Jerahmeelites," or "the Negeb of the Kenites." 11David would leave no man or woman alive to be brought to Gath; for he thought, "They might tell about us: David did this." Such was his practice as long as he stayed in the territory of the Philistines. 12Achish trusted David. At that time the Philistines mustered their forces for war, to take the field against Israel. Achish said to David, "You know, of course, that you and your men must march out with my forces." 2David answered Achish, "You surely know what your servant will do." "In that case," Achish replied to David, "I will appoint you my bodyguard for life."

3[a]Now Samuel had died and all Israel made lament for him; and he was buried in his own town of Ramah. And Saul had forbidden [recourse to] ghosts and familiar spirits in the land.

4The Philistines mustered and they marched to Shunem and encamped; and Saul gathered all Israel, and they encamped at Gilboa. 5When Saul saw the Philistine force, his heart trembled with fear. 6And Saul inquired of the LORD, but the LORD did not answer him, either by dreams or by Urim[b] or by prophets. 7Then Saul said to his courtiers, "Find me a woman who consults ghosts, so that I can go to her and inquire through her." And his courtiers told him that there was a woman in En-dor who consulted ghosts.

8Saul disguised himself; he put on different clothes and set out with two men. They came to the woman by night, and he said, "Please divine for me by a ghost. Bring up for me the one I shall name to you." 9But the woman answered him, "You know what Saul has done, how he has banned [the use of] ghosts and familiar spirits in the land. So why are you laying a trap for me, to get me killed?" 10Saul swore to her by the LORD: "As the LORD lives, you won't get into trouble over this." 11At that, the woman asked, "Whom shall I bring up for you?" He answered, "Bring up Samuel for me." 12Then the woman recognized Samuel,[c] and she shrieked loudly, and said to Saul, "Why have you deceived me? You are Saul!" 13The king answered her, "Don't be afraid. What do you see?" And the woman said to Saul, "I see a divine being coming up from the earth." 14"What does he look like?" he asked her. "It is an old man coming up," she said, "and he is wrapped in a robe." Then Saul knew that it was Samuel; and he bowed low in homage with his face to the ground.

told through me: The LORD has torn the kingship out of your hands and has given it to your fellow, to David, [18]because you did not obey the LORD and did not execute His wrath upon the Amalekites. That is why the LORD has done this to you today. [19]Further, the LORD will deliver the Israelites who are with you into the hands of the Philistines. Tomorrow your sons and you will be with me; and the LORD will also deliver the Israelite forces into the hands of the Philistines."

[20]At once Saul flung himself prone on the ground, terrified by Samuel's words. Besides, there was no strength in him, for he had not eaten anything all day and all night. [21]The woman went up to Saul and, seeing how greatly disturbed he was, she said to him, "Your handmaid listened to you; I took my life in my hands and heeded the request you made of me. [22]So now you listen to me: Let me set before you a bit of food. Eat, and then you will have the strength to go on your way." [23]He refused, saying, "I will not eat." But when his courtiers as well as the woman urged him, he listened to them; he got up from the ground and sat on the bed. [24]The woman had a stall-fed calf in the house; she hastily slaughtered it, and took flour and kneaded it, and baked some unleavened cakes. [25]She set this before Saul and his courtiers, and they ate. Then they rose and left the same night.

Israel," Achish answered the Philistine officers. "He has been with me [a]-for a year or more,-[a] and I have found no fault in him from the day he defected until now." [4]But the Philistine officers were angry with him; and the Philistine officers said to him, "Send the man back; let him go back to the place you assigned him. He shall not march down with us to the battle, or else he may become our adversary in battle. For with what could that fellow appease his master if not with [b]-the heads of these men?-[b] [5]Remember, he is the David of whom they sang as they danced:

Saul has slain his thousands;
David, his tens of thousands."

[6]Achish summoned David and said to him, "As the LORD lives, you are an honest man, and I would like to have you serve[c] in my forces; for I have found no fault with you from the day you joined me until now. But you are not acceptable to the other lords. [7]So go back in peace, and do nothing to displease the Philistine lords."

[8]David, however, said to Achish, "But what have I done, what fault have you found in your servant from the day I appeared before you to this day, that I should not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?" [9]Achish replied to David, "I know; you are as acceptable to me as an angel of God. But the Philistine officers have decided that you must not march out with us to the battle. [10]So rise early in the morning, you and your lord's servants who came with you—[d]-rise early in the morning,-[d] and leave as soon as it is light." [11]Accordingly, David and his men rose early in the morning to leave, to return to the land of the Philistines, while the Philistines marched up to Jezreel.

By the time David and his men arrived in Ziklag, on the third day, the Amalekites had made a raid into the Negeb and against Ziklag; they had stormed Ziklag and burned it down. [2]They had taken the women in it captive, low-born and high-born alike; they did not kill any, but carried them off and went their way. [3]When David and his men came to the town and found it burned down, and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive, [4]David and the troops with him broke into tears, until they had no strength left for weeping. [5]David's two wives had been taken captive, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail wife of Nabal from Carmel. [6]David was in great danger, for the troops threatened to stone him; for all the troops were embittered on account of their sons and daughters.

But David sought strength in the LORD his God. [7]David said to the priest Abiathar son of Ahimelech, "Bring the ephod up to me." When Abiathar brought up the ephod[a] to David, [8]David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I pursue those raiders? Will I overtake them?" And He answered him, "Pursue, for you shall overtake and you shall rescue."

[9]So David and the six hundred men with him set out, and they came to the Wadi Besor, where a halt was made by those who were to be left behind. [10]David continued the pursuit with four hundred men; two hundred men had halted, too faint to cross the Wadi Besor. [11]They came upon an Egyptian in the open country and brought him to David. They gave him food to eat and water to drink; [12]he was also given a piece of pressed fig cake and two cakes of raisins. He ate and regained his strength, for he had eaten no food and drunk no water for three days and three nights. [13]Then David asked him, "To whom do you belong and where are you from?"

[a]The Philistines attacked Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and [many] fell on Mount Gilboa. [2]The Philistines pursued Saul and his sons, and the Philistines struck down Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchi-shua, sons of Saul. [3]The battle raged around Saul, and [b]-some of the archers-[b] hit him, and he [c]-was severely wounded-[c] by the archers. [4]Saul said to his arms-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through, so that the uncircumcised may not run me through and make sport of me." But his arms-bearer, in his great awe, refused; whereupon Saul grasped the sword and fell upon it. [5]When his arms-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he too fell on his sword and died with him. [6]Thus Saul and his three sons and his arms-bearer, [d]-as well as all his men,-[d]

After the death of Saul—David had already returned from defeating the Amalekites—David stayed two days in Ziklag. [2]On the third day, a man came from Saul's camp, with his clothes rent and earth on his head; and as he approached David, he flung himself to the ground and bowed low. [3]David said to him, "Where are you coming from?" He answered, "I have just escaped from the camp of Israel." [4]"What happened?" asked David. "Tell me!" And he told him how the troops had fled the battlefield, and that, moreover, many of the troops had fallen and died; also that Saul and his son Jonathan were dead. [5]"How do you know," David asked the young man who brought him the news, "that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?" [6]The young man who brought him the news answered, "I happened to be at Mount Gilboa, and I saw Saul leaning on his spear, and the chariots and horsemen closing in on him. [7]He looked around and saw me, and he called to me. When I responded, 'At your service,' [8]he asked me, 'Who are you?' And I told him that I was an Amalekite. [9]Then he said to me, 'Stand over me, and finish me off, a-for I am in agony and am barely alive.'-a [10]So I stood over him and finished him off, for I knew that a-he would never rise from where he was lying.-a Then I took the crown from his head and the armlet from his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord."

[11]David took hold of his clothes and rent them, and so did all the men with him. [12]They lamented and wept, and they fasted until evening for Saul and his son Jonathan, and for the soldiers of the LORD[b] and the House of Israel who had fallen by the sword. 13David said to the young man who had brought him the news, "Where are you from?" He replied, "I am the son of a resident alien, an Amalekite." 14"How did you dare," David said to him, "to lift your hand and kill the LORD's anointed?" 15Thereupon David called one of the attendants and said to him, "Come over and strike him!" He struck him down and he died. 16And David said to him, "Your blood be on your own head! Your own mouth testified against you when you said, 'I put the LORD's anointed to death.'"

17And David intoned this dirge over Saul and his son Jonathan—18[a]-He ordered the Judites to be taught [The Song of the] Bow.-[a] It is recorded in the Book of Jashar.[c]

19Your glory, O Israel,
Lies slain on your heights;
How have the mighty fallen!
20Tell it not in Gath,
Do not proclaim it in the streets of Ashkelon,
Lest the daughters of the Philistine rejoice,
Lest the daughters of the uncircumcised exult.

21O hills of Gilboa—
Let there be no dew or rain on you,
[d]-Or bountiful fields,-[d]
For there the shield of warriors lay rejected,
The shield of Saul,
Polished with oil no more.

22From the blood of slain,
From the fat of warriors—
The bow of Jonathan

2 Sometime afterward, David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go up to one of the towns of Judah?" The LORD answered, "Yes." David further asked, "Which one shall I go up to?" And the LORD replied, "To Hebron." [2]So David went up there, along with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail wife of Nabal the Carmelite. [3]David also took the men who were with him, each with his family, and they settled in the towns about Hebron. [4]The men of Judah came and there they anointed David king over the House of Judah.

David was told about the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul. [5]So David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead and said to them, "May you be blessed of the LORD because you performed this act of faithfulness to your lord Saul and buried him. [6]May the LORD in turn show you true faithfulness; and I too will reward you generously because you performed this act. [7]Now take courage and be brave men; for your lord Saul is dead and the House of Judah have already anointed me king over them."

[8]But Abner son of Ner, Saul's army commander, had taken Ish-bosheth[a] son of Saul and brought him across to Mahanaim [9]and made him king over Gilead, the Ashurites,[b] Jezreel, Ephraim, and Benjamin—over all Israel. [10]Ish-bosheth[a] son of Saul was forty years old when he became king of Israel, and he reigned two years. But the House of Judah supported David. [11]The length of time that David reigned in Hebron over the House of Judah was seven years and six months.

[12]Once Abner son of Ner and the soldiers of Ish-bosheth son of Saul marched out from Mahanaim to Gibeon, [13]and Joab son of Zeruiah and the soldiers of David [also] came out.[c] They confronted one another at the pool of Gibeon: one group sat on one side of the pool, and the other group on the other side of the pool. [14]Abner said to Joab, "Let the young men come forward and sport[d] before us." "Yes, let them," Joab answered. [15]They came forward and were counted off, twelve for Benjamin and Ish-bosheth son of Saul, and twelve of David's soldiers. opponent's side; thus they fell together. That place, which is in Gibeon, was called Helkath-hazzurim.[f]

[17]A fierce battle ensued that day, and Abner and the men of Israel were routed by David's soldiers. [18]The three sons of Zeruiah[g] were there—Joab, Abishai, and Asahel. Asahel was swift of foot, like a gazelle in the open field. [19]And Asahel ran after Abner, swerving neither right nor left in his pursuit of Abner. [20]Abner looked back and shouted, "Is that you, Asahel?" "Yes, it is," he called back. [21]Abner said to him, "Turn to the right or to the left, and seize one of our boys and strip off his tunic." But Asahel would not leave off. [22]Abner again begged Asahel, "Stop pursuing me, or I'll have to strike you down. How will I look your brother Joab in the face?" [23]When he refused to desist, Abner struck him in the belly with *b-a backward thrust-b* of his spear and the spear protruded from his back. He fell there and died on the spot. And all who came to the place where Asahel fell and died halted; [24]but Joab and Abishai continued to pursue Abner. And the sun was setting as they reached the hill of Ammah, *b-which faces Giah on the road to the wilderness of Gibeon.-b*

[25]The Benjaminites rallied behind Abner, forming a single company; and they took up a position on the top of a hill. [26]Abner then called out to Joab, "Must the sword devour forever? You know how bitterly it's going to end! How long will you delay ordering your troops to stop the pursuit of their kinsmen?" [27]And Joab replied, "As God lives, *h-if you hadn't spoken up, the troops would have given up the pursuit of their kinsmen only the next morning."-h* [28]Joab then sounded the horn, and all the troops halted; they ceased their pursuit of Israel and stopped the fighting. The war between the House of Saul and the House of David was long-drawn-out; but David kept growing stronger, while the House of Saul grew weaker.

2*a*Sons were born to David in Hebron: His first-born was Amnon, by Ahinoam of Jezreel; 3his second was Chileab, by Abigail wife of Nabal the Carmelite; the third was Absalom son of Maacah, daughter of King Talmai of Geshur; 4the fourth was Adonijah son of Haggith; the fifth was Shephatiah son of Abital; 5and the sixth was Ithream, by David's wife Eglah. These were born to David in Hebron.

6During the war between the House of Saul and the House of David, Abner supported the House of Saul. 7Now Saul had a concubine named Rizpah, daughter of Aiah; and [Ish-bosheth] said to Abner, "Why have you lain with my father's concubine?" 8Abner was very upset by what Ish-bosheth said, and he replied, "Am I a dog's head b-from Judah?-b Here I have been loyally serving the House of your father Saul and his kinsfolk and friends, and I have not betrayed you into the hands of David; yet this day you reproach me over a woman! 9May God do thus and more to Abner if I do not do for David as the LORD swore to him—[10]to transfer the kingship from the House of Saul, and to establish the throne of David over Israel and Judah from Dan to Beer-sheba." [11][Ish-bosheth] could say nothing more in reply to Abner, because he was afraid of him.

[12]Abner immediately[b] sent messengers to David, saying, [b-]"To whom shall the land belong?" and to say [further],[-b] "Make a pact with me, and I will help you and bring all Israel over to your side." [13]He replied, "Good; I will make a pact with you. But I make one demand upon you: Do not appear before me unless you bring Michal daughter of Saul when you come before me." [14]David also sent messengers to Ish-bosheth son of Saul, to say, "Give me my wife Michal, for whom I paid the bride-price[c] of one hundred Philistine foreskins."[d] [15]So Ish-bosheth sent and had her taken away from [her] husband, Paltiel son of Laish. [16]Her husband walked with her as far as Bahurim, weeping as he followed her; then Abner ordered him to turn back, and he went back.

[17]Abner had conferred with the elders of Israel, saying, "You have wanted David to be king over you all along. [18]Now act! For the LORD has said concerning David: [e-]I will deliver[-e] My people Israel from the hands of the Philistines and all its other enemies through My servant David." [19]Abner also talked with the Benjaminites; then Abner went and informed David in Hebron of all the wishes of Israel and of the whole House of Benjamin.

[20]When Abner came to David in Hebron, accompanied by twenty men, David made a feast for Abner and the men with him. [21]Abner said to David, "Now I will go and rally all Israel to Your Majesty. They will make a pact with you, and you can reign over all that your heart desires." And David dismissed Abner, who went away unharmed.

[22]Just then David's soldiers and Joab returned from a raid, bringing much plunder with them; Abner was no longer with David in Hebron, for he had been dismissed and had gone away unharmed. [23]When Joab and the whole force with him arrived, Joab was told that Abner son of Ner had come to the king, had been dismissed by him, and had gone away unharmed. [24]Joab went to the king and said, "What have you done? Here Abner came to you; why did you let him go? Now he has gotten away! [25]Don't you know that Abner son of Ner came only to deceive you, to learn your comings and goings and to find out all that you are planning?" [26]Joab left David and sent messengers after Abner, and they brought him back from the cistern of Sirah; but David knew nothing about it. [27]When Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside within the gate to talk to him privately;[b] there he struck him in the belly. Thus [Abner] died for shedding the blood of Asahel, Joab's[f] brother.

[28]Afterward, when David heard of it, he said, "Both I and my kingdom are forever innocent before the LORD of shedding the blood of Abner son of Ner. [29]May [the guilt] fall upon the head of Joab and all his father's house. May the house of Joab never be without someone suffering from a discharge or an eruption, or [g-]a male who handles the spindle,[-g] or one slain by the sword, or one lacking bread."—[30]Now Joab and his brother Abishai had killed Abner because he had killed their brother Asahel during the battle at Gibeon.—[31]David then ordered Joab and all the troops with him to rend their clothes, gird on sackcloth, and make lament before[h] Abner; and King David himself walked behind the bier. [32]And so they buried Abner at Hebron; the king wept aloud by Abner's grave, and all the troops Mephibosheth.[c]) [5]Rechab and Baanah, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, started out, and they reached the home of Ish-bosheth at the heat of the day, when he was taking his midday rest. [6][d-]So they went inside the house, as though fetching wheat, and struck him in the belly.[-d] Rechab and his brother Baanah slipped by, [7]and entered the house while he was asleep on his bed in his bedchamber; and they stabbed him to death. They cut off his head and took his head and made their way all night through the Arabah. [8]They brought the head of Ish-bosheth to David in Hebron. "Here," they said to the king, "is the head of your enemy, Ish-bosheth son of Saul, who sought your life. This day the LORD has avenged my lord the king upon Saul and his offspring."

[9]But David answered Rechab and his brother Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As the LORD lives, who has rescued me from every trouble: [10]The man who told me in Ziklag that Saul was dead thought he was bringing good news. But instead of rewarding him for the news, I seized and killed him. [11]How much more, then, when wicked men have killed a blameless man in bed in his own house! I will certainly avenge his blood on you, and I will rid the earth of you." [12]David gave orders to the young men, who killed them; they cut off their hands and feet and hung them up by the pool in Hebron. And they took the head of Ish-bosheth and buried it in the grave of Abner at Hebron.

blood. [2]Long before now, when Saul was king over us, it was you who [b-]led Israel in war;[-b] and the LORD said to you: You shall shepherd My people Israel; you shall be ruler of Israel." [3]All the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a pact with them in Hebron before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel.

[4]David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years. [5]In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned over all Israel and Judah thirty-three years.

[6]The king and his men set out for Jerusalem against the Jebusites who inhabited the region. David was told, "You will never get in here! [c-]Even the blind and the lame will turn you back." (They meant: David will never enter here.)[-c] [7]But David captured the stronghold of Zion; it is now the City of David. [8]On that occasion David said, "Those who attack the Jebusites [c-]shall reach the water channel and [strike down] the lame and the blind, who are hateful to David." That is why they say: "No one who is blind or lame may enter the House."[-c]

[9]David occupied the stronghold and renamed it the City of David; David also fortified the surrounding area, from the Millo[d] inward. [10]David kept growing stronger, for the LORD, the God of Hosts, was with him.

[11][e]King Hiram of Tyre sent envoys to David with cedar logs, carpenters, and stonemasons; and they built a palace for David. [12]Thus David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel and had exalted his kingship for the sake of His people Israel.

[13]After he left Hebron, David took more concubines and wives in Jerusalem, and more sons and daughters were born to David. [14]These are the names of the children born to him in Jerusalem: [f]Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon; [15]Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, and Japhia; [16]Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

[17][g]When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over Israel, the Philistines marched up in search of David; but David heard of it, and he went down to the fastness.[h] [18]The Philistines came and spread out over the Valley of Rephaim. [19]David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hands?" And the LORD answered David, "Go up, and I will deliver the Philistines into your hands." [20]Thereupon David marched to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there. And he said, "The LORD has broken through my enemies before me as waters break through [a dam]." That is why that place was named Baal-perazim.[i] [21]The Philistines abandoned their idols there, and David and his men carried them off.

[22]Once again the Philistines marched up and spread out over the Valley of Rephaim. [23]David inquired of the LORD, and He answered, "Do not go up, but circle around behind them and confront them at the bacaj trees. [24]And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the baca trees, then go into action, for the LORD will be going in front of you to attack the Philistine forces." [25]David did as the LORD had commanded him; and he routed the Philistines from Geba all the way to Gezer.

David again assembled all the picked men of Israel, thirty thousand strong. 2[a]Then David and all the troops that were with him set out from Baalim[b] of Judah to bring up from there the Ark of God to which the Name was attached, the name LORD of Hosts Enthroned on the Cherubim.

3They loaded the Ark of God onto a new cart and conveyed it from the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill; and Abinadab's sons, Uzzah and Ahio, guided the [c-]new cart. 4They conveyed it from Abinadab's house on the hill, [Uzzah walking][d] alongside[-c] the Ark of God and Ahio walking in front of the Ark. 5Meanwhile, David and all the House of Israel danced before the LORD to [e-][the sound of] all kinds of cypress wood [instruments],[-e] with lyres, harps, timbrels, sistrums, and cymbals.

6But when they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah reached out for the Ark of God and grasped it, for the oxen had stumbled.[f] 7The LORD was incensed at Uzzah. And God struck him down on the spot [g-]for his indiscretion,[-g] and he died there beside the Ark of God. 8David was distressed because the LORD had inflicted a breach upon Uzzah; and that place was named Perez-uzzah,[h] as it is still called.

9David was afraid of the LORD that day; he said, "How can I let the Ark of the LORD come to me?" 10So David would not bring the Ark of the LORD to his place in the City of David; instead, David diverted it to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite. 11The Ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months, and the LORD blessed Obed-edom and his whole household.

[12]It was reported to King David: "The LORD has blessed Obed-edom's house and all that belongs to him because of the Ark of God." [i]Thereupon David went and brought up the Ark of God from the house of Obed-edom to the City of David, amid rejoicing. [13]When the bearers of the Ark of the LORD had moved forward six paces, he sacrificed [j]an ox and a fatling.[-j] [14]David whirled with all his might before the LORD; David was girt with a linen ephod. [15]Thus David and all the House of Israel brought up the Ark of the LORD with shouts and with blasts of the horn.

[16]As the Ark of the LORD entered the City of David, Michal daughter of Saul looked out of the window and saw King David leaping and whirling before the LORD; and she despised him for it.

[17]They brought in the Ark of the LORD and set it up in its place inside the tent which David had pitched for it, and David sacrificed burnt offerings and offerings of well-being before the LORD. [18]When David finished sacrificing the burnt offerings and the offerings of well-being, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of Hosts. [19]And he distributed among all the people—the entire multitude of Israel, man and woman alike—to each a loaf of bread, [f]a cake made in a pan, and a raisin cake.[-f] Then all the people left for their homes.

[20]David went home to greet his household. And Michal daughter of Saul came out to meet David and said, "Didn't the king of Israel do himself honor today—exposing himself today in the sight of the slavegirls of his subjects, as one of the riffraff might expose himself!" [21]Da-

[a]When the king was settled in his palace and the LORD had granted him safety from all the enemies around him, [2]the king said to the prophet Nathan: "Here I am dwelling in a house of cedar, while the Ark of the LORD abides in a tent!" [3]Nathan said to the king, "Go and do whatever you have in mind, for the LORD is with you."

[4]But that same night the word of the LORD came to Nathan: [5]"Go and say to My servant David: Thus said the LORD: Are you the one to build a house for Me to dwell in? [6]From the day that I brought the people of Israel out of Egypt to this day I have not dwelt in a house, but have moved about in Tent and Tabernacle. [7]As I moved about wherever the Israelites went, did I ever reproach any of the tribal leaders[b] whom I appointed to care for My people Israel: Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?

[8]"Further, say thus to My servant David: Thus said the LORD of Hosts: I took you from the pasture, from following the flock, to be ruler of My people Israel, [9]and I have been with you wherever you went, and have cut down all your enemies before you. Moreover, I will give you great renown like that of the greatest men on earth. Your land—[driving out][i] nations and their gods before Your people, whom You redeemed for Yourself from Egypt. [24]You have established Your people Israel as Your very own people forever; and You, O LORD, have become their God.

[25]"And now, O LORD God, fulfill Your promise to Your servant and his house forever; and do as You have promised. [26]And may Your name be glorified forever, in that men will say, 'The LORD of Hosts is God over Israel'; and may the house of Your servant David be established before You. [27]Because You, O LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel, have revealed to Your servant that You will build a house for him, Your servant has ventured to offer this prayer to You. [28]And now, O Lord GOD, You are God and Your words will surely come true, and You have made this gracious promise to Your servant. [29]Be pleased, therefore, to bless Your servant's house, that it abide before You forever; for You, O Lord GOD, have spoken. May Your servant's house be blessed forever by Your blessing."

[a]Some time afterward, David attacked the Philistines and subdued them; and David took Metheg-ammah[b] from the Philistines. [2]He also defeated the Moabites. He made them lie down on the ground and he measured them off with a cord; he measured out two lengths of cord for those who were to be put to death, and one length for those to be spared.[c] And the Moabites became tributary vassals of David.

[3]David defeated Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah, who was then on his way to restore his monument[d] at the Euphrates River. [4]David captured 1,700 horsemen and 20,000 foot soldiers of his force; and David hamstrung

David inquired, "Is there anyone still left of the House of Saul with whom I can keep faith for the sake of Jonathan?" [2]There was a servant of the House of Saul named Ziba, and they summoned him to David. "Are you Ziba?" the king asked him. [a]"Yes, sir,"[a] he replied. [3]The king continued, "Is there anyone at all left of the House of Saul with whom I can keep faith as pledged before God?"[b] Ziba answered the king, "Yes, there is still a son of Jonathan whose feet are crippled." [4]"Where is he?" the king asked, and Ziba said to the king, "He is in the house of Machir son of Ammiel, in Lo-debar." [5]King David had him brought from the house of Machir son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar; [6]and when Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul came to David, he flung himself on his face and prostrated himself. David said, "Mephibosheth!" and he replied, "At your service, sir." [7]David said to him, "Don't be afraid, for I will keep faith with you for the sake of your father Jonathan. I will give you back all the land of your grandfather Saul; moreover, you shall always eat at my table." [8][Mephibosheth] prostrated himself again, and said, "What is your servant, that you should show regard for a dead dog like me?"

[9]The king summoned Ziba, Saul's steward, and said to him, "I give to your master's grandson everything that belonged to Saul and to his entire family. [a]Some time afterward, the king of Ammon died, and his son Hanun succeeded him as king. [2]David said, "I will keep faith with Hanun son of Nahash, just as his father kept faith with me." He sent his courtiers with a message of condolence to him over his father. But when David's courtiers came to the land of Ammon, [3]the Ammonite officials said to their lord Hanun, "Do you think David is really honoring your father just because he sent you men with condolences? Why, David has sent his courtiers to you to explore and spy out the city, and to overthrow[b] it." [4]So Hanun seized David's courtiers, clipped off one side of their beards and cut away half of their garments at the buttocks, and sent them off. [5]When David was told of it, he dispatched men to meet them, for the men were greatly embarrassed. And the king gave orders: "Stop in Jericho until your beards grow back; then you can return."

[6]The Ammonites realized that they had [c-]incurred the wrath of[-c] David; so the Ammonites sent agents and hired Arameans of Beth-rehob and Arameans of Zobah—20,000 foot soldiers—the king of Maacah [with] 1,000 men, and 12,000 men from Tob. [7]On learning this, David sent out Joab and the whole army—

[including] the professional fighters. [8]The Ammonites marched out and took up their battle position at the entrance of the gate, while the Arameans of Zobah and Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah took their stand separately in the open. [9]Joab saw that there was a battle line against him both front and rear. So he made a selection from all the picked men of Israel and arrayed them against the Arameans, [10]and the rest of the troops he put under the command of his brother Abishai[d] and arrayed them against the Ammonites. [11][Joab] said, "If the Arameans prove too strong for me, you come to my aid; and if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, I will come to your aid. [12]Let us be strong and resolute for the sake of our people and the land[e] of our God; and the LORD will do what He deems right."

[13]Joab and the troops with him marched into battle against the Arameans, who fled before him. [14]And when the Ammonites saw that the Arameans had fled, they fled before Abishai and withdrew into the city. So Joab broke off the attack against the Ammonites, and went to Jerusalem.

[15]When the Arameans saw that they had been routed by Israel, they regrouped their forces. [16]Hadadezer[f] sent for and brought out the Arameans from across the Euphrates; they came to Helam, led by Shobach, Hadadezer's[f] army commander. [17]David was informed of it; he assembled all Israel, crossed the Jordan, and came to Helam. The Arameans drew up their forces against David and attacked him; [18]but the Arameans were put to flight by Israel. David killed 700 Aramean charioteers and 40,000 horsemen;[g] he also struck down Shobach, Hadadezer's[h] army commander, who died there. [19]And when all the vassal kings of Hadadezer[f]

At the turn of the year, the season when kings go out [to battle], David sent Joab with his officers and all Israel with him, and they devastated Ammon and besieged Rabbah; David remained in Jerusalem. 2Late one afternoon, David rose from his couch and strolled on the roof of the royal palace; and from the roof he saw a woman bathing. The woman was very beautiful, 3and the king sent someone to make inquiries about the woman. He reported, "She is Bathsheba daughter of Eliam [and] wife of Uriah the Hittite." 4David sent messengers to fetch her; she came to him and he lay with her—she had just purified herself after her period—and she went back home. 5The woman conceived, and she sent word to David, "I am pregnant." 6Thereupon David sent a message to Joab, "Send Uriah the Hittite to me"; and Joab sent Uriah to David.

7When Uriah came to him, David asked him how Joab and the troops were faring and how the war was going. 8Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and bathe your feet." When Uriah left the royal palace, a present from the king followed him. 9But Uriah slept at the entrance of the royal palace, along with the other officers of his lord, and did not go down to his house. 10When David was told that Uriah had not gone down to his house, he said to Uriah, "You just came from a journey; why didn't you go down to your house?" 11Uriah answered David, "The Ark and Israel and Judah are located at Succoth, and my master Joab and Your Majesty's men are camped in the open; how can I go home and eat and drink and sleep with my wife? [a-]As you live, by your very life,[-a] I will not do this!" [12]David said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will send you off." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day. The next day, [13]David summoned him, and he ate and drank with him until he got him drunk; but in the evening, [Uriah] went out to sleep in the same place, with his lord's officers; he did not go down to his home.

[14]In the morning, David wrote a letter to Joab, which he sent with Uriah. [15]He wrote in the letter as follows: "Place Uriah in the front line where the fighting is fiercest; then fall back so that he may be killed." [16]So when Joab was besieging the city, he stationed Uriah at the point where he knew that there were able warriors. [17]The men of the city sallied out and attacked Joab, and some of David's officers among the troops fell; Uriah the Hittite was among those who died.

[18]Joab sent a full report of the battle to David. [19]He instructed the messenger as follows: "When you finish reporting to the king all about the battle, [20]the king may get angry and say to you, 'Why did you come so close to the city to attack it? Didn't you know that they would shoot from the wall? [21]Who struck down Abimelech son of Jerubbesheth?[b] Was it not a woman who dropped an upper millstone on him from the wall at Thebez, from which he died? Why did you come so close to the wall?' Then say: 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite was among those killed.'"

[22]The messenger set out; he came and told David all that Joab had sent him to say.[c] [23]The messenger said to David, "First the men prevailed against us and sallied out against us into the open; then we drove them back up to the entrance to the gate. [24]But the archers shot at your men from the wall and some of Your Majesty's men fell; your servant Uriah the Hittite also fell." [25]Whereupon David said to the messenger, "Give Joab this message: 'Do not be distressed about the matter. The sword [d]-always takes its toll.-[d] Press your attack on the city and destroy it!' Encourage him!"

[26]When Uriah's wife heard that her husband Uriah was dead, she lamented over her husband. [27]After the period of mourning was over, David sent and had her brought into his palace; she became his wife and she bore him a son.

But the LORD was displeased with what David had done, [1]and the LORD sent Nathan to David. He came to him and said, "There were two men in the same city, one rich and one poor. [2]The rich man had very large flocks and herds, [3]but the poor man had only one little ewe lamb that he had bought. He tended it and it grew up together with him and his children: it used to share his morsel of bread, drink from his cup, and nestle in his bosom; it was like a daughter to him. [4]One day, a traveler came to the rich man, but he was loath to take anything from his own flocks or herds to prepare a meal for the guest who had come to him; so he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

[5]David flew into a rage against the man, and said to Nathan, "As the LORD lives, the man who did this deserves to die! [6]He shall pay for the lamb four times over, because he did such a thing and showed no pity." [7]And Nathan said to David, "That man is you! Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: 'It was I who anointed you king over Israel and it was I who rescued you from the hand of Saul. [8]I gave you your master's house and possession of your master's wives; and I gave you the House of Israel and Judah; and if that were not enough, I would give you twice as much more. 9 Why then have you flouted the command of the LORD and done what displeases Him? You have put Uriah the Hittite to the sword; you took his wife and made her your wife and had him killed by the sword of the Ammonites. 10 Therefore the sword shall never depart from your House—because you spurned Me by taking the wife of Uriah the Hittite and making her your wife.' 11 Thus said the LORD: 'I will make a calamity rise against you from within your own house; I will take your wives and give them to another man before your very eyes and he shall sleep with your wives under this very sun. 12 You acted in secret, but I will make this happen in the sight of all Israel and in broad daylight.'"

13 David said to Nathan, "I stand guilty before the LORD!" And Nathan replied to David, "The LORD has remitted your sin; you shall not die. 14 However, since you have spurned [a]the enemies of[a] the LORD by this deed, even the child about to be born to you shall die."

15 Nathan went home, and the LORD afflicted the child that Uriah's wife had borne to David, and it became critically ill. 16 David entreated God for the boy; David fasted, and he went in and spent the night lying[b] on the ground. 17 The senior servants of his household tried to induce him to get up from the ground; but he refused, nor would he partake of food with them. 18 On the seventh day the child died. David's servants were afraid to tell David that the child was dead; for they said, "We spoke to him when the child was alive and he wouldn't listen to us; how can we tell him that the child is dead? He might do something terrible." 19 When David saw his servants talking in whispers, David understood that the child was dead; David asked his servants, "Is the child dead?" "Yes," they replied.

דָּוִ֤ד אֶל־עֲבָדָיו֙ הֲמֵ֣ת הַיֶּ֔לֶד וַיֹּאמְר֖וּ מֵֽת׃

a-a The phrase is intended to avoid saying "spurned the LORD"; cf. note d-d at 1 Sam. 25.22.

b Some Septuagint mss. and 4QSam[a] add "in sackcloth"; cf. 1 Kings 21.27.

[20]Thereupon David rose from the ground; he bathed and anointed himself, and he changed his clothes. He went into the House of the LORD and prostrated himself. Then he went home and asked for food, which they set before him, and he ate. [21]His courtiers asked him, "Why have you acted in this manner? While the child was alive, you fasted and wept; but now that the child is dead, you rise and take food!" [22]He replied, "While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept because I thought: 'Who knows? The LORD may have pity on me, and the child may live.' [23]But now that he is dead, why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will never come back to me."

[24]David consoled his wife Bathsheba; he went to her and lay with her. She bore a son and she named him Solomon. The LORD favored him, [25]and He sent a message through the prophet Nathan; and he was named Jedidiah[c] at the instance of the LORD.

[26][d]Joab attacked Rabbah of Ammon and captured the royal city. [27]Joab sent messengers to David and said, "I have attacked Rabbah and I have already captured [e-]the water city.[-e] [28]Now muster the rest of the troops and besiege the city and capture it; otherwise I will capture the city myself, and my name will be connected with it." [29]David mustered all the troops and marched on Rabbah, and he attacked it and captured it. [30][f]The crown was taken from the head of their kings[g] and it was placed on David's head—it weighed a talent of gold, and [on it][h] were precious stones. He also carried off a vast amount of booty from the city. [31]He led out the people who lived there and set them to work with saws, iron threshing boards, and iron axes, or assigned them to brickmaking; David did this to all the towns of Ammon. Then David and all the troops returned to Jerusalem.

This happened sometime afterward: Absalom son of David had a beautiful sister named Tamar, and Amnon son of David became infatuated with her. [2]Amnon was so distraught because of his [half-]sister Tamar that he became sick; for she was a virgin, and it seemed impossible to Amnon to do anything to her. [3]Amnon had a friend named Jonadab, the son of David's brother Shimah; Jonadab was a very clever man. [4]He asked him, "Why are you so dejected, O prince, morning after morning? Tell me!" Amnon replied, "I am in love with Tamar, the sister of my brother Absalom!" [5]Jonadab said to him, "Lie down in your bed and pretend you are sick. When your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Let my sister Tamar come and give me something to eat. Let her prepare the food in front of me, so that I may look on, and let her serve it to me.'"

[6]Amnon lay down and pretended to be sick. The king came to see him, and Amnon said to the king, "Let my sister Tamar come and prepare a couple of cakes in front of me, and let her bring them to me." [7]David sent a message to Tamar in the palace, "Please go to the house of your brother Amnon and prepare some food for him." [8]Tamar went to the house of her brother Amnon, who was in bed. She took dough and kneaded it into cakes in front of him, and cooked the cakes. [9]She took the [a]-pan and set out [the cakes],-[a] but Amnon refused to eat and ordered everyone to withdraw. After everyone had withdrawn, [10]Amnon said to Tamar,

"Bring the food inside and feed me." Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them to her brother inside. 11But when she served them to him, he caught hold of her and said to her, "Come lie with me, sister." 12But she said to him, "Don't, brother. Don't force me. Such things are not done in Israel! Don't do such a vile thing! 13Where will I carry my shame? And you, you will be like any of the scoundrels in Israel! Please, speak to the king; he will not refuse me to you." 14But he would not listen to her; he overpowered her and lay with her by force.

15Then Amnon felt a very great loathing for her; indeed, his loathing for her was greater than the passion he had felt for her. And Amnon said to her, "Get out!" 16She pleaded with him, "Please don't [a]commit this wrong; to send me away would be even worse[a] than the first wrong you committed against me." But he would not listen to her. 17He summoned his young attendant and said, "Get that woman out of my presence, and bar the door behind her."—18She was wearing an ornamented tunic,[b] for maiden princesses were customarily dressed [c]in such garments.[c]—His attendant took her outside and barred the door after her. 19Tamar put dust on her head and rent the ornamented tunic she was wearing; she put her hands on her head,[d] and walked away, screaming loudly as she went. 20Her brother Absalom said to her, "Was it your brother Amnon[e] who did this to you? For the present, sister, keep quiet about it; he is your brother. Don't brood over the matter." And Tamar remained in her brother Absalom's house, forlorn. 21When King David heard about all this, he was greatly upset.[f] 22Absalom didn't utter a word to Amnon, good or bad; but Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated his sister Tamar.

[23]Two years later, when Absalom was having his flocks sheared at Baal-hazor near Ephraim, Absalom invited all the king's sons. [24]And Absalom came to the king and said, "Your servant is having his flocks sheared. Would Your Majesty and your retinue accompany your servant?" [25]But the king answered Absalom, "No, my son. We must not all come, or we'll be a burden to you." He urged him, but he would not go, and he said good-bye to him. [26]Thereupon Absalom said, "In that case, let my brother Amnon come with us," to which the king replied, "He shall not go with you." [27]But Absalom urged him, and he sent with him Amnon and all the other princes.[g]

[28]Now Absalom gave his attendants these orders: "Watch, and when Amnon is merry with wine and I tell you to strike down Amnon, kill him! Don't be afraid, for it is I who give you the order. Act with determination, like brave men!" [29]Absalom's attendants did to Amnon as Absalom had ordered; whereupon all the other princes mounted their mules and fled. [30]They were still on the road when a rumor reached David that Absalom had killed all the princes, and that not one of them had survived. [31]At this, David rent his garment and lay down on the ground, [h]-and all his courtiers stood by with their clothes rent.-[h] [32]But Jonadab, the son of David's brother Shimah, said, "My lord must not think that all the young princes have been killed. Only Amnon is dead; for this has been [i]-decided by-[i] Absalom ever since his sister Tamar was violated. [33]So my lord the king must not think for a moment that all the princes are dead; Amnon alone is dead."

[34]Meanwhile Absalom had fled.

Joab son of Zeruiah could see that the king's mind was on Absalom; [2]so Joab sent to Tekoa and brought a clever woman from there. [8]The king said to the woman, "Go home. I will issue an order in your behalf." [9]And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, "My lord king, may the guilt be on me and on my ancestral house; Your Majesty and his throne are guiltless." [10]The king said, "If anyone says anything more to you, have him brought to me, and he will never trouble you again." [11]She replied, "Let Your Majesty be mindful of the LORD your God and restrain the blood avenger bent on destruction, so that my son may not be killed." And he said, "As the LORD lives, not a hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

[12]Then the woman said, "Please let your maidservant say another word to my lord the king." "Speak on," said the king. [13]And the woman said, "Why then have you planned the like against God's people? In making this pronouncement, Your Majesty condemns himself in that Your Majesty does not bring back his own banished one. [14]We must all die; we are like water that is poured out on the ground and cannot be gathered up. [d]-God will not take away the life of one who makes plans so that no one may be kept banished.-[d] [15]And the reason I have come to say these things to the king, my lord, is that the people have frightened me. Your maidservant thought I would speak to Your Majesty; perhaps Your Majesty would act on his handmaid's plea. [16]For Your Majesty would surely agree to deliver his handmaid from the hands of anyone [who would seek to] cut off both me and my son from the heritage[e] of God. [18]In reply, the king said to the woman, "Do not withhold from me anything I ask you!" The woman answered, "Let my lord the king speak." [19]The king asked, "Is Joab in league with you in all this?" The woman replied, "As you live, my lord the king, [f]it is just as my lord the king says.[-f] Yes, your servant Joab was the one who instructed me, and it was he who [g]told your maidservant everything she was to say.[-g] [20]It was to conceal the real purpose of the matter that your servant Joab did this thing. My lord is as wise as an angel of God, and he knows all that goes on in the land."

[21]Then the king said to Joab, "I will do this thing. Go and bring back my boy Absalom." [22]Joab flung himself face down on the ground and prostrated himself. Joab blessed the king and said, "Today your servant knows that he has found favor with you, my lord king, for Your Majesty has granted his servant's request." [23]And Joab went at once to Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. [24]But the king said, "Let him go directly to his house and not present himself to me." So Absalom went directly to his house and did not present himself to the king.

[25]No one in all Israel was so admired for his beauty as Absalom; from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head he was without blemish. [26]When he cut his hair—he had to have it cut every year, for it grew too heavy for him—the hair of his head weighed two hundred shekels by the royal weight. [27]Absalom had three sons and a daughter whose name was Tamar; she was a beautiful woman.

sent for Joab, in order to send him to the king; but Joab would not come to him. He sent for him a second time, but he would not come. [30]So [Absalom] said to his servants, "Look, Joab's field is next to mine, and he has barley there. Go and set it on fire." And Absalom's servants set the field on fire. [31]Joab came at once to Absalom's house and said to him, "Why did your servants set fire to my field?" [32]Absalom replied to Joab, "I sent for you to come here; I wanted to send you to the king to say [on my behalf]: 'Why did I leave Geshur? I would be better off if I were still there. Now let me appear before the king; and if I am guilty of anything, let him put me to death!'" [33]Joab went to the king and reported to him; whereupon he summoned Absalom. He came to the king and flung himself face down to the ground before the king. And the king kissed Absalom.

Sometime afterward, Absalom provided himself with a chariot, horses, and fifty outrunners. [2]Absalom used to rise early and stand by the road to the city gates; and whenever a man had a case that was to come before the king for judgment, Absalom would call out to him, "What town are you from?" And when he answered, "Your servant is from [a]such and such a tribe[a] in Israel," [3]Absalom would say to him, "It is clear that your claim is right and just, but there is no one assigned to you by the king to hear it." [4]And Absalom went on, "If only I were appointed judge in the land and everyone with a legal dispute came before me, I would see that he got his rights." [5]And if a man approached to bow to him, [Absalom] would extend his hand and take hold of him and kiss him. [6]Absalom did this to every Israelite who came to the king for judgment. Thus Absalom won away the hearts of the men of Israel.

[7]After a period of forty[b] years had gone by, Absalom said to the king, "Let me go to Hebron and fulfill a vow that I made to the LORD. [8]For your servant made a vow when I lived in Geshur of Aram: If the LORD ever brings me back to Jerusalem, I will worship the LORD."[c] [9]The king said to him, "Go in peace"; and so he set out for Hebron.

[10]But Absalom sent agents to all the tribes of Israel to say, "When you hear the blast of the horn, announce that Absalom has become king in Hebron." [11]Two hundred men of Jerusalem accompanied Absalom; they were invited and went in good faith, suspecting nothing. [12]Absalom also [d]sent [to fetch][d] Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his town, Giloh, when the sacrifices were to be offered. The conspiracy gained strength, and the people supported Absalom in increasing numbers.

[13]Someone came and told David, "The loyalty of the men of Israel has veered toward Absalom." [14]Whereupon David said to all the courtiers who were with him in Jerusalem, "Let us flee at once, or none of us will escape from Absalom. We must get away quickly, or he will soon overtake us and bring down disaster upon us and put the city to the sword." [15]The king's courtiers said to the king, "Whatever our lord the king decides, your servants are ready." [16]So the king left, followed by his entire household, except for ten concubines whom the king left to mind the palace.

30David meanwhile went up the slope of the [Mount of] Olives, weeping as he went; his head was covered and he walked barefoot. And all the people who were with him covered their heads and wept as they went up. 31David [was] told that Ahithophel was among the conspirators with Absalom, and he prayed, "Please, O LORD, frustrate Ahithophel's counsel!"

32When David reached the top, where people would prostrate themselves to God, Hushai the Archite was there to meet him, with his robe torn and with earth on his head. 33David said to him, "If you march on with me, you will be a burden to me. 34But if you go back to the city and say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, O king; I was your father's servant formerly, and now I will be yours,' then you can nullify Ahithophel's counsel for me. 35You will have the priests Zadok and Abiathar there, and you can report everything that you hear in the king's palace to the priests Zadok and Abiathar. 36Also, their two sons are there with them, Zadok's son Ahimaaz and Abiathar's son Jonathan; and through them you can report to me everything you hear." 37And so Hushai, the friend of David, reached the city as Absalom was entering Jerusalem.

David had passed a little beyond the summit when Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth came toward him with a pair of saddled asses carrying two hundred loaves of bread, one hundred cakes of raisin, one hundred cakes of figs,[a] and a jar of wine. 2The king asked Ziba, "What are you doing with these?" Ziba answered, "The asses are for Your Majesty's family to ride on, the bread and figs are for the attendants to eat, and the wine is to be drunk by any who are exhausted in the wilderness." 3"And where is your master's son?" the king asked. is staying in Jerusalem," Ziba replied to the king, "for he thinks that the House of Israel will now give him back the throne of his grandfather." [4]The king said to Ziba, "Then all that belongs to Mephibosheth is now yours!" And Ziba replied, "I bow low. Your Majesty is most gracious to me."

[9]Abishai son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why let that dead dog abuse my lord the king? Let me go over and cut off his head!" [10]But the king said, [b-]"What has this to do with you,[-b] you sons of Zeruiah? He is abusing [me] only because the LORD told him to abuse David; and who is to say, 'Why did You do that?'" [11]David said further to Abishai and all the courtiers, "If my son, my own issue, seeks to kill me, how much more the Benjaminite! Let him go on hurling abuse, for the LORD has told him to. [12]Perhaps the LORD will look upon my punishment[c] and recompense me for the abuse [Shimei] has uttered today." [13]David and his men continued on their way, while Shimei walked alongside on the slope of the hill, insulting him as he walked, and throwing stones at him and flinging dirt. [14]The king and all who accompanied him arrived[d] exhausted, and he rested there.

[15]Meanwhile Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, arrived in Jerusalem, together with Ahithophel. [16]When Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came before Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!" [17]But Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this your loyalty to your friend? Why didn't you go with your friend?" [18]"Not at all!" Hushai replied. "I am for the one whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Israel have chosen, and I will stay with him. [19]Furthermore, whom should I serve, if not David's[e] son? As I was in your father's service, so I will be in yours."

[20]Absalom then said to Ahithophel, "What do you advise us to do?" [21]And Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Have intercourse with your father's concubines, whom he left to mind the palace; and when all Israel hears that you have dared the wrath of your father, all who support you will be encouraged." [22]So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the roof, and Absalom lay with his father's concubines [f]-with the full knowledge-[f] of all Israel.—[23]In those days, the advice which Ahithophel gave was accepted like an oracle sought from God; that is how all the advice of Ahithophel was esteemed both by David and by Absalom.

And Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Let me pick twelve thousand men and set out tonight in pursuit of David. [2]I will come upon him when he is weary and disheartened, and I will throw him into a panic; and when all the troops with him flee, I will kill the king alone. [3]And I will bring back all the people [a]-to you; when all have come back [except] the man you are after,-[a] all the people will be at peace." [4]The advice pleased Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

[5]But Absalom said, "Summon Hushai the Archite as well, so we can hear what he too has to say." [6]Hushai came to Absalom, and Absalom said to him, "This is what Ahithophel has advised. Shall we follow his advice? If not, what do you say?"

[7]Hushai said to Absalom, "This time the advice that Ahithophel has given is not good. [8]You know," Hushai continued, "that your father and his men are courageous fighters, and they are as desperate as a bear in the wild robbed of her whelps. Your father is an experienced soldier, and he will not spend the night with the troops; [9]even now he must be hiding in one of the pits or in some other place. And if any of them[b] fall at the first attack, whoever hears of it will say, 'A disaster has struck the troops that follow Absalom'; [10]and even if he is a brave man with the heart of a lion, he will be shaken—for all Israel knows that your father and the soldiers with him are courageous fighters. [11]So I advise that all Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba—as numerous as the sands of the sea—be called up to join you, and that you yourself march [c]into battle.[c] [12]When we come upon him in whatever place he may be, we'll descend on him [as thick] as dew falling on the ground; and no one will survive, neither he nor any of the men with him. [13]And if he withdraws into a city, all Israel will bring ropes to that city and drag [d]its stones[d] as far as the riverbed, until not even a pebble of it is left." [14]Absalom and all Israel agreed that the advice of Hushai the Archite was better than that of Ahithophel.—The LORD had decreed that Ahithophel's sound advice be nullified, in order that the LORD might bring ruin upon Absalom.

[15]Then Hushai told the priests Zadok and Abiathar, "This is what Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel; this is what I advised. 16Now send at once and tell David, 'Do not spend the night at the fords of the wilderness, but cross over at once; otherwise the king and all the troops with him will be annihilated.'"

17Jonathan and Ahimaaz were staying at En-rogel, and a slave girl would go and bring them word and they in turn would go and inform King David. For they themselves dared not be seen entering the city. 18But a boy saw them and informed Absalom. They left at once and came to the house of a man in Bahurim who had a well in his courtyard. They got down into it, 19and the wife took a cloth, spread it over the mouth of the well, and scattered groats on top of it, so that nothing would be noticed. 20When Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house and asked where Ahimaaz and Jonathan were, the woman told them that they had crossed [e]a bit beyond the water.[e] They searched, but found nothing; and they returned to Jerusalem.

21After they were gone, [Ahimaaz and Jonathan] came up from the well and went and informed King David. They said to David, "Go and cross the water quickly, for Ahithophel has advised thus and thus concerning you." 22David and all the troops with him promptly crossed the Jordan, and by daybreak not one was left who had not crossed the Jordan.

23When Ahithophel saw that his advice had not been followed, he saddled his ass and went home to his native town. He set his affairs in order, and then he hanged himself. He was buried in his ancestral tomb.

24David had reached Mahanaim when Absalom and all the men of Israel with him crossed the Jordan. 25Absalom had appointed Amasa army commander in place of Joab; Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra the [f]Israelite, who had married Abigal, daughter of Nahash and sister of Joab's mother Zeruiah.-f 26The Israelites and Absalom encamped in the district of Gilead. 27When David reached Mahanaim, Shobi son of Nahash from Rabbath-ammon, Machir son of Ammiel from Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim 28presented[g] couches, basins, and earthenware; also wheat, barley, flour, parched grain, beans, lentils, h-parched grain,-h 29honey, i-curds, a flock,-i and cheese[j] from the herd for David and the troops with him to eat. For they knew that the troops must have grown hungry, faint, and thirsty in the wilderness.

David mustered the troops who were with him and set over them captains of thousands and captains of hundreds. 2David a-sent out the troops,-a one-third under the command of Joab, one-third under the command of Joab's brother Abishai son of Zeruiah, and one-third under the command of Ittai the Gittite. And David said to the troops, "I myself will march out with you." 3But the troops replied, "No! For if some of us flee, the rest will not be concerned about us; even if half of us should die, the others will not be concerned about us. But b-you are worth ten thousand of us.-b Therefore, it is better for you to support us from the town." 4And the king said to them, "I will do whatever you think best."

So the king stood beside the gate as all the troops marched out by their hundreds and thousands. 5The king gave orders to Joab, Abishai, and Ittai: "Deal gently with my boy Absalom, for my sake." All the troops heard the king give the order about Absalom to all the officers.

[6]The troops marched out into the open to confront the Israelites,[c] and the battle was fought in the forest of Ephraim.[d] [7]The Israelite troops were routed by David's followers, and a great slaughter took place there that day—twenty thousand men. [8]The battle spread out over that whole region, and the forest devoured more troops that day than the sword.

[9]Absalom encountered some of David's followers. Absalom was riding on a mule, and as the mule passed under the tangled branches of a great terebinth, his hair got caught in the terebinth; he [e-]was held[-e] between heaven and earth as the mule under him kept going. [10]One of the men saw it and told Joab, "I have just seen Absalom hanging from a terebinth." [11]Joab said to the man who told him, "You saw it! Why didn't you kill him [f-]then and there?[-f] I would have owed you ten[g] shekels of silver and a belt." [12]But the man answered Joab, "Even if I had a thousand shekels of silver in my hands, I would not raise a hand against the king's son. For the king charged you and Abishai and Ittai in our hearing, 'Watch over my boy Absalom, [h-]for my sake.'[-h] [13]If I betrayed myself[i]—and nothing is hidden from the king—you would have stood aloof." [14]Joab replied, [j-]"Then I will not wait for you."[-j] He took three darts in his hand and drove them into Absalom's chest. [Absalom] was still alive in the thick growth of the terebinth, [15]when ten of Joab's young arms-bearers closed in and struck at Absalom until he died. [16]Then Joab sounded the horn, and the troops gave up their pursuit of the Israelites; for Joab held the troops in check. 17They took Absalom and flung him into a large pit in the forest, and they piled up a very great heap of stones over it. Then all the Israelites fled to their homes.—18Now Absalom, in his lifetime, had taken the pillar which is in the Valley of the King and set it up for himself; for he said, "I have no son to keep my name alive." He had named the pillar after himself, and it has been called Absalom's Monument to this day.

19Ahimaaz son of Zadok said, "Let me run and report to the king that the LORD has vindicated him against his enemies." 20But Joab said to him, "You shall not be the one to bring tidings today. You may bring tidings some other day, but you'll not bring any today; for the king's son is dead!" 21And Joab said to a Cushite, "Go tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed to Joab and ran off. 22But Ahimaaz son of Zadok again said to Joab, "No matter what, let me run, too, behind the Cushite." Joab asked, "Why should you run, my boy, when you have no news [k]-worth telling?"-[k] 23"I am going to run anyway." "Then run," he said. So Ahimaaz ran by way of the Plain, and he passed the Cushite.

24David was sitting between the two gates.[l] The watchman on the roof of the gate walked over to the city wall. He looked up and saw a man running alone. 25The watchman called down and told the king; and the king said, "If he is alone, he has news to report." As he was coming nearer, 26the watchman saw another man running; and he called out to the gatekeeper, "There is another man running alone." And the king said, "That one, too, brings news." 27The watchman said, "I can see that the first one runs like Ahimaaz son of Zadok"; to which the king replied, "He is a good man, and he comes with good news." 28Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, "All is well!" He bowed low

[1a]The king was shaken. He went up to the upper chamber of the gateway and wept, moaning these words as he went,[b] "My son Absalom! O my son, my son Absalom! If only I had died instead of you! O Absalom, my son, my son!"

[2]Joab was told that the king was weeping and mourning over Absalom. [3]And the victory that day was turned into mourning for all the troops, for that day the troops heard that the king was grieving over his son. [4]The troops stole into town that day like troops ashamed after running away in battle. [5]The king covered his face and the king kept crying aloud, "O my son Absalom! O Absalom, my son, my son!"

[6]Joab came to the king in his quarters and said, "Today you have humiliated all your followers, who this day saved your life, and the lives of your sons and daughters, and the lives of your wives and concubines, [7]by showing love for those who hate you and hate for those who love you. officers and men mean nothing to you. I am sure that if Absalom were alive today and the rest of us dead, you would have preferred it. [8]Now arise, come out and placate your followers! For I swear by the LORD that if[c] you do not come out, not a single man will remain with you overnight; and that would be a greater disaster for you than any disaster that has befallen you from your youth until now." [9]So the king arose and sat down in the gateway; and when all the troops were told that the king was sitting in the gateway, all the troops presented themselves to the king.

Now the Israelites had fled to their homes. [10]All the people throughout the tribes of Israel were arguing: Some said, "The king saved us from the hands of our enemies, and he delivered us from the hands of the Philistines; and just now he had to flee the country because of Absalom. [11]But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in battle; why then do you sit idle instead of escorting the king back?" [12]The talk of all Israel reached the king in his quarters. So King David sent this message to the priests Zadok and Abiathar: "Speak to the elders of Judah and say, 'Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his palace? [13]You are my kinsmen, my own flesh and blood! Why should you be the last to escort the king back?' [14]And to Amasa say this, 'You are my own flesh and blood. May God do thus and more to me if you do not become my army commander permanently in place of Joab!'" [15]So [Amasa] swayed the hearts of all the Judites as one man; and they sent a message to the king: "Come back with all your followers."

[16]The king started back and arrived at the Jordan; and the Judites went to Gilgal to meet the king and to conduct the king across the Jordan. [17]Shimei son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, hurried down with the Judites to meet King David, [18]accompanied by a thousand Benjaminites. [d]And Ziba, the servant of the House of Saul, together with his fifteen sons and twenty slaves, rushed down to the Jordan ahead of the king [19]while the crossing was being made, to escort the king's family over, and to do whatever he wished. Shimei son of Gera flung himself before the king as he was about to cross the Jordan. [20]He said to the king, "Let not my lord hold me guilty, and do not remember the wrong your servant committed on the day my lord the king left Jerusalem; let Your Majesty give it no thought. [21]For your servant knows that he has sinned; so here I have come down today, the first of all the House of Joseph, to meet my lord the king." [22]Thereupon Abishai son of Zeruiah spoke up, "Shouldn't Shimei be put to death for that—insulting the LORD's anointed?" [23]But David said, [e]"What has this to do with you,[e] you sons of Zeruiah, that you should cross me today? Should a single Israelite be put to death today? Don't I[f] know that today I am again king over Israel?" [24]Then the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die"; and the king gave him his oath.

[25]Mephibosheth, the grandson of Saul, also came down to meet the king. He had not pared his toenails, or trimmed his mustache, or washed his clothes from the day that the king left until the day he returned safe. [26]When he [g]came [from][g] Jerusalem to meet the king, the king asked him, "Why didn't you come with me, Mephibosheth?" [27]He replied, "My lord the king, my own servant[h] deceived me. [i]Your servant planned to saddle his ass and ride[i] on it and go with Your Majesty—for your servant is lame. [28][Ziba] has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is like an angel of the LORD; do as you see fit. [29]For all the members of my father's family deserved only death from my lord the king; yet you set your servant among those who ate at your table. What right have I to appeal further to Your Majesty?" [30]The king said to him, "You need not speak further. I decree that you and Ziba shall divide the property." [32]Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim and [j]passed on to the Jordan with the king, to see him off at[j] the Jordan. [33]Barzillai was very old, eighty years of age; and he had provided the king with food during his stay at Mahanaim, for he was a very wealthy man. [34]The king said to Barzillai, "Cross over with me, and I will provide for you in Jerusalem at my side." [35]But Barzillai said to the king, "How many years are left to me that I should go up with Your Majesty to Jerusalem? [36]I am now eighty years old. Can I tell the difference between good and bad? Can your servant taste what he eats and drinks? Can I still listen to the singing of men and women? Why then should your servant continue to be a burden to my lord the king? [37][j]Your servant could barely cross the Jordan[j] with your Majesty! Why should Your Majesty reward me so generously? Barzillai and bade him farewell; and [Barzillai] returned to his home. 41The king passed on to Gilgal, with Chimham[l] accompanying him; and all the Judite soldiers and part of the Israelite army escorted the king across.

42Then all the men of Israel came to the king and said to the king, "Why did our kinsmen, the men of Judah, steal you away and escort the king and his family across the Jordan, along with all David's men?" 43All the men of Judah replied to the men of Israel, "Because the king is our relative! Why should this upset you? Have we consumed anything that belongs to the king? Has he given us any gifts?" 44But the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, "We have ten shares in the king, and [m]-in David, too, we have more than you.-[m] Why then have you slighted us? Were we not the first to propose that our king be brought back?" However, the men of Judah prevailed over the men of Israel.

A scoundrel named Sheba son of Bichri, a Benjaminite, happened to be there. He sounded the horn and proclaimed:

"We have no portion in David,
No share in Jesse's son!
Every man to his tent, O Israel!"

2All the men of Israel left David and followed Sheba son of Bichri; but the men of Judah accompanied their king from the Jordan to Jerusalem. 3David went to his palace in Jerusalem, and the king took the ten concubines he had left to mind the palace and put them in a guarded place; he provided for them, but he did not cohabit with them. They remained in seclusion until the day they died, in living widowhood.

4The king said to Amasa, "Call up the men of Judah to my standard, and report here three days from now." 5Amasa went to call up Judah, but he took longer than the time set for him. [6]And David said to Abishai, "Now Sheba son of Bichri will cause us more trouble than Absalom. So take your lord's servants and pursue him, before he finds fortified towns and [a-]eludes us."[-a] [7][b-]Joab's men, the Cherethites and Pelethites, and all the warriors, marched out behind him.[-b] They left Jerusalem in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri. [8]They were near the great stone in Gibeon when Amasa appeared before them. [a-]Joab was wearing his military dress, with his sword girded over it and fastened around his waist in its sheath; and, as he stepped forward, it fell out.[-a] [9]Joab said to Amasa, "How are you, brother?" and with his right hand Joab took hold of Amasa's beard as if to kiss him. [10]Amasa was not on his guard against the sword in Joab's [left] hand, and [Joab] drove it into his belly so that his entrails poured out on the ground and he died; he did not need to strike him a second time.

Joab and his brother Abishai then set off in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri, [11]while one of Joab's henchmen stood by [c-]the corpse[-c] and called out, "Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is on David's side, follow Joab!" [12]Amasa lay in the middle of the road, drenched in his blood; and the man saw that everyone stopped. And when he saw that all the people were stopping, he dragged Amasa from the road into the field and covered him with a garment. [13]Once he was removed from the road, everybody continued to follow Joab in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri. [14][Sheba] had passed through all the tribes of Israel up to Abel of[d] Beth-maacah; and all the Beerites[e] assembled and followed him inside. [15][Joab's men] came and besieged him in Abel of Beth-maacah; they threw up a siegemound

All the troops with Joab were g-engaged in battering the wall,-g [16]when a clever woman shouted from the city, "Listen! Listen! Tell Joab to come over here so I can talk to him." [17]He approached her, and the woman asked, "Are you Joab?" "Yes," he answered; and she said to him, "Listen to what your handmaid has to say." "I'm listening," he replied. [18]And she continued, "In olden times people used to say, a-'Let them inquire of Abel,'-a and that was the end of the matter. [19]I am one of those who seek the welfare of the faithful in Israel. But you seek to bring death upon a mother city in Israel! Why should you destroy the LORD's possession?" [20]Joab replied, "Far be it, far be it from me to destroy or to ruin! [21]Not at all! But a certain man from the hill country of Ephraim, named Sheba son of Bichri, has rebelled against King David. Just hand him alone over to us, and I will withdraw from the city." The woman assured Joab, "His head shall be thrown over the wall to you." [22]The woman came to all the people with her clever plan; and they cut off the head of Sheba son of Bichri and threw it down to Joab. He then sounded the horn; all the men dispersed to their homes, and Joab returned to the king in Jerusalem.

[23]Joab was commander of the whole army [of] Israel; Benaiah son of Jehoiada was commander of the Cherethites and the Pelethites; [24]Adoram[h] was in charge of forced labor; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder; [25]Sheva[i] was scribe; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests. [26]Ira the Jairite also served David as priest.

There was a famine during the reign of David, year after year for three years. David inquired of the LORD, and the LORD replied, "It is because of the bloodguilt of Saul and [his] house, for he put some Gibeonites to death." [2]The king summoned the Gibeonites and spoke to them.—Now the Gibeonites were not of Israelite stock, but a remnant of the Amorites, to whom the Israelites had given an oath; and Saul had tried to wipe them out in his zeal for the people of Israel and Judah.—[3]David asked the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? How shall I make expiation, so that you may bless the LORD's own people?" [4]The Gibeonites answered him, "We have no claim for silver or gold against Saul and his household; and we have no claim on the life of any other man in Israel." And [David] responded, "Whatever you say I will do for you." [5]Thereupon they said to the king, "The man who massacred us and planned to a-exterminate us, so that we-a should not survive in all the territory of Israel—[6]let seven of his male issue be handed over to us, and we will impale them before the LORD in b-Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of the LORD."-b And the king replied, "I will do so."

[7]The king spared Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul, because of the oath before the LORD between the two, between David and Jonathan son of Saul. [8]Instead, the king took Armoni and Mephibosheth, the two sons that Rizpah daughter of Aiah bore to Saul, and the five sons that Merab[c] daughter of Saul bore to Adriel son of Barzillai the Meholathite, [9]and he handed them over to the Gibeonites. They impaled them on the mountain before the LORD; all seven of them perished at the same time.

v. 8. בנוסח אחר "מירב"

They were put to death in the first days of the harvest, the beginning of the barley harvest.

[10]Then Rizpah daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it on a rock for herself, and she stayed there from the beginning of the harvest until rain from the sky fell on [d]the bodies;[d] she did not let the birds of the sky settle on them by day or the wild beasts [approach] by night. [11]David was told what Saul's concubine Rizpah daughter of Aiah had done. [12]And David went and took the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan from the citizens of Jabesh-gilead, who had made off with them from the public square of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hung them up on the day the Philistines killed Saul at Gilboa. [13]He brought up the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan from there; and he gathered the bones of those who had been impaled. [14]And they buried the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan[e] in Zela, in the territory of Benjamin, in the tomb of his father Kish. And when all that the king had commanded was done, God responded to the plea of the land thereafter.

[15]Again war broke out between the Philistines and Israel, and David and the men with him went down and fought the Philistines; David grew weary, [16]and [a]Ishbi-benob[a] tried to kill David.—He was a descendant of the Raphah;[f] his bronze spear weighed three hundred shekels and he wore new armor.—[17]But Abishai son of Zeruiah came to his aid; he attacked the Philistine and killed him. It was then that David's men declared to him on oath, "You shall not go with us into battle any more, lest you extinguish the lamp of Israel!"

[18][g]After this, fighting broke out again with the Philistines, at Gob; that was when Sibbecai the Hushathite killed Saph, a descendant of the Raphah.[f] [19]Again there was fighting with the Philistines at Gob; and Elhanan son of Jaare-oregim[h] the Bethlehemite killed Goliath the Gittite, whose spear had a shaft like a weaver's bar. [20]Once again there was fighting, at Gath. There was a [a-]giant of a man,[-a] who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in all; he too was descended from the Raphah. [21]When he taunted Israel, Jonathan, the son of David's brother Shimei, killed him. [22]Those four were descended from the Raphah in Gath, and they fell by the hands of David and his men.

[a]David addressed the words of this song to the LORD, after the LORD had saved him from the hands of all his enemies and from the hands of Saul. [2]He said:

O LORD, my crag, my fastness, my deliverer!
[3]O [b-]God, the rock[-b] wherein I take shelter:
My shield, my [c-]mighty champion,[-c] my fortress and refuge!
My savior, You who rescue me from violence!

And I was delivered from my enemies.

[5]For the breakers of Death encompassed me,
The torrents of Belial[e] terrified me;
[6]The snares of Sheol encircled me,
The coils of Death engulfed me.

[7]In my anguish I called on the LORD,
Cried out to my God;
In His Abode[f] He heard my voice,
My cry entered His ears.

[8]Then the earth rocked and quaked,
The foundations of heaven[g] shook—
Rocked by His indignation.
[9]Smoke went up from His nostrils,
From His mouth came devouring fire;
Live coals blazed forth from Him.
[10]He bent the sky and came down,
Thick cloud beneath His feet.
[11]He mounted a cherub and flew;
[h]-He was seen-[h] on the wings of the wind.
[12]He made pavilions of darkness about Him,
Dripping clouds, huge thunderheads;
[13]In the brilliance before Him
Blazed fiery coals.
[14]The LORD thundered forth from heaven,
The Most High sent forth His voice;
[15]He let loose bolts, and scattered them;[i]
Lightning, and put them to rout.
[16]The bed of the sea was exposed,
The foundations of the world were laid bare
By the mighty roaring of the LORD,
At the blast of the breath of His nostrils.
[17]He reached down from on high, He took me,
Drew me out of the mighty waters;[j]
[18]He rescued me from my enemy so strong,
From foes too mighty for me.
[19]They attacked me on my day of calamity,
But the LORD was my stay.
[20]He brought me out to freedom,
He rescued me because He was pleased with me.
[21]The LORD rewarded me according to my merit,
He requited the cleanness of my hands.

[22]For I have kept the ways of the LORD
And have not been guilty before my God;
[23]I am mindful of all His rules
And have not departed from His laws.

41Made my enemies turn tail before me,
My foes—and I wiped them out.
42They looked,[r] but there was none to deliver;
To the LORD, but He answered them not.
43I pounded them like dust of the earth,
Stamped, crushed them like dirt of the streets.
44You have rescued me from the strife of peoples,[s]
[t]Kept me to be[t] a ruler of nations;
Peoples I knew not must serve me.

Exalted be God, the rock
Who gives me victory;
48The God who has vindicated me
And made peoples subject to me,
49Rescued me from my enemies,
Raised me clear of my foes,
Saved me from lawless men!

mander,[-c] "Make the rounds of all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beer-sheba, and take a census of the people, so that I may know the size of the population." [3]Joab answered the king, "May the LORD your God increase the number of the people a hundredfold, while your own eyes see it! But why should my lord king want this?" [4]However, the king's command to Joab and to the officers of the army remained firm; and Joab and the officers of the army set out, at the instance of the king, to take a census of the people of Israel.

[5]They crossed the Jordan and [d-]encamped at Aroer, on the right side of the town, which is in the middle of the wadi of Gad, and[-d] [went on] to Jazer. [6]They continued to Gilead and to the region of [e-]Tahtim-hodshi, and they came to Dan-jaan and around to[-e] Sidon. [7]They went onto the fortress of Tyre and all the towns of the Hivites and Canaanites, and finished at Beer-sheba in southern Judah. [8]They traversed the whole country, and then they came back to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. [9]Joab reported to the king the number of the people that had been recorded: in Israel there were 800,000 soldiers ready to draw the sword, and the men of Judah numbered 500,000.

[10]But afterward David [f-]reproached himself[-f] for having numbered the people. And David said to the LORD, "I have sinned grievously in what I have done. Please, O LORD, remit the guilt of Your servant, for I have acted foolishly." [11]When David rose in the morning, the word of the LORD had come to the prophet Gad, David's seer: [12]"Go and tell David, 'Thus said the LORD: I hold three things over you; choose one of them, and I will bring it upon you.'" came to David and told him; he asked, "Shall a seven-year famine come upon you in the land, or shall you be in flight from your adversaries for three months while they pursue you, or shall there be three days of pestilence in your land? Now consider carefully what reply I shall take back to Him who sent me." 14David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let us fall into the hands of the LORD, for His compassion is great; and let me not fall into the hands of men."[g]

15The LORD sent a pestilence upon Israel from morning [e]-until the set time;-[e] and 70,000 of the people died, from Dan to Beer-sheba. 16But when the angel extended his hand against Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD renounced further punishment and said to the angel who was destroying the people, "Enough! Stay your hand!" The angel of the LORD was then by the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. 17When David saw the angel who was striking down the people, he said to the LORD, "I alone am guilty, I alone have done wrong; but these poor sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand fall upon me and my father's house!"

18Gad came to David the same day and said to him, "Go and set up an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite." 19David went up, following Gad's instructions, as the LORD had commanded. 20Araunah looked out and saw the king and his courtiers approaching him.[h] So Araunah went out and bowed low to the king, with his face to the ground. 21And Araunah asked, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?" David replied, "To buy the threshing floor from you, that I may build an altar to the LORD and that the plague against the people may be checked." 22And Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take it and offer up whatever he sees fit.

Here are oxen for a burnt offering, and the threshing boards and the gear of the oxen for wood. [23]All this, [e]-O king,-[e] Araunah gives to Your Majesty. And may the LORD your God," Araunah added, "respond to you with favor!"

[24]But the king replied to Araunah, "No, I will buy them from you at a price. I cannot sacrifice to the LORD my God burnt offerings that have cost me nothing." So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. [25]And David built there an altar to the LORD and sacrificed burnt offerings and offerings of well-being. The LORD responded to the plea for the land, and the plague against Israel was checked.

1 KINGS

מְלָכִים א

1 King David was now old, advanced in years; and though they covered him with bedclothes, he never felt warm. 2His courtiers said to him, "Let a young virgin be sought for my lord the king, to wait upon Your Majesty and be his attendant;[a] and let her lie in your bosom, and my lord the king will be warm." 3So they looked for a beautiful girl throughout the territory of Israel. They found Abishag the Shunammite and brought her to the king. 4The girl was exceedingly beautiful. She became the king's attendant[a] and waited upon him; but the king was not intimate with her.

5Now Adonijah son of Haggith [b]went about boasting,[-b] "I will be king!" He provided himself with chariots and horses,[c] and an escort of fifty outrunners. 6His father had never scolded him: "Why did you do that?" He was the one born after Absalom[d] and, like him, was very handsome.

7He conferred with Joab son of Zeruiah and with the priest Abiathar, and they supported Adonijah; 8but the priest Zadok, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the prophet Nathan, Shimei and Rei, and David's own fighting men did not side with Adonijah. 9Adonijah made a sacrificial feast of sheep, oxen, and fatlings at the Zoheleth stone which is near En-rogel; he invited all his brother princes[e] and all the king's courtiers of the tribe of Judah; [10]but he did not invite the prophet Nathan, or Benaiah, or the fighting men, or his brother Solomon.

[11]Then Nathan said to Bathsheba, Solomon's mother, "You must have heard that Adonijah son of Haggith has assumed the kingship without the knowledge of our lord David. [12]Now take my advice, so that you may save your life and the life of your son Solomon. [13]Go immediately to King David and say to him, 'Did not you, O lord king, swear to your maidservant: "Your son Solomon shall succeed me as king, and he shall sit upon my throne"? Then why has Adonijah become king?' [14]While you are still there talking with the king, I will come in after you and confirm your words."

[15]So Bathsheba went to the king in his chamber.—The king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was waiting on the king.—[16]Bathsheba bowed low in homage to the king; and the king asked, "What troubles you?" [17]She answered him, "My lord, you yourself swore to your maidservant by the LORD your God: 'Your son Solomon shall succeed me as king, and he shall sit upon my throne.' [18]Yet now Adonijah has become king, and you,[f] my lord the king, know nothing about it. [19]He has prepared a sacrificial feast of a great many oxen, fatlings, and sheep, and he has invited all the king's sons and Abiathar the priest and Joab commander of the army; but he has not invited your servant Solomon. [20]And so the eyes of all Israel are upon you, O lord king, to tell them who shall succeed my lord the king on the throne. [21]Otherwise, when my lord the king lies down with his fathers, my son Solomon and I will be regarded as traitors."

[22]She was still talking to the king when the prophet Nathan arrived. [23]They announced to the king, "The prophet Nathan is here," and he entered the king's presence. Bowing low to the king with his face to the ground, [24]Nathan said, "O lord king, *g-you must have said,-g* 'Adonijah shall succeed me as king and he shall sit upon my throne.' [25]For he has gone down today and prepared a sacrificial feast of a great many oxen, fatlings, and sheep. He invited all the king's sons and the army officers and Abiathar the priest. At this very moment they are eating and drinking with him, and they are shouting, 'Long live King Adonijah!' [26]But he did not invite me your servant, or the priest Zadok, or Benaiah son of Jehoiada, or your servant Solomon. [27]Can this decision have come from my lord the king, without your telling your servant who is to succeed to the throne of my lord the king?"

[28]King David's response was: "Summon Bathsheba!" She entered the king's presence and stood before the king. [29]And the king took an oath, saying, "As the LORD lives, who has rescued me from every trouble: [30]The oath I swore to you by the LORD, the God of Israel, that your son Solomon should succeed me as king and that he should sit upon my throne in my stead, I will fulfill this very day!" [31]Bathsheba bowed low in homage to the king with her face to the ground, and she said, "May my lord King David live forever!"

[32]Then King David said, "Summon to me the priest Zadok, the prophet Nathan, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada." 38Then the priest Zadok, and the prophet Nathan, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada went down with the Cherethites and the Pelethites. They had Solomon ride on King David's mule and they led him to Gihon. 39The priest Zadok took the horn of oil from the Tent and anointed Solomon. They sounded the horn and all the people shouted, "Long live King Solomon!" 40All the people then marched up behind him, playing on flutes and making merry till the earth was split open by the uproar.

41Adonijah and all the guests who were with him, who had just finished eating, heard it. When Joab heard the sound of the horn, he said, "Why is the city in such an uproar?" 42He was still speaking when the priest Jonathan son of Abiathar arrived. "Come in," said Adonijah. "You are a worthy man, and you surely bring good news." 43But Jonathan replied to Adonijah, "Alas, our lord King David has made Solomon king! 44The king sent with him the priest Zadok and the prophet Nathan and Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites. They had him ride on the king's mule, 45and the priest Zadok and the prophet Nathan anointed him king at Gihon. Then they came up from there making merry, and the city went into an uproar. That's the noise you heard. 46Further, Solomon seated himself on the royal throne; 47further, the king's courtiers came to congratulate our lord King David, saying, 'May God make the renown of Solomon even greater than yours, and may He exalt his throne even higher than yours!' And the king bowed low on his couch. [48]And further, this is what the king said, 'Praised be the LORD, the God of Israel who has this day provided a successor to my throne, while my own eyes can see it.'" [49]Thereupon, all of Adonijah's guests rose in alarm and each went his own way.

[50]Adonijah, in fear of Solomon, went at once [to the Tent] and grasped the horns of the altar. [51]It was reported to Solomon: "Adonijah is in fear of King Solomon and has grasped the horns of the altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon first swear to me that he will not put his servant to the sword.'" [52]Solomon said, "If he behaves worthily, not a hair of his head shall fall to the ground; but if he is caught in any offense, he shall die." [53]So King Solomon sent and had him taken down from the altar. He came and bowed before King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, "Go home."

When David's life was drawing to a close, he instructed his son Solomon as follows: [2]"I am going the way of all the earth; be strong and show yourself a man. [3]Keep the charge of the LORD your God, walking in His ways and following His laws, His commandments, His rules, and His admonitions as recorded in the Teaching of Moses, in order that you may succeed in whatever you undertake and wherever you turn. [4]Then the LORD will fulfill the promise that He made concerning me: 'If your descendants are scrupulous in their conduct, and walk before Me faithfully, with all their heart and soul, [a]-your line on the throne of Israel shall never end!'-[a]

10So David slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the City of David. 11The length of David's reign over Israel was forty years: he reigned seven years in Hebron, and he reigned thirty-three years in Jerusalem. 12And Solomon sat upon the throne of his father David, and his rule was firmly established.

13Adonijah son of Haggith came to see Bathsheba, Solomon's mother. She said, "Do you come with friendly intent?" "Yes," he replied; 14and he continued, "I would like to have a word with you." "Speak up," she said. 15Then he said, "You know that the kingship was rightly mine and that all Israel wanted me to reign. But the kingship passed on to my brother; it came to him by the will of the LORD. 16And now I have one request to make of you; do not refuse me." She said, "Speak up." 17He replied, "Please ask King Solomon—for he won't refuse you—to give me Abishag the Shunammite as wife." [18]"Very well," said Bathsheba, "I will speak to the king in your behalf."

[19]So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him about Adonijah. The king rose to greet her and bowed down to her. He sat on his throne; and he had a throne placed for the queen mother, and she sat on his right. [20]She said, "I have one small request to make of you, do not refuse me." He responded, "Ask, Mother; I shall not refuse you." [21]Then she said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to your brother Adonijah as wife." [22]The king replied to his mother, "Why request Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Request the kingship for him! For he is my older brother, [f]-and the priest Abiathar and Joab son of Zeruiah are on his side."-[f]

[23]Thereupon, King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, "So may God do to me and even more, if broaching this matter does not cost Adonijah his life! [24]Now, as the LORD lives, who has established me and set me on the throne of my father David and who has provided him[g] with a house, as he promised, Adonijah shall be put to death this very day!" [25]And Solomon instructed Benaiah son of Jehoiada, who struck Adonijah[h] down; and so he died.

[26]To the priest Abiathar, the king said, "Go to your estate at Anathoth! You deserve to die, but I shall not put you to death at this time, because you carried the Ark of my Lord GOD before my father David and because you shared all the hardships that my father endured." [27]So Solomon dismissed Abiathar from his office of priest of the LORD—thus fulfilling what the LORD had spoken at Shiloh[i] regarding the house of Eli.

[28]When the news reached Joab, he fled to the Tent of the LORD and grasped the horns of the altar—for Joab had sided with Adonijah, though he had not sided with Absalom. [29]King Solomon was told that Joab had fled to the Tent of the LORD and that he was there by the altar; so Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada, saying, "Go and strike him down." [30]Benaiah went to the Tent of the LORD and said to him, "Thus said the king: Come out!" "No!" he replied; "I will die here." Benaiah reported back to the king that Joab had answered thus and thus, [31]and the king said, "Do just as he said; strike him down and bury him, and remove guilt from me and my father's house for the blood of the innocent that Joab has shed. [32]Thus the LORD will bring his blood guilt down upon his own head, because, unbeknown to my father, he struck down with the sword two men more righteous and honorable than he—Abner son of Ner, the army commander of Israel, and Amasa son of Jether, the army commander of Judah. [33]May the guilt for their blood come down upon the head of Joab and his descendants forever, and may good fortune from the LORD be granted forever to David and his descendants, his house and his throne." [34]So Benaiah son of Jehoiada went up and struck him down. And he was buried at his home in the wilderness. [35]In his place, the king appointed Benaiah son of Jehoiada over the army, and in place of Abiathar, the king appointed the priest Zadok.

[36]Then the king summoned Shimei and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and stay there—do not ever go out from there anywhere else. [37]On the very day that you go out and cross the Wadi Kidron, you can be sure that you will die; your blood shall be on your own head." [38]"That is fair," said Shimei to the king, "your servant will do just as my lord the king has spoken." And for a long time, Shimei remained in Jerusalem.

39Three years later, two slaves of Shimei ran away to King Achish son of Maacah of Gath. Shimei was told, "Your slaves are in Gath." 40Shimei thereupon saddled his ass and went to Achish in Gath to claim his slaves; and Shimei returned from Gath with his slaves. 41Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and back, 42and the king summoned Shimei and said to him, "Did I not adjure you by the LORD and warn you, 'On the very day that you leave and go anywhere else, you can be sure that you will die,' and did you not say to me, 'It is fair; I accept'? 43Why did you not abide by the oath before the LORD and by the orders which I gave you?" 44The king said further to Shimei, "You know all the wrong, which you remember very well, that you did to my father David. Now the LORD brings down your wrongdoing upon your own head. 45But King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever."

46The king gave orders to Benaiah son of Jehoiada and he went out and struck Shimei[h] down; and so he died.

Thus the kingdom was secured in Solomon's hands.

Solomon allied himself by marriage with Pharaoh king of Egypt. He married Pharaoh's daughter and brought her to the City of David [to live there] until he had finished building his palace, and the House of the LORD, and the walls around Jerusalem.

2The people, however, continued to offer sacrifices at the open shrines, because up to that time no house had been built for the name of the LORD. 3And Solomon, though he loved the LORD and followed the practices of his father David, also sacrificed and offered at the shrines.

[4]The king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the largest shrine; on that altar Solomon presented a thousand burnt offerings. [5]At Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream by night; and God said, "Ask, what shall I grant you?" [6]Solomon said, "You dealt most graciously with Your servant my father David, because he walked before You in faithfulness and righteousness and in integrity of heart. You have continued this great kindness to him by giving him a son to occupy his throne, as is now the case. [7]And now, O LORD my God, You have made Your servant king in place of my father David; but I am a young lad, [a]with no experience in leadership.[a] [8]Your servant finds himself in the midst of the people You have chosen, a people too numerous to be numbered or counted. [9]Grant, then, Your servant an understanding mind to judge Your people, to distinguish between good and bad; for who can judge this vast people of Yours?"

[10]The Lord was pleased that Solomon had asked for this. [11]And God said to him, "Because you asked for this—you did not ask for long life, you did not ask for riches, you did not ask for the life of your enemies, but you asked for discernment in dispensing justice—[12]I now do as you have spoken. I grant you a wise and discerning mind; there has never been anyone like you before, nor will anyone like you arise again. [13]And I also grant you what you did not ask for—both riches and glory all your life—the like of which no king has ever had. [14]And I will further grant you long life, if you will walk in My ways and observe My laws and commandments, as did your father David."

[15]Then Solomon awoke: it was a dream! He went to Jerusalem, stood before the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord, and sacrificed burnt offerings and presented offerings of well-being; and he made a banquet for all his courtiers.

16Later two prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. 17The first woman said, "Please, my lord! This woman and I live in the same house; and I gave birth to a child while she was in the house. 18On the third day after I was delivered, this woman also gave birth to a child. We were alone; there was no one else with us in the house, just the two of us in the house. 19During the night this woman's child died, because she lay on it. 20She arose in the night and took my son from my side while your maidservant was asleep, and laid him in her bosom; and she laid her dead son in my bosom. 21When I arose in the morning to nurse my son, there he was, dead; but when I looked at him closely in the morning, it was not the son I had borne."

22The other woman spoke up, "No, the live one is my son, and the dead one is yours!" But the first insisted, "No, the dead boy is yours; mine is the live one!" And they went on arguing before the king.

23The king said, "One says, 'This is my son, the live one, and the dead one is yours'; and the other says, 'No, the dead boy is yours, mine is the live one.' 24So the king gave the order, "Fetch me a sword." A sword was brought before the king, 25and the king said, "Cut the live child in two, and give half to one and half to the other."

26But the woman whose son was the live one pleaded with the king, for she was overcome with compassion for her son. "Please, my lord," she cried, "give her the live child; only don't kill it!" The other insisted, "It shall be neither yours nor mine; cut it in two!" 27Then the king spoke up. "Give the live child to her," he said, "and do not put it to death; she is its mother."

28When all Israel heard the decision that the king had rendered, they stood in awe of the king; for they saw that he possessed divine wisdom to execute justice.

4 King Solomon was now king over all Israel. [2]These were his officials:

Azariah son of Zadok—the priest;

[3]Elihoreph and Ahijah sons of Shisha—scribes;

Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud—recorder;

[4]Benaiah son of Jehoiada—over the army;

Zadok and Abiathar—priests;

[5]Azariah son of Nathan—in charge of the prefects;

Zabud son of Nathan the priest—companion of the king;

[6]Ahishar—in charge of the palace; and

Adoniram son of Abda—in charge of the forced labor.

[7]Solomon had twelve prefects governing all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household; each had to provide food for one month in the year. [8]And these were their names: Ben-hur, in the hill country of Ephraim; [9]Ben-deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, and Elon-beth-hanan; [10]Ben-hesed in Arubboth—he governed Socho and all the Hepher area; [11]Ben-abinadab, [in] all of Naphath-dor (Solomon's daughter Taphath was his wife); [12]Baana son of Ahilud [in] Taanach and Megiddo and all Beth-shean, which is beside Zarethan, below Jezreel—from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah as far as the other side of Jokmeam; [13]Ben-geber, in Ramoth-gilead—he governed the villages of Jair son of Manasseh which are in Gilead, and he also governed the district of Argob which is in Bashan, sixty large towns with walls and bronze bars; [14]Ahinadab son of Iddo, in Mahanaim; [15]Ahimaaz, in Naphtali (he too took a daughter of Solomon—Basemath—to wife); [16]Baanah son of Hushi, in Asher and Bealoth;[a] [17]Jehoshaphat son of Paruah, in Issachar; [18]Shimei son of Ela, in Ben-

Solomon's rule extended over all the kingdoms from the Euphrates to the land of the Philistines and the boundary of Egypt. They brought Solomon tribute and were subject to him all his life. [2]Solomon's daily provisions consisted of 30 *kor*s of semolina, and 60 *kor*s of [ordinary] flour, [3]10 fattened oxen, 20 pasture-fed oxen, and 100 sheep and goats, besides deer and gazelles, roebucks and a-fatted geese.-a [4]For he controlled the whole region west of the Euphrates—all the kings west of the Euphrates, from Tiphsah to Gaza—and he had peace on all his borders roundabout. [5]All the days of Solomon, Judah and Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba dwelt in safety, everyone under his own vine and under his own fig tree. [6]Solomon had 40,000 stalls of horses for his chariotry and 12,000 horsemen.

[7]*b*All those prefects, each during his month, would furnish provisions for King Solomon and for all who were admitted to King Solomon's table; they did not fall short in anything. [8]They would also, each in his turn, deliver barley and straw for the horses and the swift steeds to the places where they were stationed.

dom of the Egyptians. [11]He was the wisest of all men: [wiser] than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, Chalkol, and Darda the sons of Mahol. His fame spread among all the surrounding nations. [12]He composed three thousand proverbs, and his songs numbered one thousand and five. [13]He discoursed about trees, from the cedar in Lebanon to the hyssop that grows out of the wall; and he discoursed about beasts, birds, creeping things, and fishes. [14]Men of all peoples came to hear Solomon's wisdom, [sent] by all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

[15]King Hiram of Tyre sent his officials to Solomon when he heard that he had been anointed king in place of his father; for Hiram had always been a friend of David. [16]Solomon sent this message to Hiram: [17]"You know that my father David could not build a house for the name of the LORD his God because of the enemies[c] that encompassed him, until the LORD had placed them under the soles of his feet. [18]But now the LORD my God has given me respite all around; there is no adversary and no mischance. [19]And so I propose to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD promised my father David, saying, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, shall build the house for My name.' [20]Please, then, give orders for cedars to be cut for me in the Lebanon. My servants will work with yours, and I will pay you any wages you may ask for your servants; for as you know, there is none among us who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians."

[21]When Hiram heard Solomon's message, he was overjoyed. "Praised be the LORD this day," he said, "for granting David a wise son to govern this great people." [22]So Hiram sent word to Solomon: "I have your message; I will supply all the cedar and cypress logs you require. [23]My servants will bring them down to the sea from the Lebanon; and at the sea I will make them into floats and [deliver them] to any place that you designate to me. There I shall break them up for you to carry away. You, in turn, will supply the food I require for my household." [24]So Hiram kept Solomon provided with all the cedar and cypress wood he required, [25]and Solomon delivered to Hiram 20,000 *kor*s of wheat as provisions for his household and [d-]20 *kor*s[-d] of beaten oil. Such was Solomon's annual payment to Hiram.

[26]The LORD had given Solomon wisdom, as He had promised him. There was friendship between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty.

[27]King Solomon imposed forced labor on all Israel; the levy came to 30,000 men. [28]He sent them to the Lebanon in shifts of 10,000 a month: they would spend one month in the Lebanon and two months at home. Adoniram was in charge of the forced labor. [29]Solomon also had 70,000 porters and 80,000 quarriers in the hills, [30]apart from Solomon's 3,300 officials who were in charge of the work and supervised the gangs doing the work.

[31]The king ordered huge blocks of choice stone to be quarried, so that the foundations of the house might be laid with hewn stones. [32]Solomon's masons, Hiram's masons, and the men of Gebal shaped them. Thus the timber and the stones for building the house were made ready.

gan to build the House of the LORD. [2]The House which King Solomon built for the LORD was 60 cubits long, 20 cubits wide, and 30 cubits high. [3]The portico in front of the Great Hall of the House was 20 cubits long—along the width of the House—and 10 cubits deep to the front of the House. [4][a]He made windows for the House, recessed and latticed. [5]Against the outside wall of the House—the outside walls of the House enclosing the Great Hall and the Shrine[b]—he built a storied structure; and he made side chambers all around. [6]The lowest story was 5 cubits wide, the middle one 6 cubits wide, and the third 7 cubits wide; for he had provided recesses around the outside of the House so as not to penetrate the walls of the House.

[7]When the House was built, only finished stones cut at the quarry were used, so that no hammer or ax or any iron tool was heard in the House while it was being built.

[8]The entrance to the middle[c] [story of] the side chambers was on the right side of the House; and winding stairs led up to the middle chambers, and from the middle chambers to the third story. [9]When he finished building the House, [d-]he paneled the House with beams and planks of cedar.[-d] [10]He built the storied structure against the entire House—each story 5 cubits high, so that it encased the House with timbers of cedar.

[11]Then the word of the LORD came to Solomon, [12]"With regard to this House you are building—if you follow My laws and observe My rules and faithfully keep My commandments, I will fulfill for you the promise that I gave to your father David: [13]I will abide among the children of Israel, and I will never forsake My people Israel."

struction of the House, [15]he paneled the walls of the House on the inside with planks of cedar. He also overlaid the walls on the inside with wood, from the floor of the House to the ceiling. And he overlaid the floor of the House with planks of cypress. [16]Twenty cubits from the rear of the House, he built [a partition] of cedar planks from the floor to the walls;[e] he furnished its interior to serve as a shrine, as the Holy of Holies. [17][f]The front part of the House, that is, the Great Hall, measured 40 cubits. [18]The cedar of the interior of the House had carvings of gourds and calyxes; it was all cedar, no stone was exposed. [19]In the innermost part of the House, he fixed a Shrine in which to place the Ark of the LORD's Covenant. [20][b-]The interior of the[-b] Shrine was 20 cubits long, 20 cubits wide, and 20 cubits high. He overlaid it with solid gold; he similarly overlaid [its] cedar altar. [21]Solomon overlaid the interior of the House with solid gold; and he inserted golden chains [g-]into the door of[-g] the Shrine. He overlaid [the Shrine] with gold, [22]so that the entire House was overlaid with gold; he even overlaid with gold the entire altar of the Shrine. And so the entire House was completed.

[23]In the Shrine he made two cherubim of olive wood, each 10 cubits high. [24][One] had a wing measuring 5 cubits and another wing measuring 5 cubits, so that the spread from wingtip to wingtip was 10 cubits; [25]and the wingspread of the other cherub was also 10 cubits. The two cherubim had the same measurements and proportions: [26]the height of the one cherub was 10 cubits, and so was that of the other cherub.

[27]He placed the cherubim inside the [h-]inner chamber.[-h] Since the wings of the cherubim were extended, a wing of the one touched one wall and a wing of the other touched the other

[29]All over the walls of the House, of both the inner area and the outer area, he carved reliefs of cherubim, palms, and calyxes, [30]and he overlaid the floor of the House with gold, both the inner and the outer areas.

[and similarly] the other column. [16]He made two capitals, cast in bronze, to be set upon the two columns, the height of each of the two capitals being 5 cubits; [17]also nets of meshwork with festoons of chainwork for the capitals that were on the top of the columns, seven for each of the two capitals. [18]He made the columns[h] so that there were two rows [of pomegranates] encircling the top of the one network, to cover the capitals that were on the top of the pomegranates;[i] and he did the same for [the network on] the second capital. [19]The capitals upon the columns of the portico were of lily design, 4 cubits high; [20]so also the capitals upon the two columns extended above and next to the bulge[j] that was beside the network. There were 200 pomegranates in rows around the top of the second capital.[k]

[21]He set up the columns at the portico of the Great Hall; he set up one column on the right and named it Jachin, and he set up the other column on the left and named it Boaz. [22]Upon the top of the columns there was a lily design. Thus the work of the columns was completed.

[23]Then he made the tank[l] of cast metal, 10 cubits across from brim to brim, completely round; it was 5 cubits high, and it measured 30 cubits in circumference. [24]There were gourds below the brim completely encircling it—ten to a cubit, encircling the tank; the gourds were in two rows, cast in one piece with it. [25]It stood upon twelve oxen: three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east, with the tank resting upon them; their haunches were all turned inward. [26]It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was made like that of a cup, like the petals of a lily. Its capacity was 2,000 baths.

[27]He made the ten laver stands of bronze. The length of each laver stand was 4 cubits and the width 4 cubits, and the height was 3 cubits. [28]The structure of the laver stands was as follows: They had insets,[m] and there were insets within the frames; [29]and on the insets within the frames were lions, oxen, and cherubim. Above the frames was a stand; and both above and below the lions and the oxen were spirals of hammered metal. [30]Each laver stand had four bronze wheels and [two] bronze axletrees. Its four legs had brackets; the brackets were under the laver, cast [d]-with spirals beyond each.-[d] [31]Its funnel, within the crown, rose a cubit above it; this funnel was round, in the fashion of a stand, a cubit and a half in diameter. On the funnel too there were carvings.

But the insets were square, not round. [32]And below the insets were the four wheels. The axletrees of the wheels were [fixed] in the laver stand, and the height of each wheel was a cubit and a half. [33]The structure of the wheels was like the structure of chariot wheels; and their axletrees, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all of cast metal. [34]Four brackets ran to the four corners of each laver stand; the brackets were of a piece with the laver stand. [35]At the top of the laver stand was a round band half a cubit high, and together with the top of the laver stand; its sides and its insets were of one piece with it. [36][d]-On its surface—on its sides—and on its insets [Hiram] engraved cherubim, lions, and palms, as the clear space on each allowed,-[d] with spirals roundabout. [37]It was after this manner that he made the ten laver stands, all of them cast alike, of the same measure and the same form. [38]Then he made ten bronze lavers, one laver on each of the ten laver stands, each laver measuring 4 cubits and each laver containing forty baths.

[39]He disposed the laver stands, five at the right side of the House and five at its left side; and the tank he placed on the right side of the House, at the southeast [corner].

[40]Hiram also made the lavers, the scrapers, and the sprinkling bowls.

So Hiram finished all the work that he had been doing for King Solomon on the House of the LORD: [41]the two columns, the two globes of the capitals upon the columns; and the two pieces of network to cover the two globes of the capitals upon the columns; [42]the four hundred pomegranates for the two pieces of network, two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two globes of the capitals upon the columns; [43]the ten stands and the ten lavers upon the stands; [44]the one tank with the twelve oxen underneath the tank; [45]the pails, the scrapers, and the sprinkling bowls. All those vessels in the House of the LORD that Hiram made for King Solomon were of burnished bronze. [46]The king had them cast n-in earthen molds,-n in the plain of the Jordan between Succoth and Zarethan. [47]Solomon left all the vessels [unweighed] because of their very great quantity; the weight of the bronze was not reckoned.

[48]And Solomon made all the furnishings that were in the House of the LORD: the altar, of gold; the table for the bread of display, of gold; [49]the lampstands—five on the right side and five on the left—in front of the Shrine, of solid gold; and the petals, lamps, and tongs, of gold; [50]the basins, snuffers, sprinkling bowls, ladles, and fire pans, of solid gold; and the hinge sockets for the doors of the innermost part of the House, the Holy of Holies, and for the doors of the Great Hall of the House, of gold.

Then Solomon convoked the elders of Israel—all the heads of the tribes and the ancestral chieftains of the Israelites—before King Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD from the City of David, that is, Zion.

[2]All the men of Israel gathered before King Solomon at the Feast,[a] in the month of Ethanim—that is, the seventh month. [3]When all the elders of Israel had come, the priests lifted the Ark [4]and carried up the Ark of the LORD. Then the priests and the Levites brought the Tent of Meeting and all the holy vessels that were in the Tent. [5]Meanwhile, King Solomon and the whole community of Israel, who were assembled with him before the Ark, were sacrificing sheep and oxen in such abundance that they could not be numbered or counted.

[6]The priests brought the Ark of the LORD's Covenant to its place underneath the wings of the cherubim, in the Shrine of the House, in the Holy of Holies; [7]for the cherubim had their wings spread out over the place of the Ark, so that the cherubim shielded the Ark and its poles from above. [8]The poles projected so that the ends of the poles were visible in the sanctuary in front of the Shrine, but they could not be seen outside; and there they remain to this day. [9]There was nothing inside the Ark but the two tablets of stone which Moses placed there at Horeb, when the LORD made [a covenant] with the Israelites after their departure from the land of Egypt.

[10]When the priests came out of the sanctuary—for the cloud had filled the House of the LORD [11]and the priests were not able to remain and perform the service because of the cloud, for the Presence of the LORD filled the House of the LORD—[12]then Solomon declared:

"The LORD has chosen
To abide in a thick cloud:
[13]I have now built for You
A stately House,
A place where You
May dwell forever."

[14]Then, with the whole congregation of Israel standing, the king faced about and blessed the whole congregation of Israel. [15]He said:

"Praised be the LORD, the God of Israel, [b-]who has fulfilled with deeds the promise He made[-b] to my father David. For He said, [16]'Ever since I brought My people Israel out of Egypt, I have not chosen a city among all the tribes of Israel for building a House where My name might abide; but I have chosen David to rule My people Israel.'

[17]"Now my father David had intended to build a House for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. [18]But the LORD said to my father David, 'As regards your intention to build a House for My name, you did right to have that intention. [19]However, you shall not build the House yourself; instead, your son, the issue of your loins, shall build the House for My name.'

[20]"And the LORD has fulfilled the promise that He made: I have succeeded[c] my father David and have ascended the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised. I have built the House for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel; [21]and I have set a place there for the Ark, containing the covenant which the LORD made with our fathers when He brought them out from the land of Egypt."

[22]Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of the whole community of Israel; he spread the palms of his hands toward heaven [23]and said, "O LORD God of Israel, in the heavens above and on the earth below there is no god like You, who keep Your gracious covenant with Your servants when they walk before You in wholehearted devotion; [24]You who have kept the promises You made to Your servant, my father David, fulfilling with deeds the promise You made—as is now the case. [25]And now, O LORD God of Israel, keep the further promise that You made to Your servant, my father David: 'Your line on the throne of Israel shall never end, if only your descendants will look to their way and walk before Me as you have walked before Me.' [26]Now, therefore, O God of Israel, let the promise that You made to Your servant my father David be fulfilled.

[27]"But will God really dwell[d] on earth? Even the heavens to their uttermost reaches cannot contain You, how much less this House that I have built! [28]Yet turn, O LORD my God, to the prayer and supplication of Your servant, and hear the cry and prayer which Your servant offers before You this day. [29]May Your eyes be open day and night toward this House, toward the place of which You have said, 'My name shall abide there'; may You heed the prayers which Your servant will offer toward this place. [30]And when You hear the supplications which Your servant and Your people Israel offer toward this place, give heed in Your heavenly abode—give heed and pardon.

When Solomon had finished building the House of the LORD and the royal palace and everything that Solomon had set his heart on constructing, [2]the LORD appeared to Solomon a second time, as He had appeared to him at Gibeon. [3]The LORD said to him, "I have heard the prayer and the supplication which you have offered to Me. I consecrate this House which you have built and I set My name there forever. My eyes and My heart shall ever be there. rael off the land which I gave them; I will reject[b] the House which I have consecrated to My name; and Israel shall become a proverb and a byword among all peoples. [8]And [c]as for this House, once so exalted,[-c] everyone passing by it shall be appalled and shall hiss.[d] And when they ask, 'Why did the LORD do thus to the land and to this House?' [9]they shall be told, 'It is because they forsook the LORD their God who freed them from the land of Egypt, and they embraced other gods and worshiped them and served them; therefore the LORD has brought all this calamity upon them.'"

[10]At the end of the twenty years[e] during which Solomon constructed the two buildings, the LORD's House and the royal palace—[11]since King Hiram of Tyre had supplied Solomon with all the cedar and cypress timber and gold that he required—King Solomon in turn gave Hiram twenty towns in the region of Galilee. [12]But when Hiram came from Tyre to inspect the towns that Solomon had given him, he was not pleased with them. [13]"My brother," he said, "what sort of towns are these you have given me?" So they were named the land of Cabul,[f] as is still the case. [14]However, Hiram sent the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

[15]This was the purpose of the forced labor which Solomon imposed: It was to build the House of the LORD, his own palace, the Millo,[g] and the wall of Jerusalem, and [to fortify] Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer. ([16]Pharaoh king of Egypt had come up and captured Gezer; he destroyed it by fire, killed the Canaanites who dwelt in the town, and gave it as dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife.) [17]So Solomon fortified Gezer, lower Beth-horon, [18]Baalith, and Tamar[h] in the wilderness, in the land [of Judah], [19]and all of Solomon's garrison towns, chariot towns, and cavalry towns—everything that Solomon set his heart on building in Jerusalem and in the Lebanon, and throughout the territory that he ruled. [20]All the people that were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites who were not of the Israelite stock—[21]those of their descendants who remained in the land and whom the Israelites were not able to annihilate—of these Solomon made a slave force, as is still the case. [22]But he did not reduce any Israelites to slavery; they served, rather, as warriors and as his attendants, officials, and officers, and as commanders of his chariotry and cavalry.

[23]These were the prefects that were in charge of Solomon's works and were foremen over the people engaged in the work, who numbered 550.[i]

[24]As soon as Pharaoh's daughter went up from the City of David to the palace that he had built for her, he built the Millo.[g]

[25]Solomon used to offer burnt offerings and sacrifices of well-being three times a year on the altar that he had built for the LORD, and [j]he used to offer incense on the one that was before the LORD. And he kept the House in repair.[j]

[26]King Solomon also built a fleet of ships at Ezion-geber, which is near Eloth[k] on the shore of the Sea of Reeds in the land of Edom. [27]Hiram sent servants of his with the fleet, mariners who were experienced on the sea, to serve with Solomon's men. [28]They came to Ophir; there they obtained gold in the amount of four hundred and twenty talents, which they delivered to King Solomon.

The queen of Sheba heard of Solomon's fame, [a]-through the name of the LORD,-[a] and she came to test him with hard questions. [2]She arrived in Jerusalem with a very large retinue, with camels bearing spices, a great quantity of gold, and precious stones. When she came to Solomon, she asked him all that she had in mind. [3]Solomon had answers for all her questions; there was nothing that the king did not know, [nothing] to which he could not give her an answer. [4]When the queen of Sheba observed all of Solomon's wisdom, and the palace he had built, [5]the fare of his table, the seating of his courtiers, the service and attire of his attendants, and his wine service, [b]-and the burnt offerings that he offered at-[b] the House of the LORD, she was left breathless.

[6]She said to the king, "The report I heard in my own land about you and your wisdom was true. [7]But I did not believe the reports until I came and saw with my own eyes that not even the half had been told me; your wisdom and wealth surpass the reports that I heard. [8]How fortunate are your men and how fortunate are these your courtiers, who are always in attendance on you and can hear your wisdom! [9]Praised be the LORD your God, who delighted in you and set you on the throne of Israel. It is because of the LORD's everlasting love for Israel that He made you king to administer justice and righteousness."

[10]She presented the king with one hundred and twenty talents of gold, and a large quantity of spices, and precious stones. Never again did such a vast quantity of spices arrive as that which the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.—[11]Moreover, Hiram's fleet, which carried gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir a huge quantity of almug wood[c] and precious stones.

[12]The king used the almug wood for decorations in the House of the LORD and in the royal palace, and for harps and lyres for the musicians. Such a quantity of almug wood has never arrived or been seen to this day.—[13]King Solomon, in turn, gave the queen of Sheba everything she wanted and asked for, in addition to what King Solomon gave her out of his royal bounty. Then she and her attendants left and returned to her own land.

[14]The weight of the gold which Solomon received every year was 666 talents of gold, [15]besides what came from tradesmen, from the traffic of the merchants, and from all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the regions. [16]King Solomon made 200 shields of beaten gold—600 shekels of gold to each shield—[17]and 300 bucklers of beaten gold—three *mina*s of gold to each buckler. The king placed them in the Lebanon Forest House.

[18]The king also made a large throne of ivory, and he overlaid it with refined gold. [19]Six steps led up to the throne, and the throne had a back with a rounded top, and arms on either side of the seat. Two lions stood beside the arms, [20]and twelve lions stood on the six steps, six on either side. No such throne was ever made for any other kingdom.[d]

[21]All King Solomon's drinking cups were of gold, and all the utensils of the Lebanon Forest House were of pure gold: silver did not count for anything in Solomon's days. [22]For the king had a Tarshish[e] fleet on the sea, along with Hiram's fleet. Once every three years, the Tarshish fleet came in, bearing gold and silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks.

[23]King Solomon excelled all the kings on earth in wealth and in wisdom. [24]All the world came to pay homage to Solomon and to listen to the wisdom with which God had endowed

King Solomon loved many foreign women in addition to Pharaoh's daughter—Moabite, Ammonite, Edomite, Phoenician, and Hittite women, [2]from the nations of which the LORD had said to the Israelites, "None of you shall join them and none of them shall join you,[a] lest they turn your heart away to follow their gods." Such Solomon clung to and loved. [3]He had seven hundred royal wives and three hundred concubines; and his wives turned his heart away. [4]In his old age, his wives turned away Solomon's heart after other gods, and he was not as wholeheartedly devoted to the LORD his God as his father David had been. [5]Solomon followed Ashtoreth the goddess of the Phoenicians, and Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

[6]Solomon did what was displeasing to the LORD and did not remain loyal to the LORD like his father David. [7]At that time, Solomon built a shrine for Chemosh the abomination of Moab on the hill near Jerusalem, and one for Molech the abomination of the Ammonites. [8]And he did the same for all his foreign wives who offered and sacrificed to their gods.

[9]The LORD was angry with Solomon, because his heart turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice [10]and had commanded him about this matter, not to follow other gods; he did not obey what the LORD had commanded. [11]And the LORD said to Solomon, b-"Because you are guilty of this-b—you have not kept My covenant and the laws which I enjoined upon you—I will tear the kingdom away from you and give it to one of your servants. [12]But, for the sake of your father David, I will not do it in your lifetime; I will tear it away from your son. [13]However, I will not tear away the whole kingdom; I will give your son one tribe, for the sake of My servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen."

[14]So the LORD raised up an adversary against Solomon, the Edomite Hadad, who was of the royal family of Edom. [15]When David c-was in-c Edom, Joab the army commander went up to bury the slain, and he killed every male in Edom; [16]for Joab and all Israel stayed there for six months until he had killed off every male in Edom. [17]But Hadad,[d] together with some Edomite men, servants of his father, escaped and headed for Egypt; Hadad was then a young boy. [18]Setting out from Midian, they came to Paran and took along with them men from Paran. Thus they came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, assigned a food allowance to him, and granted him an estate. [19]Pharaoh took a great liking to Hadad and gave him his sister-in-law, the sister of Queen Tahpenes, as wife. [20]The sister of Tahpenes bore him a son, Genubath. Tahpenes weaned[e] him in Pharaoh's palace, and Genubath remained in Pharaoh's palace among the sons of Pharaoh. 21When Hadad heard in Egypt that David had been laid to rest with his fathers and that Joab the army commander was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Give me leave to go to my own country." 22Pharaoh replied, "What do you lack with me, that you want to go to your own country?" But he said, "Nevertheless, give me leave to go."

23Another adversary that God raised up against Solomon[f] was Rezon son of Eliada, who had fled from his lord, King Hadadezer of Zobah, 24when David was slaughtering them. He gathered men about him and became captain over a troop; they went to Damascus and settled there, and they established a kingdom in Damascus. 25He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon, adding to the trouble [caused by] Hadad; he repudiated [the authority of] Israel and reigned over Aram.

29During that time Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem and the prophet Ahijah of Shiloh met him on the way. He had put on a new robe; and when the two were alone in the open country, 30Ahijah took hold of the new robe he was wearing and tore it into twelve pieces. 31"Take ten pieces," he said to Jeroboam. "For thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I am about to tear the kingdom out of Solomon's hands, and I will give you ten tribes. [32]But one tribe shall remain his—for the sake of My servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel. [33]For they have forsaken Me; they have worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Phoenicians, Chemosh the god of Moab, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites; they have not walked in My ways, or done what is pleasing to Me, or [kept] My laws and rules, as his father David did. [36]To his son I will give one tribe, so that there may be a lamp for My servant David forever before Me in Jerusalem—the city where I have chosen to establish My name. [37]But you have been chosen by Me; reign[g] wherever you wish, and you shall be king over Israel. [38]If you heed all that I command you, and walk in My ways, and do what is right in My sight, keeping My laws and commandments as My servant David did, then I will be with you and I will build for you a lasting dynasty as I did for David. I hereby give Israel to you; [39]and I will chastise David's descendants for that [sin], though not forever."

[40]Solomon sought to put Jeroboam to death, but Jeroboam promptly fled to King Shishak of Egypt; and he remained in Egypt till the death of Solomon.

[41]The other events of Solomon's reign, and all his actions and his wisdom, are recorded in the book of the Annals of Solomon. [42]The length of Solomon's reign in Jerusalem, over all Israel, was forty years. [43]Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of his father David; and his son Rehoboam succeeded him as king.

v. 39. א׳ נחה

12 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to acclaim him as king. [2]Jeroboam son of Nebat learned of it while he was still in Egypt; for Jeroboam had fled from King Solomon, [a]and had settled in Egypt.[a] [3]They sent for him; and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam as follows: [4]"Your father made our yoke heavy. Now lighten the harsh labor and the heavy yoke which your father laid on us, and we will serve you." [5]He answered them, "Go away for three days and then come back to me." So the people went away.

[6]King Rehoboam took counsel with the elders who had served his father Solomon during his lifetime. He said, "What answer do you advise [me] to give to this people?" [7]They answered him, "If you will be a servant to those people today and serve them, and if you respond to them with kind words, they will be your servants always." [8]But he ignored the advice that the elders gave him, and took counsel with the young men who had grown up with him and were serving him. [9]"What," he asked, "do you advise that we reply to the people who said to me, 'Lighten the yoke that your father placed upon us'?" [10]And the young men who had grown up with him answered, "Speak thus to the people who said to you, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, now you make it lighter for us.' Say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins. [11]My father imposed a heavy yoke on you, and I will add to your yoke; my father flogged you with whips, but I will flog you with scorpions.'"

[12]Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, since the king had told them: "Come back on the third day." [13]The king answered the people harshly, ignoring the advice that the elders had given him. [14]He spoke to them in accordance with the advice of the young men, and said, "My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father flogged you with whips, but I will flog you with scorpions." [15](The king did not listen to the people; for the LORD had brought it about in order to fulfill the promise that the LORD had made through Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam son of Nebat.) [16]When all Israel saw that the king had not listened to them, the people answered the king:

"We have no portion in David,
No share in Jesse's son!
To your tents, O Israel!
Now look to your own House, O David."

So the Israelites returned to their homes.[b] [17]But Rehoboam continued to reign over the Israelites who lived in the towns of Judah.

[18]King Rehoboam sent Adoram,[c] who was in charge of the forced labor, but all Israel pelted him to death with stones. Thereupon King Rehoboam hurriedly mounted his chariot and fled to Jerusalem. [19]Thus Israel revolted against the House of David, as is still the case.

[20]When all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent messengers and summoned him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. Only the tribe of Judah remained loyal to the House of David.

[21]On his return to Jerusalem, Rehoboam mustered all the House of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, 180,000 picked warriors, to fight against the House of Israel, in order to restore the kingship to Rehoboam son of Solomon. [22]But the word of God came to Shemaiah, the man of God: [23]"Say to King Rehoboam son of Solomon of Judah, and to all the House of Judah and Benjamin and the rest of the people: [24]Thus said the LORD: You shall not set out to make war on your kinsmen the Israelites. Let every man return to his home, for this thing has been brought about by Me." They heeded the word of the LORD and turned back, in accordance with the word of the LORD.

25 Jeroboam fortified Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim and resided there; he moved out from there and fortified Penuel. 26 Jeroboam said to himself, "Now the kingdom may well return to the House of David. 27 If these people still go up to offer sacrifices at the House of the LORD in Jerusalem, the heart of these people will turn back to their master, King Rehoboam of Judah; they will kill me and go back to King Rehoboam of Judah." 28 So the king took counsel and made two golden calves. He said to d-the people,-d "You have been going up to Jerusalem long enough. This is your god, O Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt!" 29 He set up one in Bethel and placed the other in Dan. 30 That proved to be a cause of guilt, for the people went to worship [the calf at Bethel and] the one at Dan. 31 He also made cult places and appointed priests from the ranks of the people who were not of Levite descent.

32 He stationed at Bethel the priests of the shrines that he had appointed to sacrifice to the calves that he had made. And Jeroboam established a festival on the fifteenth day of the eighth month; in imitation of the festival in Judah, he established one at Bethel, and he ascended the altar [there]. 33 On the fifteenth day of the eighth month—the month in which he had contrived of his own mind to establish a festival for the Israelites—Jeroboam ascended the altar that he had made in Bethel.

As he ascended the altar to present an offering, 1 a man of God arrived at Bethel from Judah at the command of the LORD.

While Jeroboam was standing on the altar[a] to present the offering, the man of God, at the command of the LORD, cried out against the altar: [2]"O altar, altar! Thus said the LORD: A son shall be born to the House of David, Josiah by name; and he shall slaughter upon you the priests of the shrines who bring offerings upon you. And human bones shall be burned upon you." [3]He gave a portent on that day, saying, "Here is the portent that the LORD has decreed: This altar shall break apart, and the ashes on it shall be spilled." [4]When the king heard what the man of God had proclaimed against the altar in Bethel, Jeroboam stretched out his arm above the altar and cried, "Seize him!" But the arm that he stretched out against him became rigid, and he could not draw it back. [5]The altar broke apart and its ashes were spilled—the very portent that the man of God had announced at the LORD's command. [6]Then the king spoke up and said to the man of God, "Please entreat the LORD your God and pray for me that I may be able to draw back my arm." The man of God entreated the LORD and the king was able to draw his arm back; it became as it was before.

[7]The king said to the man of God, "Come with me to my house and have some refreshment; and I shall give you a gift." [8]But the man of God replied to the king, "Even if you give me half your wealth, I will not go in with you, nor will I eat bread or drink water in this place; [9]for so I was commanded by the word of the LORD: You shall eat no bread and drink no water, nor shall you go back by the road by which you came." [10]So he left by another road and did not go back by the road on which he had come to Bethel.

[11]There was an old prophet living in Bethel; and his sons[b] came and told him all the things that the man of God had done that day in Bethel [and] the words that he had spoken to the king.

When they told it to their father, [12]their father said to them, "Which road did he leave by?" [c]His sons had seen[c] the road taken by the man of God who had come from Judah. [13]"Saddle the ass for me," he said to his sons. They saddled the ass for him, and he mounted it [14]and rode after the man of God. He came upon him sitting under a terebinth and said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?" "Yes, I am," he answered. [15]"Come home with me," he said, "and have something to eat." [16]He replied, "I may not go back with you and enter your home; and I may not eat bread or drink water in this place; [17]the order I received by the word of the LORD was: You shall not eat bread or drink water there; nor shall you return by the road on which you came." [18]"I am a prophet, too," said the other, "and an angel said to me by command of the LORD: Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water." He was lying to him. [19]So he went back with him, and he ate bread and drank water in his house.

[20]While they were sitting at the table, the word of the LORD came to the prophet who had brought him back. [21]He cried out to the man of God who had come from Judah: "Thus said the LORD: Because you have flouted the word of the LORD and have not observed what the LORD your God commanded you, [22]but have gone back and eaten bread and drunk water in the place of which He said to you, 'Do not eat bread or drink water [there],' your corpse shall not come to the grave of your fathers." [23]After he had eaten bread and had drunk, he saddled the ass for him—for the prophet whom he had brought back. [24]He set out, and a lion came upon him on the road and killed him. His corpse lay on the road, with the ass standing beside it, and the lion also standing beside the corpse.

[25]Some men who passed by saw the corpse lying on the road and the lion standing beside the corpse; they went and told it in the town where the old prophet lived. [26]And when the prophet who had brought him back from the road heard it, he said, "That is the man of God who flouted the LORD's command; the LORD gave him over to the lion, which mauled him and killed him in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken to him." [27]He said to his sons, "Saddle the ass for me," and they did so. [28]He set out and found the corpse lying on the road, with the ass and the lion standing beside the corpse; the lion had not eaten the corpse nor had it mauled the ass. [29]The prophet lifted up the corpse of the man of God, laid it on the ass, and brought it back; [d]it was brought[d] to the town of the old prophet for lamentation and burial. [30]He laid the corpse in his own burial place; and they lamented over it, "Alas, my brother!" [31]After burying him, he said to his sons, "When I die, bury me in the grave where the man of God lies buried; lay my bones beside his. [32]For what he announced by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel, and against all the cult places in the towns of Samaria, shall surely come true."

[33]Even after this incident, Jeroboam did not turn back from his evil way, but kept on appointing priests for the shrines from the ranks of the people. He ordained as priests of the shrines any who so desired. [34]Thereby the House of Jeroboam incurred guilt—to their utter annihilation from the face of the earth.

At that time, Abijah, a son of Jeroboam, fell sick. [2]Jeroboam said to his wife, "Go and disguise yourself, so that you will not be recognized as Jeroboam's wife, and go to Shiloh. The prophet Ahijah lives there, the one who pre-

[4]Jeroboam's wife did so; she left and went to Shiloh and came to the house of Ahijah. Now Ahijah could not see, for his eyes had become sightless with age; [5]but the LORD had said to Ahijah, "Jeroboam's wife is coming to inquire of you concerning her son, who is sick. Speak to her thus and thus. When she arrives, she will be in disguise."

[6]Ahijah heard the sound of her feet as she came through the door, and he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why are you disguised? I have a harsh message for you. [7]Go tell Jeroboam: Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I raised you up from among the people and made you a ruler over My people Israel; [8]I tore away the kingdom from the House of David and gave it to you. But you have not been like My servant David, who kept My commandments and followed Me with all his heart, doing only what was right in My sight. [9]You have acted worse than all those who preceded you; you have gone and made for yourself other gods and molten images to vex Me; and Me you have cast behind your back. [10]Therefore I will bring disaster upon the House of Jeroboam and will cut off from Jeroboam every male, a-bond and free,-a in Israel. I will sweep away the House of Jeroboam utterly, as dung is swept away. [11]Anyone belonging to Jeroboam who dies in the town shall be devoured by dogs; and anyone who dies in the open country shall be eaten by the birds of the air; for the LORD has spoken. [12]As for you, go back home; as soon as you set foot in the town, the child will die. [13]And all Israel shall lament over him and bury him; he alone of Jeroboam's family shall be brought to burial, for in him alone of the House of Jeroboam has some devotion been found to the LORD, the God of Israel. [14]Moreover, the LORD will raise up a king over Israel who will destroy the House of Jeroboam, b-this day and even now.-b

[15]"The LORD will strike Israel until it sways like a reed in water. He will uproot Israel from this good land that He gave to their fathers, and will scatter them beyond the Euphrates, because they have provoked the LORD by the sacred posts that they have made for themselves. [16]He will forsake Israel because of the sins that Jeroboam committed and led Israel to commit."

[17]Jeroboam's wife got up and left, and she went to Tirzah. As soon as she stepped over the threshold of her house, the child died. [18]They buried him and all Israel lamented over him, in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken through His servant the prophet Ahijah. [19]The other events of Jeroboam's reign, how he fought and how he ruled, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [20]Jeroboam reigned twenty-two years; then he slept with his fathers, and his son Nadab succeeded him as king.

[21]Meanwhile, Rehoboam son of Solomon had become king in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem—the city the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to establish His name there. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonitess. [22]Judah did what was displeasing to the LORD, and angered Him more than their fathers had done by the sins that they committed. [23]They too built for themselves shrines, pillars, and sacred posts on every high hill and under every leafy tree; [24]there were also male prostitutes in the land. [Judah] imitated all the abhorrent practices of the nations that the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites.

[25]In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, King Shishak of Egypt marched against Jerusalem [26]and carried off the treasures of the House of the LORD and the treasures of the royal palace. He carried off everything; he even carried off all the golden shields that Solomon had made. [27]King Rehoboam had bronze shields made instead, and he entrusted them to the officers of the guard[c] who guarded the entrance to the royal palace. [28]Whenever the king went into the House of the LORD, the guards would carry them and then bring them back to the armory of the guards.

[29]The other events of Rehoboam's reign, and all his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. [30]There was continual war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam. events of Abijam's reign and all his actions are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah; there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. [8]Abijam slept with his fathers; he was buried in the City of David, and his son Asa succeeded him as king.

[9]In the twentieth year of King Jeroboam of Israel, Asa became king over Judah. [10]He reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Maacah daughter of Abishalom. [11]Asa did what was pleasing to the LORD, as his father David had done. [12]He expelled the male prostitutes from the land, and he removed all the idols that his ancestors had made. [13]He also deposed his mother Maacah from the rank of queen mother, because she had made [c-]an abominable thing[-c] for [the goddess] Asherah. Asa cut down her abominable thing and burnt it in the Wadi Kidron. [14]The shrines, indeed, were not abolished; however, Asa was wholehearted with the LORD his God all his life. [15]He brought into the House of the LORD all the consecrated things of his father and [d-]his own consecrated things[-d]—silver, gold, and utensils.

[16]There was war between Asa and King Baasha of Israel all their days. [17]King Baasha of Israel advanced against Judah, and he fortified Ramah to prevent anyone belonging to King Asa from going out or coming in. [18]So Asa took all the silver and gold that remained in the treasuries of the House of the LORD as well as the treasuries of the royal palace, and he entrusted them to his officials. King Asa sent them to King Ben-hadad son of Tabrimmon son of Hezion of Aram, who resided in Damascus, with this message: [19]"There is a pact between you and me, and between your father and my father. I herewith send you a gift of silver and gold: Go and break your pact with King Baasha of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me." [20]Ben-hadad responded to King Asa's request; he sent his army commanders against the towns of Israel and captured Ijon, Dan, Abel-beth-maacah, and all Chinneroth, as well as all the land of Naphtali. [21]When Baasha heard about it, he stopped fortifying Ramah and remained in Tirzah.

[22]Then King Asa mustered all Judah, with no exemptions; and they carried away the stones and timber with which Baasha had fortified Ramah. With these King Asa fortified Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.

[23]All the other events of Asa's reign, and all his exploits, and all his actions, and the towns that he fortified, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. However, in his old age he suffered from a foot ailment. [24]Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of his father David. His son Jehoshaphat succeeded him as king.

[25]Nadab son of Jeroboam had become king over Israel in the second year of King Asa of Judah, and he reigned over Israel for two years. [26]He did what was displeasing to the LORD; he continued in the ways of his father, in the sins which he caused Israel to commit. [27]Then Baasha son of Ahijah, of the House of Issachar, conspired against him; and Baasha struck him down at Gibbethon of the Philistines, while Nadab and all Israel were laying siege to Gibbethon. [28]Baasha killed him in the third year of King Asa of Judah and became king in his stead. [29]As soon as he became king, he struck down all the House of Jeroboam; he did not spare a single soul belonging to Jeroboam until he destroyed it—in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken through His servant, the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite—[30]because of the sins which Jeroboam committed and which he caused Israel to commit thereby vexing the LORD, the God of Israel.

[31]The other events of Nadab's reign and all his actions are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

[32]There was war between Asa and King Baasha of Israel all their days. [33]In the third year of King Asa of Judah, Baasha son of Ahijah became king in Tirzah over all Israel—for twenty-four years. [34]He did what was displeasing to the LORD; he followed the ways of Jeroboam and the sins which he caused Israel to commit.

The word of the LORD came to Jehu son of Hanani against Baasha: [2]"Because I lifted you up from the dust and made you a ruler over My people Israel, but you followed the way of Jeroboam and caused My people Israel to sin, vexing Me with their sins—[3]I am going to sweep away Baasha and his house. I will make your house like the House of Jeroboam son of Nebat. [4]Anyone belonging to Baasha who dies in the town shall be devoured by dogs, and anyone belonging to him who dies in the open country shall be devoured by the birds of the sky."

[5]The other events of Baasha's reign and his actions and his exploits are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [6]Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. His son Elah succeeded him as king.

[7]But the word of the LORD had come through the prophet Jehu son of Hanani against Baasha and against his house, that it would fare like the House of Jeroboam, [a]which he himself had struck down,[a] because of all the evil he did which was displeasing to the LORD, vexing him with his deeds.

[8]In the twenty-sixth year of King Asa of Judah, Elah son of Baasha became king over Israel, at Tirzah—for two years. [9]His officer Zimri, commander of half the chariotry, committed treason against him while he was at Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, who was in charge of the palace at Tirzah. [10]Zimri entered, struck him down, and killed him; he succeeded him as king in the twenty-seventh year of King Asa of Judah. [11]No sooner had he become king and ascended the throne than he struck down all the House of Baasha; he did not leave a single male of his, nor any kinsman or friend. [12]Thus Zimri destroyed all the House of Baasha, in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken through the prophet Jehu—[13]because of the sinful acts which Baasha and his son Elah committed, and which they caused Israel to commit, vexing the LORD, the God of Israel, with their false gods. [14]The other events of Elah's reign and all his actions are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

[15]During the twenty-seventh year of King Asa of Judah, Zimri reigned in Tirzah for seven days. At the time, the troops were encamped at Gibbethon of the Philistines. [16]When the troops who were encamped there learned that Zimri had committed treason and had struck down the king, that very day, in the camp, all Israel acclaimed the army commander Omri king over Israel. [17]Omri and all Israel then withdrew from Gibbethon and laid siege to Tirzah. [18]When Zimri saw that the town was taken, he went into the citadel of the royal palace and burned down the royal palace over himself. And so he died—[19]because of the sins which he committed and caused Israel to commit, doing what was displeasing to the LORD and following the ways of Jeroboam. [20]The other events of Zimri's reign, and the treason which he committed, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

[21]Then the people of Israel split into two factions: a part of the people followed Tibni son of Ginath to make him king, and the other part followed Omri. [22]Those who followed Omri proved stronger than those who followed Tibni son of Ginath; Tibni died and Omri became king.

[23]In the thirty-first year of King Asa of Judah, Omri became king over Israel—for twelve years. He reigned in Tirzah six years. [24]Then he bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver; he built [a town] on the hill and named the town which he built Samaria, after Shemer, the owner of the hill.

[25]Omri did what was displeasing to the LORD; he was worse than all who preceded him. [26]He followed all the ways of Jeroboam son of Nebat and the sins which he committed and caused Israel to commit, vexing the LORD, the God of Israel, with their futilities. [27]The other events of Omri's reign, [and] his actions, and the exploits he performed, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [28]Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria; and his son Ahab succeeded him as king.

[29]Ahab son of Omri became king over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of King Asa of Judah, and Ahab son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria for twenty-two years. [30]Ahab son of Omri did what was displeasing to the LORD, more than all who preceded him. [31]Not content to follow the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, he took as wife Jezebel daughter of King Ethbaal of the Phoenicians, and he went and served Baal and worshiped him. [32]He erected an altar to Baal in the temple of Baal which he built in Samaria. [33]Ahab also made a sacred post. Ahab did more to vex the LORD, the God of Israel, than all the kings of Israel who preceded him.

Elijah the Tishbite, an inhabitant of Gilead, said to Ahab, "As the LORD lives, the God of Israel whom I serve, there will be no dew or rain except at my bidding."

[2] The word of the LORD came to him: [3]"Leave this place; turn eastward and go into hiding by the Wadi Cherith, which is east of the Jordan. [4]You will drink from the wadi, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there." [5]He proceeded to do as the LORD had bidden: he went, and he stayed by the Wadi Cherith, which is east of the Jordan. [6]The ravens brought him bread and meat every morning and every evening, and he drank from the wadi.

[7]After some time the wadi dried up, because there was no rain in the land. [8]And the word of the LORD came to him: [9]"Go at once to Zarephath of Sidon, and stay there; I have designated a widow there to feed you." [10]So he went at once to Zarephath. When he came to the entrance of the town, a widow was there gathering wood. He called out to her, "Please bring me a little water in your pitcher, and let me drink." [11]As she went to fetch it, he called out to her, "Please bring along a piece of bread for me." [12]"As the LORD your God lives," she replied, "I have nothing baked, nothing but a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil in a jug. I am just gathering a couple of sticks, so that I can go home and prepare it for me and my son; we shall eat it and then we shall die." [13]"Don't be afraid," said Elijah to her. "Go and do as you have said; but first make me a small cake from what you have there, and bring it out to me; then make some for yourself and your son. [14]For thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: The jar of flour shall not give out and the jug of oil shall not fail until the day that the LORD sends rain upon the ground." [15]She went and did as Elijah had spoken, and she and he and her household had food for a long time. [16]The jar of flour did not give out, nor did the jug of oil fail, just as the LORD had spoken through Elijah.

[17]After a while, the son of the mistress of the house fell sick, and his illness grew worse, until he had no breath left in him. [18]She said to Elijah, "What harm have I done you, O man of God, that you should come here to recall my sin and cause the death of my son?" [19]"Give me the boy," he said to her; and taking him from her arms, he carried him to the upper chamber where he was staying, and laid him down on his own bed. [20]He cried out to the LORD and said, "O LORD my God, will You bring calamity upon this widow whose guest I am, and let her son die?" [21]Then he stretched out over the child three times, and cried out to the LORD, saying, "O LORD my God, let this child's life return to his body!" [22]The LORD heard Elijah's plea; the child's life returned to his body, and he revived. [23]Elijah picked up the child and brought him down from the upper room into the main room, and gave him to his mother. "See," said Elijah, "your son is alive." [24]And the woman answered Elijah, "Now I know that you are a man of God and that the word of the LORD is truly in your mouth."

[2]Thereupon Elijah set out to appear before Ahab.

The famine was severe in Samaria. [3]Ahab had summoned Obadiah, the steward of the palace. (Obadiah revered the LORD greatly. [4]When Jezebel was killing off the prophets of the LORD, Obadiah had taken a hundred prophets and hidden them, fifty to a cave, and provided them with food and drink.) [5]And Ahab had said to Obadiah, "Go through the land, to all the springs of water and to all the wadis. Perhaps we shall find some grass to keep horses and mules alive, so that we are not left without beasts."

[6]They divided the country between them to explore it, Ahab going alone in one direction and Obadiah going alone in another direction. [7]Obadiah was on the road, when Elijah suddenly confronted him. [Obadiah] recognized him and flung himself on his face, saying, "Is that you, my lord Elijah?" [8]"Yes, it is I," he answered. "Go tell your lord: Elijah is here!" [9]But he said, "What wrong have I done, that you should hand your servant over to Ahab to be killed? [10]As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom to which my lord has not sent to look for you; and when they said, 'He is not here,' he made that kingdom or nation swear that you could not be found. [11]And now you say, 'Go tell your lord: Elijah is here!' [12]When I leave you, the spirit of the LORD will carry you off I don't know where; and when I come and tell Ahab and he does not find you, he will kill me. Yet your servant has revered the LORD from my youth. [13]My lord has surely been told what I did when Jezebel was killing the prophets of the LORD, how I hid a hundred of the prophets of the LORD, fifty men to a cave, and provided them with food and drink. [14]And now you say, 'Go tell your lord: Elijah is here.' Why, he will kill me!"

* v. 10 יתיר ה׳

[15]Elijah replied, "As the LORD of Hosts lives, whom I serve, I will appear before him this very day."

[16]Obadiah went to find Ahab, and informed him; and Ahab went to meet Elijah. [17]When Ahab caught sight of Elijah, Ahab said to him, "Is that you, you troubler of Israel?" [18]He retorted, "It is not I who have brought trouble on Israel, but you and your father's House, by forsaking the commandments of the LORD and going after the Baalim. [19]Now summon all Israel to join me at Mount Carmel, together with the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal and the four hundred prophets of Asherah, b-who eat at Jezebel's table."-b

[20]Ahab sent orders to all the Israelites and gathered the prophets at Mount Carmel. [21]Elijah approached all the people and said, "How long will you keep hopping c-between two opinions?-c If the LORD is God, follow Him; and if Baal, follow him!" But the people answered him not a word. [22]Then Elijah said to the people, "I am the only prophet of the LORD left, while the prophets of Baal are four hundred and fifty men. [23]Let two young bulls be given to us. Let them choose one bull, cut it up, and lay it on the wood, but let them not apply fire; I will prepare the other bull, and lay it on the wood, and will not apply fire. [24]You will then invoke your god by name, and I will invoke the LORD by name; d-and let us agree:-d the god who responds with fire, that one is God." And all the people answered, "Very good!"

[25]Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one bull and prepare it first, for you are the majority; invoke your god by name, but apply no fire." [26]They took the bull that was given them; they prepared it, and invoked Baal by name from morning until noon, shouting, "O Baal, answer us!" But there was no sound, and none who responded; so they performed a hopping dance about the altar that had been set up. [27]When noon came, Elijah mocked them, saying, "Shout louder! After all, he is a god. [e]But he may be in conversation, he may be detained, or he may be on a journey,[-e] or perhaps he is asleep and will wake up." [28]So they shouted louder, and gashed themselves with knives and spears, according to their practice, until the blood streamed over them. [29]When noon passed, they [f]kept raving[-f] until the hour of presenting the meal offering. Still there was no sound, and none who responded or heeded.

[30]Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come closer to me"; and all the people came closer to him. He repaired the damaged altar of the LORD. [31]Then Elijah took twelve stones, corresponding to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob—to whom the word of the LORD had come: "Israel shall be your name"[g]—[32]and with the stones he built an altar in the name of the LORD. Around the altar he made a trench large enough for two *seah*s of seed.[h] [33]He laid out the wood, and he cut up the bull and laid it on the wood. [34]And he said, "Fill four jars with water and pour it over the burnt offering and the wood." Then he said, "Do it a second time"; and they did it a second time. "Do it a third time," he said; and they did it a third time. [35]The water ran down around the altar, and even the trench was filled with water.

[36]When it was time to present the meal offering, the prophet Elijah came forward and said, "O LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel! Let it be known today that You are God in Israel and that I am Your servant, and that I have done all these things at Your bidding. [37]Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that You, O LORD, are God; [e]-for You have turned their hearts backward."-[e]

[38]Then fire from the LORD descended and consumed the burnt offering, the wood, the stones, and the earth; and it licked up the water that was in the trench. [39]When they saw this, all the people flung themselves on their faces and cried out: "The LORD alone is God, The LORD alone is God!"

[40]Then Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal, let not a single one of them get away." They seized them, and Elijah took them down to the Wadi Kishon and slaughtered them there.

[41]Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink, for there is a rumbling of [approaching] rain," [42]and Ahab went up to eat and drink. Elijah meanwhile climbed to the top of Mount Carmel, crouched on the ground, and put his face between his knees. [43]And he said to his servant, "Go up and look toward the Sea." He went up and looked and reported, "There is nothing." Seven times [Elijah] said, "Go back," [44]and the seventh time, [the servant] reported, "A cloud as small as a man's hand is rising in the west." Then [Elijah] said, "Go say to Ahab, 'Hitch up [your chariot] and go down before the rain stops you.'" [45]Meanwhile the sky grew black with clouds; there was wind, and a heavy downpour fell; Ahab mounted his chariot and drove off to Jezreel. [46]The hand of the LORD had come upon Elijah. by this time tomorrow I have not made you like one of them."

[3]Frightened,[c] he fled at once for his life. He came to Beer-sheba, which is in Judah, and left his servant there; [4]he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness. He came to a broom bush and sat down under it, and prayed that he might die. "Enough!" he cried. "Now, O LORD, take my life, for I am no better than my fathers."

[5]He lay down and fell asleep under a broom bush. Suddenly an angel touched him and said to him, "Arise and eat." [6]He looked about; and there, beside his head, was a cake baked on hot stones and a jar of water! He ate and drank, and lay down again. [7]The angel of the LORD came a second time and touched him and said, "Arise and eat, or the journey will be too much for you." [8]He arose and ate and drank; and with the strength from that meal he walked forty days and forty nights as far as the mountain of God at Horeb. [9]There he went into a cave, and there he spent the night.

Then the word of the LORD came to him. He said to him, "Why are you here, Elijah?" [10]He replied, "I am moved by zeal for the LORD, the God of Hosts, for the Israelites have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and put Your prophets to the sword. I alone am left, and they are out to take my life." [11]"Come out," He called, "and stand on the mountain before the LORD."

And lo, the LORD passed by. There was a great and mighty wind, splitting mountains and shattering rocks by the power of the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind. After the wind—an earthquake; but the LORD was not in the earthquake. [12]After the earthquake—fire; but the LORD was not in the fire. And after the fire—a soft murmuring sound.[d] [13]When Elijah heard

Then a voice addressed him: "Why are you here, Elijah?" 14He answered, "I am moved by zeal for the LORD, the God of Hosts; for the Israelites have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and have put Your prophets to the sword. I alone am left, and they are out to take my life."

15The LORD said to him, "Go back by the way you came, [and] on to the wilderness of Damascus. When you get there, anoint Hazael as king of Aram. 16Also anoint Jehu son of Nimshi as king of Israel, and anoint Elisha son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah to succeed you as prophet. 17Whoever escapes the sword of Hazael shall be slain by Jehu, and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu shall be slain by Elisha. 18I will leave in Israel only seven thousand—every knee that has not knelt to Baal and every mouth that has not kissed him."

19He set out from there and came upon Elisha son of Shaphat as he was plowing. There were twelve yoke of oxen ahead of him, and he was with the twelfth. Elijah came over to him and threw his mantle over him. 20He left the oxen and ran after Elijah, saying: "Let me kiss my father and mother good-by, and I will follow you." And he answered him, "Go back. What have I done to you?"[e] 21He turned back from him and took the yoke of oxen and slaughtered them; he boiled [f]their meat[f] with the gear[g] of the oxen and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he arose and followed Elijah and became his attendant.

he sent messengers to Ahab inside the city [3]to say to him, "Thus said Ben-hadad: Your silver and gold are mine, and your beautiful wives and children are mine." [4]The king of Israel replied, "As you say, my lord king: I and all I have are yours." [5]Then the messengers came again and said, "Thus said Ben-hadad: When I sent you the order to give me your silver and gold, and your wives and children, [6]I meant that tomorrow at this time I will send my servants to you and they will search your house and the houses of your courtiers and seize everything you[a] prize and take it away."

[7]Then the king of Israel summoned all the elders of the land, and he said, "See for yourselves how that man is bent on evil! For when he demanded my wives and my children, my silver and my gold, I did not refuse him." [8]All the elders and all the people said, "Do not obey and do not submit!" [9]So he said to Ben-hadad's messengers, "Tell my lord the king: All that you first demanded of your servant I shall do, but this thing I cannot do." The messengers went and reported this to him. [10]Thereupon Ben-hadad sent him this message: b-"May the gods do thus to me and even more,-b if the dust of Samaria will provide even a handful for each of the men who follow me!"

[11]The king of Israel replied, "Tell him: Let not him who girds on his sword boast like him who ungirds it!"

[12]On hearing this reply—while he and the other kings were drinking together at Succoth—he[c] commanded his followers, "Advance!" And they advanced against the city. [13]Then a certain prophet went up to King Ahab of Israel and said, "Thus said the LORD: Do you see that great host? I will deliver it into your hands today, and you shall know that I am the LORD." [14]"Through whom?" asked Ahab. He answered, "Thus said the LORD: Through the aides of the provincial governors." He asked, "Who shall begin the battle?" And he answered, "You."

15So he mustered the aides of the provincial governors, 232 strong, and then he mustered all the troops—all the Israelites—7,000 strong. 16They marched out at noon, while Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk at Succoth together with the thirty-two kings allied with him. 17The aides of the provincial governors rushed out first. Ben-hadad sent [scouts], who told him, "Some men have come out from Samaria." 18He said, "If they have come out to surrender, take them alive; and if they have come out for battle, take them alive anyhow." 19But the others—the aides of the provincial governors, with the army behind them—had already rushed out of the city, 20and each of them struck down his opponent. The Arameans fled, and Israel pursued them; but King Ben-hadad of Aram escaped on a horse with other horsemen. 21The king of Israel came out and attacked the horses and chariots, and inflicted a great defeat on the Arameans. 22Then the prophet approached the king of Israel and said to him, "Go, keep up your efforts, and consider well what you must do; for the king of Aram will attack you at the turn of the year."

23Now the ministers of the king of Aram said to him, "Their God is a God of mountains; that is why they got the better of us. But if we fight them in the plain, we will surely get the better of them. 24Do this: Remove all the kings from their posts and appoint governors in their place. 25Then muster for yourself an army equal to the army you lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot. And let us fight them in the plain, and we will surely get the better of them." He took their advice and acted accordingly.

26At the turn of the year, Ben-hadad mustered the Arameans and advanced on Aphek to fight Israel. [27]Now the Israelites had been mustered and provisioned, and they went out against them; but when the Israelites encamped against them, they looked like two flocks[d] of goats, while the Arameans covered the land. [28]Then the man of God approached and spoke to the king of Israel, "Thus said the LORD: Because the Arameans have said, 'The LORD is a God of mountains, but He is not a God of lowlands,' I will deliver that great host into your hands; and you shall know that I am the LORD."

[29]For seven days they were encamped opposite each other. On the seventh day, the battle was joined and the Israelites struck down 100,000 Aramean foot soldiers in one day. [30]The survivors fled to Aphek, inside the town, and the wall fell on the 27,000 survivors.

Ben-hadad also fled and took refuge inside the town, in an inner chamber. [31]His ministers said to him, "We have heard that the kings of the House of Israel are magnanimous kings. Let us put sackcloth on our loins and ropes on our heads, and surrender to the king of Israel; perhaps he will spare your life." [32]So they girded sackcloth on their loins and wound ropes around their heads, and came to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-hadad says, 'I beg you, spare my life.'" He replied, "Is he still alive? He is my brother." [33]The men divined his meaning and quickly [d]-caught the word from him,-[d] saying, "Yes, Ben-hadad is your brother." "Go, bring him," he said. Ben-hadad came out to him, and he invited him into his chariot. [34]Ben-hadad said to him, "I will give back the towns that my father took from your father, and you may set up bazaars for yourself in Damascus as my father did in Samaria." "And I, for my part," [said Ahab,] "will let you go home under these terms." So he made a treaty with him and dismissed him.

[35]A certain man, a disciple of the prophets, said to another, at the word of the LORD, "Strike me"; but the man refused to strike him. [36]He said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the LORD, a lion will strike you dead as soon as you leave me." And when he left, a lion came upon him and killed him. [37]Then he met another man and said, "Come, strike me." So the man struck him and wounded him. [38]Then the prophet, disguised by a cloth over his eyes, went and waited for the king by the road. [39]As the king passed by, he cried out to the king and said, "Your servant went out into the thick of the battle. Suddenly a man came over and brought a man to me, saying, 'Guard this man! If he is missing, it will be your life for his, or you will have to pay a talent of silver.' [40]While your servant was busy here and there, [the man] got away." The king of Israel responded, "You have your verdict; you pronounced it yourself." [41]Quickly he removed the cloth from his eyes, and the king recognized him as one of the prophets. [42]He said to him, "Thus said the LORD: Because you have set free the man whom I doomed, your life shall be forfeit for his life and your people for his people." [43]Dispirited and sullen, the king left for home and came to Samaria.

Naboth the Jezreelite had given him: "I will not give up to you what I have inherited from my fathers!" He lay down on his bed and turned away his face, and he would not eat. [5]His wife Jezebel came to him and asked him, "Why are you so dispirited that you won't eat?" [6]So he told her, "I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and proposed to him, 'Sell me your vineyard for money, or if you prefer, I'll give you another vineyard in exchange'; but he answered, 'I will not give my vineyard to you.'" [7]His wife Jezebel said to him, "Now is the time to show yourself king over Israel. Rise and eat something, and be cheerful; I will get the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite for you."

[8]So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the elders and the nobles who lived in the same town with Naboth. [9]In the letters she wrote as follows: "Proclaim a fast and seat Naboth at the front of the assembly. [10]And seat two scoundrels opposite him, and let them testify against him: 'You have reviled God and king!' Then take him out and stone him to death."

[11]His townsmen—the elders and nobles who lived in his town—did as Jezebel had instructed them, just as was written in the letters she had sent them: [12]They proclaimed a fast and seated Naboth at the front of the assembly. [13]Then the two scoundrels came and sat down opposite him; and the scoundrels testified against Naboth publicly as follows: "Naboth has reviled God and king." Then they took him outside the town and stoned him to death. [14]Word was sent to Jezebel: "Naboth has been stoned to death." [15]As soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned to death, she said to Ahab, "Go and take possession of the vineyard which Naboth the Jezreelite refused to sell you for money; for Naboth is no longer alive, he is dead." Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab set out for the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite to take possession of it.

[17]Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite: [18]"Go down and confront King Ahab of Israel who [resides] in Samaria. He is now in Naboth's vineyard; he has gone down there to take possession of it. [19]Say to him, 'Thus said the LORD: Would you murder and take possession? Thus said the LORD: In the very place where the dogs lapped up Naboth's blood, the dogs will lap up your blood too.'"

[20]Ahab said to Elijah, "So you have found me, my enemy?" "Yes, I have found you," he replied. "Because you have committed yourself to doing what is evil in the sight of the LORD, [21]I will bring disaster upon you. I will make a clean sweep of you, I will cut off from Israel every male belonging to Ahab, [a]bond and free.[a] [22]And I will make your house like the House of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the House of Baasha son of Ahijah, because of the provocation you have caused by leading Israel to sin. [23]And the LORD has also spoken concerning Jezebel: 'The dogs shall devour Jezebel in the field[b] of Jezreel. [24]All of Ahab's line who die in the town shall be devoured by dogs, and all who die in the open country shall be devoured by the birds of the sky.'"

([25]Indeed, there never was anyone like Ahab, who committed himself to doing what was displeasing to the LORD, at the instigation of his wife Jezebel. [26]He acted most abominably, straying after the fetishes just like the Amorites, whom the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites.)

[27]When Ahab heard these words, he rent his clothes and put sackcloth on his body. He fasted and lay in sackcloth and walked about subdued. [28]Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite: [29]"Have you seen how Ahab has humbled himself before Me? Because he has humbled himself before Me, I will not bring the disaster in his lifetime; I will bring the disaster upon his house in his son's time."

[a]-There was a lull of-[a] three years, with no war between Aram and Israel. [2]In the third year, King Jehoshaphat of Judah came to visit the king of Israel. [3]The king of Israel said to his courtiers, "You know that Ramoth-gilead belongs to us, and yet we do nothing to recover it from the hands of the king of Aram." [4]And he said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you come with me to battle at Ramoth-gilead?" Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, "I will do what you do; my troops shall be your troops, my horses shall be your horses." [5]But Jehoshaphat said further to the king of Israel, "Please, first inquire of the LORD."

[6]So the king of Israel gathered the prophets, about four hundred men, and asked them, "Shall I march upon Ramoth-gilead for battle, or shall I not?" "March," they said, "and the Lord will deliver [it] into Your Majesty's hands." [7]Then Jehoshaphat asked, "Isn't there another prophet of the LORD here through whom we can inquire?" [8]And the king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is one more man through whom we can inquire of the LORD; but I hate him, because he never prophesies anything good for me, but only misfortune—Micaiah son of Imlah." But King Jehoshaphat said, "Don't say that, Your Majesty." [9]So the king of Israel summoned an officer and said, "Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once."

trance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets were prophesying before them. [11]Zedekiah son of Chenaanah had provided himself with iron horns; and he said, "Thus said the LORD: With these you shall gore the Arameans till you make an end of them." [12]And all the other prophets were prophesying similarly, "March upon Ramoth-gilead and triumph! The LORD will deliver it into Your Majesty's hands."

[13]The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said to him: "Look, the words of the prophets are with one accord favorable to the king. Let your word be like that of the rest of them; speak a favorable word." [14]"As the LORD lives," Micaiah answered, "I will speak only what the LORD tells me." [15]When he came before the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we march upon Ramoth-gilead for battle, or shall we not?" He answered him, "March and triumph! The LORD will deliver [it] into Your Majesty's hands." [16]The king said to him, "How many times must I adjure you to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?" [17]Then he said, "I saw all Israel scattered over the hills like sheep without a shepherd; and the LORD said, 'These have no master; let everyone return to his home in safety.'" [18]"Didn't I tell you," said the king of Israel to Jehoshaphat, "that he would not prophesy good fortune for me, but only misfortune?" [19]But [Micaiah] said, "I call upon you to hear the word of the LORD! I saw the LORD seated upon His throne, with all the host of heaven standing in attendance to the right and to the left of Him. [20]The LORD asked, 'Who will entice Ahab so that he will march and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' Then one said thus and another said thus, [21]until a certain spirit came forward and stood before the LORD and said, 'I will entice him.' 'How?' the LORD asked him. [22]And he replied, 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' Then He said,

'You will entice and you will prevail. Go out and do it.' 23So the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours; for the LORD has decreed disaster upon you."

24Thereupon Zedekiah son of Chenaanah stepped up and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and demanded, "Which way did the spirit of the LORD pass from me to speak with you?" 25And Micaiah replied, "You'll find out on the day when you try to hide in the innermost room." 26Then the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah and turn him over to Amon, the city's governor, and to Prince Joash, 27and say, 'The king's orders are: Put this fellow in prison, and let his fare be scant bread and scant water until I come home safe.'" 28To which Micaiah retorted, "If you ever come home safe, the LORD has not spoken through me." *b-He said further, "Listen, all you peoples!"-b*

29So the king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah marched upon Ramoth-gilead. 30The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, c-"Disguise yourself and go*-c* into the battle; but you, wear your robes." So the king of Israel went into the battle disguised. 31Now the king of Aram had instructed his thirty-two chariot officers: "Don't attack anyone, small or great, except the king of Israel." 32So when the chariot officers saw Jehoshaphat, whom they took for the king of Israel, they turned upon him to attack him, and Jehoshaphat cried out. 33And when the chariot officers became aware that he was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. 34Then a man drew his bow at random and he hit the king of Israel between *d-the plates of-d* the armor; and he said to his charioteer, "Turn *e-the horses-e* around and get me

[f]-behind the lines;-[f] I'm wounded." [35]The battle [d]-raged all day long,-[d] and the king remained propped up in the chariot facing Aram; the blood from the wound ran down into the hollow of the chariot, and at dusk he died. [36]As the sun was going down, a shout went through the army: "Every man to his own town! Every man to his own district."

[37]So the king died [g]-and was brought-[g] to Samaria. They buried the king in Samaria, [38]and they flushed out the chariot at the pool of Samaria. Thus the dogs lapped up his blood and the whores bathed [in it], in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken.[h]

[39]The other events of Ahab's reign, and all his actions—the ivory palace that he built and all the towns that he fortified—are all recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [40]Ahab slept with his fathers, and his son Ahaziah succeeded him as king.

[41]Jehoshaphat son of Asa had become king of Judah in the fourth year of King Ahab of Israel. [42]Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. [43]He followed closely the course of his father Asa and did not deviate from it, doing what was pleasing to the LORD. [44]However, the shrines did not cease to function; the people still sacrificed and offered at the shrines. [45]And further, Jehoshaphat submitted to the king of Israel. [46]As for the other events of Jehoshaphat's reign and the valor he displayed in battle, they are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. ([47]He also stamped out the remaining male prostitutes who had survived in the land from the time of his father Asa.)

48There was no king in Edom; [i-]a viceroy acted as king. 49Jehoshaphat[-i] constructed Tarshish[j] ships to sail to Ophir for gold. But he did not sail because the ships were wrecked at Ezion-geber. 50Then Ahaziah son of Ahab proposed to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants sail on the ships with your servants"; but Jehoshaphat would not agree. 51Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of his father David, and his son Jehoram succeeded him as king.

52[Meanwhile,] Ahaziah son of Ahab had become king of Israel, in Samaria, in the seventeenth year of King Jehoshaphat of Judah; he reigned over Israel two years. 53He did what was displeasing to the LORD, following in the footsteps of his father and his mother, and in those of Jeroboam son of Nebat who had caused Israel to sin. 54He worshiped Baal and bowed down to him; he vexed the LORD, the God of Israel, just as his father had done.

מְלָכִים ב

1 After Ahab's death, Moab rebelled against Israel.

[2]Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper chamber at Samaria and was injured. So he sent messengers, whom he instructed: "Go inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this injury." [3]But an angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, "Go and confront the messengers of the king of Samaria and say to them, 'Is there no God in Israel that you go to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? [4]Assuredly, thus said the LORD: You shall not a-rise from the bed you are lying on,-a but you shall die.'" And Elijah went.

[5]The messengers returned to Ahaziah;b and he asked, "Why have you come back?" [6]They answered him, "A man came toward us and said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him: Thus said the LORD: Is there no God in Israel that you must send to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Assuredly, you shall not rise from the bed you are lying on, but shall die.'" [7]"What sort of man was it," he asked them, "who came toward you and said these things to you?" [8]"A hairy man," they replied, "with a leather belt tied around his waist." "That's Elijah the Tishbite!" he said.

[9]Then he sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty men. He climbed up to him, and found him sitting at the top of a hill. "Man of God," he said to him, "by order of the king, come down!" [10]Elijah replied to the captain of the fifty, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you with your fifty men!" And fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men. [11]The king then sent to him another captain with his fifty men; and he [c]-addressed him-[c] as follows: "Man of God, by order of the king, come down at once!" [12]But Elijah answered him, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you with your fifty men!" And fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men. [13]Then he sent a third captain of fifty with his fifty men. The third captain of fifty climbed to the top, knelt before Elijah, and implored him, saying, "Oh, man of God, please have regard for my life and the lives of these fifty servants of yours! [14]Already fire has come from heaven and consumed the first two captains of fifty and their men;[d] I beg you, have regard for my life!"

[15]Then the angel of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him, do not be afraid of him." So he rose and went down with him to the king. [16]He said to him, "Because you sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron—as if there were no God in Israel whose word you could seek—assuredly, you shall not rise from the bed which you are lying on; but you shall die."

[17]And [Ahaziah] died, according to the word of the LORD that Elijah had spoken. Jehoram[e] succeeded him as king, in the second year of King Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat of Judah, for he had no son. [18]The other events of Ahaziah's reign [and] his actions are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

had set out from Gilgal. [2]Elijah said to Elisha, "Stay here, for the LORD has sent me on to Bethel." "As the LORD lives and as you live," said Elisha, "I will not leave you." So they went down to Bethel. [3]Disciples of the prophets at Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take your master *a-away from you-a* today?" He replied, "I know it, too; be silent."

[4]Then Elijah said to him, "Elisha, stay here, for the LORD has sent me on to Jericho." "As the LORD lives and as you live," said Elisha, "I will not leave you." So they went on to Jericho. [5]The disciples of the prophets who were at Jericho came over to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take your master *a-away from you-a* today?" He replied, "I know it, too; be silent."

[6]Elijah said to him, "Stay here, for the LORD has sent me on to the Jordan." "As the LORD lives and as you live, I will not leave you," he said, and the two of them went on. [7]Fifty men of the disciples of the prophets followed and stood by at a distance from them as the two of them stopped at the Jordan. [8]Thereupon Elijah took his mantle and, rolling it up, he struck the water; it divided to the right and left, so that the two of them crossed over on dry land. [9]As they were crossing, Elijah said to Elisha, "Tell me, what can I do for you before I am taken from you?" Elisha answered, "Let a *b-double portion-b* of your spirit pass on to me." [10]"You have asked a difficult thing," he said. "If you see me as I am being taken from you, this will be granted to you; if not, it will not." [11]As they kept on walking and talking, a fiery chariot with fiery horses suddenly appeared and separated one from the other; and Elijah went up to heaven in a whirlwind. [12]Elisha saw it, and he cried out, "Oh, father, father! Israel's chariots and horsemen!" When he could no longer see him, he grasped his garments and rent them in two.

[13]He picked up Elijah's mantle, which had dropped from him; and he went back and stood on the bank of the Jordan. [14]Taking the mantle which had dropped from Elijah, he struck the water and said, "Where is the LORD, the God of Elijah?" As he too struck the water, it parted to the right and to the left, and Elisha crossed over. [15]When the disciples of the prophets at Jericho saw him from a distance, they exclaimed, "The spirit of Elijah has settled on Elisha!" And they went to meet him and bowed low before him to the ground.

[16]They said to him, "Your servants have fifty able men with them. Let them go and look for your master; perhaps the spirit of the LORD has carried him off and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley." "Do not send them," he replied. [17]But they kept pressing him for a long time, until he said, "Send them." So they sent out fifty men, who searched for three days but did not find him. [18]They came back to him while he was still in Jericho; and he said to them, "I told you not to go."

[19]The men of the town said to Elisha, "Look, the town is a pleasant place to live in, as my lord can see; but the water is bad and the land causes bereavement." [20]He responded, "Bring me a new dish and put salt in it." They brought it to him; [21]he went to the spring and threw salt into it. And he said, "Thus said the LORD: I heal this water; no longer shall death and bereavement come from it!" [22]The water has remained wholesome to this day, in accordance with the word spoken by Elisha.

[23]From there he went up to Bethel. As he was going up the road, some little boys came out of the town and jeered at him, saying, "Go away, baldhead! Go away, baldhead!" [24]He turned Jehoram son of Ahab became king of Israel in Samaria in the eighteenth year of King Jehoshaphat of Judah; and he reigned twelve years. [2]He did what was displeasing to the LORD, yet not like his father and mother, for he removed the pillars of Baal that his father had made. [3]However, he clung to the sins which Jeroboam son of Nebat caused Israel to commit; he did not depart from them.

[4]Now King Mesha of Moab was a sheep breeder; and he used to pay as tribute to the king of Israel [a]-a hundred thousand lambs and the wool of a hundred thousand rams.-[a] [5]But when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel. [6]So King Jehoram promptly set out from Samaria and mustered all Israel. [7]At the same time, he sent this message to King Jehoshaphat of Judah: "The king of Moab has rebelled against me; will you come with me to make war on Moab?" He replied, "I will go. I will do what you do: my troops shall be your troops, my horses shall be your horses." [8]And he asked, "Which route shall we take?" [Jehoram] replied, "The road through the wilderness of Edom."

[9]So the king of Israel, the king of Judah, and the king of Edom set out, and they marched for seven days until they rounded [the tip of the Dead Sea]; and there was no water left for the army or for the animals that were with them. [10]"Alas!" cried the king of Israel. "The LORD has brought these three kings together only to deliver them into the hands of Moab." [11]But Jehoshaphat said, "Isn't there a prophet of the LORD here, through whom we may inquire of the LORD?" One of the courtiers of the king of Israel spoke up and said, "Elisha son of Shaphat, who b-poured water on the hands of-b Elijah, is here." [12]"The word of the LORD is with him," said Jehoshaphat. So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him. [13]Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have you to do with me? Go to your father's prophets or your mother's prophets." But the king of Israel said, "Don't [say that], for the LORD has brought these three kings together only to deliver them into the hands of Moab." [14]"As the LORD of Hosts lives, whom I serve," Elisha answered, "were it not that I respect King Jehoshaphat of Judah, I wouldn't look at you or notice you. [15]Now then, get me a musician."

As the musician played, the hand of the LORD came upon him, [16]and he said, "Thus said the LORD: This wadi shall be full of pools. [17]For thus said the LORD: You shall see no wind, you shall see no rain, and yet the wadi shall be filled with water; and you and your cattle and your pack animals shall drink. [18]And this is but a slight thing in the sight of the LORD, for He will also deliver Moab into your hands. [19]You shall conquer every fortified town and every splendid city; you shall fell every good tree and stop up all wells of water; and every fertile field you shall ruin with stones." [20]And in the morning, when it was time to present the meal offering, water suddenly came from the direction of Edom and the land was covered by the water.

[21]Meanwhile, all the Moabites had heard that the kings were advancing to make war on them; c-every man old enough to bear arms-c rallied, and they stationed themselves at the border.

[22]Next morning, when they rose, the sun was shining over the water, and from the distance the water appeared to the Moabites as red as blood. [23]"That's blood!" they said. "The kings must have fought among themselves and killed each other. Now to the spoil, Moab!"

[24]They entered the Israelite camp, and the Israelites arose and attacked the Moabites, who fled before them. [d]-They advanced, constantly attacking-[d] the Moabites, [25]and they destroyed the towns. Every man threw a stone into each fertile field, so that it was covered over; and they stopped up every spring and felled every fruit tree. [e]-Only the walls of-[e] Kir-hareseth were left, and then the slingers surrounded it and attacked it. [26]Seeing that the battle was going against him, the king of Moab led an attempt of seven hundred swordsmen to break a way through to the king of Edom;[f] but they failed. [27]So he took his first-born son, who was to succeed him as king, and offered him up on the wall as a burnt offering. A great wrath came upon Israel, so they withdrew from him and went back to [their own] land.

A certain woman, the wife of one of the disciples of the prophets, cried out to Elisha: "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know how your servant revered the LORD. And now a creditor is coming to seize my two children as slaves." [2]Elisha said to her, "What can I do for you? Tell me, what have you in the house?" She replied, "Your maidservant has nothing at all in the house, except a jug of oil." [3]"Go," he said, "and borrow vessels outside, from all your neighbors, empty vessels, as many as you can. [4]Then go in and shut the door behind you and your children, and pour [oil] into all those vessels, removing each one as it is filled."

[5]She went away and shut the door behind her and her children. They kept bringing [vessels] to her and she kept pouring. [6]When the vessels were full, she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel." He answered her, "There are no more vessels"; and the oil stopped. [7]She came and told the man of God, and he said, "Go sell the oil and pay your debt, and you and your children can live on the rest."

[8]One day Elisha visited Shunem. A wealthy woman lived there, and she urged him to have a meal; and whenever he passed by, he would stop there for a meal. [9]Once she said to her husband, "I am sure it is a holy man of God who comes this way regularly. [10]Let us make a small [a]enclosed upper chamber[a] and place a bed, a table, a chair, and a lampstand there for him, so that he can stop there whenever he comes to us." [11]One day he came there; he retired to the upper chamber and lay down there. [12]He said to his servant Gehazi, "Call that Shunammite woman." He called her, and she stood before him. [13]He said to him, "Tell her, 'You have gone to all this trouble for us. What can we do for you? Can we speak in your behalf to the king or to the army commander?'" She replied, "I live among my own people." [14]"What then can be done for her?" he asked. "The fact is," said Gehazi, "she has no son, and her husband is old." [15]"Call her," he said. He called her, and she stood in the doorway. [16]And Elisha said, "At this season next year, you will be embracing a son." She replied, "Please, my lord, man of God, do not delude your maidservant."

[17]The woman conceived and bore a son at the same season the following year, as Elisha had assured her. [18]The child grew up. One day, he went out to his father among the reapers. [19][Suddenly] he cried to his father, "Oh, my head, my head!" He said to a servant, "Carry

[21]She took him up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and left him and closed the door. [22]Then she called to her husband: "Please, send me one of the servants and one of the she-asses, so I can hurry to the man of God and back." [23]But he said, "Why are you going to him today? It is neither new moon nor sabbath." She answered, b-"It's all right."-b

[24]She had the ass saddled, and said to her servant, "Urge [the beast] on;[c] see that I don't slow down unless I tell you." [25]She went on until she came to the man of God on Mount Carmel. When the man of God saw her from afar, he said to his servant Gehazi, "There is that Shunammite woman. [26]Go, hurry toward her and ask her, 'How are you? How is your husband? How is the child?'" "We are well," she replied. [27]But when she came up to the man of God on the mountain, she clasped his feet. Gehazi stepped forward to push her away; but the man of God said, "Let her alone, for she is in bitter distress; and the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me." [28]Then she said, "Did I ask my lord for a son? Didn't I say: 'Don't mislead me'?"

[29]He said to Gehazi, d-"Tie up your skirts,-d take my staff in your hand, and go. If you meet anyone, do not greet him; and if anyone greets you, do not answer him. boy, laid out dead on his couch. 33He went in, shut the door behind the two of them, and prayed to the LORD. 34Then he mounted [the bed] and placed himself over the child. He put his mouth on its mouth, his eyes on its eyes, and his hands on its hands, as he bent over it. And the body of the child became warm. 35He stepped down, walked once up and down the room, then mounted and bent over him. Thereupon, the boy sneezed seven times, and the boy opened his eyes. 36[Elisha] called Gehazi and said, "Call the Shunammite woman," and he called her. When she came to him, he said, "Pick up your son." 37She came and fell at his feet and bowed low to the ground; then she picked up her son and left.

38Elisha returned to Gilgal. There was a famine in the land, and the disciples of the prophets were sitting before him. He said to his servant, "Set the large pot [on the fire] and cook a stew for the disciples of the prophets." 39So one of them went out into the fields to gather sprouts. He came across a wild vine and picked from it wild gourds, as many as his garment would hold. Then he came back and sliced them into the pot of stew, for they did not know [what they were]; 40and they served it for the men to eat. While they were still eating of the stew, they began to cry out: "O man of God, there is death in the pot!"[e] And they could not eat it. 41"Fetch some flour," [Elisha] said. He threw it into the pot and said, "Serve it to the people and let them eat." And there was no longer anything harmful in the pot.

Naaman, commander of the army of the king of Aram, was important to his lord and high in his favor, for through him the LORD had granted victory to Aram. But the man, though a great warrior, was a leper.[a] [2]Once, when the Arameans were out raiding, they carried off a young girl from the land of Israel, and she became an attendant to Naaman's wife. [3]She said to her mistress, "I wish Master could come before the prophet in Samaria; he would cure him of his leprosy." [4][Naaman] went and told his lord just what the girl from the land of Israel had said. [5]And the king of Aram said, "Go to the king of Israel, and I will send along a letter."

He set out, taking with him ten talents of silver, six thousand shekels of gold, and ten changes of clothing. [6]He brought the letter to the king of Israel. It read: "Now, when this letter reaches you, know that I have sent my courtier Naaman to you, that you may cure him of his leprosy." [7]When the king of Israel read the letter, he rent his clothes and cried, "Am I God, to deal death or give life, that this fellow writes to me to cure a man of leprosy? Just see for yourselves that he is seeking a pretext against me!"

[8]When Elisha, the man of God, heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent a message to the king: "Why have you rent your clothes? Let him come to me, and he will learn that there is a prophet in Israel."

[9]So Naaman came with his horses and chariots and halted at the door of Elisha's house. [10]Elisha sent a messenger to say to him, "Go and bathe seven times in the Jordan, and your flesh shall be restored and you shall be clean." [11]But Naaman was angered and walked away. "I thought," he said, "he would surely come out to me, and would stand and invoke the LORD his God by name, and would wave his hand toward the spot, and cure the affected part. [12]Are not the Amanah and the Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? I could bathe in them and be clean!" And he stalked off in a rage.

[13]But his servants came forward and spoke to him. "Sir,"[b] they said, "if the prophet told you to do something difficult, would you not do it? How much more when he has only said to you, 'Bathe and be clean.'" [14]So he went down and immersed himself in the Jordan seven times, as the man of God had bidden; and his flesh became like a little boy's, and he was clean. [15]Returning with his entire retinue to the man of God, he stood before him and exclaimed, "Now I know that there is no God in the whole world except in Israel! So please accept a gift from your servant." [16]But he replied, "As the LORD lives, whom I serve, I will not accept anything." He pressed him to accept, but he refused. [17]And Naaman said, "Then at least let your servant be given two mule-loads of earth; for your servant will never again offer up burnt offering or sacrifice to any god, except the LORD. [18]But may the LORD pardon your servant for this: When my master enters the temple of Rimmon to bow low in worship there, and he is leaning on my arm so that I must bow low in the temple of Rimmon—when I bow low in the temple of Rimmon, may the LORD pardon your servant in this." [19]And he said to him, "Go in peace."

v. 18. כתיב ולא קריא

When he had gone some distance from him, [20]Gehazi, the attendant of Elisha the man of God, thought: "My master [c]has let that Aramean Naaman off without accepting what he brought![c] As the LORD lives, I will run after him and get something from him." [21]So Gehazi hurried after Naaman. When Naaman saw someone running after him, he alighted from his chariot to meet him and said, "Is all well?" [22]"All is well," he replied. "My master has sent me to say: Two youths, disciples of the prophets, have just come to me from the hill country of Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of clothing." [23]Naaman said, "Please take two talents." He urged him, and he wrapped the two talents of silver in two bags and gave them, along with two changes of clothes, to two of his servants, who carried them ahead of him. [24]When [Gehazi] arrived at the citadel, he took [the things] from them and deposited them in the house. Then he dismissed the men and they went their way.

[25]He entered and stood before his master; and Elisha said to him, "Where have you been, Gehazi?" He replied, "Your servant has not gone anywhere." [26]Then [Elisha] said to him, "Did not my spirit[d] go along when a man got down from his chariot to meet you? Is this a time to take money in order to buy clothing and olive groves and vineyards, sheep and oxen, and male and female slaves? [27]Surely, the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your descendants forever." And as [Gehazi] left his presence, he was snow-white with leprosy.

quarters there for ourselves to live in." "Do so," he replied. [3]Then one of them said, "Will you please come along with your servants?" "Yes, I will come," he said; [4]and he accompanied them. So they went to the Jordan and cut timber. [5]As one of them was felling a trunk, the iron ax head fell into the water. And he cried aloud, "Alas, master, it was a borrowed one!" [6]"Where did it fall?" asked the man of God. He showed him the spot; and he cut off a stick and threw it in, and he made the ax head float. [7]"Pick it up," he said; so he reached out and took it.

[8]While the king of Aram was waging war against Israel, he took counsel with his officers and said, [a]"I will encamp[a] in such and such a place." [9]But the man of God sent word to the king of Israel, "Take care not to pass through that place, for the Arameans are encamped there." [10]So the king of Israel sent word to the place of which the man of God had told him. [b]Time and again[b] he alerted [c]such a place[c] and took precautions there. [11]Greatly agitated about this matter, the king of Aram summoned his officers and said to them, "Tell me! Who of us is on the side of the king of Israel?" [12]"No one, my lord king," said one of the officers. "Elisha, that prophet in Israel, tells the king of Israel the very words you speak in your bedroom." [13]"Go find out where he is," he said, "so that I can have him seized." It was reported to him that [Elisha] was in Dothan; [14]so he sent horses and chariots there and a strong force. They arrived at night and encircled the town.

[15]When the attendant of the man of God rose early and went outside, he saw a force, with horses and chariots, surrounding the town. "Alas, master, what shall we do?" his servant asked him. [16]"Have no fear," he replied. "There are more on our side than on theirs." [17]Then Elisha prayed: "LORD, open his eyes and let him see." And the LORD opened the servant's eyes and he saw the hills all around Elisha covered with horses and chariots of fire. [18][The Arameans] came down against him, and Elisha prayed to the LORD: "Please strike this people with a blinding light." And He struck them with a blinding light, as Elisha had asked.

[19]Elisha said to them, "This is not the road, and that is not the town; follow me, and I will lead you to the man you want." And he led them to Samaria. [20]When they entered Samaria, Elisha said, "O LORD, open the eyes of these men so that they may see." The LORD opened their eyes and they saw that they were inside Samaria. [21]When the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, "Father, shall I strike them down?" [22]"No, do not," he replied. "Did you take them captive with your sword and bow that you would strike them down? Rather, set food and drink before them, and let them eat and drink and return to their master." [23]So he prepared a lavish feast for them and, after they had eaten and drunk, he let them go, and they returned to their master. And the Aramean bands stopped invading the land of Israel.

you?" the king asked her. The woman answered, "That woman said to me, 'Give up your son and we will eat him today; and tomorrow we'll eat my son.' [29]So we cooked my son and we ate him. The next day I said to her, 'Give up your son and let's eat him'; but she hid her son." [30]When the king heard what the woman said, he rent his clothes; and as he walked along the wall, the people could see that he was wearing sackcloth underneath.

[31]He said, "Thus and more may God do to me if the head of Elisha son of Shaphat remains on [e]-his shoulders-[e] today." [32]Now Elisha was sitting at home and the elders were sitting with him. The king had sent ahead one of his men; but before the messenger arrived, [Elisha] said to the elders, "Do you see—that murderer has sent someone to cut off my head! Watch when the messenger comes, and shut the door and hold the door fast against him. No doubt the sound of his master's footsteps will follow."

[33]While he was still talking to them, the messenger[f] came to him and said, "This calamity is from the LORD. What more can I hope for from the LORD?"

[1]And Elisha replied, "Hear the word of the LORD. Thus said the LORD: This time tomorrow, a seah of choice flour shall sell for a shekel at the gate of Samaria, and two *seah*s of barley for a shekel." [2]The aide on whose arm the king was leaning spoke up and said to the man of God, "Even if the LORD were to make windows in the sky, could this come to pass?" And he retorted, "You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it."

[3]There were four men, lepers, outside the gate. They said to one another, "Why should we sit here waiting for death? [4]If we decide to go into the town, what with the famine in the town, we shall die there; and if we just sit here, still we die. Come, let us desert to the Aramean camp. If they let us live, we shall live; and if they put us to death, we shall but die."

[5]They set out at twilight for the Aramean camp; but when they came to the edge of the Aramean camp, there was no one there. [6]For the Lord had caused the Aramean camp to hear a sound of chariots, a sound of horses—the din of a huge army. They said to one another, "The king of Israel must have hired the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Mizraim[a] to attack us!" [7]And they fled headlong in the twilight, abandoning their tents and horses and asses—the [entire] camp just as it was—as they fled for their lives.

[8]When those lepers came to the edge of the camp, they went into one of the tents and ate and drank; then they carried off silver and gold and clothing from there and buried it. They came back and went into another tent, and they carried off what was there and buried it. [9]Then they said to one another, "We are not doing right. This is a day of good news, and we are keeping silent! If we wait until the light of morning, we shall incur guilt. Come, let us go and inform the king's palace." [10]They went and called out to the gatekeepers of the city and told them, "We have been to the Aramean camp. There is not a soul there, nor any human sound; but the horses are tethered and the asses are tethered and the tents are undisturbed."

[11]The gatekeepers called out, and the news was passed on into the king's palace. [12]The king rose in the night and said to his courtiers, "I will tell you what the Arameans have done to us. They know that we are starving, so they have gone out of camp and hidden in the fields, thinking: When they come out of the town, we will take them alive and get into the town." [13]But a Cf. 1 Kings 10.28 and note g there.

one of the courtiers spoke up, "Let a few[b] of the remaining horses that are still here be taken—[c]they are like those that are left here of the whole multitude of Israel, out of the whole multitude of Israel that have perished[c]—and let us send and find out."

[14]They took two teams[c] of horses and the king sent them after the Aramean army, saying, "Go and find out." [15]They followed them as far as the Jordan, and found the entire road full of clothing and gear which the Arameans had thrown away in their haste; and the messengers returned and told the king. [16]The people then went out and plundered the Aramean camp. So a seah of choice flour sold for a shekel, and two *seah*s of barley for a shekel—as the LORD had spoken.

[17]Now the king had put the aide on whose arm he leaned in charge of the gate; and he was trampled to death in the gate by the people—just as the man of God had spoken, as he had spoken when the king came down to him. [18]For when the man of God said to the king, "This time tomorrow two *seah*s of barley shall sell at the gate of Samaria for a shekel, and a seah of choice flour for a shekel," [19]the aide answered the man of God and said, "Even if the LORD made windows in the sky, could this come to pass?" And he retorted, "You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it." [20]That is exactly what happened to him: The people trampled him to death in the gate.

Elisha had said to the woman whose son he revived, "Leave immediately with your family and go sojourn [a]somewhere else;[a] for the LORD has decreed a seven-year famine upon the land, and it has already begun." [2]The woman had done as the man of God had spoken; she left with her family and sojourned in the land of the Philistines for seven years. [3]At the end of the seven years, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines and went to the king to complain about her house and farm. [4]Now the king was talking to Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, and he said, "Tell me all the wonderful things that Elisha has done." [5]While he was telling the king how [Elisha] had revived a dead person, in came the woman whose son he had revived, complaining to the king about her house and farm. "My lord king," said Gehazi, "this is the woman and this is her son whom Elisha revived." [6]The king questioned the woman, and she told him [the story]; so the king assigned a eunuch to her and instructed him: "Restore all her property, and all the revenue from her farm from the time she left the country until now."

their young men to the sword, dash their little ones in pieces, and rip open their pregnant women." [13]"But how," asked Hazael, "can your servant, who is a mere dog, perform such a mighty deed?" Elisha replied, "The LORD has shown me a vision of you as king of Aram." [14]He left Elisha and returned to his master, who asked him, "What did Elisha say to you?" He replied, "He told me that you would recover." [15]The next day, [Hazael] took [c]a piece of netting,[c] dipped it in water, and spread it over his face. So [Ben-hadad] died, and Hazael succeeded him as king.

[16]In the fifth year of King Joram[d] son of Ahab of Israel—Jehoshaphat had been king of Judah—Joram son of King Jehoshaphat of Judah became king. [17]He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. [18]He followed the practices of the kings of Israel—whatever the House of Ahab did, for he had married a daughter[e] of Ahab—and he did what was displeasing to the LORD. [19]However, the LORD refrained from destroying Judah, for the sake of His servant David, in accordance with His promise to maintain a lamp for his descendants for all time. [20]During his reign, the Edomites rebelled against Judah's rule and set up a king of their own. [21]Joram crossed over to Zair with all his chariotry. [c]He arose by night and attacked the Edomites, who were surrounding him and the chariot commanders; but[c] his troops fled to their homes. [22]Thus Edom fell away from Judah, as is still the case. Libnah likewise fell away at that time.

[23]The other events of Joram's reign, and all his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. [24]Joram slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David; his son Ahaziah succeeded him as king.

[25]In the twelfth year of King Joram son of Ahab of Israel, Ahaziah son of Joram became king of Judah. [26]Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem one year; his mother's name was Athaliah daughter of King Omri of Israel. [27]He walked in the ways of the House of Ahab and did what was displeasing to the LORD, like the House of Ahab, for he was related by marriage to the House of Ahab. [28]He marched with Joram son of Ahab to battle against King Hazael of Aram at Ramoth-gilead, but the Arameans wounded Joram. [29]King Joram retired to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Arameans had inflicted upon him at Ramah, when he fought against King Hazael of Aram. And King Ahaziah son of Joram of Judah went down to Jezreel to visit Joram son of Ahab while he was ill.

Then the prophet Elisha summoned one of the disciples of the prophets and said to him, "Tie up your skirts,[a] and take along this flask of oil, and go to Ramoth-gilead. [2]When you arrive there, go and see Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi; get him to leave his comrades, and take him into an inner room. [3]Then take the flask of oil and pour some on his head, and say, 'Thus said the LORD: I anoint you king over Israel.' Then open the door and flee without delay."

[4]The young man, the servant of the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead. [5]When he arrived, the army commanders were sitting together. He said, "Commander, I have a message for you." "For which one of us?" Jehu asked. He answered, "For you, commander." [6]So [Jehu] arose and went inside; and [the disciple] poured the oil on his head, and said to him, "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I anoint you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel. [7]You shall strike down the House of Ahab your master; thus will I avenge on Jezebel the blood of My servants the prophets, and the blood of the other servants of the LORD. [8]The whole House of Ahab shall perish, and I will cut off every male belonging to Ahab, b-bond and free-b in Israel. [9]I will make the House of Ahab like the House of Jeroboam son of Nebat, and like the House of Baasha son of Ahijah. [10]The dogs shall devour Jezebel in the field of Jezreel, with none to bury her." Then he opened the door and fled.

[11]Jehu went out to the other officers of his master, and they asked him, "Is all well? What did that madman come to you for?" He said to them, "You know the man and his ranting!" [12]"You're lying," they said. "Tell us [the truth]." Then he replied, "Thus and thus he said: Thus said the LORD: I anoint you king over Israel!" [13]Quickly each man took his cloak and placed it under him,[c] on d-the top step.-d They sounded the horn and proclaimed, "Jehu is king!" [14]Thus Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi conspired against Joram.

Joram and all Israel had been defending Ramoth-gilead against King Hazael of Aram, [15]but King Joram had gone back to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Arameans had inflicted on him in his battle with King Hazael of Aram.

Jehu said, "If such is your wish, allow no one to slip out of the town to go and report this in Jezreel." [16]Then Jehu mounted his chariot and drove to Jezreel; for Joram was lying ill there, and King Ahaziah of Judah had gone down to visit Joram. [17]The lookout was stationed on the tower in Jezreel, and he saw the troop of Jehu as he approached. He called out, "I see a troop!" Joram said, "Dispatch a horseman to meet them and let him ask: Is all well?" [18]The horseman went to meet him, and he said, "The king inquires: Is all well?" Jehu replied, "What concern of yours is it whether all is well? Fall in behind me." The lookout reported: "The messenger has reached them, but has not turned back." [19]So he sent out a second horseman. He came to them and said, "Thus says the king: Is all well?" Jehu answered, "What concern of yours is it whether all is well? Fall in behind me." [20]And the lookout reported, "The messenger has reached them, but has not turned back. And it looks like the driving of Jehu son of Nimshi, who drives wildly."

[21]Joram ordered, "Hitch up [the chariot]!" They hitched up his chariot; and King Joram of Israel and King Ahaziah of Judah went out, each in his own chariot, to meet Jehu. They met him at the field of Naboth the Jezreelite. [22]When Joram saw Jehu, he asked, "Is all well, Jehu?" But Jehu replied, "How can all be well as long as your mother Jezebel carries on her countless harlotries and sorceries?" [23]Thereupon Joram turned his horses[e] around and fled, crying out to Ahaziah, "Treason, Ahaziah!" [24]But Jehu drew his bow and hit Joram between the shoulders,[f] so that the arrow pierced his heart; and he collapsed in his chariot.

[25]Jehu thereupon ordered his officer Bidkar, "Pick him up and throw him into the field of Naboth the Jezreelite. Remember how you and I were riding side by side behind his father Ahab, when the LORD made this pronouncement about him: [26]'I swear, I have taken note of the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons yesterday—declares the LORD. And I will requite you in this plot—declares the LORD.' So pick him up and throw him unto the plot in accordance with the word of the LORD."

[27]On seeing this, King Ahaziah of Judah fled along the road to Beth-haggan. Jehu pursued him and said, "Shoot him down too!" [And they shot him] in his chariot at the ascent of Gur, which is near Ibleam. He fled to Megiddo and died there. [28]His servants conveyed him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and they buried him in his grave with his fathers, in the City of David. ([29]Ahaziah had become king over Judah in the eleventh year of Joram son of Ahab.)

[30]Jehu went on to Jezreel. When Jezebel heard of it, she painted her eyes with kohl and dressed her hair, and she looked out of the window. [31]As Jehu entered the gate, she called out, "Is all well, Zimri, murderer of your master?"[g] [32]He looked up toward the window and said, "Who is on my side, who?" And two or three eunuchs leaned out toward him. [33]"Throw her down," he said. They threw her down; and her blood spattered on the wall and on the horses, and they trampled her.

[34]Then he went inside and ate and drank. And he said, "Attend to that cursed woman and bury her, for she was a king's daughter." [35]So they went to bury her; but all they found of her were the skull, the feet, and the hands. [36]They came back and reported to him; and he said, "It is just as the LORD spoke through His servant Elijah the Tishbite: The dogs shall devour the flesh of Jezebel in the field of Jezreel; [37]and the carcass of Jezebel shall be like dung on the ground, in the field of Jezreel, so that none will be able to say: 'This was Jezebel.'"

Ahab had seventy descendants in Samaria. Jehu wrote letters and sent them to Samaria, to the elders and officials of Jezreel[a] and to the guardians of [the children] of Ahab, as follows: [2]"Now, when this letter reaches you—since your master's sons are with you and you also have chariots and horses, and a fortified city and weapons—[3]select the best and the most suitable of your master's sons and set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house." [4]But they were overcome by fear, for they thought, "If the two kings could not stand up to him, how can we?" [5]The steward of the palace and the governor of the city and the elders and the guardians sent this message to Jehu: "We are your subjects, and we shall do whatever you tell us to. We shall not proclaim anyone king; do whatever you like."

[6]He wrote them a second time: "If you are on my side and are ready to obey me, take the heads of the attendants of your master's sons and come[b] to me in Jezreel tomorrow at this time." Now the princes, seventy in number, were with the notables of the town, who were rearing them. [7]But when the letter reached them, they took the princes and slaughtered all seventy of them; they put their heads in baskets and sent them to him in Jezreel. [8]A messenger came and reported to him: "They have brought the heads of the princes." He said, "Pile them up in two heaps at the entrance of the gate before morning." [9]In the morning he went out and stood there; and he said to all the people, "Are you blameless?[c] True, I conspired against my master and killed him; but who struck down all of these? [10]Know, then, that nothing that the LORD has spoken concerning the House of Ahab shall remain unfulfilled, for the LORD has done what he announced through His servant Elijah." [11]And Jehu struck down all that were left of the House of Ahab in Jezreel—and all his notables, intimates, and priests—till he left him no survivor.

[12]He then set out for Samaria. On the way, when he was at Beth-eked of the shepherds, [13]Jehu came upon the kinsmen of King Ahaziah of Judah. "Who are you?" he asked. They replied, "We are the kinsmen of Ahaziah, and we have come to pay our respects to the sons of the king and the sons of the queen mother." [14]"Take them alive!" he said. They took them alive and then slaughtered them at the pit of Beth-eked, forty-two of them; he did not spare a single one.

[15]He went on from there, and he met Jehonadab son of Rechab coming toward him. He greeted him and said to him, "Are you as wholehearted with me as I am with you?" "I am," Jehonadab replied. "If so," [said Jehu,] "give me your hand." He gave him his hand and [Jehu] helped him into the chariot. [16]"Come with me," he said, "and see my zeal for the LORD." And he was taken along in the chariot. [17]Arriving in Samaria, [Jehu] struck down all the survivors of [the House of] Ahab in Samaria, until he wiped it out, fulfilling the word that the LORD had spoken to Elijah.

[18]Jehu assembled all the people and said to them, "Ahab served Baal little; Jehu shall serve him much! [19]Therefore, summon to me all the prophets of Baal, all his worshipers, and all his priests: let no one fail to come, for I am going to hold a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever fails to come shall forfeit his life." Jehu was acting with guile in order to exterminate the worshipers of Baal. [20]Jehu gave orders to convoke a solemn assembly for Baal, and one was proclaimed. [21]Jehu sent word throughout Israel, and all the worshipers of Baal came, not a single one remained behind. They came into the temple of Baal, and the temple of Baal was filled from end to end. [22]He said to the man in charge of the wardrobe,[d] "Bring out the vestments for all the worshipers of Baal"; and he brought vest-

[23]Then Jehu and Jehonadab son of Rechab came into the temple of Baal, and they said to the worshipers of Baal, "Search and make sure that there are no worshipers of the LORD among you, but only worshipers of Baal." [24]So they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. But Jehu had stationed eighty of his men outside and had said, "Whoever permits the escape of a single one of the men I commit to your charge shall forfeit life for life."

[25]When Jehu had finished presenting the burnt offering, he said to the guards and to the officers, "Come in and strike them down; let no man get away!" The guards and the officers struck them down with the sword and left them lying where they were; then they proceeded to the interior[e] of the temple of Baal. [26]They brought out the pillars[f] of the temple of Baal and burned them. [27]They destroyed the pillar[g] of Baal, and they tore down the temple of Baal and turned it into latrines, as is still the case. [28]Thus Jehu eradicated the Baal from Israel. [29]However, Jehu did not turn away from the sinful objects by which Jeroboam son of Nebat had caused Israel to sin, namely, the golden calves at Bethel and at Dan.

[30]The LORD said to Jehu, "Because you have acted well and done what was pleasing to Me, having carried out all that I desired upon the House of Ahab, four generations of your descendants shall occupy the throne of Israel." [31]But Jehu was not careful to follow the Teaching of the LORD, the God of Israel, with all his heart; he did not turn away from the sins that Jeroboam had caused Israel to commit.

[32]In those days the LORD began to reduce Israel; and Hazael harassed them throughout the territory of Israel [33]east of the Jordan, all the 34The other events of Jehu's reign, and all his actions, and all his exploits, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. 35Jehu slept with his fathers and he was buried in Samaria; he was succeeded as king by his son Jehoahaz. 36Jehu reigned over Israel for twenty-eight years in Samaria.

When Athaliah, the mother of Ahaziah, learned that her son was dead, she promptly killed off all who were of royal stock. 2But Jehosheba, daughter of King Joram and sister of Ahaziah, secretly took Ahaziah's son Joash away from among the princes who were being slain, and [put][a] him and his nurse in a bedroom. And they[b] kept him hidden from Athaliah so that he was not put to death. 3He stayed with her for six years, hidden in the House of the LORD,[c] while Athaliah reigned over the land.

[9]The chiefs of hundreds did just as Jehoiada ordered: Each took his men—those who were on duty that week and those who were off duty that week—and they presented themselves to Jehoiada the priest. [10]The priest gave the chiefs of hundreds King David's spears[h] and quivers that were kept in the House of the LORD. [11]The guards, each with his weapons at the ready, stationed themselves—from the south end of the House to the north end of the House, at the altar and the House—to guard the king on every side. [12][Jehoiada] then brought out the king's son, and placed upon him the crown and the insignia.[g] They anointed him and proclaimed him king; they clapped their hands and shouted, "Long live the king!"

[13]When Athaliah heard the shouting of the guards [and] the people, she came out to the people in the House of the LORD. [14]She looked about and saw the king standing by the pillar, as was the custom, the chiefs with their trumpets beside the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets. Athaliah rent her garments and cried out, "Treason, treason!" [15]Then the priest Jehoiada gave the command to the army officers, the chiefs of hundreds, and said to them, "Take her out [g]-between the ranks-[g] and, if anyone follows her, put him to the sword." For the priest thought: "Let her not be put to death in the House of the LORD." [16]They cleared a passageway for her and she entered the royal palace through the horses' entrance: there she was put to death.

[17]And Jehoiada solemnized the covenant between the LORD, on the one hand, and the king and the people, on the other—as well as between the king and the people—that they should be the people of the LORD. [18]Thereupon all the people of the land went to the temple of Baal. They tore it down and smashed its altars and images to bits, and they slew Mattan, the priest of Baal, in front of the altars. [Jehoiada] the priest then placed guards over the House of the LORD. [19]He took the chiefs of hundreds, the Carites,[d] the guards, and all the people of the land, and they escorted the king from the House of the LORD into the royal palace by the gate of the guards. And he ascended the royal throne. [20]All the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet. As for Athaliah, she had been put to the sword in the royal palace.

Jehoash was seven years old when he became king. [2]Jehoash began his reign in the seventh year of Jehu, and he reigned in Jerusalem forty years. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba. [3]All his days Jehoash did what was pleasing to the LORD, as the priest Jehoiada instructed him. [4]The shrines, however, were not removed; the people continued to sacrifice and offer at the shrines.

[5]Jehoash said to the priests, "All the money, current money, brought into the House of the LORD as sacred donations—[a]any money a man may pay as the money equivalent of persons,[a] or any other money that a man may be minded to bring to the House of the LORD—[6]let the priests receive it, each from his benefactor; they, in turn, shall make repairs on the House, wherever damage may be found."

[it was found that] the priests had not made the repairs on the House. [8]So King Jehoash summoned the priest Jehoiada and the other priests and said to them, "Why have you not kept the House in repair? Now do not accept money from your benefactors any more, but have it donated for the repair of the House." [9]The priests agreed that they would neither accept money from the people nor make repairs on the House.

[10]And the priest Jehoiada took a chest and bored a hole in its lid. He placed it at the right side of the altar as one entered the House of the LORD, and the priestly guards of the threshold deposited there all the money that was brought into the House of the LORD. [11]Whenever they saw that there was much money in the chest, the royal scribe and the high priest would come up and put the money accumulated in the House of the LORD into bags, and they would count it. [12]Then they would deliver the money *b-that was weighed out-b* to the overseers of the work, who were in charge of the House of the LORD. These, in turn, used to pay the carpenters and the laborers who worked on the House of the LORD, [13]and the masons and the stonecutters. They also paid for wood and for quarried stone with which to make the repairs on the House of the LORD, and for every other expenditure that had to be made in repairing the House. [14]However, no silver bowls and no snuffers, basins, or trumpets—no vessels of gold or silver—were made at the House of the LORD from the money brought into the House of the LORD; [15]this was given only to the overseers of the work for the repair of the House of the LORD. [16]No check was kept on the men to whom the money was delivered to pay the workers; for they dealt honestly.

[17]Money brought *c-as a guilt offering or as a sin offering-c* was not deposited in the House of the LORD; it went to the priests.

In the twenty-third year of King Joash son of Ahaziah of Judah, Jehoahaz son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria—for seventeen years. [2]He did what was displeasing to the LORD. He persisted in the sins which Jeroboam son of Nebat had caused Israel to commit; he did not depart from them. [3]The LORD was angry with Israel and He repeatedly delivered them into the hands of King Hazael of Aram and into the hands of Ben-hadad son of Hazael. [4]But Jehoahaz pleaded with the LORD; and the LORD listened to him, for He saw the suffering that the king of Aram inflicted upon Israel. [5]So the LORD granted Israel a deliverer, and they gained their freedom from Aram; and Israel dwelt in its homes as before. [6]However, they did not depart from the sins which the House of Jer-rout Aram completely at Aphek." [18]He said, "Now pick up the arrows." And he picked them up. "Strike the ground!" he said to the king of Israel; and he struck three times and stopped. [19]The man of God was angry with him and said to him, [c]-"If only you had struck-[c] five or six times! Then you would have annihilated Aram; as it is, you shall defeat Aram only three times."

[20]Elisha died and he was buried. Now bands of Moabites used to invade the land [d]-at the coming of every year.-[d] [21]Once a man was being buried, when the people caught sight of such a band; so they threw the corpse[e] into Elisha's grave and [f]-made off.-[f] When the [dead] man came in contact with Elisha's bones, he came to life and stood up.

[22]King Hazael of Aram had oppressed the Israelites throughout the reign of Jehoahaz. [23]But the LORD was gracious and merciful to them, and He turned back to them for the sake of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. He refrained from destroying them, and He still did not cast them out from His presence. [24]When King Hazael of Aram died, his son Ben-hadad succeeded him as king; [25]and then Jehoash son of Jehoahaz recovered from Ben-hadad son of Hazael the towns which had been taken from his father Jehoahaz in war. Three times Joash defeated him, and he recovered the towns of Israel.

In the second year of King Joash son of Joahaz of Israel, Amaziah son of King Joash of Judah became king. [2]He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. [3]He did what was pleasing to the LORD, but not like his ancestor David; he did just as his father Joash had done. [4]However, the shrines were not removed; the people continued to sacrifice and make offerings at the shrines. [5]Once he had the kingdom firmly in his grasp, he put to death the courtiers who had assassinated his father the king. [6]But he did not put to death the children of the assassins, in accordance with what is written in the Book of the Teaching of Moses, where the LORD commanded, "Parents shall not be put to death for children, nor children be put to death for parents; a person shall be put to death only for his own crime."[a]

[7]He defeated ten thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt, and he captured Sela in battle and renamed it Joktheel, as is still the case. [8]Then Amaziah sent envoys to King Jehoash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu of Israel, with this message: "Come, let us confront[b] each other." [9]King Jehoash of Israel sent back this message to King Amaziah of Judah: "The thistle in Lebanon sent this message to the cedar in Lebanon, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' But a wild beast in Lebanon went by and trampled down the thistle. [10]Because you have defeated Edom, you have become arrogant. Stay home and enjoy your glory, rather than provoke disaster and fall, dragging Judah down with you."

[11]But Amaziah paid no heed; so King Jehoash of Israel advanced, and he and King Amaziah of Judah confronted each other at Beth-shemesh in Judah. [12]The Judites were routed by Israel, and they all fled to their homes. [13]King Jehoash of Israel captured King Amaziah son of Jehoash son of Ahaziah of Judah at Beth-shemesh. He marched on Jerusalem, and he made a breach of four hundred cubits in the wall of Jerusalem, from[c] the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate. [14]He carried off all the gold and silver and all the vessels that there were in the House of the LORD and in the treasuries of the royal palace, as well as hostages; and he returned to Samaria.

[15]The other events of Jehoash's reign, and all his actions and exploits, and his war with King Amaziah of Judah, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [16]Jehoash slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel; his son Jeroboam succeeded him as king.

[17]King Amaziah son of Joash of Judah lived fifteen years after the death of King Jehoash son of Jehoahaz of Israel. [18]The other events of Amaziah's reign are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. [19]A conspiracy was formed against him in Jerusalem and he fled to Lachish; but they sent men after him to Lachish, and they killed him there. [20]They brought back his body on horses, and he was buried with his fathers in Jerusalem, in the City of David.

[21]Then all the people of Judah took Azariah, who was sixteen years old, and proclaimed him king to succeed his father Amaziah. [22]It was he who rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah, after King [Amaziah] slept with his fathers.

[23]In the fifteenth year of King Amaziah son of Joash of Judah, King Jeroboam son of Joash of Israel became king in Samaria—for forty-one years. [24]He did what was displeasing to the LORD; he did not depart from all the sins that Jeroboam son of Nebat had caused Israel to commit. [25]It was he who restored the territory of Israel from Lebo-hamath to the sea of the Arabah, in accordance with the promise that the LORD, the God of Israel, had made through His servant, the prophet Jonah son of Amittai from Gath-hepher. Menahem's reign, and all his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. [22]Menahem slept with his fathers, and his son Pekahiah succeeded him as king.

[23]In the fiftieth year of King Azariah of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem became king over Israel in Samaria—for two years. [24]He did what was displeasing to the LORD; he did not depart from the sins which Jeroboam son of Nebat had caused Israel to commit. [25]His aide, Pekah son of Remaliah, conspired against him and struck him down in the royal palace in Samaria; with him were fifty Gileadites, *a-with men from Argob and Arieh;-a* and he killed him and succeeded him as king.

[26]The other events of Pekahiah's reign, and all his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

[27]In the fifty-second year of King Azariah of Judah, Pekah son of Remaliah became king over Israel and Samaria—for twenty years. [28]He did what was displeasing to the LORD; he did not depart from the sins which Jeroboam son of Nebat had caused Israel to commit. [29]In the days of King Pekah of Israel, King Tiglath-pileser of Assyria came and captured Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor—Gilead, Galilee, the entire region of Naphtali; and he deported *d-the inhabitants-d* to Assyria.

[30]Hoshea son of Elah conspired against Pekah son of Remaliah, attacked him, and killed him. He succeeded him as king in the twentieth year of Jotham son of Uzziah. [31]The other events of Pekah's reign, and all his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah son of Remaliah, Ahaz son of King Jotham of Judah became king. [2]Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what was pleasing to the LORD his God, as his ancestor David had done, [3]but followed the ways of the kings of Israel. He even consigned his son to the fire, in the abhorrent fashion of the nations which the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites. [4]He sacrificed and made offerings at the shrines, on the hills, and under every leafy tree.

[5]Then King Rezin of Aram and King Pekah son of Remaliah of Israel advanced on Jerusalem for battle. They besieged Ahaz, but could not overcome [him]. [6]At that time King Rezin of Aram recovered Elath for Aram;[a] he drove out the Judites from Elath, and Edomites came to Elath and settled there, as is still the case.

[7]Ahaz sent messengers to King Tiglath-pileser of Assyria to say, "I am your servant and your son; come and deliver me from the hands of the king of Aram and from the hands of the king of Israel, who are attacking me." 8Ahaz took the gold and silver that were on hand in the House of the LORD and in the treasuries of the royal palace and sent them as a gift to the king of Assyria. 9The king of Assyria responded to his request; the king of Assyria marched against Damascus and captured it. He deported [b]-its inhabitants-[b] to Kir and put Rezin to death.

10When King Ahaz went to Damascus to greet King Tiglath-pileser of Assyria, he saw the altar in Damascus. King Ahaz sent the priest Uriah a sketch of the altar and a detailed plan of its construction. 11The priest Uriah did just as King Ahaz had instructed him from Damascus; the priest Uriah built the altar before King Ahaz returned from Damascus. 12When the king returned from Damascus, and when the king saw the altar, the king drew near the altar, ascended it, 13and offered his burnt offering and meal offering; he poured his libation, and he dashed the blood of his offering of well-being against the altar. 14As for the bronze altar which had been before the LORD, he moved it from its place in front of the Temple, [c]-between the [new] altar and the House of the LORD,-[c] and placed it on the north side of the [new] altar. 15And King Ahaz commanded the priest Uriah: "On the great[d] altar you shall offer the morning burnt offering and the evening meal offering and the king's burnt offering and his meal offering, with the burnt offerings of all the people of the land, their meal offerings and their libations. And against it you shall dash the blood of all the burnt offerings and all the blood of the sacrifices. And I will decide[e] about the bronze altar."[e] 16Uriah did just as King Ahaz commanded.

[17]King Ahaz cut off the insets—the laver stands—and removed the lavers from them. He also removed the tank from the bronze oxen that supported it and set it on a stone pavement—[18]on account of the king of Assyria.[f] He also extended to the House of the LORD [c]-the sabbath passage that had been built in the palace and the king's outer entrance.-[c]

In the twelfth year of King Ahaz of Judah, Hoshea son of Elah became king over Israel in Samaria—for nine years. [2]He did what was displeasing to the LORD, though not as much as the kings of Israel who preceded him. [3]King Shalmaneser marched against him, and Hoshea became his vassal and paid him tribute. [4]But the king of Assyria caught Hoshea in an act of treachery: he had sent envoys to King So of Egypt, and he had not paid the tribute to the king of Assyria, as in previous years. And the king of Assyria arrested him and put him in prison. [5]Then the king of Assyria marched against the whole land; he came to Samaria and besieged it for three years. [6]In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria captured Samaria. He deported the Israelites to Assyria and settled them in Halah, at the [River] Habor, at the River Gozan, and in the towns of Media.

[7]This happened because the Israelites sinned against the LORD their God, who had freed them from the land of Egypt, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. They worshiped other gods [8]and followed the customs of the nations which the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites and the customs which the kings of Israel had practiced. [9]The Israelites committed[a] against the LORD their God acts which were not right: They built for themselves shrines in all their settlements, from watchtowers to fortified cities; [10]they set up pillars and sacred posts for themselves on every lofty hill and under every leafy tree; [11]and they offered sacrifices there, at all the shrines, like the nations whom the LORD had driven into exile before them. They committed wicked acts to vex the LORD, [12]and they worshiped fetishes concerning which the LORD had said to them, "You must not do this thing."

[13]The LORD warned Israel and Judah by every prophet [and] every seer, saying: "Turn back from your wicked ways, and observe My commandments and My laws, according to all the Teaching that I commanded your fathers and that I transmitted to you through My servants the prophets." [14]But they did not obey; they stiffened their necks, like their fathers who did not have faith in the LORD their God; [15]they spurned His laws and the covenant that He had made with their fathers, and the warnings He had given them. They went after delusion and were deluded; [they imitated] the nations that were about them, which the LORD had forbidden them to emulate. [16]They rejected all the commandments of the LORD their God; they made molten idols for themselves—two calves—and they made a sacred post and they bowed down to all the host of heaven, and they worshiped Baal. [17]They consigned their sons and daughters to the fire; they practiced augury and divination, and gave themselves over to what was displeasing to the LORD and vexed Him. [18]The LORD was incensed at Israel and He banished them from His presence; none was left but the tribe of Judah alone.

the LORD their God; they followed the customs that Israel had practiced. [20]So the LORD spurned all the offspring of Israel, and He afflicted them and delivered them into the hands of plunderers, and finally He cast them out from His presence.

[21]For Israel broke away from the House of David, and they made Jeroboam son of Nebat king. Jeroboam caused Israel to stray from the LORD and to commit great sin, [22]and the Israelites persisted in all the sins which Jeroboam had committed; they did not depart from them. [23]In the end, the LORD removed Israel from His presence, as He had warned them through all His servants the prophets. So the Israelites were deported from their land to Assyria, as is still the case.

[24]The king of Assyria brought [people] from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim, and he settled them in the towns of Samaria in place of the Israelites; they took possession of Samaria and dwelt in its towns. [25]When they first settled there, they did not worship the LORD; so the LORD sent lions against them which killed some of them. [26]They said to the king of Assyria: "The nations which you deported and resettled in the towns of Samaria do not know the rules of the God of the land; therefore He has let lions loose against them which are killing them—for they do not know the rules of the God of the land."

[27]The king of Assyria gave an order: "Send there one of the priests whom you have deported; let him[b] go and dwell there, and let him teach them the practices of the God of the land." [28]So one of the priests whom they had exiled from Samaria came and settled in Bethel; he taught them how to worship the LORD. [29]However, each nation continued to make its own gods and to set them up in the cult places which had been made by the people of Samaria; each nation [set them up] in the towns in which it lived. 30The Babylonians made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31and the Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites burned their children [as offerings] to Adrammelech and Anamelech, the gods of Sepharvaim. 32They worshiped the LORD, but they also appointed from their own ranks priests of the shrines, who officiated for them in the cult places. 33They worshiped the LORD, while serving their own gods according to the practices of the nations from which they had been deported. 34To this day, they follow their former practices. They do not worship the LORD [properly]. They do not follow the laws and practices, the Teaching and Instruction that the LORD enjoined upon the descendants of Jacob—who was given the name Israel—35with whom He made a covenant and whom He commanded: "You shall worship no other gods; you shall not bow down to them nor serve them nor sacrifice to them. 36You must worship only the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt with great might and with an outstretched arm: to Him alone shall you bow down and to Him alone shall you sacrifice. 37You shall observe faithfully, all your days, the laws and the practices; the Teaching and Instruction that I[c] wrote down for you; do not worship other gods. 38Do not forget the covenant that I made with you; do not worship other gods. 39Worship only the LORD your God, and He will save you from the hands of all your enemies." 40But they did not obey; they continued their former practices. 41Those nations worshiped the LORD, but they also served their idols. 18 In the third year of King Hoshea son of Elah of Israel, Hezekiah son of King Ahaz of Judah became king. [2]He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years; his mother's name was Abi[a] daughter of Zechariah. [3]He did what was pleasing to the LORD, just as his father David had done. [4]He abolished the shrines and smashed the pillars and cut down the sacred post. He also broke into pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for until that time the Israelites had been offering sacrifices to it; it was called Nehushtan. [5]He trusted only in the LORD the God of Israel; there was none like him among all the kings of Judah after him, nor among those before him. [6]He clung to the LORD; he did not turn away from following Him, but kept the commandments that the LORD had given to Moses. [7]And the LORD was always with him; he was successful wherever he turned. He rebelled against the king of Assyria and would not serve him. [8]He overran Philistia as far as Gaza and its border areas, from watchtower to fortified town.

[9]In the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of King Hoshea son of Elah of Israel, King Shalmaneser of Assyria marched against Samaria and besieged it, [10]and he[b] captured it at the end of three years. In the sixth year of Hezekiah, which was the ninth year of King Hoshea of Israel, Samaria was captured; [11]and the king of Assyria deported the Israelites to Assyria. He [c]settled them in[c] Halah, along the Habor [and] the River Gozan, and in the towns of Media. [12][This happened] because they did not obey the LORD their God; they transgressed His covenant—all that Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded. They did not obey and they did not fulfill it.

* v. 10 בנוסח אחר מנוקדת לשון יחיד

[13]In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, King Sennacherib of Assyria marched against all the fortified towns of Judah and seized them. [14]King Hezekiah sent this message to the king of Assyria at Lachish: "I have done wrong; withdraw from me; and I shall bear whatever you impose on me." So the king of Assyria imposed upon King Hezekiah of Judah a payment of three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. [15]Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was on hand in the House of the LORD and in the treasuries of the palace. [16]At that time Hezekiah cut down the doors and the doorposts[d] of the Temple of the LORD, which King Hezekiah had overlaid [with gold], and gave them to the king of Assyria.

[17]But the king of Assyria sent [e]-the Tartan, the Rabsaris, and the Rabshakeh-[e] from Lachish with a large force to King Hezekiah in Jerusalem. They marched up to Jerusalem; and when they arrived, they took up a position near the conduit of the Upper Pool, by the road of the Fuller's Field. [18]They summoned the king; and Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went out to them.

[19]The Rabshakeh said to them, "You tell Hezekiah: Thus said the Great King, the King of Assyria: What makes you so confident? [20]You must think that mere talk is counsel and valor for war! Look, on whom are you relying, that you have rebelled against me? [21]You rely, of all things, on Egypt, that splintered reed of a staff, which enters and punctures the palm of anyone who leans on it! That's what Pharaoh king of Egypt is like to all who rely on him. [22]And if you tell me that you are relying on the LORD your God, He is the very one whose shrines and altars Hezekiah did away with, telling Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must worship only at this altar in Jerusalem.' 23Come now, make this wager with my master, the king of Assyria: I'll give you two thousand horses if you can produce riders to mount them. 24So how could you refuse anything even to the deputy of one of my master's lesser servants, relying on Egypt for chariots and horsemen? 25And do you think I have marched against this land to destroy it without the LORD? The LORD Himself told me: Go up against that land and destroy it."

26Eliakim son of Hilkiah, Shebna, and Joah replied to the Rabshakeh, "Please, speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; do not speak to us in Judean in the hearing of the people on the wall." 27But the Rabshakeh answered them, "Was it to your master and to you that my master sent me to speak those words? It was precisely to the men who are sitting on the wall—who will have to eat their dung and drink their urine with you." 28And the Rabshakeh stood and called out in a loud voice in Judean: "Hear the words of the Great King, the King of Assyria. 29Thus said the king: Don't let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you from my[f] hands. 30Don't let Hezekiah make you rely on the LORD, saying: The LORD will surely save us: this city will not fall into the hands of the king of Assyria. 31Don't listen to Hezekiah. For thus said the king of Assyria: Make your peace with me and come out to me,[g] so that you may all eat from your vines and your fig trees and drink water from your cisterns, 32until I come and take you away to a land like your own, a land of grain [fields] and vineyards, of bread and wine, of olive oil and honey, so that you may live and not die. Don't listen to Hezekiah, who misleads you by saying, 'The LORD will save us.' 33Did any of the gods of other nations save his land from the king of Assyria? 34Where were the gods of Hamath and g I.e., to my representative the Rabshakeh.

Arpad? Where were the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah? [And] did they[h] save Samaria from me? 35Which among all the gods of [those] countries saved their countries from me, that the LORD should save Jerusalem from me?" 36But the people were silent and did not say a word in reply; for the king's order was: "Do not answer him." 37And so Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and they reported to him what the Rabshakeh had said.

When King Hezekiah heard this, he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the House of the LORD. 2He also sent Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the scribe, and the senior priests, covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. 3They said to him, "Thus said Hezekiah: This day is a day of distress, of chastisement, and of disgrace. [a]The babes have reached the birthstool, but the strength to give birth is lacking.[a] 4Perhaps the LORD your God will take note of all the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to blaspheme the living God, and will mete out judgment for the words that the LORD your God has heard—if you will offer up prayer for the surviving remnant."

5When King Hezekiah's ministers came to Isaiah, 6Isaiah said to them, "Tell your master as follows: Thus said the LORD: Do not be frightened by the words of blasphemy against Me that you have heard from the minions of the king of Assyria. 7I will delude[b] him; he will hear a rumor and return to his land, and I will make him fall by the sword in his land."

[8]The Rabshakeh, meanwhile, heard that [the king] had left Lachish; he turned back and found the king of Assyria attacking Libnah. [9]But [the king of Assyria] learned that King Tirhakah of Nubia had come out to fight him; so he again sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, [10]"Tell this to King Hezekiah of Judah: Do not let your God, on whom you are relying, mislead you into thinking that Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hands of the king of Assyria. [11]You yourself have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, how they have annihilated them; and can you escape? [12]Were the nations that my predecessors[c] destroyed—Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the Beth-edenites in Telassar—saved by their gods? [13]Where is the king of Hamath? And the king of Arpad? And the kings of Lair, Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah?"

[14]Hezekiah took the letter from the messengers and read it. Hezekiah then went up to the House of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. [15]And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD and said, "O LORD of Hosts, Enthroned on the Cherubim! You alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth. You made the heavens and the earth. [16]O LORD, incline Your ear and hear; open Your eyes and see. Hear the words that Sennacherib has sent to blaspheme the living God! [17]True, O LORD, the kings of Assyria have annihilated the nations and their lands, [18]and have committed their gods to the flames and have destroyed them; for they are not gods, but man's handiwork of wood and stone. [19]But now, O LORD our God, deliver us from his hands, and let all the kingdoms of the earth know that You alone, O LORD, are God."

[20]Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent this message to Hezekiah: "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I have heard the prayer you have offered to Me concerning King Sennacherib of Assyria. [21]This is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning him:

"Fair Maiden Zion despises you,
She mocks at you;
Fair Jerusalem shakes
Her head at you.
[22]Whom have you blasphemed and reviled?
Against whom made loud your voice
And haughtily raised your eyes?
Against the Holy One of Israel!
[23]Through your envoys you have blasphemed my Lord.
Because you thought,
'Thanks to my vast chariotry,
It is I who have climbed the highest mountains,
To the remotest parts of the Lebanon,
And have cut down its loftiest cedars,
Its choicest cypresses,
And have reached its [d]-remotest lodge,-[d]
[e]-Its densest forest.-[e]
[24]It is I who have drawn[f] and drunk the waters of strangers;
I have dried up with the soles of my feet
All the streams of Egypt.'
[25]Have you not heard? Of old
I planned that very thing,
I designed it long ago,
And now have fulfilled it.
And it has come to pass,
Laying waste fortified towns
In desolate heaps.
[26]Their inhabitants are helpless,
Dismayed and shamed.
They were but grass of the field
And green herbage,
Grass of the roofs that is blasted
Before the [g]-standing grain.-[g]

v. 25. חסר א'

[27]I know your stayings
And your goings and comings,
And how you have raged against Me.
[28]Because you have raged against Me,
And your tumult has reached My ears,
I will place My hook in your nose
And My bit between your jaws;
And I will make you go back by the road
By which you came.

[29]"And this is the sign for you:[h] This year you eat what grows of itself, and the next year what springs from that; and in the third year, sow and reap, and plant vineyards and eat their fruit. [30]And the survivors of the House of Judah that have escaped shall regenerate its stock below and produce boughs above.

[31]For a remnant shall come forth from Jerusalem, Survivors from Mount Zion.
The zeal of the LORD of Hosts
Shall bring this to pass.

[32]Assuredly, thus said the LORD concerning the king of Assyria:

He shall not enter this city:
He shall not shoot an arrow at it,
Or advance upon it with a shield,
Or pile up a siege mound against it.
[33]He shall go back
By the way he came;
He shall not enter this city
—declares the LORD.
[34]I will protect and save this city for My sake,
And for the sake of My servant David."

[35]That night an angel of the LORD went out and struck down one hundred and eighty-five thousand in the Assyrian camp, and the following morning they were all dead corpses.

[36]So King Sennacherib of Assyria broke camp and retreated, and stayed in Nineveh. [37]While

In those days Hezekiah fell dangerously ill. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz came and said to him, "Thus said the LORD: Set your affairs in order, for you are going to die; you will not get well." [2]Thereupon Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD. He said, [3]"Please, O LORD, remember how I have walked before You sincerely and wholeheartedly, and have done what is pleasing to You." And Hezekiah wept profusely.

[4]Before Isaiah had gone out of the middle court, the word of the LORD came to him: [5]"Go back and say to Hezekiah, the ruler of My people: Thus said the LORD, the God of your father David: I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. I am going to heal you; on the third day you shall go up to the House of the LORD. [6]And I will add fifteen years to your life. I will also rescue you and this city from the hands of the king of Assyria. I will protect this city for My sake and for the sake of My servant David."—[7]Then Isaiah said, "Get a cake of figs." And they got one, and they applied it to the rash, and he recovered.—[8]Hezekiah asked Isaiah, "What is the sign that the LORD will heal me and that I shall go up to the House of the LORD on the third day?" [9]Isaiah replied, "This is the sign for you from the LORD that the LORD will do the thing that He has promised: Shall[a] the shadow advance ten steps or recede ten steps?" [10]Hezekiah said, "It is easy for the shadow to lengthen ten steps, but not for the shadow to recede ten steps." [11]So the prophet Isaiah called to the LORD, and He made the shadow which had descended on the dial[b] of Ahaz recede ten steps.

[12]At that time, King Berodach-[c]baladan son of Baladan of Babylon sent [envoys with] a letter and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard about Hezekiah's illness. [13][d-]Hezekiah heard about them-[d] and he showed them all his treasure-house—the silver, the gold, the spices, and the fragrant oil—and his armory, and everything that was to be found in his storehouses. There was nothing in his palace or in all his realm that Hezekiah did not show them. [14]Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah. "What," he demanded of him, "did those men say to you? Where have they come to you from?" "They have come," Hezekiah replied, "from a far country, from Babylon." [15]Next he asked, "What have they seen in your palace?" And Hezekiah replied, "They have seen everything that is in my palace. There was nothing in my storehouses that I did not show them."

[16]Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD: [17]A time is coming when everything in your palace which your ancestors have stored up to this day will be carried off to Babylon; nothing will remain behind, said the LORD. [18]And some of your sons, your own issue, whom you will have fathered, will be taken to serve as eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon." [19]Hezekiah declared to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD that you have spoken is good." For he thought, "It means that [e-]safety is assured for-[e] my time."

[20]The other events of Hezekiah's reign, and all his exploits, and how he made the pool and the conduit and brought the water into the city, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. [21]Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and his son Manasseh succeeded him as king.

Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Hephzibah. [2]He did what was displeasing to the LORD, following the abhorrent practices of the nations that the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites. [3]He rebuilt the shrines that his father Hezekiah had destroyed; he erected altars for Baal and made a sacred post, as King Ahab of Israel had done. He bowed down to all the host of heaven and worshiped them, [4]and he built altars for them in the House of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "I will establish My name in Jerusalem." [5]He built altars for all the hosts of heaven in the two courts of the House of the LORD. [6]He consigned his son to the fire; he practiced soothsaying and divination, and consulted ghosts and familiar spirits; he did much that was displeasing to the LORD, to vex Him. [7]The sculptured image of Asherah that he made he placed in the House concerning which the LORD had said to David and to his son Solomon, "In this House and in Jerusalem, which I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will establish My name forever. [8]And I will not again cause the feet of Israel to wander from the land that I gave to their fathers, if they will but faithfully observe all that I have commanded them—all the Teachings with which My servant Moses charged them." [9]But they did not obey, and Manasseh led them astray to do greater evil than the nations that the LORD had destroyed before the Israelites. [10]Therefore the LORD spoke through His servants the prophets: [11]"Because King Manasseh of Judah has done these abhorrent things—he has outdone in wickedness all that the Amorites did before his time—and because he led Judah to sin with his fetishes, [12]assuredly, thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I am going to bring such a disas-

[16]Moreover, Manasseh put so many innocent persons to death that he filled Jerusalem [with blood] from end to end—besides the sin he committed in causing Judah to do what was displeasing to the LORD.

[17]The other events of Manasseh's reign, and all his actions, and the sins he committed, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. [18]Manasseh slept with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his palace, in the garden of Uzza; and his son Amon succeeded him as king.

Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath. [2]He did what was pleasing to the LORD and he followed all the ways of his ancestor David; he did not deviate to the right or to the left.

[3]In the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the king sent the scribe Shaphan son of Azaliah son of Meshullam to the House of the LORD, saying, [4]"Go to the high priest Hilkiah and let him weigh[a] the silver that has been deposited in the House of the LORD, which the guards of the threshold have collected from the people. [5]And let it be delivered to the overseers of the work who are in charge at the House of the LORD, that they in turn may pay it out to the workmen that are in the House of the LORD, for the repair of the House: [6]to the carpenters, the laborers, and the masons, and for the purchase of wood and quarried stones for repairing the House. [7]However, no check is to be kept on them for the silver that is delivered to them, for they deal honestly."

[8]Then the high priest Hilkiah said to the scribe Shaphan, "I have found a scroll of the Teaching in the House of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the scroll to Shaphan, who read it. [9]The scribe Shaphan then went to the king and reported to the king: "Your servants have melted down the silver that was deposited in the House, and they have delivered it to the overseers of the work who are in charge at the House of the LORD." king, "The high priest Hilkiah has given me a scroll"; and Shaphan read it to the king.

[11]When the king heard the words of the scroll of the Teaching, he rent his clothes. [12]And the king gave orders to the priest Hilkiah, and to Ahikam son of Shaphan, Achbor son of Michaiah, the scribe Shaphan, and Asaiah the king's minister: [13]"Go, inquire of the LORD on my behalf, and on behalf of the people, and on behalf of all Judah, concerning the words of this scroll that has been found. For great indeed must be the wrath of the LORD that has been kindled against us, because our fathers did not obey the words of this scroll to do all that has been prescribed for us."

[14]So the priest Hilkiah, and Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to the prophetess Huldah—the wife of Shallum son of Tikvah son of Harhas, the keeper of the wardrobe—who was living in Jerusalem in the Mishneh,[b] and they spoke to her. [15]She responded: "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: Say to the man who sent you to me: [16]Thus said the LORD: I am going to bring disaster upon this place and its inhabitants, in accordance with all the words of the scroll which the king of Judah has read. [17]Because they have forsaken Me and have made offerings to other gods and vexed Me with all their deeds, My wrath is kindled against this place and it shall not be quenched. [18]But say this to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD: Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: As for the words which you have heard—[19]because your heart was softened and you humbled yourself before the LORD when you heard what I decreed against this place and its inhabitants—that it will become a desolation and a curse—and because you rent your clothes and wept before Me, I for My part have listened—declares the LORD. At the king's summons, all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem assembled before him. [2]The king went up to the House of the LORD, together with all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests and prophets—all the people, young and old. And he read to them the entire text of the covenant scroll which had been found in the House of the LORD. [3]The king stood [a]by the pillar[a] and solemnized the covenant before the LORD: that they would follow the LORD and observe His commandments, His injunctions, and His laws with all their heart and soul; that they would fulfill all the terms of this covenant as inscribed upon the scroll. And all the people [b]entered into[b] the covenant.

[4]Then the king ordered the high priest Hilkiah, the priests of the second rank, and the guards of the threshold to bring out of the Temple of the LORD all the objects made for Baal and Asherah[c] and all the host of heaven. He burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields[d] of Kidron, and he removed the ashes to Bethel. [5]He suppressed the idolatrous priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed [e]to make offerings[e] at the shrines in the towns of Judah and in the environs of Jerusalem, and those who made offerings to Baal, to the sun and moon and constellations—all the host of heaven. [6]He brought out the [image of] Asherah from the House of the LORD to the Kidron Valley outside Jerusalem, and burned it in the Kidron Valley;

he beat it to dust and scattered its dust over the burial ground of the common people. [7]He tore down the cubicles of the male prostitutes in the House of the LORD, at the place where the women wove coverings[d] for Asherah.

[8]He brought all the priests from the towns of Judah [to Jerusalem] and defiled the shrines where the priests had been making offerings—from Geba to Beer-sheba. He also demolished the shrines of the gates, which were at the entrance of the gate of Joshua, the city prefect—[d]which were on a person's left [upon entering] the city gate.[-d] [9][f]The priests of the shrines, however, did not ascend the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but they ate unleavened bread along with their kinsmen.[-f] [10]He also defiled Topheth, which is in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, so that no one might consign his son or daughter to the fire of Molech. [11]He did away with the horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun, [g]at the entrance[-g] of the House of the LORD, near the chamber of the eunuch Nathan-melech, which was in the precincts.[d] He burned the chariots of the sun. [12]And the king tore down the altars made by the kings of Judah on the roof by the upper chamber of Ahaz, and the altars made by Manasseh in the two courts of the House of the LORD. He [h]removed them quickly from there[-h] and scattered their rubble in the Kidron Valley. [13]The king also defiled the shrines facing Jerusalem, to the south of the [i]Mount of the Destroyer,[-i] which King Solomon of Israel had built for Ashtoreth, the abomination of the Sidonians, for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, and for Milcom, the detestable thing of the Ammonites.[j] [14]He shattered their pillars and cut down their sacred posts and covered their sites with human bones.

[15]As for the altar in Bethel [and] the shrine made by Jeroboam son of Nebat who caused Israel to sin—that altar, too, and the shrine as well, he tore down. He burned down the shrine and beat it to dust, and he burned the sacred post.

[16]Josiah turned and saw the graves that were there on the hill; and he had the bones taken out of the graves and burned on the altar. Thus he defiled it, in fulfillment of the word of the LORD foretold by the man of God who foretold these happenings. [17]He asked, "What is the marker I see there?" And the men of the town replied, "That is the grave of the man of God who came from Judah and foretold these things that you have done to the altar of Bethel."[k] [18]"Let him be," he said, "let no one disturb his bones." So they left his bones undisturbed together with the bones of the prophet[l] who came from Samaria.[m]

[19]Josiah also abolished all the cult places in the towns of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had built, vexing [the LORD]. He dealt with them just as he had done to Bethel: [20]He slew on the altars all the priests of the shrines who were there, and he burned human bones on them. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

[21]The king commanded all the people, "Offer the passover sacrifice to the LORD your God as prescribed in this scroll of the covenant." [22]Now the passover sacrifice had not been offered in that manner in the days of the chieftains who ruled Israel, or during the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah. [23]Only in the eighteenth year of King Josiah was such a passover sacrifice offered in that manner to the LORD in Jerusalem. [24]Josiah also did away with [n]-the necromancers and the mediums,-[n] the idols and the fetishes—all the detestable things that were to be seen in the land of Judah and Jerusalem. Thus he fulfilled the terms of the Teaching recorded in the scroll that the priest Hilkiah had found in the House of the LORD. 25There was no king like him before who turned back to the LORD with all his heart and soul and might, in full accord with the Teaching of Moses; nor did any like him arise after him.

26However, the LORD did not turn away from His awesome wrath which had blazed up against Judah because of all the things Manasseh did to vex Him. 27The LORD said, "I will also banish Judah from My presence as I banished Israel; and I will reject the city of Jerusalem which I chose and the House where I said My name would abide."

31Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 32He did what was displeasing to the LORD, just as his fathers had done. 33Pharaoh Neco imprisoned him in Riblah in the region of Hamath, to keep him from reigning in Jerusalem. And he imposed on the land an indemnity of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 34Then Pharaoh

In his days, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. Then he turned and rebelled against him. 2The LORD let loose against him the raiding bands of the Chaldeans, Arameans, Moabites, and Ammonites; He let them loose against Judah to destroy it, in accordance with the word that the LORD had spoken through His servants the prophets. 3All this befell Judah at the command of the LORD, who banished [them] from His presence because of all the sins that Manasseh had committed, 4and also because of the blood of the innocent that he shed. For he filled Jerusalem with the blood of the innocent, and the LORD would not forgive.

5The other events of Jehoiakim's reign, and all of his actions, are recorded in the Annals of the Kings of Judah. 6Jehoiakim slept with his fathers, and his son Jehoiachin succeeded him as king. 7The king of Egypt did not venture out of his country again, for the king of Babylon had seized all the land that had belonged to the king of Egypt, from the Wadi of Egypt to the River Euphrates.

[8]Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Nehushta daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. [9]He did what was displeasing to the LORD, just as his father had done. [10]At that time, the troops[a] of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon marched against Jerusalem, and the city came under siege. [11]King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon advanced against the city while his troops were besieging it. [12]Thereupon King Jehoiachin of Judah, along with his mother, and his courtiers, commanders, and officers, surrendered to the king of Babylon. The king of Babylon took him captive in the eighth year of his reign. [13]He carried off b-from Jerusalem-b all the treasures of the House of the LORD and the treasures of the royal palace; he stripped off all the golden decorations in the Temple of the LORD—which King Solomon of Israel had made—as the LORD had warned. [14]He exiled all of Jerusalem: all the commanders and all the warriors—ten thousand exiles—as well as all the craftsmen and smiths; only the poorest people in the land were left. [15]He deported Jehoiachin to Babylon; and the king's wives and officers and the notables of the land were brought as exiles from Jerusalem to Babylon. [16]All the able men, to the number of seven thousand—all of them warriors, trained for battle—and a thousand craftsmen and smiths were brought to Babylon as exiles by the king of Babylon. [17]And the king of Babylon appointed Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's[c] uncle, king in his place, changing his name to Zedekiah.

Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. [1]And in the ninth year of his[a] reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar moved against Jerusalem with his whole army. He besieged it; and they built towers against it all around. [2]The city continued in a state of siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. [3]By the ninth day [of the fourth month][b] the famine had become acute in the city; there was no food left for the common people.

[4]Then [the wall of] the city was breached. All the soldiers [left the city] by night through the gate between the double walls, which is near the king's garden—the Chaldeans were all around the city; and [the king] set out for the Arabah.[c] [5]But the Chaldean troops pursued the king, and they overtook him in the steppes of Jericho as his entire force left him and scattered. [6]They captured the king and brought him before the king of Babylon at Riblah; and they put him on trial. [7]They slaughtered Zedekiah's sons before his eyes; then Zedekiah's eyes were put out. He was chained in bronze fetters and he was brought to Babylon.

[8]On the seventh day of the fifth month—that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, an officer of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. [9]He burned the House of the LORD, the king's palace, and all the houses of Jerusalem; he burned down [d]-the house of every notable person.-[d] [10]The entire Chaldean force that was with the chief of the guard tore down the walls of Jerusalem on every side. [11]The remnant of the people that was left in the city, the defectors who had gone over to the king of Babylon—and the remnant of the population—were taken into exile by Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards. [12]But some of the poorest in the land were left by the chief of the guards, to be vinedressers and field hands.

[13]The Chaldeans broke up the bronze columns of the House of the LORD, the stands, and the bronze tank that was in the House of the LORD; and they carried the bronze away to Babylon. [14]They also took all the pails, scrapers, snuffers, ladles, and all the other bronze vessels used in the service. [15]The chief of the guards took whatever was of gold and whatever was of silver: firepans and sprinkling bowls. [16]The two columns, the one tank, and the stands that Solomon provided for the House of the LORD—all these objects contained bronze beyond weighing. [17]The one column was eighteen cubits high. It had a bronze capital above it; the height of the capital was three cubits, and there was a meshwork [decorated] with pomegranates about the capital, all made of bronze. And the like was true of the other column with its meshwork.

[18]The chief of the guards also took Seraiah, the chief priest, Zephaniah, the deputy priest, and the three guardians of the threshold. [19]And from the city he took a eunuch who was in command of the soldiers; five royal privy councillors who were present in the city; the scribe of the army commander, who was in charge of mustering the people of the land; and sixty of the common people who were inside the city. [20]Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. [21]The king of Babylon had them struck down and put to death at Riblah, in the region of Hamath.

Thus Judah was exiled from its land. [22]King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon put Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan in charge of the people whom he left in the land of Judah. [23]When the officers of the troops and their men heard that the king of Babylon had put Gedaliah in charge, they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah with Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah son of the Maachite, together with their men. [24]Gedaliah reassured[e] them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid [f]-of the servants of the Chaldeans.-[f] Stay in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you."

[25]In the seventh month, Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama, who was of royal descent, came with ten men, and they struck down Gedaliah and he died; [they also killed] the Judeans and the Chaldeans who were present with him at Mizpah. [26]And all the people, young and old, and the officers of the troops set out and went to Egypt because they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

[27]In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of King Jehoiachin of Judah, on the twenty-seventh day of the twelfth month, King Evil-merodach of Babylon, in the year he became king, [g]-took note of-[g] King Jehoiachin of Judah and released him from prison. [28]He spoke kindly to him, and gave him a throne above those of other kings who were with him in Babylon. [29]His prison garments were removed, and

Like a city beleaguered.
[9]Had not the LORD of Hosts
Left us some survivors,
We should be like Sodom,
Another Gomorrah.

[10]Hear the word of the LORD,
You chieftains of Sodom;
Give ear to our God's instruction,
You folk of Gomorrah!
[11]"What need have I of all your sacrifices?"
Says the LORD.
"I am sated with burnt offerings of rams,
And suet of fatlings,
And blood of bulls;
And I have no delight
In lambs and he-goats.
[12]That you come to appear before Me—
Who asked that [c-]of you?

* 11 סבירין ומטעין "אמר"

They are become a burden to Me,
I cannot endure them.
[15]And when you lift up your hands,
I will turn My eyes away from you;
Though you pray at length,
I will not listen.
Your hands are stained with crime—
[16]Wash yourselves clean;
Put your evil doings
Away from My sight.
Cease to do evil;
[17]Learn to do good.
Devote yourselves to justice;
[e]Aid the wronged.[-e]
Uphold the rights of the orphan;
Defend the cause of the widow.

[18]"Come, [e]let us reach an understanding,"[-e]
—says the LORD.
"Be your sins like crimson,
They can turn snow-white;
Be they red as dyed wool,
They can become like fleece."
[19]If, then, you agree and give heed,
You will eat the good things of the earth;
[20]But if you refuse and disobey,
[f]You will be devoured [by] the sword.[-f]—
For it was the LORD who spoke.

And cronies of thieves,
Every one avid for presents
And greedy for gifts;
They do not judge the case of the orphan,
And the widow's cause never reaches them.

24Assuredly, this is the declaration
Of the Sovereign, the LORD of Hosts,
The Mighty One of Israel:
"Ah, I will get satisfaction from My foes;
I will wreak vengeance on My enemies!
25I will turn My hand against you,
And smelt out your dross [h]-as with lye,-[h]
And remove all your slag:
26I will restore your magistrates as of old,
And your counselors as of yore.
After that you shall be called
City of Righteousness, Faithful City."

27[i]Zion shall be saved in the judgment;
Her repentant ones, in the retribution.[j]
28But rebels and sinners shall all be crushed,
And those who forsake the LORD shall perish.

29Truly, you[k] shall be shamed
Because of the terebinths you desired,
And you shall be confounded
Because of the gardens you coveted.
30For you shall be like a terebinth
Wilted of leaf,
And like a garden
That has no water,
31[l]-Stored wealth-[l] shall become as tow,
And he who amassed it a spark;
And the two shall burn together,
With none to quench.

2 The word that Isaiah son of Amoz prophesied concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

[2]In the days to come,
The Mount of the LORD's House
Shall stand firm above the mountains
And tower above the hills;
And all the nations
Shall gaze on it with joy.
[3]And the many peoples shall go and say:
"Come,
Let us go up to the Mount of the LORD,
To the House of the God of Jacob;
That He may instruct us in His ways,
And that we may walk in His paths."
For instruction shall come forth[a] from Zion,
The word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
[4]Thus He will judge among the nations
And arbitrate for the many peoples,
And they shall beat their swords into plowshares[b]
And their spears into pruning hooks:
Nation shall not take up
Sword against nation;
They shall never again know[c] war.

[5]O House of Jacob!
Come, let us walk
By the light of the LORD.
[6]For you have forsaken [the ways of] your people,
O House of Jacob!
[d]-For they are full [of practices] from the East,
And of soothsaying like the Philistines;
They abound in customs[e] of the aliens.-[d]

v. 8 חסר י׳ בשורש

[14]The LORD will bring this charge
Against the elders and officers of His people:
"It is you who have ravaged the vineyard;
That which was robbed from the poor is in your houses.
[15]How dare you crush My people
And grind the faces of the poor?"
—says my Lord GOD of Hosts.

[16]The LORD said:
"Because the daughters of Zion
Are so vain
And walk with [j]heads thrown back,[j]
With roving eyes,
And with mincing gait,
Making a tinkling with their feet"—
[17]My Lord will bare[k] the pates
Of the daughters of Zion,
The LORD will uncover their heads.

[18]In that day, my LORD will strip off the finery[l] of the anklets, the fillets, and the crescents; [19]of the eardrops, the bracelets, and the veils; [20]the turbans, the armlets, and the sashes; of the talismans and the amulets; [21]the signet rings and the nose rings; [22]of the festive robes, the mantles, and the shawls; the purses, [23]the lace gowns, and the linen vests; and the kerchiefs and the capes.

[24]And then—
Instead of perfume, there shall be rot;
And instead of an apron, a rope;
Instead of a diadem of beaten-work,
A shorn head;
Instead of a rich robe,
A girding of sackcloth;
[m]A burn instead of beauty.[m]

5 Let me sing for my beloved
A song of my lover about his vineyard.

My beloved had a vineyard
[a]-On a fruitful hill.-[a]
[2]He broke the ground, cleared it of stones,
And planted it with choice vines.
He built a watchtower inside it,
He even hewed a wine press in it;
For he hoped it would yield grapes.
Instead, it yielded wild grapes.
[3]"Now, then,
Dwellers of Jerusalem
And men of Judah,
You be the judges
Between Me and My vineyard:
[4]What more could have been done for My vineyard
That I failed to do in it?
Why, when I hoped it would yield grapes,
Did it yield wild grapes?

[5]"Now I am going to tell you
What I will do to My vineyard:
I will remove its hedge,
That it may be ravaged;
I will break down its wall,
That it may be trampled.
[6]And I will [a]-make it a desolation;-[a]
It shall not be pruned or hoed,
And it shall be overgrown with briers and thistles.

In the reign of Ahaz son of Jotham son of Uzziah, king of Judah, King Rezin of Aram and King Pekah son of Remaliah of Israel marched upon Jerusalem to attack it; but they were not able to attack it.

[2]Now, when it was reported to the House of David that Aram had allied itself with Ephraim, their hearts and the hearts of their people trembled as trees of the forest sway before a wind. [3]But the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go out with your son Shear-jashub[a] to meet Ahaz at the end of the conduit of the Upper Pool, by the road of the Fuller's Field. [4]And say to him: Be firm and be calm. Do not be afraid and do not lose heart on account of those two smoking stubs of firebrands, on account of the raging of Rezin and his Arameans and the son of Remaliah.[b] [5]Because the Arameans—with Ephraim and the son of Remaliah—have plotted against you, saying, [6]'We will march against Judah and invade and conquer it, and we will set up as king in it the son of Tabeel,'[b] [7]thus said my Lord GOD:

It shall not succeed,

a Meaning "[only] a remnant will turn back," i.e., repent; cf. 6.13; 10.21.
b To refer to a person only as "the son of—" is slighting; cf. note at 1 Sam. 10.11.
c The thought is continued by 8.8b–10; cf. 2 Chron. 13.8–12.
d-d Brought down from v. 8 for clarity.
e-e Others "surely, you shall not be established."

v. 13. סבירין ומטעין "בה"

[10]The LORD spoke further to Ahaz: [11]"Ask for a sign from the LORD your God, anywhere down to Sheol or up to the sky." [12]But Ahaz replied, "I will not ask, and I will not test the LORD." [13]"Listen, House of David," [Isaiah] retorted, "is it not enough for you to treat men as helpless that you also treat my God as helpless?[f] [14]Assuredly, my Lord will give you a sign of His own accord! Look, the young woman is with child and about to give birth to a son. Let her name him Immanuel.[g] [15](By the time he learns to reject the bad and choose the good, people will be feeding on curds and honey.) [16]For before the lad knows to reject the bad and choose the good, the ground whose two kings you dread shall be abandoned. [17]The LORD will cause to come upon you and your people and your ancestral house such days as never have come since Ephraim turned away from Judah—that selfsame king of Assyria![h]

[18]"In that day, the LORD will whistle to the flies at the ends of the water channels of Egypt and to the bees in the land of Assyria; [19]and they shall all come and alight in the rugged wadis, and in the clefts of the rocks, and in all the thornbrakes, and in all the watering places.

[20]"In that day, my Lord will cut away with the razor that is hired beyond the Euphrates—with the king of Assyria[i]—the hair of the head and [j]the hair of the legs,[j] and it shall clip off the beard as well. [21]And in that day, each man shall save alive a heifer of the herd and two animals of the flock. [22](And he shall obtain so much milk that he shall eat curds.) Thus everyone who is left in the land shall feed on curds and honey.

[23]"For in that day, every spot where there could stand a thousand vines worth a thousand shekels of silver[k] shall become a wilderness of thornbush and thistle. 24One will have to go there with bow and arrows,[l] for the country shall be all thornbushes and thistles. 25But the perils of thornbush and thistle shall not spread to any of the hills that could only be tilled with a hoe;[m] and here cattle shall be let loose, and [n]-sheep and goats-[n] shall tramp about."

The LORD said to me, "Get yourself a large sheet and write on it [a]-in common script-[a] 'For Maher-shalal-hash-baz';[b] 2and call reliable witnesses, the priest Uriah and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah, to witness for Me." 3I was intimate with the prophetess,[c] and she conceived and bore a son; and the LORD said to me, "Name him Maher-shalal-hash-baz.[b] 4For before the boy learns to call 'Father' and 'Mother,' the wealth of Damascus and the spoils of Samaria, [d]-and the delights of Rezin and of the son of Remaliah,-[d] shall be carried off before the king of Assyria."

5Again the LORD spoke to me, thus:
6"Because that people has spurned
The gently flowing waters of Siloam"[e]—
7Assuredly,
My Lord will bring up against them
The mighty, massive waters of the Euphrates,
The king of Assyria and all his multitude.

k I.e., all the best farm land, corresponding to the hairiest parts of the body; v. 20.
l Because of dangerous beasts.
m Marginal farm land, too rocky for the plow, corresponding to areas of the body with scant hair.
n-n See note at Exod. 12.3.

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
b I.e., "Pillage hastens, looting speeds," indicating that two cities are to be pillaged at an early date; see v. 4.
c I.e., Isaiah's wife.
d-d Brought up from v. 6 for clarity.
e The conduit—and later the tunnel—of Siloam conveyed into Jerusalem the waters of Gihon, which symbolize "the LORD of Hosts who dwells on Mount Zion" (v. 18). For the nature of the rejection see note at 7.13.

It shall rise above all its channels,

Agree on action—it shall not succeed.

A stone-[k] men strike against:
A rock men stumble over
For the two Houses of Israel,
And a trap and a snare for those Who dwell in Jerusalem.

k-k Emendation yields "... for His holy domain [cf. Ps. 114.2] / A stone..."

And shall fall and be injured,

17So I will wait for the LORD, who is hiding His face from the House of Jacob, and I will trust in Him. 18Here stand I and the children the LORD has given me as signs and portents in Israel from the LORD of Hosts, who dwells on Mount Zion.

19Now, should people say to you, "Inquire of the ghosts and familiar spirits that chirp and moan; for a people may inquire of its divine beings[l]—of the dead on behalf of the living—20for instruction and message," surely, for one who speaks thus there shall be no dawn. 21m-And he shall go about in it wretched and hungry; and when he is hungry, he shall rage and revolt against his king and his divine beings.-m He may turn his face upward 22or he may look below, but behold,

Straitness and gloom, n-with no dawn.-n

23For o-if there were to be-o any break of day for that [land] which is in straits, only the former [king] would have brought abasement to the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali—while the later one would have brought honor to the Way of the Sea, the other side of the Jordan, and Galilee of the Nations.[p]

v. 23. בנוסח אחר "לו"

Light has dawned.
[2]You have magnified that nation,
Have given it great joy;
They have rejoiced before You
As they rejoice at reaping time,
As they exult
When dividing spoil.

[3]For the yoke that they bore
And the stick on their back—
The rod of their taskmaster—
You have broken as on the day of Midian.[b]
[4]Truly, all the boots put on [c]to stamp with[c]
And all the garments donned in infamy
Have been fed to the flames,
Devoured by fire.
[5]For a child has been born to us,
A son has been given us.
And authority has settled on his shoulders.
He has been named
"The Mighty God is planning grace;[d]
The Eternal Father, a peaceable ruler"—
[6]In token of abundant authority
And of peace without limit
Upon David's throne and kingdom,
That it may be firmly established
In justice and in equity
Now and evermore.
The zeal of the LORD of Hosts
Shall bring this to pass.

[7]My Lord
[e]Let loose a word[e] against Jacob
And it fell upon Israel.
[8]But all the people noted[f]—
Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria—
In arrogance and haughtiness:

[18]By the fury of the LORD of Hosts,
The earth was shaken.[m]
Next, the people became like devouring fire:
No man spared his countryman.
[19]They snatched on the right, but remained hungry,
And consumed on the left without being sated.
Each devoured the flesh of his [n]own kindred[n]—
[20]Manasseh Ephraim's, and Ephraim Manasseh's,[o]
And both of them against Judah![p]

Yet His anger has not turned back,
And His arm is outstretched still.

Ha!
Those who write out evil writs
And compose iniquitous documents,
[2]To subvert the cause of the poor,
To rob of their rights the needy of My people;
That widows may be their spoil,
And fatherless children their booty!
[3]What will you do on the day of punishment,
When the calamity comes from afar?
To whom will you flee for help,
And how will you save your carcasses[a]

[5]Ha!
Assyria, rod of My anger,
[b]-In whose hand, as a staff, is My fury!-[b]
[6]I send him against an ungodly nation,
I charge him against a people that provokes Me,
To take its spoil and to seize its booty
And to make it a thing trampled
Like the mire of the streets.
[7]But he has evil plans,
His mind harbors evil designs;
For he means to destroy,
To wipe out nations, not a few.
[8]For he thinks,
"After all, [c]-I have kings as my captains!-[c]

v. 13 יתיר א'

f According to vv. 6–7, Assyria was to plunder, but not to exile.
g Lit. "not-wood."
h Presumably Israel's. These verses would read well after 9.16.
i Cf. note at v. 3.
j-j Brought up from v. 18 for clarity.
k I.e., upon Assyria (see v. 24). Ahaz's reliance on Assyria was interpreted by Isaiah as lack of faith in the LORD; see 7.13 with note.

But shall lean sincerely
On the LORD, the Holy One of Israel.
[21]Only a remnant shall return,
Only a remnant of Jacob,
To Mighty God.
[22]Even if your people, O Israel,
Should be as the sands of the sea,
Only a remnant of it shall return.
Destruction is decreed;
Retribution comes like a flood!
[23]For my Lord GOD of Hosts is carrying out
A decree of destruction upon all the land.

Behold, I have called My stalwarts,
My proudly exultant ones."[a]

[4]Hark! a tumult on the mountains—
As of[b] a mighty force;
Hark! an uproar of kingdoms,
Nations assembling!
The LORD of Hosts is mustering
A host for war.
[5]They come from a distant land,
From the end of the sky—
The LORD with the weapons of His wrath—
To ravage all the earth!

[6]Howl!
For the day of the LORD is near;
It shall come like havoc from Shaddai.[c]
[7]Therefore all hands shall grow limp,
And all men's hearts shall sink;
[8]And, overcome by terror,
They shall be seized by pangs and throes,
Writhe like a woman in travail.

They shall gaze at each other in horror,
Their faces [d]-livid with fright.-[d]

[9]Lo! The day of the LORD is coming
With pitiless fury and wrath,
To make the earth a desolation,
To wipe out the sinners upon it.
[10]The stars and constellations of heaven
Shall not give off their light;
The sun shall be dark when it rises,
And the moon shall diffuse no glow.

[11]"And I will requite to the world its evil,
And to the wicked their iniquity;
I will put an end to the pride of the arrogant
And humble the haughtiness of tyrants.
[12]I will make people scarcer than fine gold,
And men than gold of Ophir."

[13]Therefore [e]-shall heaven be shaken,-[e]
And earth leap out of its place,
At the fury of the LORD of Hosts
On the day of His burning wrath.
[14]Then like gazelles that are chased,
And like sheep that no man gathers,
Each man shall turn back to his people,
They shall flee every one to his land.
[15]All who remain shall be pierced through,
All who [f]-are caught-[f]
Shall fall by the sword.

But the LORD will pardon Jacob, and will again choose Israel, and will settle them on their own soil. And strangers shall join them and shall cleave to the House of Jacob. 2For peoples shall take them[a] and bring them to their homeland; and the House of Israel shall possess them[b] as slaves and handmaids on the soil of the LORD. They shall be captors of their captors and masters to their taskmasters.

3And when the LORD has given you rest from your sorrow and trouble, and from the hard service that you were made to serve, 4you shall recite this song of scorn over the king of Babylon:

How is the taskmaster vanished,
How is oppression[c] ended!

[5]The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked,
The rod of tyrants,
[6]That smote peoples in wrath
With stroke unceasing,
That belabored nations in fury
In relentless pursuit.

[7]All the earth is calm, untroubled;
Loudly it cheers.
[8]Even pines rejoice at your fate,
And cedars of Lebanon:
"Now that you have lain down,
None shall come up to fell us."

[9]Sheol below was astir
To greet your coming—
Rousing for you the shades
Of all earth's chieftains,
Raising from their thrones
All the kings of nations.
[10]All speak up and say to you,
"So you have been stricken as we were,
You have become like us!
[11]Your pomp is brought down to Sheol,
And the strains of your lutes!
Worms are to be your bed,
Maggots your blanket!"

[12]How are you fallen from heaven,
O Shining One, son of Dawn![d]
How are you felled to earth,
O vanquisher of nations!

[13]Once you thought in your heart,
"I will climb to the sky;
Higher than the stars of God
I will set my throne.

15Instead, you are brought down to Sheol,
To [g]-the bottom of the Pit.-[g]
16They who behold you stare;
They peer at you closely:
"Is this the man
Who shook the earth,
Who made realms tremble,
17Who made the world like a waste
And wrecked its towns,
[h]-Who never released his prisoners to their homes?"
18All the kings of nations
Were laid, every one, in honor-[h]
Each in his tomb;
19While you were left lying unburied,
Like loathsome carrion,[i]
Like a trampled corpse

[22]I will rise up against them—declares the LORD of Hosts—and will wipe out from Babylon name and remnant, kith and kin—declares the LORD—[23]and I will make it a home of bitterns,[l] pools of water. I will sweep it with a broom of extermination—declares the LORD of Hosts.

[24]The LORD of Hosts has sworn this oath:
"As I have designed, so shall it happen;
What I have planned, that shall come to pass:
[25]To break Assyria in My land,
To crush him on My mountain."[m]
And his yoke shall drop off them,
And his burden shall drop from their[n] backs.
[26]That is the plan that is planned
For all the earth;
That is why an arm is poised
Over all the nations.
[27]For the LORD of Hosts has planned,
Who then can foil it?
It is His arm that is poised,
And who can stay it?

[28]This pronouncement was made in the year that King Ahaz died:

15 The "Moab" Pronouncement.

Ah, in the night Ar was sacked,
Moab was ruined;
Ah, in the night Kir was sacked,
Moab was ruined.

[2]He went up to the temple to weep,
Dibon[a] [went] to the outdoor shrines.
Over Nebo and Medeba
Moab is wailing;
On every head is baldness,
Every beard is shorn.
[3]In its streets, they are girt with sackcloth;
On its roofs, in its squares,
Everyone is wailing,
Streaming with tears.
[4]Heshbon and Elealeh cry out,
Their voice carries to Jahaz.
Therefore,
[b]The shock troops of Moab shout,[b]
His body is convulsed.
[5]My heart cries out for Moab—
His fugitives flee down to Zoar,
To Eglath-shelishiyah.

For violence has vanished,
Rapine is ended,
And marauders have perished from this land.
[5]And a throne shall be established in goodness
In the tent of David,
And on it shall sit in faithfulness
A ruler devoted to justice
And zealous for equity.[d]

[6]"We have heard of Moab's pride—
Most haughty is he—
Of his pride and haughtiness and arrogance,
And of the iniquity in him."[e]

[7]Ah, let Moab howl;
Let all in Moab howl!
For the raisin-cakes[f] of Kir-hareseth
You shall moan most pitifully.
[8]The vineyards of Heshbon are withered,
And the vines of Sibmah;
[b-]Their tendrils spread
To Baale-goiim,[-b]
And reached to Jazer,
And strayed to the desert;
Their shoots spread out
And crossed the sea.

[9]Therefore,
As I weep for Jazer,
So I weep for Sibmah's vines;

O Heshbon and Elealeh,
I drench you with my tears.
[g]Ended are the shouts
Over your fig and grain harvests.[g]
[10]Rejoicing and gladness
Are gone from the farm land;
In the vineyards no shouting
Or cheering is heard.
No more does the treader
Tread wine in the presses—
The shouts [h]have been silenced.[h]

17 The "Damascus" Pronouncement.

יז מַשָּׂא דַּמָּשֶׂק

Behold,
Damascus shall cease to be a city;
It shall become a heap of ruins.
[2][a]The towns of Aroer shall be deserted;[a]
They shall be a place for flocks
To lie down, with none disturbing.

הִנֵּה

h-h Lit. "I have silenced."
a-a Emendation yields (cf. Septuagint) "Its towns shall be deserted forevermore."

[3]Fortresses shall cease from Ephraim,[b]
And sovereignty from Damascus;
The remnant of Aram shall become Like the mass of Israelites —declares the LORD of Hosts.

[4]In that day,
The mass of Jacob shall dwindle,
And the fatness of his body become lean:
[5]After being like the standing grain
Harvested by the reaper—
Who reaps ears by the armful—
He shall be like the ears that are gleaned
In the Valley of Rephaim.
[6]Only gleanings shall be left of him,
As when one beats an olive tree:
Two berries or three on the topmost branch,
Four or five [c]on the boughs of the crown[c]
—declares the LORD, the God of Israel.

[7]In that day, men shall turn to their Maker, their eyes look to the Holy One of Israel; [8]they shall not turn to the altars that their own hands made, or look to the sacred posts and incense stands that their own fingers wrought.

[9]In that day, their fortress cities shall be like the deserted sites which [d]the Horesh and the Amir[d] abandoned because of the Israelites; and there shall be desolation.

[10]Truly, you have forgotten the God who saves you
And have not remembered the Rock who shelters you;
That is why, though you plant a delightful[e] sapling,
What you sow proves a disappointing slip.
[11]On the day that you plant, you see it grow;

b Emendation yields "Aram."
c-c Lit. "on her boughs, the many-branched one."
d-d Septuagint reads "the Amorites and the Hivites."
e Emendation yields "true." So Vulgate (cf. Septuagint); cf. Jer. 2.21.

On the morning you sow, you see it bud—
But the branches wither away
On a day of sickness and mortal agony.

[12]Ah, the roar of many peoples
That roar as roars the sea,
The rage of nations that rage
As rage the mighty waters—
[13]Nations raging like massive waters!
But He shouts at them, and they flee far away,
Driven like chaff before winds in the hills,
And like tumbleweed before a gale.
[14]At eventide, lo, terror!
By morning, it is no more.
Such is the lot of our despoilers,
The portion of them that plunder us.

When a ram's horn is blown, give heed!"

19 The "Egypt" Pronouncement.

יט מַשָּׂא מִצְרָיִם

Mounted on a swift cloud,
The LORD will come to Egypt;
Egypt's idols shall tremble before Him,
And the heart of the Egyptians shall sink within them.

[2]"I will incite Egyptian against Egyptian:
They shall war with each other,

And I will confound its plans;
So they will consult the idols and the shades
And the ghosts and the familiar spirits.
[4]And I will place the Egyptians
At the mercy of a harsh master,
And a ruthless king shall rule them"
—declares the Sovereign, the LORD of Hosts.

[5]Water shall fail from the seas,
Rivers dry up and be parched,
[6]Channels turn foul as they ebb,
And Egypt's canals run dry.
Reed and rush shall decay,
[7][b-]And the Nile papyrus by the Nile-side[-b]

It was the year that the Tartan[a] came to Ashdod—being sent by King Sargon of Assyria—and attacked Ashdod and took it. [2]Previously,[b] the LORD had spoken to Isaiah son of Amoz, saying, "Go, untie the sackcloth from your loins and take your sandals off your feet," which he had done, going naked and barefoot. [3]And now the LORD said, "It is a sign and a portent for Egypt and Nubia. Just as My servant Isaiah has gone naked and barefoot for three years, [4]so shall the king of Assyria drive off the captives of Egypt and the exiles of Nubia, young and old, naked and barefoot and with bared buttocks—to the shame of Egypt! [5]And they shall be dismayed and chagrined because of Nubia their hope and Egypt their boast. [6]In that day, the dwellers of this coastland shall say, 'If this could happen to those we looked to, to whom we fled for help and rescue from the king of Assyria, how can we ourselves escape?'"

[a]-The "Desert of the Sea" Pronouncement.-[a]

Like the gales
That race through the Negeb,
It comes from the desert,
The terrible land.
[2]A harsh prophecy
Has been announced to me:
"The betrayer is [b]-betraying,
The ravager ravaging.-[b]
Advance, Elam!
Lay siege, Media!
[c]-I have put an end
To all her sighing."-[c]

[3]Therefore my loins
Are seized with trembling;
I am gripped by pangs
Like a woman in travail,
Too anguished to hear,
Too frightened to see.
[4]My mind is confused,
I shudder in panic.
My night of pleasure
He has turned to terror:
[5]"Set the table!"
To "Let the watchman watch!"
"Eat and drink!"
To "Up, officers! Grease[d] the shields!"

[6]For thus my Lord said to me:
"Go, set up a sentry;
Let him announce what he sees.
[7]He will see mounted men,
Horsemen in pairs—
Riders on asses,

Your slain are not the slain of the sword
Nor the dead of battle.[c]
3Your officers have all departed,
They fled far away;
Your survivors were all taken captive,
[a]Taken captive without their bows.[a] 4That is why I say, "Let me be,
I will weep bitterly.
Press not to comfort me
For the ruin of [d]my poor people."[d]

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
b Vv. 1–3 describe a scene of mourning to take place in Jerusalem in the near future. In the ancient Near East, public weeping took place on the low flat roofs as well as in the streets and squares; cf. above, 15.3; Jer. 48.38.
c I.e., executed, instead of dying in battle.
d-d Lit. "the young woman, my people."
e-e Meaning of Heb. uncertain. On Kir see 2 Kings 16.9; Amos 1.5; 9.7; on Shoa see Ezek. 23.23.

6While Elam bore the quiver
In troops of mounted men,
And Kir bared the shield—
7And your choicest lowlands
Were filled with chariots and horsemen:
They stormed at Judah's[f] gateway
8And pressed beyond its screen.[g]
You gave thought on that day
To the arms in the Forest House,[h]
9And you took note of the many breaches
In the City of David.
[i]And you collected the water of the Lower Pool;[-i] 10and you counted the houses of Jerusalem and pulled houses down to fortify the wall; 11and you constructed a basin between the two walls for the water of the old pool.
But you gave no thought to Him who planned it,
You took no note of Him who designed it long before.
12My Lord God of Hosts summoned on that day
To weeping and lamenting,
To tonsuring and girding with sackcloth.
13Instead, there was rejoicing and merriment,
Killing of cattle and slaughtering of sheep,
Eating of meat and drinking of wine:
"Eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"
14Then the Lord of Hosts revealed Himself to my ears:
"This iniquity shall never be forgiven you Until you die," said my Lord God of Hosts.

15Thus said my Lord God of Hosts: Go in to see that steward, that Shebna, in charge of the palace:
16What have you here, and whom have you here,

f Brought up from 8a for clarity.
g Judah's gateway is the upper course of the Valley of Elah. The screen is the fortress Azekah, at the mouth of the gateway, which was captured by the Assyrians.
h See 1 Kings 7.2–5; 10.16–17.
i-i This clause would read well after the prose part of v. 11a.

v. 10. ת׳ רפה וחסר נ׳ בשורש

That you have hewn out a tomb for yourself here?—
O you who have hewn your[j] tomb on high;
O you who have hollowed out for yourself[j] an abode in the cliff!
[17]The LORD is about to shake you
[k]-Severely, fellow,-[k] and then wrap you around Himself.[l]
[18]Indeed, He will wind you about Him [m]-as a headdress, a turban.-[m]
Off to a broad land!
There shall you die, and there shall be the [n]-chariots bearing your body,-[n]
O shame of your master's house!
[19]For I will hurl you from your station
And you shall be torn down from your stand.

[20]And in that day, I will summon My servant Eliakim son of Hilkiah, [21]and I will invest him with your tunic, gird him with your sash, and deliver your authority into his hand; and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the men of Judah. [22]I will place the keys of David's palace on his shoulders; and what he unlocks none may shut, and what he locks none may open. [23]He shall be a seat of honor to his father's[o] household. I will fix him as a peg in a firm place, [24]on which all the substance of his father's[o] household shall be hung: [a]-the sprouts and the leaves-[a]—all the small vessels, from bowls to all sorts of jars.

[25][p]In that day—declares the LORD of Hosts—the peg fixed in a firm place shall give way: it shall be cut down and shall fall, and the weight it supports shall be destroyed. For it is the LORD who has spoken.

23 The "Tyre" Pronouncement.

Howl, you [a]ships of Tarshish![a]
For havoc has been wrought, not a house is left;
As they came from the land of Kittim,
This was revealed to them.

[2]Moan, you coastland dwellers,
You traders of Sidon,
Once thronged by seafarers,
[3]Over many waters
Your[b] revenue came:
From the trade of nations,
From the grain of Shihor,
The harvest of the Nile.
[4]Be ashamed, O Sidon!
For the sea—this stronghold of the sea—declares,
[c]"I am as one who has[c] never labored,
Never given birth,
Never raised youths
Or reared maidens!"
[5]When the Egyptians heard it, they quailed
As when they heard about Tyre.

[6]Pass on to Tarshish—
Howl, you coastland dwellers!
[7]Was such your merry city
In former times, of yore?
Did her feet carry her off
To sojourn far away?
[8]Who was it that planned this
For crown-wearing Tyre,
Whose merchants were nobles,
Whose traders the world honored?
[9]The LORD of Hosts planned it—

[16]Take a lyre, go about the town,
Harlot long forgotten;
Sweetly play, make much music,
To bring you back to mind.

d-d Meaning of Heb. uncertain. Emendation yields "Pass on to the land of Kittim, / You ships of Tarshish."
e Meaning of Heb. uncertain; taking* mezaḥ as a by-form of maḥoz*: cf. Ps. 107.30.
f Heb. "Canaan's."
g Meaning of verse uncertain. Emendation yields "The land of Kittim itself— / Which the Sidonian people founded, / Whose watchtowers they raised, / Whose citadels they erected— / Exists no more; / Assyria has turned it into a ruin."

[17]For after a lapse of seventy years, the LORD will take note of Tyre, and she shall resume her h-"fee-taking" and "play the harlot"-h with all the kingdoms of the world, on the face of the earth. [18]But her profits and "hire" shall be consecrated to the LORD. They shall not be treasured or stored; rather shall her profits go to those who abide before the LORD, that they may eat their fill and clothe themselves elegantly.

Behold,
The LORD will strip the earth bare,
And lay it waste,
And twist its surface,
And scatter its inhabitants.
[2]Layman and priest shall fare alike,
Slave and master,
Handmaid and mistress,
Buyer and seller,
Lender and borrower,
Creditor and debtor.
[3]The earth shall be bare, bare;
It shall be plundered, plundered;
For it is the LORD who spoke this word.

[4]The earth is withered, sear;
The world languishes, it is sear;
a-The most exalted people of the earth-a languish.
[5]For the earth was defiled
Under its inhabitants;
Because they transgressed teachings,
Violated laws,
Broke the ancient covenant.[b]
[6]That is why a curse consumes the earth,
And its inhabitants pay the penalty;
That is why earth's dwellers have dwindled,
And but few men are left.

h-h I.e., "trading...trade."

a-a Change of vocalization yields "both sky and earth."

b I.e., the moral law, which is binding on all men (cf. Gen. 9.4–6).

[7]The new wine fails,
The vine languishes;
And all the merry-hearted sigh.
[8]Stilled is the merriment of timbrels,
Ended the clamor of revelers,
Stilled the merriment of lyres.
[9]They drink their wine without song;
Liquor tastes bitter to the drinker.
[10]Towns are broken,[c] empty;
Every house is shut, none enters;
[11]Even over wine, a cry goes up in the streets:
The sun has set on all joy,
The gladness of the earth is banished.
[12]Desolation is left in the town
And the gate is battered to ruins.
[13]For thus shall it be among the peoples
In the midst of the earth:
As when the olive tree is beaten out,
Like gleanings when the vintage is over.

[14]These shall lift up their voices,
Exult in the majesty of the LORD.
They shall shout from the sea:
[15]Therefore, honor the LORD with lights
In the coastlands of the sea—
The name of the LORD, the God of Israel.
[16]From the end of the earth
We hear singing:
Glory to the righteous!

c Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

Never to be rebuilt.
3Therefore a fierce people must honor You,
A city of cruel nations must fear You.
4For You have been a refuge for the poor man,
A shelter for the needy man in his distress—
Shelter from rainstorm, shade from heat.
When the fury of tyrants was like a winter[c] rainstorm,
5The rage of strangers[b] like heat in the desert,
You subdued the heat with the shade of clouds,
The singing[d] of the tyrants was vanquished.

And the covering that is spread
Over all the nations:
8He will destroy death[f] forever.
My Lord GOD will wipe the tears away
From all faces
And will put an end to the reproach of [g]His people[g]
Over all the earth—
For it is the LORD who has spoken.

9In that day they shall say:
This is our God;
We trusted in Him, and He delivered us.
This is the LORD, in whom we trusted;
Let us rejoice and exult in His deliverance!

[A nation] that keeps faith.
3The confident mind You guard in safety,
In safety because it trusts in You.

4Trust in the LORD for ever and ever,
For in Yah the LORD you have an everlasting Rock.
5For He has brought low those who dwelt high up,
Has humbled the secure city,
Humbled it to the ground,
Leveled it with the dust—
6To be trampled underfoot,
By the feet of the needy,
By the soles of the poor.
7The path is level for the righteous man;

[2]In that day,
They shall sing of it:[c]
"Vineyard of Delight."[d]
[3]I the LORD keep watch over it,
I water it every moment;
[e-]That no harm may befall it,[-e]
I watch it night and day.
[4]There is no anger in Me:
[a-]If one offers Me thorns and thistles,
I will march to battle against him,
And set all of them on fire.[-a]
[5]But if he holds fast to My refuge,
[a-]He makes Me his friend;
He makes Me his friend.[-a]

[6][In days] to come Jacob shall strike root,
Israel shall sprout and blossom,
And the face of the world
Shall be covered with fruit.

[7]Was he beaten as his beater has been?
Did he suffer such slaughter as his slayers?
[8][f-]Assailing them[-f] with fury unchained,
His pitiless blast bore them off
On a day of gale.

[9][g]Assuredly, by this alone
Shall Jacob's sin be purged away;
This is the only price
For removing his guilt:
That he make all the altar-stones
Like shattered blocks of chalk—
With no sacred post left standing,
Nor any incense altar.
[10]Thus fortified cities lie desolate,

Him who was in the right.

22Assuredly, thus said the LORD to the House of Jacob, g-Who redeemed Abraham:-g

No more shall Jacob be shamed,
No longer his face grow pale.

23For when he—that is, his children—behold what My hands have wrought in his midst, they will hallow My name.

Men will hallow the Holy One of Jacob
And stand in awe of the God of Israel.
24And the confused shall acquire insight
And grumblers accept instruction.

Let us hear no more
About the Holy One of Israel!"

[12]Assuredly,
Thus said the Holy One of Israel:
Because you have rejected this word,
And have put your trust and reliance
In that which is fraudulent and tortuous—
[13]Of a surety,
This iniquity shall work on you
Like a spreading breach that occurs in a lofty wall,
Whose crash comes sudden and swift.
[14]It is smashed as one smashes an earthen jug,
Ruthlessly shattered
So that no shard is left in its breakage
To scoop coals from a brazier,
Or ladle water from a puddle.

[15]For thus said my Lord God,
The Holy One of Israel,
"You shall triumph by stillness and quiet;
Your victory shall come about
Through calm and confidence."
But you refused.
[16]"No," you declared.
"We shall flee on steeds"—
Therefore you shall flee!
"We shall ride on swift mounts"—
Therefore your pursuers shall prove swift!
[17]One thousand before the shout of one—
You shall flee at the shout of five;
Till what is left of you
Is like a mast on a hilltop,
Like a pole upon a mountain.

[18]Truly, the LORD is waiting to show you grace,
Truly, He will arise to pardon you.

For the LORD is a God of justice;
Happy are all who wait for Him.

[19]Indeed, O people in Zion, dwellers of Jerusalem, you shall not have cause to weep. He will grant you His favor at the sound of your cry; He will respond as soon as He hears it. [20]My Lord will provide for you meager bread and scant water. Then your Guide will no more [d]-be ignored,-[d] but your eyes will watch your Guide; [21]and, whenever you deviate to the right or to the left, your ears will heed the command from behind you: "This is the road; follow it!" [22]And you will treat as unclean the silver overlay of your images and the golden plating of your idols. You will cast[h] them away like a menstruous woman. "Out!" you will call to them.

[23]So rain shall be provided for the seed with which you sow the ground, and the bread that the ground brings forth shall be rich and fat. Your livestock, in that day, shall graze in broad pastures; [24]as for the cattle and the asses that till the soil, they shall partake of salted fodder that has been winnowed with shovel and fan.

[25]And on every high mountain and on every lofty hill, there shall appear brooks and watercourses—on a day of heavy slaughter, when towers topple. [26]And the light of the moon shall become like the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall become sevenfold, like the light of the seven days, when the LORD binds up His people's wounds and heals the injuries it has suffered.

[27]Behold the [i]-LORD Himself-[i]
Comes from afar
In blazing wrath,
[j]-With a heavy burden-[j]—
His lips full of fury,

His tongue like devouring fire,
[28]And his breath like a raging torrent
Reaching halfway up the neck—
To set a misguiding yoke[k] upon nations
And a misleading bridle upon the jaws of peoples,

[29]For you, there shall be singing
As on a night when a festival is hallowed;
There shall be rejoicing as when they march
With flute, [l]with timbrels, and with lyres[-l]
To the Rock of Israel on the Mount of the LORD.

[30]For the LORD will make His majestic voice heard
And display the sweep of His arm
In raging wrath,
In a devouring blaze of fire,
In tempest, and rainstorm, and hailstones.
[31]Truly, Assyria, who beats with the rod,
Shall be cowed by the voice of the LORD;
[32][d]And each time the appointed staff passes by,
The LORD will bring down [His arm] upon him
And will do battle with him as he waves it.[-d]
[33]The Topheth[m] has long been ready for him;
He too is destined for Melech[n]—
His firepit has been made both wide and deep,
With plenty of fire and firewood,
And with the breath of the LORD
Burning in it like a stream of sulfur.

הַיֹּרְדִים מִצְרַיִם לְעֶזְרָה

v. 32. סבירין ומטעין "בה"

And rely upon horses!
They have put their trust in abundance of chariots,
In vast numbers of riders,
And they have not turned to the Holy One of Israel,
They have not sought the LORD.

[2]But He too is wise!
He has brought on misfortune,
And has not canceled His word.
So He shall rise against the house of evildoers,
And the allies[a] of the workers of iniquity.
[3]For the Egyptians are man, not God,
And their horses are flesh, not spirit;
And when the LORD stretches out His arm,
The helper shall trip
And the helped one shall fall,
And both shall perish together.

[4]For thus the LORD has said to me:
As a lion—a great beast—
Growls over its prey
And, when the shepherds gather
In force against him,
Is not dismayed by their cries
Nor cowed by their noise—
So the LORD of Hosts will descend to make war Against the mount and the hill of Zion.

[5]Like the birds that fly, even so will the LORD of Hosts shield Jerusalem, shielding and saving, protecting and rescuing.

[6][b]Return, O children of Israel,[-b] to Him to whom they have been so shamefully false; [7]for in that day everyone will reject his idols of silver and idols of gold, which your hands have made for your guilt.

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
b-b Emendation yields "for the fields."
c-c Meaning of Heb. uncertain; emendation yields "Brushland, desert."
d Emendation yields "onagers"; cf. Job 39.5.
e I.e., the transformed wilderness will surpass in fertility what is now used as farm land.

16Then justice shall abide in the wilderness
And righteousness shall dwell on the farm land.
17For the work of righteousness shall be peace,
And the effect of righteousness, calm and confidence forever.
18Then my people shall dwell in peaceful homes,
In secure dwellings,
In untroubled places of rest.
19*f*And the brush shall sink and vanish,
Even as the city is laid low.

f Meaning of verse uncertain.
g-g Lit. "let loose the feet of cattle and asses"; cf. 7.25 end.

a-a Emendation yields "You have been our help."
b Heb. "your spoil."
c Meaning of Heb. uncertain. Emendation yields "booty"; cf. v. 23.
d Taking šqq as a cognate of qšš.
e Apparently for food; cf. Lev. 11.22.

[Of old] He filled Zion
With justice and righteousness.
6Faithfulness to f-Your charge-f was [her] wealth,
Wisdom and devotion [her] triumph,
Reverence for the LORD—that was her[g] treasure.

7Hark! The Arielites[h] cry aloud;
Shalom's[i] messengers weep bitterly.
8Highways are desolate,
Wayfarers have ceased.
A covenant has been renounced,
Cities[j] rejected
k-Mortal man-k despised.
9The land is wilted and withered;
Lebanon disgraced and moldering,
Sharon is become like a desert,
And Bashan and Carmel are stripped bare.
10"Now I will arise," says the LORD,
"Now I will exalt Myself, now raise Myself high.
11You shall conceive hay,
Give birth to straw;
My[l] breath will devour you like fire.
12Peoples shall be burnings of lime,[m]
Thorns cut down that are set on fire.
13Hear, you who are far, what I have done;
You who are near, note My might."

14Sinners in Zion are frightened,
The godless are seized with trembling:
"Who of us can dwell with the devouring fire:
Who of us can dwell with the never-dying blaze?"

Speaks uprightly,
Spurns profit from fraudulent dealings,
Waves away a bribe instead of grasping it,
Stops his ears against listening to infamy,
Shuts his eyes against looking at evil—
[16]Such a one shall dwell in lofty security,
With inaccessible cliffs for his stronghold,
With his food supplied
And his drink assured.

Approach, O nations, and listen,
Give heed, O peoples!
Let the earth and those in it hear;
The world, and what it brings forth.
[2]For the LORD is angry at all the nations,
Furious at all their host;
He has doomed them, consigned them to slaughter.
[3]Their slain shall be left lying,
And the stench of their corpses shall mount;
And the hills shall be drenched with their blood,
[4][a]-All the host of heaven shall molder.-[a]
The heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll,
And all their host shall wither
Like a leaf withering on the vine,
Or shriveled fruit on a fig tree.

And their land shall be drunk with blood,
Their soil shall be saturated with fat.
8For it is the LORD's day of retribution,
The year of vindication for Zion's cause.
9Its[d] streams shall be turned to pitch
And its soil to sulfur.
Its land shall become burning pitch,
10Night and day it shall never go out;
Its smoke shall rise for all time.
Through the ages it shall lie in ruins;
Through the aeons none shall traverse it.
11[e]-Jackdaws and owls-[e] shall possess it;
Great owls and ravens shall dwell there.
He shall measure it with a line of chaos
And with weights of emptiness.[f]

rebelled against me? [6]You are relying on Egypt, that splintered reed of a staff, which enters and punctures the palm of anyone who leans on it. That's what Pharaoh king of Egypt is like to all who rely on him. [7]And if you tell me that you are relying on the LORD your God, He is the very one whose shrines and altars Hezekiah did away with, telling Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must worship only at this altar!' [8]Come now, make this wager with my master, the king of Assyria: I'll give you two thousand horses, if you can produce riders to mount them. [9]So how could you refuse anything, even to the deputy of one of my master's lesser servants, relying on Egypt for chariots and horsemen? [10]And do you think I have marched against this land to destroy it without the LORD? The LORD Himself told me: Go up against that land and destroy it."

[11]Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah replied to the Rabshakeh, "Please, speak to your servants in Aramaic, since we understand it; do not speak to us in Judean in the hearing of the people on the wall." [12]But the Rabshakeh replied, "Was it to your master and to you that my master sent me to speak those words? It was precisely to the men who are sitting on the wall—who will have to eat their dung and drink their urine with you." [13]And the Rabshakeh stood and called out in a loud voice in Judean: [14]"Hear the words of the Great King, the king of Assyria! Thus said the king: Don't let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to save you. [15]Don't let Hezekiah make you rely on the LORD, saying, 'The LORD will surely save us; this city will not fall into the hands of Assyria!' [16]Don't listen to Hezekiah. For thus said the king of Assyria: Make your peace with me and come out to me,[d] so that you may all eat from your vines and your fig trees and drink water from your cisterns, [17]until I come and take you away to a land like your own, a land of bread and wine, of grain [fields] and vineyards. [18]Beware of letting Hezekiah mislead you by saying, 'The LORD will save us.' Did any of the gods of the other nations save his land from the king of Assyria? [19]Where were the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where were the gods of Sepharvaim? And did they[e] save Samaria from me? [20]Which among all the gods of those countries saved their countries from me, that the LORD should save Jerusalem from me?" [21]But they were silent and did not answer him with a single word; for the king's order was: "Do not answer him."

[22]And so Eliakim son of Hilkiah who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and they reported to him what the Rabshakeh had said.

When King Hezekiah heard this, he rent his clothes and covered himself with sackcloth and went into the House of the LORD. [2]He also sent Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna, the scribe, and the senior priests, covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. [3]They said to him, "Thus said Hezekiah: This day is a day of distress, of chastisement, and of disgrace. [a]The babes have reached the birthstool, but the strength to give birth is lacking.[-a] [4]Perhaps the LORD your God will take note of the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to blaspheme the living God, and will mete out judgment for the words that the LORD your God has heard—if you will offer up prayer for the surviving remnant."

[5]When King Hezekiah's ministers came to Isaiah, [6]Isaiah said to them, "Tell your master as follows: Thus said the LORD: Do not be frightened by the words of blasphemy against Me that you have heard from the minions of the king of Assyria. [7]I will delude[b] him: He will hear a rumor and return to his land, and I will make him fall by the sword in his land."

[8]The Rabshakeh, meanwhile, heard that [the King] had left Lachish; he turned back and found the king of Assyria attacking Libnah. [9]But [the king of Assyria] learned that King Tirhakah of Nubia had come out to fight him; and when he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, [10]"Tell this to King Hezekiah of Judah: Do not let your God, on whom you are relying, mislead you into thinking that Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hands of the king of Assyria. [11]You yourself have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, how they have annihilated them; and can you escape? [12]Were the nations that my predecessors[c] destroyed—Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the Bethedenites in Telassar—saved by their gods? [13]Where is the king of Hamath? and the king of Arpad? and the kings of Lair, Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah?"

[14]Hezekiah received the letter from the messengers and read it. Hezekiah then went up to the House of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. [15]And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD: [16]"O LORD of Hosts, enthroned on the Cherubim! You alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth. You made the heavens and the earth. [17]O LORD, incline Your ear and hear, open Your eye and see. Hear all the words that Sennacherib has sent to blaspheme the living God! 21Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent this message to Hezekiah: "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you have prayed, concerning King Sennacherib of Assyria—22this is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning him:

Fair Maiden Zion despises you,
She mocks at you;
Fair Jerusalem shakes
Her head at you.
23Whom have you blasphemed and reviled?
Against whom made loud your voice
And haughtily raised your eyes?
Against the Holy One of Israel!
24Through your servants you have blasphemed my Lord.
Because you thought,
'Thanks to my vast chariotry,
It is I who have climbed the highest mountains,
To the remotest parts of the Lebanon,
And have cut down its loftiest cedars,
Its choicest cypresses,
And have reached its highest peak,

I have dried up with the soles of my feet

I designed it long ago,

36 [That night][j] an angel of the LORD went out and struck down one hundred and eighty-five thousand in the Assyrian camp, and the following morning they were all dead corpses.

37 So King Sennacherib of Assyria broke camp and retreated, and stayed in Nineveh. 38 While he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, he was struck down with the sword by his sons Adrammelech and Sarezer. They fled to the land of Ararat, and his son Esarhaddon succeeded him as king.

In those days Hezekiah fell dangerously ill. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz came and said to him, "Thus said the LORD: Set your affairs in order, for you are going to die; you will not get well." 2 Thereupon Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD. 3 "Please, O LORD," he said, "remember how I have walked before You sincerely and wholeheartedly, and have done what is pleasing to You." And Hezekiah wept profusely.

4 Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah: 5 "Go and tell Hezekiah: Thus said the LORD, the God of your father David: I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. I hereby add fifteen years to your life. 6 I will also rescue you and this city from the hands of the king of Assyria. I will protect this city. 7 And this is the sign for you from the LORD that the LORD will do the thing that He has promised: 8 I am going to make the shadow on the steps, which has descended on the dial[a] of Ahaz because of the sun,

[9]A poem by King Hezekiah of Judah when he recovered from the illness he had suffered:

[10][b]I had thought:
I must depart in the middle of my days;
I have been consigned to the gates of Sheol
For the rest of my years.
[11]I thought, I shall never see Yah,[c]
Yah in the land of the living,
Or ever behold men again
Among those who inhabit the earth.
[12]My dwelling is pulled up and removed from me
Like a tent of shepherds;
My life is rolled up like a web
And cut from the thrum.

[d]-Only from daybreak to nightfall
Was I kept whole,
[13]Then it was as though a lion
Were breaking all my bones;
I cried out until morning.
(Only from daybreak to nightfall
Was I kept whole.)-[d]
[14]I piped like a swift or a swallow,
I moaned like a dove,
As my eyes, all worn, looked to heaven:
"My Lord, I am in straits;
Be my surety!"

[15]What can I say? [d]-He promised me,-[d]
And He it is who has wrought it.
[d]-All my sleep had fled
Because of the bitterness of my soul.
[16]My Lord, for all that and despite it

d-d Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

My life-breath is revived;-[d]
You have restored me to health and revived me.
[17]Truly, it was for my own good
That I had such great bitterness:
You saved my life
From the pit of destruction,
For You have cast behind Your back
All my offenses.
[18]For it is not Sheol that praises You,
Not [the Land of] Death that extols You;
Nor do they who descend into the Pit
Hope for Your grace.
[19]The living, only the living
Can give thanks to You
As I do this day;
Fathers[e] relate to children
Your acts of grace:
[20]"[It has pleased] the LORD to deliver us,[e]
That is why we offer up music[f]
All the days of our lives
At the House of the LORD."

39

At that time, Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, the king of Babylon, sent [envoys with] a letter and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard about his illness and recovery. [2]Hezekiah was pleased by their coming, and he showed them his treasure house—the silver, the gold, the spices, and the fragrant oil—and all his armory, and everything that was to be found in his storehouses. There was nothing in his palace or in all his realm that Hezekiah did not show them.

f Neginothai is a poetic form of neginoth.

[3]Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah. "What," he demanded of him, "did those men say to you? Where have they come to you from?" "They have come to me," replied Hezekiah, "from a far country, from Babylon." [4]Next he asked, "What have they seen in your palace?" And Hezekiah replied, "They have seen everything there is in my palace. There was nothing in my storehouses that I did not show them."

[5]Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD of Hosts: [6]A time is coming when everything in your palace, which your ancestors have stored up to this day, will be carried off to Babylon; nothing will be left behind, said the LORD. [7]And some of your sons, your own issue, whom you will have fathered, will be taken to serve as eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon." [8]Hezekiah declared to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD that you have spoken is good." For he thought, "It means that [a]-safety is assured for-[a] my time."

a-a Connection of Heb. uncertain.
b Lit. "victory."
c Heb. "his."
d 'rḥ has this meaning in Old Aramaic.

I chose you, I have not rejected you—
10 Fear not, for I am with you,
Be not frightened, for I am your God;
I strengthen you and I help you,
I uphold you with My victorious right hand.
11 Shamed and chagrined shall be
All who contend with you;
They who strive with you
Shall become as naught and shall perish.
12 You may seek, but shall not find
Those who struggle with you;
Less than nothing shall be
The men who battle against you.
13 For I the LORD am your God,
Who grasped your right hand,
Who say to you: Have no fear;
I will be your help.
14 Fear not, O worm Jacob,
O [e-]men of[-e] Israel:
I will help you
—declares the LORD—
I your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.
15 I will make of you a threshing board,
A new thresher, with many spikes;
You shall thresh mountains to dust,
And make hills like chaff.
16 You shall winnow them
And the wind shall carry them off;
The whirlwind shall scatter them.
But you shall rejoice in the LORD,
And glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 The poor and the needy
Seek water,[f] and there is none;
Their tongue is parched with thirst.
I the LORD will respond to them,
I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them.
18 I will open up streams on the bare hills

f I.e., on the homeward march through the desert.

And fountains amid the valleys;
I will turn the desert into ponds,
The arid land into springs of water.
19 I will plant cedars in the wilderness,
Acacias and myrtles and oleasters;
I will set cypresses in the desert,
Box trees and elms as well—
20 That men may see and know,
Consider and comprehend
That the LORD's hand has done this,
That the Holy One of Israel has wrought it.

21 Submit your case, says the LORD;
Offer your pleas, says the King of Jacob.
22 Let them approach[g] and tell us what will happen.
Tell us what has occurred,[h]
And we will take note of it;
Or announce to us what will occur,
That we may know the outcome.
23 Foretell what is yet to happen,
That we may know that you are gods!
Do anything, good or bad,
That we may be awed and see.[i]
24 Why, you are less than nothing,
Your effect is less than nullity;
One who chooses you is an abomination.

25 I have roused him from the north, and he has come,
From the sunrise, one who invokes My name;
And he has trampled rulers like mud,
Like a potter treading clay.
26 Who foretold this from the start, that we may note it;
From aforetime, that we might say, "He is right"?
Not one foretold, not one announced;
No one has heard your utterance!

27j-The things once predicted to Zion—
Behold, here they are!-j
And again I send a herald to Jerusalem.
28But I look and there is not a man;
Not one of them can predict
Or can respond when I question him.
29See, they are all nothingness,
Their works are nullity,
Their statues are naught and nil.

42

This is My servant, whom I uphold,
My chosen one, in whom I delight.
I have put My spirit upon him,
He shall teach the true way to the nations.
2He shall not cry out or shout aloud,
Or make his voice heard in the streets.
3a-He shall not break even a bruised reed,
Or snuff out even a dim wick.-a
He shall bring forth the true way.
4He shall not grow dim or be bruised
Till he has established the true way on earth;
And the coastlands shall await his teaching.

5Thus said God the LORD,
Who created the heavens and stretched them out,
Who spread out the earth and what it brings forth,
Who gave breath to the people upon it
And life to those who walk thereon:
6I the LORD, in My grace, have summoned you,
And I have grasped you by the hand.
I created you, and appointed you

j-j Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
a-a Or "A bruised reed, he shall not be broken; / A dim wick, he shall not be snuffed out."
b-b Lit. "covenants of a people"; meaning of Heb. uncertain.
c-c See 49.6 and note.
d-d An idiom meaning "freeing the imprisoned"; cf. 61.1.

Rescuing prisoners from confinement,
From the dungeon those who sit in darkness.
[8]I am the LORD, that is My name;
I will not yield My glory to another,
Nor My renown to idols.
[9]See, the things once predicted have come,
And now I foretell new things,
Announce to you ere they sprout up.
[10]Sing to the LORD a new song,
His praise from the ends of the earth—
[e]-You who sail the sea and you creatures in it,
You coastlands-[e] and their inhabitants!
[11]Let the desert and its towns cry aloud,
The villages where Kedar dwells;
Let Sela's inhabitants shout,
Call out from the peaks of the mountains.
[12]Let them do honor to the LORD,
And tell His glory in the coastlands.

[13]The LORD goes forth like a warrior,
Like a fighter He whips up His rage.
He yells, He roars aloud,
He charges upon His enemies.
[14]"I have kept silent [f]-far too long,-[f]
Kept still and restrained Myself;
Now I will scream like a woman in labor,
I will pant and I will gasp.
[15]Hills and heights will I scorch,
Cause all their green to wither;
I will turn rivers into isles,[g]
And dry the marshes up.
[16]I will lead the blind
By a road they did not know,
And I will make them walk
By paths they never knew.
I will turn darkness before them to light,
Rough places into level ground.

[18]Listen, you who are deaf;
You blind ones, look up and see!
[19]Who is so blind as My servant,
So deaf as the messenger I send?
Who is so blind as the chosen[h] one,
So blind as the servant of the LORD?
[20]Seeing many things, [i-]he gives[-i] no heed;
With ears open, he hears nothing.
[21][j]The LORD desires His [servant's] vindication,
That he may magnify and glorify [His] Teaching.

[22]Yet it is a people plundered and despoiled:
All of them are trapped in holes,
Imprisoned in dungeons.
They are given over to plunder, with none to rescue them;
To despoilment, with none to say "Give back!"
[23]If only you would listen to this,
Attend and give heed from now on!
[24]Who was it gave Jacob over to despoilment
And Israel to plunderers?
Surely, the LORD against whom they[k] sinned
In whose ways they would not walk
And whose Teaching they would not obey.
[25]So He poured out wrath upon them,
His anger and the fury of war.
It blazed upon them all about, but they heeded not;
It burned among them, but they gave it no thought.

But now thus said the LORD—
Who created you, O Jacob,
Who formed you, O Israel:
Fear not, for I will redeem you;
I have singled you out by name,
You are Mine.
[2]When you pass through water,
I will be with you;
Through streams,
They shall not overwhelm you.
When you walk through fire,
You shall not be scorched;
Through flame,
It shall not burn you.
[3]For I the LORD am your God,
The Holy One of Israel, your Savior.
I give Egypt as a ransom for you,
Ethiopia and Saba in exchange for you.
[4]Because you are precious to Me,
And honored, and I love you,
I give men in exchange for you
And peoples in your stead.

[5]Fear not, for I am with you:
I will bring your folk from the East,
Will gather you out of the West;
[6]I will say to the North, "Give back!"
And to the South, "Do not withhold!
Bring My sons from afar,
And My daughters from the end of the earth—
[7]All who are linked to My name,
Whom I have created,
Formed, and made for My glory—
[8]Setting free that people,
Blind though it has eyes
And deaf though it has ears."

[9]All the nations assemble as one,

The peoples gather.
Who among them declared this,
Foretold to us the things that have happened?
Let them produce their witnesses and be vindicated,
That men, hearing them, may say, "It is true!"[a] [10]My witnesses are you
—declares the LORD—
My servant, whom I have chosen.
To the end that you[b] may take thought,
And believe in Me,
And understand that I am He:
Before Me no god was formed,
And after Me none shall exist—
[11]None but me, the LORD;
Beside Me, none can grant triumph.
[12]I alone foretold the triumph
And I brought it to pass;
I announced it,
And no strange god was among you.
So you are My witnesses
—declares the LORD—
And I am God.
[13]Ever since day was, I am He;
None can deliver from My hand.
When I act, who can reverse it?

[14]Thus said the LORD,
Your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
For your sake [c-]I send to Babylon;

c-c Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

And a path through mighty waters,
[17]Who destroyed[d] chariots and horses,
And all the mighty host—
They lay down to rise no more,
They were extinguished, quenched like a wick:
[18]Do not recall what happened of old,
Or ponder what happened of yore!
[19]I am about to do something new;
Even now it shall come to pass,
Suddenly you shall perceive it:
I will make a road through the wilderness
And rivers[e] in the desert.
[20]The wild beasts shall honor Me,
Jackals and ostriches,
For I provide water in the wilderness,
Rivers in the desert,
To give drink to My chosen people,
[21]The people I formed for Myself
That they might declare My praise.

[22]But you have not worshiped Me, O Jacob,
That you should be weary of Me, O Israel.
[23]You have not brought Me your sheep for burnt offerings,
Nor honored Me with your sacrifices.
I have not burdened you with meal offerings,
Nor wearied you about frankincense.
[24]You have not bought Me fragrant reed with money,
Nor sated Me with the fat of your sacrifices.
Instead, you have burdened Me with your sins,
You have wearied Me with your iniquities.
[25]It is I, I who—for My own sake[f]—
Wipe your transgressions away
And remember your sins no more.

But hear, now, O Jacob My servant,
Israel whom I have chosen!
[2]Thus said the LORD, your Maker,
Your Creator who has helped you since birth:
Fear not, My servant Jacob,
Jeshurun[a] whom I have chosen,
[3]Even as I pour water on thirsty soil,
And rain upon dry ground,
So will I pour My spirit on your offspring,
My blessing upon your posterity.

So let him foretell coming events to them.
[8]Do not be frightened, do not be shaken!
Have I not from of old predicted to you?
I foretold, and you are My witnesses.
Is there any god, then, but Me?
"There is no other rock; I know none!"

[9]The makers of idols
All work to no purpose;
And the things they treasure
Can do no good,
As they themselves can testify.
They neither look nor think,
And so they shall be shamed.
[10]Who would fashion a god
Or cast a statue
That can do no good?
[11]Lo, all its adherents shall be shamed;
They are craftsmen, are merely human.
Let them all assemble and stand up!
They shall be cowed, and they shall be shamed.

[12][e]The craftsman in iron, with his tools,
Works it[f] over charcoal
And fashions it by hammering,
Working with the strength of his arm.
Should he go hungry, his strength would ebb;
Should he drink no water, he would grow faint.

[13]The craftsman in wood measures with a line
And marks out a shape with a stylus;
He forms it with scraping tools,
Marking it out with a compass.
He gives it a human form,
The beauty of a man, to dwell in a shrine.
[14]For his use he cuts down cedars;
He chooses plane trees and oaks.

9. ו׳ נקוד על ה׳ מ׳ ה׳

He sets aside trees of the forest;
Or plants firs, and the rain makes them grow.
15All this serves man for fuel:
He takes some to warm himself,
And he builds a fire and bakes bread.
He also makes a god of it and worships it,
Fashions an idol and bows down to it!
16Part of it he burns in a fire:
On that part he roasts[g] meat,
He eats[g] the roast and is sated;
He also warms himself and cries, "Ah,
I am warm! I can feel[h] the heat!"
17Of the rest he makes a god—his own carving!
He bows down to it, worships it;
He prays to it and cries,
"Save me, for you are my god!"

18They have no wit or judgment:
Their eyes are besmeared, and they see not;
Their minds, and they cannot think.
19They do not give thought,
They lack the wit and judgment to say:
"Part of it I burned in a fire;
I also baked bread on the coals,
I roasted meat and ate it—
Should I make the rest an abhorrence?
Should I bow to a block of wood?"
20He pursues ashes![i]
A deluded mind has led him astray,
And he cannot save himself;
He never says to himself,
"The thing in my hand is a fraud!"
21Remember these things, O Jacob
For you, O Israel, are My servant:
I fashioned you, you are My servant—
O Israel, never forget Me.[j]

v. 14. ן' זעירא

22I wipe away your sins like a cloud,
Your transgressions like mist—
Come back to Me, for I redeem you.

23Shout, O heavens, for the LORD has acted;
Shout aloud, O depths of the earth!
Shout for joy, O mountains,
O forests with all your trees!
For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
Has glorified Himself through Israel.

24Thus said the LORD, your Redeemer,
Who formed you in the womb:
It is I, the LORD, who made everything,
Who alone stretched out the heavens
And unaided[k] spread out the earth;
25Who annul the omens of diviners,
And make fools of the augurs;
Who turn sages back
And make nonsense of their knowledge;
26But confirm the word of My[l] servant
And fulfill the prediction of My[l] messengers.
It is I who say of Jerusalem, "It shall be inhabited,"
And of the towns of Judah, "They shall be rebuilt;
And I will restore their ruined places."
27[I,] who said to the deep, "Be dry;
I will dry up your floods," 28Am the same who says of Cyrus, "He is My shepherd;[m]
He shall fulfill all My purposes!
He shall say of Jerusalem, 'She shall be rebuilt,'
And to the Temple: 'You shall be founded again.'"

45

Thus said the LORD to Cyrus, His anointed one—
Whose right hand [a]-He has-[a] grasped,
Treading down nations before him,
[b]-Ungirding the loins of kings,-[b]
Opening doors before him
And letting no gate stay shut:
[2]I will march before you
And level [c]-the hills that loom up;-[c]
I will shatter doors of bronze
And cut down iron bars.
[3]I will give you treasures concealed in the dark
And secret hoards—
So that you may know that it is I the LORD,
The God of Israel, who call you by name.
[4]For the sake of My servant Jacob,
Israel My chosen one,
I call you by name,
I hail you by title, though you have not known Me.
[5]I am the LORD and there is none else;
Beside Me, there is no god.
I engird you, though you have not known Me,
[6]So that they may know, from east to west,
That there is none but Me.
I am the LORD and there is none else,
[7]I form light and create darkness,
I make weal and create woe—
I the LORD do all these things.
[8]Pour down, O skies, from above!
Let the heavens rain down victory!
Let the earth open up and triumph sprout,
Yes, let vindication spring up:
I the LORD have created it.

[9]Shame on him who argues with his Maker,
Though naught but a potsherd of earth!

You shall not be shamed or disgraced
In all the ages to come!"

[18]For thus said the LORD,
The Creator of heaven who alone is God,
Who formed the earth and made it,
Who alone established it—
He did not create it a waste,
But formed it for habitation:
I am the LORD, and there is none else.
[19]I did not speak in secret,
At a site in a land of darkness;
I did not say to the stock of Jacob,
"Seek Me out in a wasteland"—
I the LORD, who foretell reliably,
Who announce what is true.

[20]Come, gather together,
Draw nigh, you remnants of the nations!
No foreknowledge had they who carry their wooden images
And pray to a god who cannot give success.
[21]Speak up, compare testimony—
Let them even take counsel together!
Who announced this aforetime,
Foretold it of old?
Was it not I the LORD?
Then there is no god beside Me,
No God exists beside Me
Who foretells truly and grants success.
[22]Turn to Me and gain success,
All the ends of earth!
For I am God, and there is none else.
[23]By Myself have I sworn,
From My mouth has issued truth,
A word that shall not turn back:

חָרָשֵׁי צִירִים׃
17 יִשְׂרָאֵל נוֹשַׁע בַּיהוָה
תְּשׁוּעַת עוֹלָמִים

To Me every knee shall bend,
Every tongue swear loyalty.
[24] [h]-They shall say: "Only through the LORD
Can I find victory and might.-[h]
When people [i]-trust in-[i] Him,
All their adversaries are put to shame.
[25] It is through the LORD that all the offspring of Israel
Have vindication and glory."

Bel[a] is bowed, Nebo[a] is cowering,
Their images are a burden for beasts and cattle;
The things you[b] would carry [in procession]
Are now piled as a burden
On tired [beasts].
[2] They cowered, they bowed as well,
They could not rescue the burden,[c]
And they themselves went into captivity.

[3] Listen to Me, O House of Jacob,
All that are left of the House of Israel,
Who have been carried since birth,
Supported since leaving the womb:
[4] Till you grow old, I will still be the same;
When you turn gray, it is I who will carry;
I was the Maker, and I will be the Bearer;
And I will carry and rescue [you].

[5] To whom can you compare Me
Or declare Me similar?
To whom can you liken Me,
So that we seem comparable?
[6] Those who squander gold from the purse
And weigh out silver on the balance,[d]

v. 24 סבירין ומטעין לשון רבים

They hire a metal worker to make it into a god,
To which they bow down and prostrate themselves.
[7]They must carry it on their backs and transport it;
When they put it down, it stands,
It does not budge from its place.
If they cry out to it, it does not answer;
It cannot save them from their distress.
[8]Keep this in mind, and *e-stand firm!-e*
Take this to heart, you sinners!
[9]Bear in mind what happened of old;
For I am God, and there is none else,
I am divine, and there is none like Me.
[10]I foretell the end from the beginning,
And from the start, things that had not occurred.
I say: My plan shall be fulfilled;
I will do all I have purposed.
[11]I summoned that swooping bird from the East;[f]
From a distant land, the man for My purpose.
I have spoken, so I will bring it to pass;
I have designed it, so I will complete it.
[12]Listen to Me, you *g-stubborn of heart,-g*
Who are far from victory:
[13]I am bringing My victory close;
It shall not be far,
And My triumph shall not be delayed.
I will grant triumph in Zion
To Israel, in whom I glory.

Strip off your train, bare your leg,
Wade through the rivers.

O Fair Chaldea;
Nevermore shall they call you
Mistress of Kingdoms.

6I was angry at My people,
I defiled My heritage;
I put them into your hands,
But you showed them no mercy.
Even upon the aged you made
Your yoke exceedingly heavy.
7You thought, "I shall always be
The mistress still."
You did not take these things to heart,
You gave no thought to the end of it.

8And now hear this, O pampered one—
Who dwell in security,
Who think to yourself,
"I am, and there is none but me;
I shall not become a widow
Or know loss of children"—
9These two things shall come upon you,
Suddenly, in one day:
Loss of children and widowhood
Shall come upon you in full measure,

b-b Meaning of Heb. uncertain. Emendation yields "bribe."
c-c Taking ʿaraṣ as a variant of ʿaṣar; cf. 2 Chron. 20.37.
d Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

And have issued from the waters[a] of Judah,
Who swear by the name of the LORD
And invoke the God of Israel—
Though not in truth and sincerity—
2 For you[b] are called after [c]the Holy City[c]
And you[b] do lean on the God of Israel,
Whose name is LORD of Hosts:

3 Long ago, I foretold things that happened,
From My mouth they issued, and I announced them;
Suddenly I acted, and they came to pass.
4 Because I know how stubborn you are (Your neck is like an iron sinew
And your forehead bronze),
5 Therefore I told you long beforehand,
Announced things to you ere they happened—
That you might not say, "My idol caused them,
My carved and molten images ordained them."
6 You have [d]heard all this; look, must you not acknowledge it?[d]
As of now, I announce to you new things,
Well-guarded secrets you did not know.
7 Only now are they created, and not of old;
[d]Before today[d] you had not heard them;
You cannot say, "I knew them already."
8 You had never heard, you had never known,
Your ears were not opened of old.

Though I know that you are treacherous,
That you were called a rebel from birth,
9 For the sake of My name I control My wrath;
To My own glory, [d]I am patient[d] with you,
And I will not destroy you.
10 See, I refine you, but not as silver;

c-c Emendation yields "the holy people."
d-d Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

I test you in the furnace of affliction.
[11]For My sake, My own sake, do I act—
Lest [My name][e] be dishonored!
I will not give My glory to another.

[12]Listen to Me, O Jacob,
Israel, whom I have called:
I am He—I am the first,
And I am the last as well.
[13]My own hand founded the earth,
My right hand spread out the skies.

I call unto them, let them stand up.
[14]Assemble, all of you, and listen!
Who among you[f] foretold these things:
[d-]"He whom the LORD loves
Shall work His will against Babylon,
And, with His might, against Chaldea"?[-d]
[15]I, I predicted, and I called him;
I have brought him and he shall succeed in his mission.
[16]Draw near to Me and hear this:
From the beginning, I did not speak in secret;
From the time anything existed, I was there.[g]

"And now the Lord GOD has sent me, [h-]endowed with His spirit."[-h]

The Holy One of Israel:
I the LORD am your God,
Instructing you for your own benefit,
Guiding you in the way you should go.
[18]If only you would heed My commands!
Then your prosperity would be like a river,
Your triumph like the waves of the sea.

He named me while I was in my mother's womb.	מִמְּעֵי אִמִּי הִזְכִּיר שְׁמִי׃
[2]He made my mouth like a sharpened blade,	2 וַיָּשֶׂם פִּי כְּחֶרֶב חַדָּה
He hid me in the shadow of His hand,	בְּצֵל יָדוֹ הֶחְבִּיאָנִי
And He made me like a polished arrow;	וַיְשִׂימֵנִי לְחֵץ בָּרוּר
He concealed me in His quiver.	בְּאַשְׁפָּתוֹ הִסְתִּירָנִי׃
[3]And He said to me, "You are My servant,	3 וַיֹּאמֶר לִי עַבְדִּי־אָתָּה
Israel in whom I glory."	יִשְׂרָאֵל אֲשֶׁר־בְּךָ אֶתְפָּאָר׃
[4]I thought, "I have labored in vain,	4 וַאֲנִי אָמַרְתִּי לְרִיק יָגַעְתִּי
I have spent my strength for empty breath."	לְתֹהוּ וְהֶבֶל כֹּחִי כִלֵּיתִי
But my case rested with the LORD,	אָכֵן מִשְׁפָּטִי אֶת־יְהוָה
My recompense was in the hands of my God.	וּפְעֻלָּתִי אֶת־אֱלֹהָי׃
[5]And now the LORD has resolved—	5 וְעַתָּה ׀ אָמַר יְהוָה
He who formed me in the womb to be His servant—	יֹצְרִי מִבֶּטֶן לְעֶבֶד לוֹ
To bring back Jacob to Himself,	לְשׁוֹבֵב יַעֲקֹב אֵלָיו
	וְיִשְׂרָאֵל לֹא לוֹ יֵאָסֵף

That Israel may be restored to Him.
And I have been honored in the sight of the Lord,
My God has been my strength.
[6]For He has said:
"It is too little that you should be My servant
In that I raise up the tribes of Jacob
And restore the survivors of Israel:
I will also make you a light[a] of nations,
That My salvation may reach the ends of the earth."

[7]Thus said the Lord,
The Redeemer of Israel, his Holy One,
[b-]To the despised one,
To the abhorred nations,[-b]
To the slave of rulers:
Kings shall see and stand up;
Nobles, and they shall prostrate themselves—
To the honor of the Lord, who is faithful,
To the Holy One of Israel who chose you.
[8]Thus said the Lord:
In an hour of favor I answer you,
And on a day of salvation I help you—
I created you and appointed you [c-]a covenant people[-c]—
Restoring the land,
Allotting anew the desolate holdings,
[9]Saying to the prisoners, "Go free,"
To those who are in darkness, "Show yourselves."
They shall pasture along the roads,
On every bare height shall be their pasture.
[10]They shall not hunger or thirst,
Hot wind and sun shall not strike them;
For He who loves them will lead them,
He will guide them to springs of water.
[11]I will make all My mountains a road,

These from the north and the west,

e-e Lit. "of your bereavement."

Exiled and disdained[f]—
By whom, then, were these reared?
I was left all alone—
And where have these been?"

22 Thus said the Lord God:
I will raise My hand to nations
And lift up My ensign to peoples;
And they shall bring your sons in their bosoms,
And carry your daughters on their backs.
23 Kings shall tend your children,
Their queens shall serve you as nurses.
They shall bow to you, face to the ground,
And lick the dust of your feet.
And you shall know that I am the Lord—
Those who trust in Me shall not be shamed.

24 Can spoil be taken from a warrior,
Or captives retrieved from a victor?
25 Yet thus said the Lord:
Captives shall be taken from a warrior
And spoil shall be retrieved from a tyrant;
For I will contend with your adversaries,
And I will deliver your children.
26 I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh,
They shall be drunk with their own blood as with wine.
And all mankind shall know
That I the Lord am your Savior,
The Mighty One of Jacob, your Redeemer.

f Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

a The mother (the country) has not been formally divorced, nor the children (the people) sold because of poverty. Therefore there is no obstacle to their restoration.

To whom I sold you off?
You were only sold off for your sins,
And your mother dismissed for your crimes.
[2]Why, when I came, was no one there,
Why, when I called, would none respond?
Is my arm, then, too short to rescue,
Have I not the power to save?
With a mere rebuke I dry up the sea,
And turn rivers into desert.
Their fish stink from lack of water;
They lie dead [b]-of thirst.-[b]
[3]I clothe the skies in blackness
And make their raiment sackcloth.

[4][c]-The Lord GOD gave me a skilled tongue,
To know how to speak timely words to the weary.-[c]
Morning by morning, He rouses,
He rouses my ear
To give heed like disciples.
[5]The Lord GOD opened my ears,
And I did not disobey,
I did not run away.
[6]I offered my back to the floggers,
And my cheeks to those who tore out my hair.
I did not hide my face
From insult and spittle.
[7]But the Lord GOD will help me—
Therefore I feel no disgrace;
Therefore I have set my face like flint,
And I know I shall not be shamed.
[8]My Vindicator is at hand—
Who dares contend with me?
Let us stand up together![d]
Who would be my opponent?
Let him approach me!
[9]Lo, the Lord GOD will help me—
Who can get a verdict against me?

In a moment I will bring it:
[5]The triumph I grant is near,
The success I give has gone forth.
My arms shall [c]provide for[-c] the peoples;
The coastlands shall trust in Me,
They shall look to My arm.

[6]Raise your eyes to the heavens,
And look upon the earth beneath:
Though the heavens should melt away like smoke,
And the earth wear out like a garment,
And its inhabitants die out [d]as well,[-d]
My victory shall stand forever,
My triumph shall remain unbroken.

[7]Listen to Me, you who care for the right,
O people who lay My instruction to heart!
Fear not the insults of men,
And be not dismayed at their jeers;
[8]For the moth shall eat them up like a garment,
The worm[e] shall eat them up like wool.
But My triumph shall endure forever,
My salvation through all the ages.

[9]Awake, awake, clothe yourself with splendor.
O arm of the LORD!
Awake as in days of old,
As in former ages!
It was you that hacked Rahab[f] in pieces,
That pierced the Dragon.[f]
[10]It was you that dried up the Sea,
The waters of the great deep;
That made the abysses of the Sea
A road the redeemed might walk.
[11]So let the ransomed of the LORD return,

Of all the sons she reared.[j]
19These two things have befallen you:
Wrack and ruin—who can console you?
Famine and sword—[k]how shall I[k] comfort you?
20Your sons lie in a swoon
At the corner of every street—
Like an antelope caught in a net—
Drunk with the wrath of the LORD,
With the rebuke of your God.
21Therefore,
Listen to this, unhappy one,
Who are drunk, but not with wine!
22Thus said the LORD, your Lord,
Your God who champions His people:
Herewith I take from your hand
The cup of reeling,[l]
The bowl, the cup of My wrath;
You shall never drink it again.
23I will put it in the hands of your tormentors,
Who have commanded you,
"Get down, that we may walk over you"—
So that you made your back like the ground,
Like a street for passersby.

52

Awake, awake, O Zion!
Clothe yourself in splendor;
Put on your robes of majesty,
Jerusalem, holy city!
For the uncircumcised and the unclean
Shall never enter you again.
2Arise, shake off the dust,
Sit [on your throne], Jerusalem!
Loose the bonds from your neck,
O captive one, Fair Zion!

3For thus said the LORD:

3 כִּי־כֹה אָמַר יְהוָה

j To guide a drunken parent home was a recognized filial duty in ancient Canaan and Egypt.
k-k Several ancient versions render "who can."
l A figure of speech for a dire fate; cf. Jer. 25.15 ff.

You were sold for no price,
And shall be redeemed without money.
[4]For thus said the Lord GOD:
Of old, My people went down
To Egypt to sojourn there;
But Assyria has robbed them,
Giving nothing in return.[a]
[5]What therefore do I gain here?
—declares the LORD—
For My people has been carried off for nothing,
Their mockers howl
—declares the LORD—
And constantly, unceasingly,
My name is reviled.
[6]Assuredly, My people shall learn My name,
Assuredly [they shall learn] on that day
That I, the One who promised,
Am now at hand.

[7]How welcome on the mountain
Are the footsteps of the herald
Announcing happiness,
Heralding good fortune,
Announcing victory,
Telling Zion, "Your God is King!"
[8]Hark!
Your watchmen raise their voices,
As one they shout for joy;
For every eye shall behold
The LORD's return to Zion.
[9]Raise a shout together,
O ruins of Jerusalem!
For the LORD will comfort His people,
Will redeem Jerusalem.
[10]The LORD will bare His holy arm
In the sight of all the nations,
And the very ends of earth shall see
The victory of our God.

As you depart from there;
Keep pure, as you go forth from there,

Smitten and afflicted by God;
5But he was wounded because of our sins,
Crushed because of our iniquities.
He bore the chastisement that made us whole,
And by his bruises we were healed.
6We all went astray like sheep,
Each going his own way;
And the LORD visited upon him
The guilt of all of us."

7He was maltreated, yet he was submissive,
He did not open his mouth;
Like a sheep being led to slaughter,
Like a ewe, dumb before those who shear her,
He did not open his mouth.
8By oppressive judgment he was taken away,
b-Who could describe his abode?-b
For he was cut off from the land of the living

Shout, O barren one,
You who bore no child!
Shout aloud for joy,
You who did not travail!
For the children of the wife forlorn
Shall outnumber those of the espoused
—said the LORD.

[2]Enlarge the site of your tent,
[a]Extend the size of your dwelling,[a]
Do not stint!
Lengthen the ropes, and drive the pegs firm.
[3]For you shall spread out to the right and the left;
Your offspring shall dispossess nations[b]
And shall people the desolate towns.

[4]Fear not, you shall not be shamed;
Do not cringe, you shall not be disgraced.
For you shall forget
The reproach of your youth,
And remember no more
The shame of your widowhood.
[5]For He who made you will espouse you—
His name is "LORD of Hosts."
The Holy One of Israel will redeem you—
He is called "God of all the Earth."

[6]The LORD has called you back
As a wife forlorn and forsaken.

v. 3 מלא ו׳

Can one cast off the wife of his youth?
—said your God.
[7]For a little while I forsook you,
But with vast love I will bring you back.
[8]In slight anger, for a moment,
I hid My face from you;
But with kindness everlasting
I will take you back in love
—said the LORD your Redeemer.
[9]For this to Me is like the waters[c] of Noah:
As I swore that the waters of Noah
Nevermore would flood the earth,
So I swear that I will not
Be angry with you or rebuke you.
[10]For the mountains may move
And the hills be shaken,
But my loyalty shall never move from you,
Nor My covenant of friendship be shaken
—said the LORD, who takes you back in love.

[11]Unhappy, storm-tossed one, uncomforted!
I will lay carbuncles[d] as your building stones
And make your foundations of sapphires.
[12]I will make your battlements of rubies,
Your gates of precious stones,
The whole encircling wall of gems.
[13]And all your children shall be disciples of the LORD,
And great shall be the happiness of your children;
[14]You shall be established through righteousness.
You shall be safe from oppression,
And shall have no fear;
From ruin, and it shall not come near you.
[15][e]Surely no harm can be done
Without My consent:
Whoever would harm you
Shall fall because of you.

For the sake of the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel who has glorified you.

6Seek the LORD while He can be found,
Call to Him while He is near.
7Let the wicked give up his ways,
The sinful man his plans;
Let him turn back to the LORD,
And He will pardon him;
To our God,
For He freely forgives.
8For My plans are not your plans,
Nor are My ways[c] your ways[c]

It does not come back to Me unfulfilled,
But performs what I purpose,
Achieves what I sent it to do.

Before you, mount and hill shall shout aloud,
And all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

Instead of the nettle, a myrtle shall rise.
These shall stand as a testimony to the LORD,
As an everlasting sign that shall not perish.

e I.e., leave the Babylonian exile.

For soon My salvation shall come,
And My deliverance be revealed.

[2]Happy is the man who does this,
The man who holds fast to it:
Who keeps the sabbath and does not profane it,
And stays his hand from doing any evil.

[3]Let not the foreigner say,
Who has attached himself to the LORD,
"The LORD will keep me apart from His people";
And let not the eunuch say,
"I am a withered tree."
[4]For thus said the LORD:
"As for the eunuchs who keep My sabbaths,
Who have chosen what I desire
And hold fast to My covenant—
[5]I will give them, in My House
And within My walls,
A monument and a name
Better than sons or daughters.
I will give them an everlasting name
Which shall not perish.
[6]As for the foreigners
Who attach themselves to the LORD,
To minister to Him,
And to love the name of the LORD,
To be His servants—
All who keep the sabbath and do not profane it,
And who hold fast to My covenant—
[7]I will bring them to My sacred mount
And let them rejoice in My house of prayer.
Their burnt offerings and sacrifices
Shall be welcome on My altar;
For My House shall be called
A house of prayer for all peoples."

You offspring of an adulterer and a harlot![b]
4With whom do you act so familiarly?
At whom do you open your mouth
And stick out your tongue?
Why, you are children of iniquity,
Offspring of treachery—
5You who inflame[c] yourselves
Among the terebinths,
Under every verdant tree;
Who slaughter children in the wadis,
Among[d] the clefts of the rocks.
6[e]-With such[f] are your share and portion,-[e]
They, they are your allotment;
To them you have poured out libations,
Presented offerings.
Should I relent in the face of this?

7On a high and lofty hill
You have set your couch;
There, too, you have gone up
To perform sacrifices.
8Behind the door and doorpost
You have directed your thoughts;
[e]-Abandoning Me, you have gone up
On the couch you made so wide.
You have made a covenant with them,[f]
You have loved bedding with them;[g]
You have chosen lust.[h]
9You have approached-[e] the king[i] with oil,
You have provided many perfumes.
And you have sent your envoys afar,
Even down to the netherworld.[j]
10Though wearied by much travel,
You never said, "I give up!"
You found gratification for your lust,

[14] [The LORD] says:
Build up, build up a highway!
Clear a road!
Remove all obstacles
From the road of My people!
[15] For thus said He who high aloft
Forever dwells, whose name is holy:
I dwell on high, in holiness;
Yet with the contrite and the lowly in spirit—
Reviving the spirits of the lowly,
Reviving the hearts of the contrite.
[16] For I will not always contend,
I will not be angry forever:
Nay, I [e]-who make spirits flag,-[e]
Also create the breath of life.
[17] For their[o] sinful greed I was angry;
I struck them and turned away in My wrath.

When we starved our bodies, did You pay no heed?"
Because on your fast day
You see to your business
And oppress all your laborers!
[4]Because you fast in strife and contention,
And you strike with a wicked fist!
Your fasting today is not such
As to make your voice heard on high.
[5]Is such the fast I desire,
A day for men to starve their bodies?

Is it bowing the head like a bulrush
And lying in sackcloth and ashes?
Do you call that a fast,
A day when the LORD is favorable?
6No, this is the fast I desire:
To unlock fetters of wickedness,
And untie the cords of [a]the yoke[a]
To let the oppressed go free;
To break off every yoke.
7It is to share your bread with the hungry,
And to take the wretched poor into your home;
When you see the naked, to clothe him,
And not to ignore your own kin.

8Then shall your light burst through like the dawn
And your healing spring up quickly;
Your Vindicator shall march before you,
The Presence of the LORD shall be your rear guard.
9Then, when you call, the LORD will answer;
When you cry, He will say: Here I am.
If you banish the yoke[a] from your midst,
[b]The menacing hand,[b] and evil speech,
10And you offer your compassion[c] to the hungry
And satisfy the famished creature—
Then shall your light shine in darkness,
And your gloom shall be like noonday.
11The LORD will guide you always;
He will slake your thirst in [d]parched places[d]
And give strength to your bones.
You shall be like a watered garden,
Like a spring whose waters do not fail.
12Men from your midst shall rebuild ancient ruins,
You shall restore foundations laid long ago.

No, the LORD's arm is not too short to save,
Or His ear too dull to hear;
[2]But your iniquities have been a barrier
Between you and your God,
Your sins have made Him turn His face away
And refuse to hear you.
[3]For your hands are defiled with crime[a]
And your fingers with iniquity.
Your lips speak falsehood,
Your tongue utters treachery.

Or pleads honestly;
They rely on emptiness and speak falsehood,
Conceiving wrong and begetting evil.

a Or "blood."

v. 2 מלא ו׳

Their deeds are deeds of mischief,
Their hands commit lawless acts,
7Their feet run after evil,
They hasten to shed the blood of the innocent.
Their plans are plans of mischief,
Destructiveness and injury are on their roads.
8They do not care for the way of integrity,
There is no justice on their paths.
They make their courses crooked,
No one who walks in them cares for integrity.

9"That is why redress is far from us,
And vindication does not reach us.
We hope for light, and lo! there is darkness;
For a gleam, and we must walk in gloom.
10We grope, like blind men along a wall;
Like those without eyes we grope.
We stumble at noon, as if in darkness;
*b-Among the sturdy, we are-b* like the dead.
11We all growl like bears
And moan like doves.
We hope for redress, and there is none;
For victory, and it is far from us.
12For our many sins are before You,
Our guilt testifies against us.
We are aware of our sins,
And we know well our iniquities:
13Rebellion, faithlessness to the LORD,
And turning away from our God,
Planning fraud and treachery,
Conceiving lies and uttering them with the throat.[c]
14And so redress is turned back
And vindication stays afar,
Because honesty stumbles in the public square
And uprightness cannot enter.
15Honesty has been lacking,
He who turns away from evil is despoiled."

v. 12. מלא ו׳

The LORD saw and was displeased
That there was no redress.
[16]He saw that there was no man,
He gazed long, but no one intervened.
Then His own arm won Him triumph,
His victorious right hand[d] supported Him.
[17]He donned victory like a coat of mail,
With a helmet of triumph on His head;
He clothed Himself with garments of retribution,
Wrapped himself in zeal as in a robe.
[18][e]According to their deserts,
So shall He repay[e] fury to His foes;
He shall make requital to His enemies,
Requital to the distant lands.
[19]From the west, they shall revere[f] the name of the LORD,
And from the east, His Presence.
For He shall come like a hemmed-in stream
Which the wind of the LORD drives on;
[20]He shall come as redeemer to Zion,
To those in Jacob who turn back from sin
—declares the LORD.

וַיַּרְא יְהוָה וַיֵּרַע בְּעֵינָיו

But upon you the LORD will shine,
And His Presence be seen over you.
[3]And nations shall walk by your light,
Kings, by your shining radiance.

[4]Raise your eyes and look about:
They have all gathered and come to you.
Your sons shall be brought from afar,
Your daughters like babes on shoulders.
[5]As you behold, you will glow;
Your heart will throb and thrill—
For the wealth of the sea[a] shall pass on to you,
The riches of nations shall flow to you.
[6]Dust clouds of camels shall cover you,
Dromedaries of Midian and Ephah.
They all shall come from Sheba;
They shall bear gold and frankincense,
And shall herald the glories of the LORD.
[7]All the flocks of Kedar shall be assembled for you,
The rams of Nebaioth shall serve your needs;
They shall be welcome offerings on My altar,
And I will add glory to My glorious House.

[8]Who are these that float like a cloud,
Like doves to their cotes?
[9][b-]Behold, the coastlands await me,[-b]
With [c-]ships of Tarshish[-c] in the lead,
To bring your sons from afar,
And their[d] silver and gold as well—
For the name of the LORD your God,
For the Holy One of Israel, who has glorified you.
[10]Aliens shall rebuild your walls,
Their kings shall wait upon you—
For in anger I struck you down,
But in favor I take you back.
[11]Your gates shall always stay open—

c-c See note at 2.16.
d I.e., of the people of the coastlands.

Day and night they shall never be shut—
To let in the wealth of the nations,
With their kings in procession.

[12]For the nation or the kingdom
That does not serve you shall perish;
Such nations shall be destroyed.

[13]The majesty of Lebanon shall come to you—
Cypress and pine and box—
To adorn the site of My Sanctuary,
To glorify the place where My feet rest.

[14]Bowing before you, shall come
The children of those who tormented you;
Prostrate at the soles of your feet
Shall be all those who reviled you;
And you shall be called
"City of the Lord,
Zion of the Holy One of Israel."
[15]Whereas you have been forsaken,
Rejected, with none passing through,
I will make you a pride everlasting,
A joy for age after age.
[16]You shall suck the milk of the nations,
Suckle at royal breasts.[e]
And you shall know
That I the Lord am your Savior,
I, The Mighty One of Jacob, am your Redeemer.

הַמַּזְכִּרִים אֶת־יְהוָה
אַל־דֳּמִי לָכֶם׃

a-a Change of vocalization yields "He who rebuilds you."
b I.e., the watchmen just mentioned.

[7]And give no rest to Him,
Until He establish Jerusalem
And make her renowned on earth.

[8]The LORD has sworn by His right hand,
By His mighty arm:
Nevermore will I give your new grain
To your enemies for food,
Nor shall foreigners drink the new wine
For which you have labored.
[9]But those who harvest it shall eat it
And give praise to the LORD;
And those who gather it shall drink it
In My sacred courts.
[10]Pass through, pass through the gates!
Clear the road for the people;
Build up, build up the highway,
Remove the rocks!
Raise an ensign over the peoples!
[11]See, the LORD has proclaimed
To the end of the earth:
Announce to Fair Zion,
Your Deliverer is coming!
See, his reward is with Him,
His recompense before Him.[c]
[12]And they shall be called, "The Holy People,
The Redeemed of the LORD,"
And you shall be called, "Sought Out,
A City Not Forsaken."

63

Who is this coming from Edom,
In crimsoned garments from Bozrah—
Who is this, majestic in attire,
[a]Pressing forward[a] in His great might?
"It is I, who contend victoriously, Powerful to [b]give triumph."[b] a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain; emendation yields "striding."

b-b Change of vocalization yields "Who contest triumphantly"; cf. 19.20.

[2]Why is Your clothing so red,
Your garments like his who treads grapes?[c]
[3]"I trod out a vintage alone;
[d]Of the peoples[d] no man was with Me.
I trod them down in My anger,
Trampled them in My rage;
Their life-blood[e] bespattered My garments,
And all My clothing was stained.
[4]For I had planned a day of vengeance,
And My year of redemption arrived.
[5]Then I looked, but there was none to help;
I stared, but there was none to aid—
So My own arm wrought the triumph,
And [f]My own rage[f] was My aid.
[6]I trampled peoples in My anger,
[g]I made them drunk with[g] My rage,
And I hurled their glory to the ground."

[7]I will recount the kind acts of the LORD,
The praises of the LORD—
For all that the LORD has wrought for us,
The vast bounty to the House of Israel
That He bestowed upon them
According to His mercy and His great kindness.
[8]He thought: Surely they are My people,
Children who will not play false.
[h]So He was their Deliverer.
[9]In all their troubles He was troubled,
And the angel of His Presence delivered them.[h]
In His love and pity
He Himself redeemed them,
Raised them, and exalted them
All the days of old.

10But they rebelled, and grieved
His holy spirit;
Then He became their enemy,
And Himself made war against them.
11Then they[i] remembered the ancient days,
[j]Him, who pulled His people[j] out [of the water]:
"Where is He who brought them up from the Sea
Along with the shepherd[k] of His flock?
Where is He who put
In their midst His holy spirit,
12Who made His glorious arm
March at the right hand of Moses,
Who divided the waters before them
To make Himself a name for all time,
13Who led them through the deeps
So that they did not stumble—
As a horse in a desert,
14Like a beast descending to the plain?"
'Twas the spirit of the LORD [l]gave them rest;[l]
Thus did You shepherd Your people
To win for Yourself a glorious name.

15Look down from heaven and see,
From Your holy and glorious height!
Where is Your zeal, Your power?
Your yearning and Your love
Are being withheld from us![m]
16Surely You are our Father:
Though Abraham regard us not,
And Israel recognize us not,
You, O LORD, are our Father;
From of old, Your name is "Our Redeemer."
17Why, LORD, do You make us stray from Your ways,
And turn our hearts away from revering You?

Relent for the sake of Your servants,
The tribes that are Your very own!
18Our foes have trampled Your Sanctuary,
Which Your holy people [n]-possessed but a little while.-[n]
19We have become as a people You never ruled,
To which Your name was never attached.

If You would but tear open the heavens and come down,
So that mountains would quake before You—

64

[a]As when fire kindles brushwood,
And fire makes water boil—
To make Your name known to Your adversaries
So that nations will tremble at Your Presence, 2When You did wonders we dared not hope for,
You came down
And mountains quaked before You.
3Such things had never been heard or noted.
No eye has seen [them], O God, but You,
Who act for those who trust in You.[b]
4Yet you have struck him who would gladly do justice,
And remember You in Your ways.
It is because You are angry that we have sinned;
[c]-We have been steeped in them from of old,
And can we be saved?-[c]
5We have all become like an unclean thing,
And all our virtues like a filthy rag.
We are all withering like leaves,
And our iniquities, like a wind, carry us off.
6Yet no one invokes Your name,

I said, "Here I am, here I am,"
To a nation that did not invoke My name.
[2]I constantly spread out My hands
To a disloyal people,
Who walk the way that is not good,
Following their own designs;
[3]The people who provoke My anger,
Who continually, to My very face,
Sacrifice in gardens and burn incense on tiles;
[4]Who sit inside tombs
And pass the night in secret places;
Who eat the flesh of swine,
With broth of unclean things in their bowls;

Like fire blazing all day long.
[6]See, this is recorded before Me;
I will not stand idly by, but will repay,
Deliver [c-]their[d] sins[-c] into their bosom,
[7]And the sins of their fathers as well
—said the LORD—
For they made offerings upon the mountains
And affronted Me upon the hills.
I will count out their recompense in full,[e]
Into their bosoms.
[8]Thus said the LORD:
As, when new wine is present in the cluster,
One says, "Don't destroy it; there's good in it,"
So will I do for the sake of My servants,
And not destroy everything.
[9]I will bring forth offspring from Jacob,
From Judah heirs to My mountains;
My chosen ones shall take possession,
My servants shall dwell thereon.
[10]Sharon[f] shall become a pasture for flocks,
And the Valley of Achor a place for cattle to lie down,
For My people who seek Me.

[11]But as for you who forsake the LORD,
Who ignore My holy mountain,
Who set a table for Luck[g]
And fill a mixing bowl for Destiny:[g]
[12]I will destine you for the sword,
You will all kneel down, to be slaughtered—

Because, when I called, you did not answer,
When I spoke, you would not listen.
You did what I hold evil,
And chose what I do not want.

[13]Assuredly, thus said the Lord God:
My servants shall eat, and you shall hunger;
My servants shall drink, and you shall thirst;
My servants shall rejoice, and you shall be shamed;
[14]My servants shall shout in gladness,
And you shall cry out in anguish,
Howling in heartbreak.
[15]You shall leave behind a name
By which My chosen ones shall curse:
"So may the Lord God slay you!"
But His servants shall be given a [h]-different name.-[h]
[16]For whoever blesses himself in the land
Shall bless himself by the true God;
And whoever swears in the land
Shall swear by the true God.
The former troubles shall be forgotten,
Shall be hidden from My eyes.

[17]For behold! I am creating
A new heaven and a new earth;
The former things shall not be remembered,
They shall never come to mind.
[18]Be glad, then, and rejoice forever
In what I am creating.
For I shall create Jerusalem as a joy,
And her people as a delight;
[19]And I will rejoice in Jerusalem
And delight in her people.
Never again shall be heard there
The sounds of weeping and wailing.
[20]No more shall there be an infant or graybeard

Who does not live out his days.
He who dies at a hundred years
Shall be reckoned a youth,
And he who fails to reach a hundred
Shall be reckoned accursed.
21 They shall build houses and dwell in them,
They shall plant vineyards and enjoy their fruit.
22 They shall not build for others to dwell in,
Or plant for others to enjoy.

While they are still speaking, I will respond.
25 The wolf and the lamb shall graze together,
And the lion shall eat straw like the ox,
And the serpent's food shall be earth.
In all My sacred mount[k]
Nothing evil or vile shall be done
—said the LORD.

66

Thus said the LORD:
The heaven is My throne
And the earth is My footstool:
Where could you build a house for Me,
What place could serve as My abode?
2 All this was made by My hand,
And thus it all came into being
—declares the LORD.
Yet to such a one I look:

To the poor and brokenhearted,
Who is concerned about My word.

[3][a]As for those who slaughter oxen and slay humans,
Who sacrifice sheep and immolate[b] dogs,
Who present as oblation the blood of swine,
Who offer[c] incense and worship false gods—
Just as they have chosen their ways
And take pleasure in their abominations,
[4]So will I choose to mock them,
To bring on them the very thing they dread.
For I called and none responded,
I spoke and none paid heed.
They did what I deem evil
And chose what I do not want.

[5]Hear the word of the LORD,
You who are concerned about His word!
Your kinsmen who hate you,
Who spurn you because of Me,[d] are saying,
"Let the LORD manifest His Presence,
So that we may look upon your joy."
But theirs shall be the shame.
[6]Hark, tumult from the city,
Thunder from the Temple!
It is the thunder of the LORD
As He deals retribution to His foes.

[7]Before she labored, she was delivered;
Before her pangs came, she bore a son.
[8]Who ever heard the like?
Who ever witnessed such events?
Can a land pass through travail
In a single day?
Or is a nation born
All at once?

Shall I who cause birth shut the womb?

10Rejoice with Jerusalem and be glad for her,
All you who love her!
Join in her jubilation,
All you who mourned over her—

Consolation to the full,
That you may draw from her bosom[e]
Glory to your delight.

12For thus said the LORD:
I will extend to her
Prosperity like a stream,
The wealth of nations
Like a wadi in flood;
And you shall drink of it.
You shall be carried on shoulders
And dandled upon knees.
13As a mother comforts her son
So I will comfort you;
You shall find comfort in Jerusalem.
14You shall see and your heart shall rejoice,
Your limbs shall flourish like grass.
The power of the LORD shall be revealed
In behalf of His servants;
But He shall rage against His foes.

15See, the LORD is coming with fire—
His chariots are like a whirlwind—
To vent His anger in fury,
His rebuke in flaming fire.
16For with fire will the LORD contend,

With His sword, against all flesh;
And many shall be the slain of the LORD.

17 Those who sanctify and purify themselves to enter the groves, f-imitating one in the center,-f eating the flesh of the swine, the reptile, and the mouse, shall one and all come to an end—declares the LORD. 18 *g*For I [know] their deeds and purposes.

ירמיהו

JEREMIAH

1 The words of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, one of the priests at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. 2The word of the LORD came to him in the days of King Josiah son of Amon of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign, 3and throughout the days of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah, and until the end of the eleventh year of King Zedekiah son of Josiah of Judah, when Jerusalem went into exile in the fifth month.

4The word of the LORD came to me:

5Before I created you in the womb, I selected you;
Before you were born, I consecrated you;
I appointed you a prophet concerning the nations.

6I replied:
Ah, Lord GOD!
I don't know how to speak,
For I am still a boy.
7And the LORD said to me:
Do not say, "I am still a boy,"
But go wherever I send you
And speak whatever I command you.
8Have no fear of them,
For I am with you to deliver you
—declares the LORD.

9The LORD put out His hand and touched my mouth, and the LORD said to me: Herewith I put My words into your mouth.

א דִּבְרֵי יִרְמְיָהוּ בֶּן־חִלְקִיָּהוּ מִן־הַכֹּהֲנִים אֲשֶׁר בַּעֲנָתוֹת בְּאֶרֶץ בִּנְיָמִן׃ 2 אֲשֶׁר הָיָה דְבַר־יְהוָה אֵלָיו בִּימֵי יֹאשִׁיָּהוּ בֶן־אָמוֹן מֶלֶךְ יְהוּדָה בִּשְׁלֹשׁ־עֶשְׂרֵה שָׁנָה לְמָלְכוֹ׃ 3 וַיְהִי בִּימֵי יְהוֹיָקִים בֶּן־יֹאשִׁיָּהוּ מֶלֶךְ יְהוּדָה עַד־תֹּם עַשְׁתֵּי עֶשְׂרֵה שָׁנָה לְצִדְקִיָּהוּ בֶן־יֹאשִׁיָּהוּ מֶלֶךְ יְהוּדָה עַד־גְּלוֹת יְרוּשָׁלִַם בַּחֹדֶשׁ הַחֲמִישִׁי׃ ס

4 וַיְהִי דְבַר־יְהוָה אֵלַי לֵאמֹר׃

5 בְּטֶרֶם אצורך אֶצָּרְךָ בַבֶּטֶן יְדַעְתִּיךָ
וּבְטֶרֶם תֵּצֵא מֵרֶחֶם הִקְדַּשְׁתִּיךָ

6 וָאֹמַר
אֲהָהּ אֲדֹנָי יְהוִה
הִנֵּה לֹא־יָדַעְתִּי דַּבֵּר

7 וַיֹּאמֶר יְהוָה אֵלַי
אַל־תֹּאמַר נַעַר אָנֹכִי
כִּי עַל־כָּל־אֲשֶׁר אֶשְׁלָחֲךָ תֵּלֵךְ
וְאֵת כָּל־אֲשֶׁר אֲצַוְּךָ תְּדַבֵּר׃
8 אַל־תִּירָא מִפְּנֵיהֶם
כִּי־אִתְּךָ אֲנִי לְהַצִּלֶךָ
נְאֻם־יְהוָה׃

9 וַיִּשְׁלַח יְהוָה אֶת־יָדוֹ וַיַּגַּע עַל־פִּי וַיֹּאמֶר יְהוָה אֵלַי הִנֵּה נָתַתִּי דְבָרַי בְּפִיךָ׃

[10]See, I appoint you this day
Over nations and kingdoms:
To uproot and to pull down,
To destroy and to overthrow,
To build and to plant.

[11]The word of the LORD came to me: What do you see, Jeremiah? I replied: I see a branch of an almond tree.[a]
[12]The LORD said to me:
You have seen right,
For I am watchful[b] to bring My word to pass.

[13]And the word of the LORD came to me a second time: What do you see? I replied:
I see a steaming pot,
[c]Tipped away from the north.[c]
[14]And the LORD said to me:
From the north shall disaster break loose
Upon all the inhabitants of the land!
[15]For I am summoning all the peoples
Of the kingdoms of the north
—declares the LORD.
They shall come, and shall each set up a throne
Before the gates of Jerusalem,
Against its walls roundabout,
And against all the towns of Judah.
[16]And I will argue My case against them[d]
For all their wickedness:
They have forsaken Me
And sacrificed to other gods
And worshiped the works of their hands.

[17]So you, gird up your loins,
Arise and speak to them
All that I command you.
Do not break down before them, e Lit. "the people of the land."

A land no man had traversed,
Where no human being had dwelt?"
[7]I brought you to this country of farm land
To enjoy its fruit and its bounty;
But you came and defiled My land,
You made My possession abhorrent.
[8]The priests never asked themselves, "Where is the LORD?"
The guardians of the Teaching ignored Me;
The rulers[a] rebelled against Me,
And the prophets prophesied by Baal
And followed what can do no good.

[9]Oh, I will go on accusing you
—declares the LORD—
And I will accuse your children's children!
[10]Just cross over to the isles of the Kittim and look,
Send to Kedar and observe carefully;
See if aught like this has ever happened:
[11]Has any nation changed its gods
Even though they are no-gods?
But My people has exchanged its glory
For what can do no good.
[12]Be appalled, O heavens, at this;
Be horrified, utterly dazed!
—says the LORD.
[13]For My people have done a twofold wrong:
They have forsaken Me, the Fount of living waters,
And hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns,
Which cannot even hold water.

[14]Is Israel a bondman?
Is he a home-born slave?
Then why is he given over to plunder?
[15]Lions have roared over him,
Have raised their cries.
They have made his land a waste,

His cities desolate, without inhabitants.
16Those, too, in Noph and Tahpanhes[b]
[c]Will lay bare[c] your head.
17See, [d]that is the price you have paid
For forsaking the LORD your God[d]
[c]While He led you in the way.[c]
18What, then, is the good of your going to Egypt
To drink the waters of the Nile?
And what is the good of your going to Assyria
To drink the waters of the Euphrates?
19Let your misfortune reprove you,
Let your afflictions rebuke you;
Mark well how bad and bitter it is
That you forsake the LORD your God,
That awe for Me is not in you
—declares the Lord GOD of Hosts.
20For long ago you[e] broke your yoke,
Tore off your yoke-bands,
And said, "I will not work!"[f]
On every high hill and under every verdant tree,
You recline as a whore.
21I planted you with noble vines,
All with choicest seed;
Alas, I find you changed
Into a base, an alien vine!
22Though you wash with natron
And use much lye,
Your guilt is ingrained before Me
—declares the Lord GOD.
23How can you say, "I am not defiled,
I have not gone after the Baalim"?
Look at your deeds in the Valley,[g]
Consider what you have done!

[c]Restlessly running about,[c]
24 Or like a wild ass used to the desert,
Snuffing the wind in her eagerness,
Whose passion none can restrain,
None that seek her need grow weary—
In her season, they'll find her!

25 Save your foot from going bare,
And your throat from thirst.
But you say, "It is no use.
No, I love the strangers,[h]
And after them I must go."
26 Like a thief chagrined when he is caught,
So is the House of Israel chagrined—
They, their kings, their officers,
And their priests and prophets.
27 They said to wood, "You are my father,"
To stone, "You gave birth to me,"
While to Me they turned their backs
And not their faces.
But in their hour of calamity they cry,
"Arise and save us!"
28 And where are those gods
You made for yourself?
Let them arise and save you, if they can,
In your hour of calamity.
For your gods have become, O Judah,
As many as your towns!
29 Why do you call Me to account?
You have all rebelled against Me
—declares the LORD.
30 To no purpose did I smite your children;
They would not accept correction.
Your sword has devoured your prophets
Like a ravening lion.
31 [c]O generation, behold[c] the word of the LORD!
Have I been like a desert to Israel,

[h] I.e., other gods.

Or like a land of deep gloom?
Then why do My people say, "We have broken loose,
We will not come to You any more?"
32Can a maiden forget her jewels,
A bride her adornments?
Yet My people have forgotten Me—
Days without number.

33How skillfully you plan your way
To seek out love!
Why, you have even taught
The worst of women your ways.
34Moreover, on your garments is found
The lifeblood of the innocent poor—
You did not catch them breaking in.[i]
[c]-Yet, despite all these things,-[c]
35You say, "I have been acquitted;
Surely, His anger has turned away from me."
Lo, I will bring you to judgment
For saying, "I have not sinned."

36How you cheapen yourself,
By changing your course!
You shall be put to shame through Egypt,
Just as you were put to shame through Assyria.
37From this way, too, you will come out
[j]-With your hands on your head;-[j]
For the LORD has rejected those you trust,
You will not prosper with them.

3 [The word of the LORD came to me] as follows: If a man divorces his wife, and she leaves him and marries another man, can he ever go back to her? Would not such a land be defiled?[a]

Now you have whored with many lovers: can you return to Me?—says the LORD.

[2]Look up to the bare heights, and see:
Where have they not lain with you?
You waited for them on the roadside
Like a bandit[b] in the wilderness.
And you defiled the land
With your whoring and your debauchery.
[3]And when showers were withheld
And the late rains did not come,
You had the brazenness[c] of a street woman,
You refused to be ashamed.
[4]Just now you called to Me, "Father!
You are the Companion of my youth.
[5]Does one hate[d] for all time?
Does one rage[d] forever?"
That is how you spoke;
You did wrong, and [e]had your way.[-e]

[6]The LORD said to me in the days of King Josiah: Have you seen what Rebel Israel did, going to every high mountain and under every leafy tree, and whoring there? [7]I thought: After she has done all these things, she will come back to Me. But she did not come back; and her sister, Faithless Judah, saw it. [8]I noted: Because Rebel Israel had committed adultery, I cast her off and handed her a bill of divorce; yet her sister, Faithless Judah, was not afraid—she too went and whored. [9]Indeed, the land was defiled by her casual immorality, as she committed adultery with stone and with wood.[f] [10]And after all that, her sister, Faithless Judah, did not return to Me wholeheartedly, but insincerely—declares the LORD.

[11]And the LORD said to me: Rebel Israel has shown herself more in the right than Faithless

Judah. [12]Go, make this proclamation toward the north, and say: Turn back, O Rebel Israel—declares the LORD. I will not look on you in anger, for I am compassionate—declares the LORD; I do not bear a grudge for all time. [13]Only recognize your sin; for you have transgressed against the LORD your God, and scattered your favors[g] among strangers under every leafy tree, and you have not heeded Me—declares the LORD.

[14]Turn back, rebellious children—declares the LORD. Since I have espoused[h] you, I will take you, one from a town and two from a clan, and bring you to Zion. [15]And I will give you shepherds[e] after My own heart, who will pasture you with knowledge and skill.

[16]And when you increase and are fertile in the land, in those days—declares the LORD—men shall no longer speak of the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, nor shall it come to mind. They shall not mention it, or miss it, or make another. [17]At that time, they shall call Jerusalem "Throne of the LORD," and all nations shall assemble there, in the name of the LORD, at Jerusalem. They[i] shall no longer follow the willfulness of their evil hearts. [18]In those days, the House of Judah shall go with the House of Israel; they shall come together from the land of the north to the land I gave your fathers as a possession.

[19]I had resolved to adopt you as My child, and I gave you a desirable land—the fairest heritage of all the nations; and I thought you would surely call Me "Father," and never cease to be loyal to Me. [20]Instead, you have broken faith with Me, as a woman breaks faith with a paramour, O House of Israel—declares the LORD.

For they have gone a crooked way,
Ignoring the LORD their God.

[22]Turn back, O rebellious children,
I will heal your afflictions!

"Here we are, we come to You,
For You, O LORD, are our God!
[23j-]Surely, futility comes from the hills,
Confusion from the mountains.[-j]

Is there deliverance for Israel.

The possessions of our fathers ever since our youth—
Their flocks and herds,
Their sons and daughters.
[25]Let us lie down in our shame,
Let our disgrace cover us;
For we have sinned against the LORD our God,
We and our fathers from our youth to this day,
And we have not heeded the LORD our God."

If you return to Me,
If you remove your abominations from My presence

22 v. ה׳ במקום א׳

j-j I.e., the pagan rites celebrated on the hills are futile; exact force of Heb. uncertain.
k Heb. Bosheth, a contemptuous substitute for Baal.

a-a I.e., profess the worship of the LORD.
b Heb. "him."

Break up the untilled ground,
And do not sow among thorns.
[4]Open[c] your hearts to the LORD,
Remove the thickening about your hearts—
O men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem—
Lest My wrath break forth like fire,
And burn, with none to quench it,
Because of your wicked acts.

[5]Proclaim in Judah,
Announce in Jerusalem,
And say:
"Blow the horn in the land!"
Shout aloud and say:
"Assemble, and let us go
Into the fortified cities!"
[6]Set up a signpost: To Zion.
Take refuge, do not delay!
For I bring evil from the north,
And great disaster.
[7]The lion has come up from his thicket:
The destroyer of nations has set out,
Has departed from his place,
To make your land a desolation;
Your cities shall be ruined,
Without inhabitants.
[8]For this, put on sackcloth,
Mourn and wail;
For the blazing anger of the LORD
Has not turned away from us.
[9]And in that day
—declares the LORD—
The mind of the king
And the mind of the nobles shall fail,
The priests shall be appalled,
And the prophets shall stand aghast.

[10][d-]And I said:[-d] Ah, Lord GOD! Surely You have deceived this people and Jerusalem, saying:

c Lit. "circumcise"; cf. Deut. 10.16 and 30.6.
d-d Septuagint reads "And they shall say."

It shall be well with you—
Yet the sword threatens the very life!

[11]At that time, it shall be said concerning this people and Jerusalem:
The conduct of [e-]My poor people[-e] is like searing wind
From the bare heights of the desert—
It will not serve to winnow or to fan.
[12]A full blast from them comes against Me:
Now I in turn will bring charges against them.

[13]Lo, he[f] ascends like clouds,
His chariots are like a whirlwind,
His horses are swifter than eagles.
Woe to us, we are ruined!
[14]Wash your heart clean of wickedness,
O Jerusalem, that you may be rescued.
How long will you harbor within you
Your evil designs?

[15]Hark, one proclaims from Dan
And announces calamity from Mount Ephraim!
[16]Tell the nations: Here they are!
Announce concerning Jerusalem:
Watchers[f] are coming from a distant land,
They raise their voices against the towns of Judah.
[17]Like guards of fields, they surround her on every side.
For she has rebelled against Me
—declares the LORD.
[18]Your conduct and your acts
Have brought this upon you;
This is your bitter punishment;
It pierces your very heart.

e-e Lit. "the daughter that is My people"; so, frequently, in poetry.
f I.e., the invader of v. 7.
g Lit. "entrails."

[19]Oh, my suffering,[g] my suffering!
How I writhe!
Oh, the walls of my heart!
My heart moans within me,
I cannot be silent;
For [h-]I hear[-h] the blare of horns,
Alarms of war.
[20]Disaster overtakes disaster,
For all the land has been ravaged.
Suddenly my tents have been ravaged,
In a moment, my tent cloths.
[21]How long must I see standards
And hear the blare of horns?

[22]For My people are stupid,
They give Me no heed;
They are foolish children,
They are not intelligent.
They are clever at doing wrong,
But unable to do right.

[23]I look at the earth,
It is unformed and void;
At the skies,
And their light is gone.
[24]I look at the mountains,
They are quaking;
And all the hills are rocking.
[25]I look: no man is left,
And all the birds of the sky have fled.
[26]I look: the farm land is desert,
And all its towns are in ruin—
Because of the LORD,
Because of His blazing anger.
([27]For thus said the LORD:
The whole land shall be desolate,
But I will not make an end of it.)
[28]For this the earth mourns,

h-h Lit. "you, O my being, hear." Change of vocalization yields "I hear the blare of horns, / My inner being, alarms of war."

And skies are dark above—
Because I have spoken, I have planned,
And I will not relent or turn back from it.

29At the shout of horseman and bowman
The whole city flees.
They enter the thickets,
They clamber up the rocks.
The whole city is deserted,
Not a man remains there.
30And you, who are doomed to ruin,
What do you accomplish by wearing crimson,
By decking yourself in jewels of gold,
By enlarging your eyes with kohl?
You beautify yourself in vain:
Lovers despise you,
They seek your life!
31I hear a voice as of one in travail,
Anguish as of a woman bearing her first child,
The voice of Fair Zion
Panting, stretching out her hands:
"Alas for me! I faint
Before the killers!"

Roam the streets of Jerusalem,
Search its squares,
Look about and take note:
You will not find a man,
There is none who acts justly,
Who seeks integrity—
That I should pardon her.
2Even when they say, "As the LORD lives,"
They are sure to be swearing falsely.
3O LORD, Your eyes look for integrity.
You have struck them, but they sensed no pain;
You have consumed them, but they would accept no discipline.

They made their faces harder than rock,
They refused to turn back.

[4]Then I thought: These are just poor folk;
They act foolishly;
For they do not know the way of the LORD,
The rules of their God.
[5]So I will go to the wealthy
And speak with them:
Surely they know the way of the LORD,
The rules of their God.
But they as well had broken the yoke,
Had snapped the bonds.
[6]Therefore,
The lion of the forest strikes them down,
The wolf of the desert ravages them.
A leopard lies in wait by their towns;
Whoever leaves them will be torn in pieces.
For their transgressions are many,
Their rebellious acts unnumbered.

[7]Why should I forgive you?
Your children have forsaken Me
And sworn by no-gods.
When I fed them their fill,
They committed adultery
And went trooping to the harlot's house.
[8]They were [a]-well-fed, lusty-[a] stallions,
Each neighing at another's wife.
[9]Shall I not punish such deeds?
—says the LORD—
Shall I not bring retribution
On a nation such as this?
[10]Go up among her vines[b] and destroy;
Lop off her trailing branches,
For they are not of the LORD.

v. 25. מלא ו׳

They [f]-pass beyond the bounds of wickedness,-[f]
And they prosper.
They will not judge the case of the orphan,
Nor give a hearing to the plea of the needy.
[29]Shall I not punish such deeds
—says the LORD—
Shall I not bring retribution
On a nation such as this?
[30]An appalling, horrible thing
Has happened in the land:
[31]The prophets prophesy falsely,
And the priests [a]-rule accordingly;-[a]
And My people like it so.
But what will you do at the end of it?

Flee for refuge, O people of Benjamin,
Out of the midst of Jerusalem!
Blow the horn in Tekoa,
Set up a signal at Beth-haccerem!
For evil is appearing from the north,
And great disaster.
[2][a]-Fair Zion, the lovely and delicate,
I will destroy.-[a]
[3]Against her come shepherds with their flocks,
They pitch tents all around her;
Each grazes [b]-the sheep under his care.-[b]
[4][c]-Prepare for-[c] battle against her:
"Up! we will attack at noon."
"Alas for us! for day is declining,
The shadows of evening grow long."
[5]"Up! let us attack by night,
And wreck her fortresses."

[6]For thus said the LORD of Hosts:

v. 5 חצי המקרא בפסוקים (אף על פי שכתוב 6.7 במסורה)
v. 6 ה׳ רפה

And raise a siegemound against Jerusalem.
[d]-She is the city destined for punishment;-[d]
Only fraud is found in her midst.
7As a well flows with water,
So she flows with wickedness.
Lawlessness and rapine are heard in her;
Before Me constantly are sickness and wounds.
8Accept rebuke, O Jerusalem,
Lest I come to loathe you,
Lest I make you a desolation,
An uninhabited land.

9Thus said the LORD of Hosts:
[e]-Let them glean-[e] over and over, as a vine,
The remnant of Israel.
Pass your hand again,
Like a vintager,
Over its branches.

10[f]To whom shall I speak,
Give warning that they may hear?
Their ears are blocked
And they cannot listen.
See, the word of the LORD has become for them
An object of scorn; they will have none of it.
11But I am filled with the wrath of the LORD,
I cannot hold it in.

Pour it on the infant in the street,
And on the company of youths gathered together!
Yes, men and women alike shall be captured,
Elders and those of advanced years.
12Their houses shall pass to others,
Fields and wives as well,

f The prophet speaks.

For I will stretch out My arm
Against the inhabitants of the country
—declares the LORD.
[13]For from the smallest to the greatest,
They are all greedy for gain;
Priest and prophet alike,
They all act falsely.
[14]They offer healing offhand
For the wounds of My people,
Saying, "All is well, all is well,"
When nothing is well.
[15]They have acted shamefully;
They have done abhorrent things—
Yet they do not feel shame,
And they cannot be made to blush.
Assuredly, they shall fall among the falling,
They shall stumble at the time when I punish them
—said the LORD.

[16]Thus said the LORD:
Stand by the roads and consider,
Inquire about ancient paths:
Which is the road to happiness?
Travel it, and find tranquillity for yourselves.
But they said, "We will not."
[17]And I raised up watchmen[g] for you:
"Hearken to the sound of the horn!"
But they said, "We will not."
[18]Hear well, O nations,
And know, [a]O community, what is in store for them.[a]
[19]Hear, O earth!
I am going to bring disaster upon this people,
The outcome of their own schemes;
For they would not hearken to My words,
And they rejected My Instruction.

And your sacrifices are not pleasing to Me.
21 Assuredly, thus said the LORD:
I shall put before this people stumbling blocks
Over which they shall stumble—

22 Thus said the LORD:
See, a people comes from the northland,
A great nation is roused
From the remotest parts of the earth.
23 They grasp the bow and javelin;
They are cruel, they show no mercy;
The sound of them is like the roaring sea.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]Stand at the gate of the House of the LORD, and there proclaim this word: Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who enter these gates to worship the LORD!

[3]Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Mend your ways and your actions, and I will [a]-let you dwell-[a] in this place. [4]Don't put your trust in illusions and say, "The Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD are these [buildings]." [5]No, if you really mend your ways and your actions; if you execute justice between one man and another; [6]if you do not oppress the stranger, the orphan, and the widow; if you do not shed the blood of the innocent in this place; if you do not follow other gods, to your own hurt—[7]then only will I [a]-let you dwell-[a] in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers for all time. [8]See, you are relying on illusions that are of no avail. [9]Will you steal and murder and commit adultery and swear falsely, and sacrifice to Baal, and follow other gods whom you have not experienced,[b] [10]and then come and stand before Me in this House which bears My name and say, "We are safe"?—[Safe] to do all these abhorrent things! 11Do you consider this House, which bears My name, to be a den of thieves? As for Me, I have been watching—declares the LORD.

12Just go to My place at Shiloh, where I had established My name formerly, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of My people Israel. 13And now, because you do all these things—declares the LORD—and though I spoke to you persistently, you would not listen; and though I called to you, you would not respond—14therefore I will do to the House which bears My name, on which you rely, and to the place which I gave you and your fathers, just what I did to Shiloh. 15And I will cast you out of My presence as I cast out your brothers, the whole brood of Ephraim.

16As for you, do not pray for this people, do not raise a cry of prayer on their behalf, do not plead with Me; for I will not listen to you. 17Don't you see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 18The children gather sticks, the fathers build the fire, and the mothers knead dough, to make cakes for the Queen of Heaven,[c] and they pour libations to other gods, to vex Me. 19Is it Me they are vexing?—says the LORD. It is rather themselves, to their own disgrace. 20Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: My wrath and My fury will be poured out upon this place, on man and on beast, on the trees of the field and the fruit of the soil. It shall burn, with none to quench it.

21Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Add your burnt offerings to your other sacrifices and eat the meat! 22For when I freed

c I.e., the mother goddess (Ishtar, Astarte) in whose honor these cakes were baked.

your fathers from the land of Egypt, I did not speak with them or command them concerning burnt offerings or sacrifice. [23]But this is what I commanded them: Do My bidding, that I may be your God and you may be My people; walk only in the way that I enjoin upon you, that it may go well with you. [24]Yet they did not listen or give ear; they followed their own counsels, the willfulness of their evil hearts. They have gone backward, not forward, [25]from the day your fathers left the land of Egypt until today. And though I kept sending all My servants, the prophets, to them[d] daily and persistently, [26]they would not listen to Me or give ear. They stiffened their necks, they acted worse than their fathers.

[27]You shall say all these things to them, but they will not listen to you; you shall call to them, but they will not respond to you. [28]Then say to them: This is the nation that would not obey the LORD their God, that would not accept rebuke. Faithfulness has perished, vanished from their mouths.

[29]Shear your locks and cast them away,
Take up a lament on the heights,
For the LORD has spurned and cast off
The brood that provoked His wrath.

[30]For the people of Judah have done what displeases Me—declares the LORD. They have set up their abominations in the House which is called by My name, and they have defiled it. [31]And they have built the shrines of Topheth in the Valley of Ben-hinnom to burn their sons and daughters in fire—which I never commanded, which never came to My mind.

[32]Assuredly, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when men shall no longer speak of Topheth or the Valley of Ben-hinnom, but of the

They shall not be gathered for reburial; they shall become dung upon the face of the earth. 3 And death shall be preferable to life for all that are left of this wicked folk, in all the other places to which I shall banish them—declares the LORD of Hosts.

4 Say to them: Thus said the LORD:
When men fall, do they not get up again?
If they turn aside, do they not turn back?
5 Why is this people—Jerusalem—rebellious
With a persistent rebellion?
They cling to deceit,
They refuse to return.
6 I have listened and heard:
They do not speak honestly.
No one regrets his wickedness
And says, "What have I done!"
They all persist in their wayward course
Like a steed dashing forward in the fray.

And the turtledove, swift, and crane
Keep the time of their coming;
But My people pay no heed
To the law of the LORD.
[8]How can you say, "We are wise,
And we possess the Instruction of the LORD"?
Assuredly, for naught has the pen labored,
For naught the scribes!
[9]The wise shall be put to shame,
Shall be dismayed and caught;
See, they reject the word of the LORD,
So their wisdom amounts to nothing.

[10]Assuredly, I will give their wives to others,
And their fields to dispossessors;
For from the smallest to the greatest,
They are all greedy for gain;
Priest and prophet alike,
They all act falsely.
[11]They offer healing offhand
For the wounds of My poor people,
Saying, "All is well, all is well,"
When nothing is well.
[12]They have acted shamefully;
They have done abhorrent things—
Yet they do not feel shame,
They cannot be made to blush.
Assuredly, they shall fall among the falling,
They shall stumble at the time of their doom

14Why are we sitting by?
Let us gather into the fortified cities
And meet our doom there.
For the LORD our God has doomed us,
He has made us drink a bitter draft,
Because we sinned against the LORD.
15We hoped for good fortune, but no happiness came;
For a time of relief—instead there is terror!
16The snorting of their horses was heard from Dan;
At the loud neighing of their steeds
The whole land quaked.
They came and devoured the land and what was in it,
The towns and those who dwelt in them.

17Lo, I will send serpents against you,
Adders that cannot be charmed,
And they shall bite you
—declares the LORD.

From the land far and wide:

Summer is gone,
But we have not been saved."
21Because my people is shattered I am shattered;
I am dejected, seized by desolation.

[18]For the sound of wailing
Is heard from Zion:
How we are despoiled!
How greatly we are shamed!
Ah, we must leave our land,

Let your ears receive the word of His mouth,
And teach your daughters wailing,

Let not the strong man glory in his strength;
Let not the rich man glory in his riches.

נְאֻם־יְהוָה׃ ס

24Lo, days are coming—declares the LORD—when I will take note of everyone d-circumcised in the foreskin:-d 25of Egypt, Judah, Edom, the Ammonites, Moab, and all the desert dwellers who have the hair of their temples clipped. For all these nations are uncircumcised, but all the House of Israel are e-uncircumcised of heart.-e

24 הִנֵּה יָמִים בָּאִים נְאֻם־יְהוָה וּפָקַדְתִּי עַל־כָּל־מוּל בְּעָרְלָה׃ 25 עַל־מִצְרַיִם וְעַל־יְהוּדָה וְעַל־אֱדוֹם וְעַל־בְּנֵי עַמּוֹן וְעַל־מוֹאָב וְעַל כָּל־קְצוּצֵי פֵאָה הַיֹּשְׁבִים בַּמִּדְבָּר כִּי כָל־הַגּוֹיִם עֲרֵלִים וְכָל־בֵּית יִשְׂרָאֵל עַרְלֵי־לֵב׃ ס

10 Hear the word which the LORD has spoken to you, O House of Israel!

י שִׁמְעוּ אֶת־הַדָּבָר אֲשֶׁר דִּבֶּר יְהוָה עֲלֵיכֶם בֵּית יִשְׂרָאֵל׃

2Thus said the LORD:
Do not learn to go the way of the nations,
And do not be dismayed by portents in the sky;
Let the nations be dismayed by them!
3For a-the laws of the nations-a are delusions:
For it is the work of a craftsman's hands.
He cuts down a tree in the forest with an ax,
4He adorns it with silver and gold,
He fastens it[b] with nails and hammer,
So that it does not totter.
5They are like a scarecrow in a cucumber patch,
They cannot speak.
They have to be carried,
For they cannot walk.
Be not afraid of them, for they can do no harm;
Nor is it in them to do any good.

2 כֹּה ׀ אָמַר יְהוָה
אֶל־דֶּרֶךְ הַגּוֹיִם אַל־תִּלְמָדוּ
וּמֵאֹתוֹת הַשָּׁמַיִם אַל־תֵּחָתּוּ
כִּי־יֵחַתּוּ הַגּוֹיִם מֵהֵמָּה׃
3 כִּי־חֻקּוֹת הָעַמִּים הֶבֶל הוּא
כִּי־עֵץ מִיַּעַר כְּרָתוֹ
מַעֲשֵׂה יְדֵי־חָרָשׁ בַּמַּעֲצָד׃
4 בְּכֶסֶף וּבְזָהָב יְיַפֵּהוּ
בְּמַסְמְרוֹת וּבְמַקָּבוֹת יְחַזְּקוּם
וְלוֹא יָפִיק׃
5 כְּתֹמֶר מִקְשָׁה הֵמָּה
וְלֹא יְדַבֵּרוּ
נָשׂוֹא יִנָּשׂוּא
כִּי לֹא יִצְעָדוּ
אַל־תִּירְאוּ מֵהֶם כִּי־לֹא יָרֵעוּ
וְגַם־הֵיטֵיב אֵין אוֹתָם׃ ס

d-d Force of Heb. uncertain.
e-e I.e., their minds are blocked to God's commandments.

a-a Emendation yields "the objects that the nations fear."
b Heb. "them."

6O Lord, there is none like You!
You are great and Your name is great in power.
7Who would not revere You, O King of the nations?
For that is Your due,
Since among all the wise of the nations
And among all their royalty
There is none like You.
8But they are both dull and foolish;
c-[Their] doctrine is but delusion;-c
It is a piece of wood,
9Silver beaten flat, that is brought from Tarshish,
And gold from Uphaz,
The work of a craftsman and the goldsmith's hands;
Their clothing is blue and purple,
All of them are the work of skilled men.
10But the Lord is truly God:
He is a living God,
The everlasting King.
At His wrath, the earth quakes,
And nations cannot endure His rage.

11dThus shall you say to them: Let the gods, who did not make heaven and earth, perish from the earth and from under these heavens.

12He made the earth by His might,
Established the world by His wisdom,
And by His understanding stretched out the skies.
13e-When He makes His voice heard,-e
There is a rumbling of water in the skies;
He makes vapors rise from the end of the earth,
He makes lightning for the rain,
And brings forth wind from His treasuries.

c-c Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
d This verse is in Aramaic.
e-e Lit. "At the sound of His making."

[14]Every man is proved dull, without knowledge;
Every goldsmith is put to shame because of the idol,
For his molten image is a deceit—
There is no breath in them.
[15]They are delusion, a work of mockery;
In their hour of doom, they shall perish.
[16]Not like these is the Portion of Jacob;
For it is He who formed all things,
And Israel is His very own tribe:
LORD of Hosts is His name.

[17]Gather up your bundle[c] from the ground,
You who dwell under siege!
[18]For thus said the LORD: I will fling away the inhabitants of the land this time: I will harass them so that they shall [f]feel it.[-f]

[19]Woe unto me for my hurt,
My wound is severe!
I thought, "This is but a sickness
And I must bear it."
[20]My tents are ravaged,
All my tent cords are broken.
My children have gone forth from me
And are no more;
No one is left to stretch out my tents
And hang my tent cloths.
[21]For the shepherds[g] are dull
And did not seek the LORD;
Therefore they have not prospered
And all their flock is scattered.
[22]Hark, a noise! It is coming,
A great commotion out of the north,
That the towns of Judah may be made a desolation,
A haunt of jackals.

23I know, O LORD, that man's road is not his [to choose],
That man, as he walks, cannot direct his own steps.
24Chastise me, O LORD, but in measure;
Not in Your wrath, lest You reduce me to naught.
25Pour out Your wrath on the nations who have not heeded You,
Upon the clans that have not invoked Your name.
For they have devoured Jacob,
Have devoured and consumed him,
And have laid desolate his homesteads.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

יא

הַדָּבָר אֲשֶׁר הָיָה אֶל־יִרְמְיָהוּ מֵאֵת יְהוָה לֵאמֹר׃

2"Hear the terms of this covenant, and recite them to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem! 3And say to them, Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: Cursed be the man who will not obey the terms of this covenant, 4which I enjoined upon your fathers when I freed them from the land of Egypt, the iron crucible, saying, 'Obey Me and observe them,[a] just as I command you, that you may be My people and I may be your God'—5in order to fulfill the oath which I swore to your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as is now the case." And I responded, "Amen, LORD."

6And the LORD said to me, "Proclaim all these things through the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem: Hear the terms of this covenant, and perform them. 7For I have repeatedly and persistently warned your fathers from[b] the time I brought them out of Egypt to this day, saying: Obey My commands. [8]But they would not listen or give ear; they all followed the willfulness of their evil hearts. So I have brought upon them all the terms[c] of this covenant, because they did not do what I commanded them to do."

[9]The LORD said to me, "A conspiracy exists among the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [10]They have returned to the iniquities of their fathers of old, who refused to heed My words. They, too, have followed other gods and served them. The House of Israel and the House of Judah have broken the covenant that I made with their fathers."

[11]Assuredly, thus said the LORD: I am going to bring upon them disaster from which they will not be able to escape. Then they will cry out to me, but I will not listen to them. [12]And the townsmen[d] of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to which they sacrifice; but they will not be able to rescue them in their time of disaster. [13]For your gods have become as many as your towns, O Judah, and you have set up as many altars to Shame[e] as there are streets in Jerusalem—altars for sacrifice to Baal.

[14]As for you, do not pray for this people, do not raise a cry of prayer on their behalf; for I will not listen when they call to Me on account of their disaster.

[15]Why should My beloved be in My House,
[f]Who executes so many vile designs?
The sacral flesh will pass away from you,
For you exult while performing your evil deeds.[f]

Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why are the workers of treachery at ease?
[2]You have planted them, and they have taken root,
They spread, they even bear fruit.
You are present in their mouths,
But far from their thoughts.
[3]Yet You, LORD, have noted and observed me;
You have tested my heart, and found it with You.
Drive them out like sheep to the slaughter,
Prepare them for the day of slaying!

[4]How long must the land languish,
And the grass of all the countryside dry up?
Must beasts and birds perish,
Because of the evil of its inhabitants,
Who say, "He will not look upon our future"?[b]

[5c]If you race with the foot-runners and they exhaust you,
How then can you compete with horses?
If you are [d-]secure only[-d] in a tranquil land,
How will you fare in the jungle of the Jordan?
[6]For even your kinsmen and your father's house,
Even they are treacherous toward you,
They cry after you as a mob.
Do not believe them
When they speak cordially to you.

[7]I have abandoned My House,
I have deserted My possession,
I have given over My dearly beloved
Into the hands of her enemies.

She raised her voice against Me—
Therefore I have rejected her.
9f-My own people acts toward Me
Like a bird of prey [or] a hyena;
Let the birds of prey surround her!-f
Go, gather all the wild beasts,
Bring them to devour!
10Many shepherds have destroyed My vineyard,
Have trampled My field,
Have made My delightful field
A desolate wilderness.
11g-They have-g made her a desolation;
Desolate, she pours out grief to Me.
The whole land is laid desolate,
But no man gives it thought.
12Spoilers have come
Upon all the bare heights of the wilderness.
For a sword of the LORD devours
From one end of the land to the other;
No flesh is safe.
13They have sown wheat and reaped thorns,
They have endured pain to no avail.
Be shamed, then, by your harvest—
By the blazing wrath of the LORD!

14Thus said the LORD: As for My wicked neighbors who encroach on the heritage that I gave to My people Israel—I am going to uproot them from their soil, and I will uproot the House of Judah out of the midst of them. 15Then, after I have uprooted them, I will take them back into favor, and restore them each to his own inheritance and his own land. 16And if they learn the ways of My people, to swear by My name—"As the LORD lives"—just as they once taught My people to swear by Baal, then they shall be h-built up in the midst of-h My people. 17But if they do not give heed, I will tear

Thus the LORD said to me: "Go buy yourself a loincloth of linen, and put it around your loins, but do not dip it into water." [2]So I bought the loincloth in accordance with the LORD's command, and put it about my loins. [3]And the word of the LORD came to me a second time: [4]"Take the loincloth which you bought, which is about your loins, and go at once to Perath[a] and cover it up there in a cleft of the rock." [5]I went and buried it at Perath, as the LORD had commanded me. [6]Then, after a long time, the LORD said to me, "Go at once to Perath and take there the loincloth which I commanded you to bury there." [7]So I went to Perath and dug up the loincloth from the place where I had buried it; and found the loincloth ruined; it was not good for anything.

[8]The word of the LORD came to me: [9]Thus said the LORD: Even so will I ruin the overweening pride of Judah and Jerusalem. [10]This wicked people who refuse to heed My bidding, who follow the willfulness of their own hearts, who follow other gods and serve them and worship them, shall become like that loincloth, which is not good for anything. [11]For as the loincloth clings close to the loins of a man, so I brought close to Me the whole House of Israel and the whole House of Judah—declares the LORD—that they might be My people, for fame, and praise, and splendor. But they would not obey.

[12]And speak this word to them: Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: "Every jar should be filled with wine." And when they say to you, "Don't we know that every jar should be filled with wine?" [13]say to them, "Thus said the LORD: I am going to fill with drunkenness all the in-will not listen to their outcry; and when they present burnt offering and meal offering, I will not accept them. I will exterminate them by war, famine, and disease."

13 I said, "Ah, Lord God! The prophets are saying to them, 'You shall not see the sword, famine shall not come upon you, but I will give you unfailing security in this place.'"

14 The Lord replied: It is a lie that the prophets utter in My name. I have not sent them or commanded them. I have not spoken to them. A lying vision, an empty divination, the deceit of their own contriving—that is what they prophesy to you! 15 Assuredly, thus said the Lord concerning the prophets who prophesy in My name though I have not sent them, and who say, "Sword and famine shall not befall this land"; those very prophets shall perish by sword and famine. 16 And the people to whom they prophesy shall be left lying in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword, with none to bury them—they, their wives, their sons, and their daughters. I will pour out upon them [the requital of] their wickedness.

17 And do you speak to them thus:
Let my eyes run with tears,
Day and night let them not cease,
For [b]my hapless people[b] has suffered
A grievous injury, a very painful wound.
18 If I go out to the country—
Lo, the slain of the sword.
If I enter the city—
Lo, [c]those who are sick with[c] famine.

a-a Lit. "stand before Me," as Jeremiah is doing now; cf. 18.20.
b Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

5But who will pity you, O Jerusalem,
Who will console you?
Who will turn aside to inquire
About your welfare?
6You cast Me off
—declares the LORD—
You go ever backward.
So I have stretched out My hand to destroy you;
I cannot relent.
7I will scatter them as with a winnowing fork
Through the settlements of the earth.
I will bereave, I will destroy My people,
For they would not turn back from their ways.
8Their widows shall be more numerous
Than the sands of the seas.
I will bring against them—
[b]-Young men and mothers together-[b]—
A destroyer at noonday.
I will bring down suddenly upon them
Alarm[b] and terror.
9She who bore seven is forlorn,
Utterly disconsolate;
Her sun has set while it is still day,
She is shamed and humiliated.
The remnant of them I will deliver to the sword,
To the power of their enemies
—declares the LORD.

10Woe is me, my mother, that you ever bore me—
A man of conflict and strife with all the land!
I have not lent,
And I have not borrowed;
Yet everyone curses me.

11The LORD said:
[b]-Surely, a mere remnant of you
Will I spare for a better fate!-[b]

v. 10. יתיר ו׳

By the enemy [c]-from the north-[c]
In a time of distress and a time of disaster,
Surely, I will have you struck down!
12[d]-Can iron break iron and bronze?-[d]
13[b]-I will hand over your wealth and your treasures
As a spoil, free of charge,
Because of all your sins throughout your territory.
14And I will bring your enemies
By way of a land you have not known.-[b]
For a fire has flared in My wrath,
It blazes against you.

15O LORD, you know—
Remember me and take thought of me,
Avenge me on those who persecute me;
Do not yield to Your patience,
[e]-Do not let me perish!-[e]
Consider how I have borne insult
On Your account.
16When Your words were offered, I devoured them;
Your word brought me the delight and joy
Of knowing that Your name is attached to me,
O LORD, God of Hosts.
17I have not sat in the company of revelers
And made merry!
I have sat lonely because of Your hand upon me,
For You have filled me with gloom.
18Why must my pain be endless,
My wound incurable,
Resistant to healing?
You have been to me like a spring that fails,
Like waters that cannot be relied on.

19Assuredly, thus said the LORD:
If you turn back, I shall take you back

d-d Emendation yields "He shall shatter iron—iron and bronze!"
e-e Lit. "Do not take me away."

And you shall stand before Me;
If you produce what is noble
Out of the worthless,
You shall be My spokesman.
They shall come back to you,
Not you to them.
[20]Against this people I will make you
As a fortified wall of bronze:
They will attack you,
But they shall not overcome you,

The word of the LORD came to me:

[2]You are not to marry and not to have sons and daughters in this place. [3]For thus said the LORD concerning any sons and daughters that may be born in this place, and concerning the mothers who bear them, and concerning the fathers who beget them in this land: [4]They shall die gruesome deaths. They shall not be lamented or buried; they shall be like dung on the surface of the ground. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, and their corpses shall be food for the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth.

Nor offer one a cup of consolation
For the loss of his father or mother.
[8]Nor shall you enter a house of feasting,
To sit down with them to eat and drink.

[9]For thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to banish from this place, in your days and before your eyes, the sound of mirth and gladness, the voice of bridegroom and bride.

[10]And when you announce all these things to that people, and they ask you, "Why has the LORD decreed upon us all this fearful evil? What is the iniquity and what the sin that we have committed against the LORD our God?" And they shall haul them out;
And after that I will send for many hunters,
And they shall hunt them
Out of every mountain and out of every hill
And out of the clefts of the rocks.
[17]For My eyes are on all their ways,

My power and My might.

[19]Thus said the LORD to me: Go and stand in the People's Gate, by which the kings of Judah enter and by which they go forth, and in all the gates of Jerusalem, [20]and say to them: Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem who enter by these gates!

[21]Thus said the LORD: Guard yourselves for your own sake against carrying burdens[h] on the sabbath day, and bringing them through the gates of Jerusalem. [22]Nor shall you carry out burdens from your houses on the sabbath day, or do any work, but you shall hallow the sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers. ([23]But they would not listen or turn their ear; they stiffened their necks and would not pay heed or accept discipline.) [24]If you obey Me—declares the LORD—and do not bring in burdens through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, but hallow the sabbath day and do no work on it, [25]then through the gates of this city shall enter kings who sit upon the throne of David, with their officers—riding on chariots and horses, they and their officers—and the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And this city shall be inhabited for all time. [26]And people shall come from the towns of Judah and from the environs of Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the Shephelah, and from the hill country, and from the Negeb, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, meal offerings and frankincense, and bringing offerings of thanksgiving to the House of the LORD. [27]But if you do not obey My command to hallow the sabbath day and to carry in no burdens through the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath day, then I will set fire to its gates; it shall consume the fortresses of Jerusalem and it shall not be extinguished.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]"Go down to the house of a potter, and there I will impart My words to you." [3]So I went down to the house of a potter, and found him working at the wheel. [4]*[a-]And if the vessel he was making was spoiled, as happens to clay in the potter's hands,[-a]* he would make it into another vessel, such as the potter saw fit to make.

[5]Then the word of the LORD came to me: [6]O House of Israel, can I not deal with you like this potter?—says the LORD. Just like clay in the hands of the potter, so are you in My hands, O House of Israel! [7]At one moment I may decree that a nation or a kingdom shall be uprooted and pulled down and destroyed; [8]but if that nation against which I made the decree turns back from its wickedness, I change My mind concerning the punishment I planned to bring on it. [9]At another moment I may decree that a nation or a kingdom shall be built and planted; [10]but if it does what is displeasing to Me and does not obey Me, then I change My mind concerning the good I planned to bestow upon it.

[11]And now, say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: Thus said the LORD: I am devising[b] disaster for you and laying plans against you. Turn back, each of you, from your wicked ways, and mend your ways and your actions! [12]But they will say, "It is no use. We will keep on following our own plans; each of us will act in the willfulness of his evil heart."

[13]Assuredly, thus said the LORD:
Inquire among the nations:
Who has heard anything like this?
Maiden Israel has done
A most horrible thing.

a-a So some mss. and one early edition. Most mss. and editions read "And if the vessel that he was making with clay in the potter's hands was spoiled."

b The same Hebrew word as is used above for "potter."

[14][c]Does one forsake Lebanon snow
From the mountainous rocks?
Does one abandon cool water
Flowing from afar?
[15]Yet My people have forgotten Me:
They sacrifice to a delusion;
They are made to stumble in their ways—
The ancient paths—
And to walk instead on byways,
On a road not built up.

An object of hissing[d] for all time.
Every passerby will be appalled
And will shake his head.[d]

[18]They said,[f] "Come let us devise a plot against Jeremiah—for instruction shall not fail from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor oracle from the prophet. Come, let us strike him with the tongue, and we shall no longer have to listen to all those words of his."

[19]Listen to me, O LORD—
And take note of [g-]what my enemies say![-g]

Yet they have dug a pit for me.
Remember how I stood before You

To turn Your anger away from them!

Mow them down by the sword.

Thus said the LORD: Go buy a jug of potter's ware. And [take] some of the elders of the people and the priests, 2and go out to the Valley of Ben-hinnom—a-at the entrance of the Harsith Gate-a—and proclaim there the words which I will speak to you.

3Say: "Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to bring such disaster upon this place that the ears of all who hear about it will tingle. 4For they and their fathers and the kings of Judah have forsaken Me, and have made this place alien [to Me]; they have sacrificed in it to other gods whom they have not experienced,[b] and they have filled this place with the blood of the innocent. 5They have built shrines to Baal, to put their children to the fire as burnt offerings to Baal—which I never commanded, never decreed, and which never came to My mind. 6Assuredly, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when this place shall no longer be called Topheth or Valley of Ben-hinnom, but Valley of Slaughter.

[7]"And I will frustrate[c] the plans of Judah and Jerusalem in this place. I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, by the hand of those who seek their lives; and I will give their carcasses as food to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth. [8]And I will make this city an object of horror and hissing;[d] everyone who passes by it will be appalled and will hiss over all its wounds. [9]And I will cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and they shall devour one another's flesh—because of the desperate straits to which they will be reduced by their enemies, who seek their life."

[10]Then you shall smash the jug in the sight of the men who go with you, [11]and say to them: "Thus said the LORD of Hosts: So will I smash this people and this city, as one smashes a potter's vessel, which can never be mended. And they shall bury in Topheth until no room is left for burying. [12]That is what I will do to this place and its inhabitants—declares the LORD. I will make this city like Topheth: [13]the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be unclean, like that place Topheth—all the houses on the roofs of which offerings were made to the whole host of heaven and libations were poured out to other gods."

[14]When Jeremiah returned from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, he stood in the court of the House of the LORD and said to all the people: [15]"Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to bring upon this city and upon all its villages all the disaster which I have decreed against it, for they have stiffened their necks and refused to heed My words."

Pashhur son of Immer, the priest who was chief officer of the House of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesy these things. 2Pashhur thereupon had Jeremiah flogged and put in the cell[a] at the Upper Benjamin Gate in the House of the LORD. 3The next day, Pashhur released Jeremiah from the cell.

But Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD has named you not Pashhur, but Magor-missabib.[b] 4For thus said the LORD: I am going to deliver you and all your friends over to terror: they will fall by the sword of their enemies while you look on. I will deliver all Judah into the hands of the king of Babylon; he will exile them to Babylon or put them to the sword. 5And I will deliver all the wealth, all the riches, and all the prized possessions of this city, and I will also deliver all the treasures of the kings of Judah into the hands of their enemies: they shall seize them as plunder and carry them off to Babylon. 6As for you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house, you shall go into captivity. You shall come to Babylon; there you shall die and there you shall be buried, and so shall all your friends to whom you prophesied falsely."

7You enticed me, O LORD, and I was enticed;
You overpowered me and You prevailed.
I have become a constant laughingstock,
Everyone jeers at me.
8For every time I speak, I must cry out,
Must shout, "Lawlessness and rapine!"
For the word of the LORD causes me
Constant disgrace and contempt.
9I thought, "I will not mention Him,
No more will I speak in His name"—
But [His word] was like a raging fire in my heart,
Shut up in my bones;

I could not hold it in, I was helpless.
[10]I heard the whispers of the crowd—
Terror all around:
"Inform! Let us inform against him!"
All my [supposed] friends
Are waiting for me to stumble:
"Perhaps he can be entrapped,
And we can prevail against him
And take our vengeance on him."
[11]But the LORD is with me like a mighty warrior;
Therefore my persecutors shall stumble;
They shall not prevail and shall not succeed.
They shall be utterly shamed
With a humiliation for all time,
Which shall not be forgotten.
[12]O LORD of Hosts, You who test the righteous,
Who examine the heart and the mind,
Let me see Your retribution upon them,
For I lay my case before You.
[13]Sing unto the LORD,
Praise the LORD,
For He has rescued the needy
From the hands of evildoers!

[14]Accursed be the day
That I was born!
Let not the day be blessed
When my mother bore me!
[15]Accursed be the man
Who brought my father the news
And said, "A boy
Is born to you,"
And gave him such joy!
[16]Let that man[c] become like the cities
Which the LORD overthrew without relenting!
Let him hear shrieks in the morning
And battle shouts at noontide—

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur son of Malchiah and the priest Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah, to say, [2]"Please inquire of the LORD on our behalf, for King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon is attacking us. Perhaps the LORD will act for our sake in accordance with all His wonders, so that [Nebuchadrezzar] will withdraw from us."

[3]Jeremiah answered them, "Thus shall you say to Zedekiah: [4]Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I am going to turn around the weapons in your hands with which you are battling outside the wall against those who are besieging you—the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans—and I will take them into the midst of this city; [5]and I Myself will battle against you with an outstretched mighty arm, with anger and rage and great wrath. [6]I will strike the inhabitants of this city, man and beast: they shall die by a terrible pestilence. [7]And then—declares the LORD—I will deliver King Zedekiah of Judah and his courtiers and the people—those in this city who survive the pestilence, the sword, and the famine—into the hands of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, into the hands of their enemies, into the hands of those who seek their lives. He will put them to the sword without pity, without compassion, without mercy.

[8]"And to this people you shall say: Thus said the LORD: I set before you the way of life and the way of death. [9]Whoever remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but whoever leaves and goes over to the Chaldeans who are besieging you shall live; [a]-he shall at least gain his life.-[a] [10]For I have set My face against this city for evil and not for good—declares the LORD. It shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon, who will destroy it by fire."

[11]To the House of the king of Judah: Hear the word of the LORD! [12]O House of David, thus said the LORD:

Render just verdicts
Morning by morning;
Rescue him who is robbed
From him who defrauded him.
Else My wrath will break forth like fire
And burn, with none to quench it,
Because of your wicked acts.
[13]I will deal with you, [b]-O inhabitants of the valley,
O rock of the plain-[b]—declares the LORD—
You who say, "Who can come down against us?
Who can get into our lairs?"

It shall consume all that is around it.

the fatherless, and the widow; commit no lawless act, and do not shed the blood of the innocent in this place. [4]For if you fulfill this command, then through the gates of this palace shall enter kings of David's line who sit upon his throne, riding horse-drawn chariots, with their courtiers and their subjects. [5]But if you do not heed these commands, I swear by Myself—declares the LORD—that this palace shall become a ruin."

[6]For thus said the LORD concerning the royal palace of Judah:

You are as Gilead to Me,
As the summit of Lebanon;
But I will make you a desert,
Uninhabited towns.
[7]I will appoint destroyers against you,
Each with his tools;
They shall cut down your choicest cedars
And make them fall into the fire.

[8]And when many nations pass by this city and one man asks another, "Why did the LORD do thus to that great city?" [9]the reply will be, "Because they forsook the covenant with the LORD their God and bowed down to other gods and served them."

[10]Do not weep for the dead[a]
And do not lament for him;
Weep rather for [b]him who is leaving,[-b]
For he shall never come back
To see the land of his birth!

[11]For thus said the LORD concerning Shallum[b] son of King Josiah of Judah, who succeeded his father Josiah as king, but who has gone forth from this place: He shall never come back. [12]He shall die in the place to which he was exiled, and he shall not see this land again.

b-b I.e., the king called by his throne name Jehoahaz in 2 Kings 23.31 ff., and by his private name Shallum here in v. 11 and in 1 Chron. 3.15.

[13]Ha! he who builds his house with unfairness
And his upper chambers with injustice,
Who makes his fellow man work without pay
And does not give him his wages,
[14]Who thinks: I will build me a vast palace

Then all went well with him.
[16]He upheld the rights of the poor and needy—
Then all was well.

[17]But your eyes and your mind are only
On ill-gotten gains,
On shedding the blood of the innocent,
On committing fraud and violence.
[18]Assuredly, thus said the LORD concerning Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah:
[e]They shall not mourn for him,
"Ah, brother! Ah, sister!"
They shall not mourn for him,
"Ah, lord! Ah, his majesty!"[e]
[19]He shall have the burial of an ass,
Dragged out and left lying
Outside the gates of Jerusalem.

You would not heed Me.
[22]All your shepherds[g] shall be devoured by the wind,

[24]As I live—declares the LORD—[i]if you, O King Coniah, son of Jehoiakim, of Judah, were[i] a signet on my right hand, I would tear you off even from there. [25]I will deliver you into the hands of those who seek your life, into the hands of those you dread, into the hands of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon and into the hands of the Chaldeans. [26]I will hurl you and the mother who bore you into another land, where you were not born; there you shall both die. [27]They shall not return to the land that they yearn to come back to.

[28]Is this man Coniah
A wretched broken pot,
A vessel no one wants?
Why are he and his offspring hurled out,
And cast away in a land they knew not?
[29]O land, land, land,
Hear the word of the LORD!
[30]Thus said the LORD:
Record this man as without succession,
One who shall never be found acceptable;
For no man of his offspring shall be accepted
To sit on the throne of David
And to rule again in Judah.

h-h Septuagint reads "How you will groan."
i-i Heb. "If Coniah…were…"; Coniah (Jeconiah in 24.1) is identical with Jehoiachin, 2 Kings 24.8 ff.

Ah, shepherds who let the flock of My pasture stray and scatter!—declares the LORD. [2]Assuredly, thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the shepherds who should tend My people: It is you who let My flock scatter and go astray. You gave no thought to them, but I am going to give thought to you, for your wicked acts—declares the LORD. [3]And I Myself will gather the remnant of My flock from all the lands to which I have banished them, and I will bring them back to their pasture, where they shall be fertile and increase. [4]And I will appoint over them shepherds who will tend them; they shall no longer fear or be dismayed, and none of them shall be missing—declares the LORD.

[5]See, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when I will raise up a true branch of David's line. He shall reign as king and shall prosper, and he shall do what is just and right in the land. [6]In his days Judah shall be delivered and Israel shall dwell secure. And this is the name by which he shall be called: "The LORD is our Vindicator."

[7]Assuredly, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when it shall no more be said, "As the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites out of the land of Egypt," [8]but rather, "As the LORD lives, who brought out and led the offspring of the House of Israel from the northland and from all the lands to which I have banished them." And they shall dwell upon their own soil.

[9]Concerning the prophets.

My heart is crushed within me,
All my bones are trembling;[a]
I have become like a drunken man,
Like one overcome by wine—
Because of the LORD and His holy word.
[10]For the land is full of adulterers,

The land mourns because of [b]a curse;[b]
The pastures of the wilderness are dried up.
[c]For they run to do evil,
They strain to do wrong.[c]
[11]For both prophet and priest are godless;
Even in My House I find their wickedness
—declares the LORD.

Their path shall become
Like slippery ground;
They shall be thrust into darkness
And there they shall fall;
For I will bring disaster upon them,
The year of their doom
—declares the LORD.
[13]In the prophets of Samaria
I saw a repulsive thing:
They prophesied by Baal
And led My people Israel astray.
[14]But what I see in the prophets of Jerusalem
Is something horrifying:
Adultery and false dealing.
They encourage evildoers,
So that no one turns back from his wickedness.
To Me they are all like Sodom,
And [all] its inhabitants like Gomorrah.

[15]Assuredly, thus said the LORD of Hosts concerning the prophets:

I am going to make them eat wormwood
And drink a bitter draft;
For from the prophets of Jerusalem
Godlessness has gone forth to the whole land.

[16]Thus said the LORD of Hosts:
Do not listen to the words of the prophets
Who prophesy to you.

They are deluding you,
The prophecies they speak are from their own minds,
Not from the mouth of the LORD.
17They declare to men who despise Me:
The LORD has said:
"All shall be well with you";
And to all who follow their willful hearts they say:
"No evil shall befall you."
18But he who has stood in the council of the LORD,
And seen, and heard His word—
He who has listened to His word must obey.[d]
19e-Lo, the storm of the LORD goes forth in fury,
A whirling storm,
It shall whirl down upon the heads of the wicked.
20The anger of the LORD shall not turn back
Till it has fulfilled and completed His purposes.-e
In the days to come
You shall clearly perceive it.

21I did not send those prophets,
But they rushed in;
I did not speak to them,
Yet they prophesied.
22If they have stood in My council,
Let them announce My words to My people
And make them turn back
From their evil ways and wicked acts.

e-e This section constitutes the word of God to which Jeremiah refers.

Do I not see him?

—says the LORD.

For I fill both heaven and earth

—declares the LORD.

[25]I have heard what the prophets say, who prophesy falsely in My name: "I had a dream, I had a dream." [26][a-]How long will there be[-a] in the minds of the prophets who prophesy falsehood—the prophets of their own deceitful minds—[27]the plan to make My people forget My name, by means of the dreams which they tell each other, just as their fathers forgot My name because of Baal? [28]Let the prophet who has a dream tell the dream; and let him who has received My word report My word faithfully! How can straw be compared to grain?—says the LORD. [29]Behold, My word is like fire—declares the LORD—and like a hammer that shatters rock!

[30]Assuredly, I am going to deal with the prophets—declares the LORD—who steal My words from one another. [31]I am going to deal with the prophets—declares the LORD—who wag[a] their tongues and make oracular utterances. [32]I am going to deal with those who prophesy lying dreams—declares the LORD—who relate them to lead My people astray with their reckless lies, when I did not send them or command them. They do this people no good—declares the LORD.

[33]And when this people—or a prophet or a priest—asks you, "What is the burden[f] of the LORD?" you shall answer them, [g-]"What is the burden?[-g] I will cast you off"—declares the LORD.

[34]As for the prophet or priest or layman who shall say "the burden of the LORD," I will punish that person and his house. [35]Thus you shall

The LORD showed me two baskets of figs, placed in front of the Temple of the LORD. This was after King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon had exiled King Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim of Judah, and the officials of Judah, and the craftsmen and smiths, from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon. 2One basket contained very good figs, like first-ripened figs, and the other basket contained very bad figs, so bad that they could not be eaten.

3And the LORD said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?" I answered, "Figs—the good ones are very good, and the bad ones very bad, so bad that they cannot be eaten."

4Then the word of the LORD came to me:

5Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: As with these good figs, so will I single out for good the Judean exiles whom I have driven out from this place to the land of the Chaldeans. 6I will look upon them favorably, and I will bring them

LORD had sent me: [18]Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, and its kings and officials, to make them a desolate ruin, an object of hissing and a curse[c]—as is now the case; [19]Pharaoh king of Egypt, his courtiers, his officials, and all his people; [20]all [d-]the mixed peoples;[-d] all the kings of the land of Uz; all the kings of the land of the Philistines—Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and what is left of Ashdod; [21]Edom, Moab, and Ammon; [22]all the kings of Tyre and all the kings of Sidon, and all the kings of the coastland across the sea; [23]Dedan, Tema, and Buz, and all those who have their hair clipped; [24]all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of [d-]the mixed peoples[-d] who live in the desert; [25]all the kings of Zimri[d] and all the kings of Elam and all the kings of Media; [26]all the kings of the north, whether far from or close to each other—all the [d-]royal lands which are on the earth.[-d] And last of all, the king of Sheshach[e] shall drink.

[27]Say to them: "Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Drink and get drunk and vomit; fall and never rise again, because of the sword that I send among you." [28]And if they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, say to them, "Thus said the LORD of Hosts: You must drink! [29]If I am bringing the punishment first on the city that bears My name, do you expect to go unpunished? You will not go unpunished, for I am summoning the sword against all the inhabitants of the earth—declares the LORD of Hosts."

[30]You are to prophesy all those things to them, and then say to them:

The LORD roars from on high,
He makes His voice heard from His holy dwelling;
He roars aloud over His [earthly] abode;

At the beginning of the reign of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah, this word came from the LORD:

כו

בְּרֵאשִׁית מַמְלְכוּת יְהוֹיָקִים בֶּן־יֹאשִׁיָּהוּ מֶלֶךְ יְהוּדָה הָיָה הַדָּבָר הַזֶּה מֵאֵת יְהוָה לֵאמֹר׃

[2]"Thus said the LORD: Stand in the court of the House of the LORD, and speak to [the men of] all the towns of Judah, who are coming to worship in the House of the LORD, all the words which I command you to speak to them. Do not omit anything. [3]Perhaps they will listen and turn back, each from his evil way, that I may renounce the punishment I am planning to bring upon them for their wicked acts.

[4]"Say to them: Thus said the LORD: If you do not obey Me, abiding by the Teaching that I have set before you, [5]heeding the words of My servants the prophets whom I have been sending to you persistently—but you have not heeded—[6]then I will make this House like Shiloh, and I will make this city a curse[a] for all the nations of earth."

[7]The priests and prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the House of the LORD. [8]And when Jeremiah finished speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, the priests and the prophets and all the people seized him, shouting, "You shall die! [9]How dare you prophesy in the name of the LORD that this House shall become like Shiloh and this city be made desolate, without inhabitants?" And all the people crowded about Jeremiah in the House of the LORD.

[10]When the officials of Judah heard about this, they went up from the king's palace to the House of the LORD and held a session at the entrance of the New Gate of [b-]the House of[-b] the LORD. [11]The priests and prophets said to the officials and to all the people, "This man deserves the death penalty, for he has prophesied against this city, as you yourselves have heard."

[12]Jeremiah said to the officials and to all the people, "It was the LORD who sent me to prophesy against this House and this city all the words who say to you, 'Do not serve the king of Babylon.' [10]For they prophesy falsely to you—with the result that you shall be banished from your land; I will drive you out and you shall perish. [11]But the nation that puts its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serves him, will be left by Me on its own soil—declares the LORD—to till it and dwell on it."

[12]I also spoke to King Zedekiah of Judah in just the same way: "Put your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, and live! [13]Otherwise you will die together with your people, by sword, famine, and pestilence, as the LORD has decreed against any nation that does not serve the king of Babylon. [14]Give no heed to the words of the prophets who say to you, 'Do not serve the king of Babylon,' for they prophesy falsely to you. [15]I have not sent them—declares the LORD—and they prophesy falsely in My name, with the result that I will drive you out and you shall perish, together with the prophets who prophesy to you."

[16]And to the priests and to all that people I said: "Thus said the LORD: Give no heed to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you, 'The vessels of the House of the LORD shall shortly be brought back from Babylon,' for they prophesy falsely to you. [17]Give them no heed. Serve the king of Babylon, and live! Otherwise this city shall become a ruin. [18]If they are really prophets and the word of the LORD is with them, let them intercede with the LORD of Hosts not to let the vessels remaining in the House of the LORD, in the royal palace of Judah, and in Jerusalem, go to Babylon!

[19]"For thus said the LORD of Hosts concerning the columns, the tank,[d] the stands, and the rest of the vessels remaining in this city, [20]which King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon did not take

That year, early in the reign of King Zedekiah of Judah, in the fifth month of the fourth year, the prophet Hananiah son of Azzur, who was from Gibeon, spoke to me in the House of the LORD, in the presence of the priests and all the people. He said: 2"Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I hereby break the yoke of the king of Babylon. 3In two years, I will restore to this place all the vessels of the House of the LORD which King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon took from this place and brought to Babylon. 4And I will bring back to this place King Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim of Judah, and all the Judean exiles who went to Babylon—declares the LORD. Yes, I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon."

5Then the prophet Jeremiah answered the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and of all the people who were standing in the House of the LORD. 6The prophet Jeremiah said: "Amen! May the LORD do so! May the LORD fulfill what you have prophesied and bring back from Babylon to this place the vessels of the House of the LORD and all the exiles! 7But just listen to this word which I address to you and to all the people: 8The prophets who lived before you and me from ancient times prophesied war, disaster, and pestilence against many lands and great kingdoms. [9]So if a prophet prophesies good fortune, then only when the word of the prophet comes true can it be known that the LORD really sent him."

[10]But the prophet Hananiah removed the bar from the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, and broke it; [11]and Hananiah said in the presence of all the people, "Thus said the LORD: So will I break the yoke of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon from off the necks of all the nations, in two years." And the prophet Jeremiah went on his way.

[12]After the prophet Hananiah had broken the bar from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: [13]"Go say to Hananiah: Thus said the LORD: You broke bars of wood, but a-you shall-a make bars of iron instead. [14]For thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I have put an iron yoke upon the necks of all those nations, that they may serve King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon—and serve him they shall! I have even given the wild beasts to him."

[15]And the prophet Jeremiah said to the prophet Hananiah, "Listen, Hananiah! The LORD did not send you, and you have given this people lying assurances. [16]Assuredly, thus said the LORD: I am going to banish you from off the earth. This year you shall die, for you have urged disloyalty to the LORD."

[17]And the prophet Hananiah died that year, in the seventh month.

Jerusalem, and the craftsmen and smiths had left Jerusalem. [3][The letter was sent] through Elasah son of Shaphan and Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom King Zedekiah of Judah had dispatched to Babylon, to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon.

[4]Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel, to the whole community which I exiled from Jerusalem to Babylon: [5]Build houses and live in them, plant gardens and eat their fruit. [6]Take wives and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters. Multiply there, do not decrease. [7]And seek the welfare of the city to which I have exiled you and pray to the LORD in its behalf; for in its prosperity you shall prosper.

[8]For thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Let not the prophets and diviners in your midst deceive you, and pay no heed to the dreams they[a] dream. [9]For they prophesy to you in My name falsely; I did not send them—declares the LORD.

[10]For thus said the LORD: When Babylon's seventy years are over, I will take note of you, and I will fulfill to you My promise of favor—to bring you back to this place. [11]For I am mindful of the plans I have made concerning you—declares the LORD—plans for your welfare, not for disaster, to give you a hopeful future. [12]When you call Me, and come and pray to Me, I will give heed to you. [13]You will search for Me and find Me, if only you seek Me wholeheartedly. [14]I will be at hand for you—declares the LORD—and I will restore your fortunes. And I will gather you from all the nations and from all the places to which I have banished you—declares the LORD—and I will bring you back to the place from which I have exiled you.

[15]But you say, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon."[b]

[16]Thus said the LORD concerning the king who sits on the throne of David, and concerning all the people who dwell in this city, your brothers who did not go out with you into exile— [17]thus said the LORD of Hosts: I am going to let loose sword, famine, and pestilence against them and I will treat them as loathsome figs, so bad that they cannot be eaten.[c] [18]I will pursue them with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence; and I will make them a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, a curse and an object of horror and hissing[d] and scorn among all the nations to which I shall banish them, [19] because they did not heed My words—declares the LORD—when I persistently sent to them My servants, the prophets, and they[a] did not heed—declares the LORD.

[20]But you, the whole exile community which I banished from Jerusalem to Babylon, hear the word of the LORD! [21]Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who prophesy falsely to you in My name: I am going to deliver them into the hands of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, and he shall put them to death before your eyes. [22]And the whole community of Judah in Babylonia shall use a curse derived from their fate: "May God make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon consigned to the flames!"—[23]because they did vile things in Israel, committing adultery with the wives of their fellows and speaking in My name false words which I had not commanded them. I am He who knows and bears witness—declares the LORD.

of Israel: Because you sent letters in your own name to all the people in Jerusalem, to Zephaniah son of Maaseiah and to the rest of the priests, as follows, [26]"The LORD appointed you priest in place of the priest Jehoiada, [f]to exercise authority[f] in the House of the LORD over every madman who wants to play the prophet, to put him into the stocks[g] and into the pillory.[g] [27]Now why have you not rebuked Jeremiah the Anathothite, who plays the prophet among you? [28]For he has actually sent a message to us in Babylon to this effect: It will be a long time. Build houses and live in them, plant gardens and enjoy their fruit."—

[29]When the priest Zephaniah read this letter in the hearing of the prophet Jeremiah, [30]the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: [31]Send a message to the entire exile community: "Thus said the LORD concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah prophesied to you, though I did not send him, and made you false promises, [32]assuredly, thus said the LORD: I am going to punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his offspring. There shall be no man of his line dwelling among this people or seeing the good things I am going to do for My people—declares the LORD—for he has urged disloyalty toward the LORD."

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: Write down in a scroll all the words that I have spoken to you. [3]For days are coming—declares the LORD—when I will restore the fortunes of My people Israel and Judah, said the LORD; and I will bring them back to the land that I gave their fathers, and they shall possess it. [4]And these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah:

g Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

v. 25. יתיר ה׳

[5]Thus said the LORD:
We have heard cries of panic,
Terror without relief.
[6]Ask and see:
Surely males do not bear young!
Why then do I see every man
With his hands on his loins
Like a woman in labor?
Why have all faces turned pale?
[7]Ah, that day is awesome;
There is none like it!
It is a time of trouble for Jacob,
But he shall be delivered from it.

[8]In that day—declares the LORD of Hosts—I will break the yoke from off your neck and I will rip off your bonds. Strangers shall no longer make slaves of them; [9]instead, they shall serve the LORD their God and David, the king whom I will raise up for them.

[10]But you,
Have no fear, My servant Jacob
—declares the LORD—
Be not dismayed, O Israel!
I will deliver you from far away,
Your folk from their land of captivity.
And Jacob shall again have calm
And quiet with none to trouble him;
[11]For I am with you to deliver you
—declares the LORD.
I will make an end of all the nations
Among which I have dispersed you;
But I will not make an end of you!
I will not leave you unpunished,
But will chastise you in measure.

[12]For thus said the LORD:
Your injury is incurable,

Your wound severe;
[13]a-No one pleads for the healing of your sickness,-a
There is no remedy, no recovery for you.
[14]All your lovers have forgotten you,
They do not seek you out;
For I have struck you as an enemy strikes,
With cruel chastisement,
Because your iniquity was so great
And your sins so many.
[15]Why cry out over your injury,
That your wound is incurable?
I did these things to you
Because your iniquity was so great
And your sins so many.

[16]Assuredly,
All who wanted to devour you shall be devoured,
And every one of your foes shall go into captivity;
Those who despoiled you shall be despoiled,
And all who pillaged you I will give up to pillage.
[17]But I will bring healing to you
And cure you of your wounds
—declares the LORD.
Though they called you "Outcast,
That Zion whom no one seeks out,"
[18]Thus said the LORD:
I will restore the fortunes of Jacob's tents
And have compassion upon his dwellings.
The city shall be rebuilt on its mound,[b]
And the fortress in its proper place.
[19]From them shall issue thanksgiving
And the sound of dancers.
I will multiply them,
And they shall not be few;
I will make them honored,

v. 16. יתיר א׳
v. 18. מלא ו׳

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain.
b I.e., on the mound of ruins left after its previous destruction.

And they shall not be humbled.
20His children shall be as of old,
And his community shall be established by
My grace;
And I will deal with all his oppressors.
21His chieftain shall be one of his own,
His ruler shall come from his midst;
I will bring him near, that he may approach
Me
—declares the LORD—
For who would otherwise dare approach Me?
22You shall be My people,
And I will be your God.

23Lo, the storm of the LORD goes forth in fury,
A raging tempest;
It shall whirl down upon the head of the wicked.
24The anger of the LORD shall not turn back
Till it has fulfilled and completed His purposes.
In the days to come
You shall perceive it.
[31]1[c]At that time—declares the LORD—I will be God to all the clans of Israel, and they shall be My people.

31

2Thus said the LORD:
The people escaped from the sword,
Found favor in the wilderness;
When Israel was marching homeward
3The LORD revealed Himself to me[a] of old.
Eternal love I conceived for you then;
Therefore I continue My grace to you.
4I will build you firmly again,
O Maiden Israel!
Again you shall take up your timbrels

And go forth to the rhythm of the dancers.
5Again you shall plant vineyards
On the hills of Samaria;
Men shall plant and live to enjoy them.
6For the day is coming when watchmen
Shall proclaim on the heights of Ephraim:
Come, let us go up to Zion,
To the LORD our God!

7For thus said the LORD:
Cry out in joy for Jacob,
Shout at the crossroads[b] of the nations!
Sing aloud in praise, and say:
[c-]Save, O LORD, Your people,[-c]
The remnant of Israel.
8I will bring them in from the northland,
Gather them from the ends of the earth—
The blind and the lame among them,
Those with child and those in labor—
In a vast throng they shall return here.
9They shall come with weeping,
And with compassion[d] will I guide them.
I will lead them to streams of water,
By a level road where they will not stumble.
For I am ever a Father to Israel,
Ephraim is My first-born.

10Hear the word of the LORD, O nations,
And tell it in the isles afar.
Say:
He who scattered Israel will gather them,
And will guard them as a shepherd his flock.
11For the LORD will ransom Jacob,
Redeem him from one too strong for him.
12They shall come and shout on the heights of Zion,
Radiant over the bounty of the LORD—
Over new grain and wine and oil,

And over sheep and cattle.
They shall fare like a watered garden,
They shall never languish again.
[13]Then shall maidens dance gaily,
Young men and old alike.
I will turn their mourning to joy,
I will comfort them and cheer them in their grief.
[14]I will give the priests their fill of fatness,
And My people shall enjoy My full bounty
—declares the LORD.

[15]Thus said the LORD:
A cry is heard [e]in Ramah[e]—
Wailing, bitter weeping—
Rachel weeping for her children.
She refuses to be comforted
For her children, who are gone.
[16]Thus said the LORD:
Restrain your voice from weeping,
Your eyes from shedding tears;
For there is a reward for your labor
—declares the LORD:
They shall return from the enemy's land.
[17]And there is hope for your future
—declares the LORD:
Your children shall return to their country.

[18]I can hear Ephraim lamenting:
You have chastised me, and I am chastised
Like a calf that has not been broken.
Receive me back, let me return,
For You, O LORD, are my God.
[19]Now that I have turned back, I am filled with remorse;
Now that I am made aware, I strike my thigh.[f]
I am ashamed and humiliated,
For I bear the disgrace of my youth.
[20]Truly, Ephraim is a dear son to Me,
A child that is dandled!

Return, Maiden Israel!
Return to these towns of yours!

A woman courts[h] a man.)

[23]Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: They shall again say this in the land of Judah and in its towns, when I restore their fortunes:

"The LORD bless you,
Abode of righteousness,
O holy mountain!"

[24]Judah and all its towns alike shall be inhabited by the farmers and [i]such as move about[i] with the flocks. [25]For I will give the thirsty abundant drink, and satisfy all who languish.

[26]At this I awoke and looked about, and my sleep[j] had been pleasant to me.

[27]See, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when I will sow the House of Israel and the House of Judah with seed of men and seed of cattle; [28]and just as I was watchful over them to uproot and to pull down, to overthrow and to destroy and to bring disaster, so I will be watchful over them to build and to plant—declares the LORD. longer say, "Parents have eaten sour grapes and children's teeth are blunted."[k] 30 But every one shall die for his own sins: whosoever eats sour grapes, his teeth shall be blunted.

31 See, a time is coming—declares the LORD—when I will make a new covenant with the House of Israel and the House of Judah. 32 It will not be like the covenant I made with their fathers, when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt, a covenant which they broke, though I espoused[l] them—declares the LORD. 33 But such is the covenant I will make with the House of Israel after these days—declares the LORD: I will put My Teaching into their inmost being and inscribe it upon their hearts. Then I will be their God, and they shall be My people. 34 No longer will they need to teach one another and say to one another, "Heed the LORD"; for all of them, from the least of them to the greatest, shall heed Me—declares the LORD.

For I will forgive their iniquities,
And remember their sins no more.

35 Thus said the LORD,
Who established the sun for light by day,
The laws of moon and stars for light by night,
Who stirs up the sea into roaring waves,
Whose name is LORD of Hosts:
36 If these laws should ever be annulled by Me
—declares the LORD—
Only then would the offspring of Israel cease
To be a nation before Me for all time.

37 Thus said the LORD: If the heavens above could be measured, and the foundations of the earth below could be fathomed, only then would I reject all the offspring of Israel for all that they have done—declares the LORD.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of King Zedekiah of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar. [2]At that time the army of the king of Babylon was besieging Jerusalem, and the prophet Jeremiah was confined in the prison compound attached to the palace of the king of Judah. [3]For King Zedekiah of Judah had confined him, saying, "How dare you prophesy: 'Thus said the LORD: I am delivering this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall capture it. [4]And King Zedekiah of Judah shall not escape from the Chaldeans; he shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon, [a]and he shall speak to him face to face and see him in person.[a] [5]And Zedekiah shall be brought to Babylon, there to remain until I take note of him—declares the LORD. When you wage war against the Chaldeans, you shall not be successful.'" buy my land in Anathoth, in the territory of Benjamin; for the right of succession is yours, and you have the duty of redemption. Buy it." Then I knew that it was indeed the word of the LORD.

9So I bought the land in Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel. I weighed out the money to him, seventeen shekels of silver. 10I wrote a deed, sealed it, and had it witnessed; and I weighed out the silver on a balance. 11I took the deed of purchase, the sealed text and the open one c-according to rule and law,-c 12and gave the deed to Baruch son of Neriah son of Mahseiah in the presence of my kinsman Hanamel, of the witnesses d-who were named-d in the deed, and all the Judeans who were sitting in the prison compound. 13In their presence I charged Baruch as follows: 14Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: "Take these documents, this deed of purchase, the sealed text and the open one, and put them into an earthen jar, so that they may last a long time." 15For thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: "Houses, fields, and vineyards shall again be purchased in this land."

16But after I had given the deed to Baruch son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD: 17"Ah, Lord GOD! You made heaven and earth with Your great might and outstretched arm. Nothing is too wondrous for You! 18You show kindness to the thousandth generation, but visit the guilt of the fathers upon their children after them. O great and mighty God whose name is LORD of Hosts, 19wondrous in purpose and mighty in deed, whose eyes observe all the ways of men, so as to repay every man according to his ways, and with the proper fruit of his deeds! 20You displayed signs and marvels in the land of Egypt

[e]with lasting effect,[e] and won renown in Israel and among mankind to this very day. [21]You freed Your people Israel from the land of Egypt with signs and marvels, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and with great terror. [22]You gave them this land that You had sworn to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey, [23]and they came and took possession of it. But they did not listen to You or follow Your Teaching; they did nothing of what You commanded them to do. Therefore you have caused all this misfortune to befall them. [24]Here are the siegemounds, raised against the city to storm it; and the city, because of sword and famine and pestilence, is at the mercy of the Chaldeans who are attacking it. What You threatened has come to pass—as You see. [25]Yet You, Lord GOD, said to me: Buy the land for money and call in witnesses—when the city is at the mercy of the Chaldeans!"

[26]Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

[27]"Behold I am the LORD, the God of all flesh. Is anything too wondrous for Me? [28]Assuredly, thus said the LORD: I am delivering this city into the hands of the Chaldeans and of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, and he shall capture it. [29]And the Chaldeans who have been attacking this city shall come and set this city on fire and burn it down—with the houses on whose roofs they made offerings to Baal and poured out libations to other gods, so as to vex Me. [30]For the people of Israel and Judah have done nothing but evil in My sight since their youth; the people of Israel have done nothing but vex Me by their conduct—declares the LORD. [31]This city has aroused My anger and My wrath from the day it was built until this day; so that it must be removed from My sight [32]because of all the wickedness of the people of Israel and Judah who have so acted as to vex Me—they, their kings, their officials, their priests and prophets, and the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 33They turned their backs to Me, not their faces; though I have taught them persistently, they do not give heed or accept rebuke. 34They placed their abominations in the House which bears My name and defiled it; 35and they built the shrines of Baal which are in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, where they offered up their sons and daughters to Molech—when I had never commanded, or even thought [of commanding], that they should do such an abominable thing, and so bring guilt on Judah.

36But now, assuredly, thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say, "It is being delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon through the sword, through famine, and through pestilence": 37See, I will gather them from all the lands to which I have banished them in My anger and wrath, and in great rage; and I will bring them back to this place and let them dwell secure. 38They shall be My people, and I will be their God. 39I will give them a single heart and a single nature to revere Me for all time, and it shall be well with them and their children after them. 40And I will make an everlasting covenant with them that I will not turn away from them and that I will treat them graciously; and I will put into their hearts reverence for Me, so that they do not turn away from Me. 41I will delight in treating them graciously, and I will plant them in this land faithfully, with all My heart and soul.

42For thus said the LORD: As I have brought this terrible disaster upon this people, so I am going to bring upon them the vast good fortune which I have promised for them. 43And fields

The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah a second time, while he was still confined in the prison compound, as follows:

[2]Thus said the LORD who is planning it,
The LORD who is shaping it to bring it about,
Whose name is LORD:
[3]Call to Me, and I will answer you,
And I will tell you wondrous things,
Secrets you have not known.

[4]For thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and the palaces of the kings of Judah that were torn down [a]-for [defense] against the siegemounds and against the sword, [5]and were filled by those who went to fight the Chaldeans,-[a]—with the corpses of the men whom I struck down in My anger and rage, hiding My face from this city because of all their wickedness: [6]I am going to bring her relief and healing. I will heal them and reveal to them abundance[a] of true favor. [7]And I will restore the fortunes of Judah and Israel, and I will rebuild them as of old. [8]And I will purge them of all the sins which they committed against Me, and I will pardon all the sins which they committed against Me, by which they re-

[10]Thus said the LORD: Again there shall be heard in this place, which you say is ruined, without man or beast—in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate, without man, without inhabitants, without beast—[11]the sound of mirth and gladness, the voice of bridegroom and bride, the voice of those who cry, "Give thanks to the LORD of Hosts, for the LORD is good, for His kindness is everlasting!" as they bring thanksgiving offerings to the House of the LORD. For I will restore the fortunes of the land as of old—said the LORD.

[12]Thus said the LORD of Hosts: In this ruined place, without man and beast, and in all its towns, there shall again be a pasture for shepherds, where they can rest their flocks. [14]See, days are coming—declares the LORD—when I will fulfill the promise that I made concerning the House of Israel and the House of Judah. [15]In those days and at that time, I will raise up a true branch of David's line, and he shall do what is just and right in the land. [16]In those days Judah shall be delivered and Israel shall dwell secure. And this is what she shall be called: "The LORD is our Vindicator." [17]For thus said the LORD: There shall never be an end to men of David's line who sit upon the throne of the House of Israel. [18]Nor shall 19The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: 20Thus said the LORD: If you could break My covenant with the day and My covenant with the night, so that day and night should not come at their proper time, 21only then could My covenant with My servant David be broken—so that he would not have a descendant reigning upon his throne—or with My ministrants, the levitical priests. 22Like the host of heaven which cannot be counted, and the sand of the sea which cannot be measured, so will I multiply the offspring of My servant David, and of the Levites who minister to Me.

speak to King Zedekiah of Judah, and say to him: "Thus said the LORD: I am going to deliver this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will destroy it by fire. [3]And you will not escape from him; you will be captured and handed over to him. [a]And you will see the king of Babylon face to face and speak to him in person;[a] and you will be brought to Babylon. [4]But hear the word of the LORD, O King Zedekiah of Judah! Thus said the LORD concerning you: You will not die by the sword. [5]You will die a peaceful death; and as incense[b] was burned for your ancestors, the earlier kings who preceded you, so they will burn incense[b] for you, and they will lament for you 'Ah, lord!' For I Myself have made the promise—declares the LORD."

[6]The prophet Jeremiah spoke all these words to King Zedekiah of Judah in Jerusalem, [7]when the army of the king of Babylon was waging war against Jerusalem and against the remaining towns of Judah—against Lachish and Azekah, for they were the only fortified towns of Judah that were left.

[8]The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people in Jerusalem to proclaim a release[c] among them—[9]that everyone should set free his Hebrew slaves, both male and female, and that no one should keep his fellow Judean enslaved.

[10]Everyone, officials and people, who had entered into the covenant agreed to set their male and female slaves free and not keep them enslaved any longer; they complied and let them go. [11]But afterward they turned about and brought back the men and women they had set free, and forced them into slavery again. [12]Then it was that the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

13Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I made a covenant with your fathers when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, the house of bondage, saying: 14"In the seventh year[d] each of you must let go any fellow Hebrew [e]who may be sold[e] to you; when he has served you six years, you must set him free." But your fathers would not obey Me or give ear. 15Lately you turned about and did what is proper in My sight, and each of you proclaimed a release to his countrymen; and you made a covenant accordingly before Me in the House which bears My name. 16But now you have turned back and have profaned My name; each of you has brought back the men and women whom you had given their freedom, and forced them to be your slaves again.

17Assuredly, thus said the LORD: You would not obey Me and proclaim a release, each to his kinsman and countryman. Lo! I proclaim your release—declares the LORD—to the sword, to pestilence, and to famine; and I will make you a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. 18I will make the men who violated My covenant, who did not fulfill the terms of the covenant which they made before Me, [like] the calf which they cut in two so as to pass between the halves:[f] 19The officers of Judah and Jerusalem, the officials, the priests, and all the people of the land who passed between the halves of the calf 20shall be handed over to their enemies, to those who seek to kill them. Their carcasses shall become food for the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth. 21I will hand over King Zedekiah of Judah and his officers to their enemies, who seek to kill them—to the army of the king of Babylon which has withdrawn from you. 22I hereby give the command—declares the LORD—by which I will bring them back against

The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah:

[2]Go to the house of the Rechabites and speak to them, and bring them to the House of the LORD, to one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.

[3]So I took Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah son of Habazziniah, and his brothers, all his sons, and the whole household of the Rechabites; [4]and I brought them to the House of the LORD, to the chamber of the sons of Hanan son of Igdaliah, the man of God, which is next to the chamber of the officials and above the chamber of Maaseiah son of Shallum, the guardian of the threshold. [5]I set bowls full of wine and cups before the men of the house of the Rechabites, and said to them, "Have some wine."

[6]They replied, "We will not drink wine, for our ancestor, Jonadab son of Rechab, commanded us: 'You shall never drink wine, either you or your children. [7]Nor shall you build houses or sow fields[a] or plant vineyards, nor shall you own such things; but you shall live in tents all your days, so that you may live long upon the land where you sojourn.' [8]And we have obeyed our ancestor Jonadab son of Rechab in all that he commanded us: we never drink wine, neither we nor our wives nor our sons and daughters. [9]Nor do we build houses to live in, and we do not own vineyards or fields for sowing; [10]but we live in tents. We have obeyed and done all that our ancestor Jonadab commanded us. [11]But when King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon invaded the country, we said, 'Come, let us go into Jerusalem because of the army of the Chaldeans and the army of Aram.' And so we are living in Jerusalem."

12Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

13Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Go say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: "You can learn a lesson [here] about obeying My commands—declares the LORD. 14The commands of Jonadab son of Rechab have been fulfilled: he charged his children not to drink wine, and to this day they have not drunk, in obedience to the charge of their ancestor. But I spoke to you persistently, and you did not listen to Me. 15I persistently sent you all My servants, the prophets, to say: 'Turn back, every one of you, from your wicked ways and mend your deeds; do not follow other gods or serve them. Then you may remain on the land that I gave to you and your fathers.' But you did not give ear or listen to Me. 16The family of Jonadab son of Rechab have indeed fulfilled the charge which their ancestor gave them; but this people has not listened to Me. 17Assuredly, thus said the LORD, the God of Hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to bring upon Judah and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the disaster with which I have threatened them; for I spoke to them, but they would not listen; I called to them, but they would not respond."

18And to the family of the Rechabites Jeremiah said: "Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: Because you have obeyed the charge of your ancestor Jonadab and kept all his commandments, and done all that he enjoined upon you, 19assuredly, thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: There shall never cease to be a man of the line of Jonadab son of Rechab standing before Me."

In the fourth year of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 Get a scroll and write upon it all the words that I have spoken to you—concerning Israel and Judah and all the nations—from the time I first spoke to you in the days of Josiah to this day. 3 Perhaps when the House of Judah hear of all the disasters I intend to bring upon them, they will turn back from their wicked ways, and I will pardon their iniquity and their sin. 4 So Jeremiah called Baruch son of Neriah; and Baruch wrote down in the scroll, at Jeremiah's dictation, all the words which the LORD had spoken to him.

5 Jeremiah instructed Baruch, "I am in hiding; I cannot go to the House of the LORD. 6 But you go and read aloud the words of the LORD from the scroll which you wrote at my dictation, to all the people in the House of the LORD on a fast day; thus you will also be reading them to all the Judeans who come in from the towns. 7 Perhaps their entreaty will be accepted by the LORD, if they turn back from their wicked ways. For great is the anger and wrath with which the LORD has threatened this people."

8 Baruch son of Neriah did just as the prophet Jeremiah had instructed him, about reading the words of the LORD from the scroll in the House of the LORD. 9 In the ninth month of the fifth year of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah, all the people in Jerusalem and all the people coming from Judah proclaimed a fast before the LORD in Jerusalem. 10 It was then that Baruch—in the chamber of Gemariah son of Shaphan the scribe, in the upper court, near the new gateway of the House of the LORD—read the words of Jeremiah from the scroll to all the people in the House of the LORD.

[11]Micaiah son of Gemariah son of Shaphan heard all the words of the LORD [read] from the scroll, [12]and he went down to the king's palace, to the chamber of the scribe. There he found all the officials in session: Elishama the scribe, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Achbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials. [13]And Micaiah told them all that he had heard as Baruch read from the scroll in the hearing of the people.

[14]Then all the officials sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah son of Shelemiah son of Cushi to say to Baruch, "Take that scroll from which you read to the people, and come along!" And Baruch took the scroll and came to them.

[15]They said, a-"Sit down and read it*-a* to us." And Baruch read it to them. [16]When they heard all these words, they turned to each other in fear; and they said to Baruch, "We must report all this to the king."

[17]And they questioned Baruch further, "Tell us how you wrote down all these words *b-that he spoke."-b* [18]He answered them, "He himself recited all those words to me, and I would write them down in the scroll in ink."

[19]The officials said to Baruch, "Go into hiding, you and Jeremiah. Let no man know where you are!" [20]And they went to the king in the court, after leaving the scroll in the chamber of the scribe Elishama. And they reported all these matters to the king.

[21]The king sent Jehudi to get the scroll and he fetched it from the chamber of the scribe Elishama. Jehudi read it to the king and to all the officials who were in attendance on the king. [22]Since it was the ninth month, the king was sitting in the winter house, with a fire burning in the brazier before him. [23]And every time Jehudi read three or four columns, [the king] would cut it up with a scribe's knife and throw it into the fire in the brazier, until the entire scroll was consumed by the fire in the brazier. [24]Yet the king and all his courtiers who heard all these words showed no fear and did not tear their garments; [25]moreover, Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah begged the king not to burn the scroll, but he would not listen to them.

[26]The king ordered Jerahmeel, the king's son, and Seraiah son of Azriel, and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest the scribe Baruch and the prophet Jeremiah. But the LORD hid them.

[27]The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah after the king had burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah's dictation: [28]Get yourself another scroll, and write upon it the same words that were in the first scroll that was burned by King Jehoiakim of Judah. [29]And concerning King Jehoiakim of Judah you shall say: Thus said the LORD: You burned that scroll, saying, "How dare you write in it that the king of Babylon will come and destroy this land and cause man and beast to cease from it?" [30]Assuredly, thus said the LORD concerning King Jehoiakim of Judah: He shall not have any of his line sitting on the throne of David; and his own corpse shall be left exposed to the heat by day and the cold by night. [31]And I will punish him and his offspring and his courtiers for their iniquity; I will bring on them and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem and on all the men of Judah all the disasters of which I have warned them—but they would not listen.

[32]So Jeremiah got another scroll and gave it to the scribe Baruch son of Neriah. And at Jeremiah's dictation, he wrote in it the whole text

Zedekiah son of Josiah became king instead of Coniah son of Jehoiakim, for King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon set him up as king over the land of Judah. 2Neither he nor his courtiers nor the people of the land gave heed to the words which the LORD spoke through the prophet Jeremiah.

3Yet King Zedekiah sent Jehucal son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah son of the priest Maaseiah to the prophet Jeremiah, to say, "Please pray on our behalf to the LORD our God." 4(Jeremiah could still go in and out among the people, for they had not yet put him in prison. 5The army of Pharaoh had set out from Egypt; and when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard the report, they raised the siege of Jerusalem.)

6Then the word of the LORD came to the prophet Jeremiah: 7Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: Thus shall you say to the king of Judah who sent you to Me to inquire of Me: "The army of Pharaoh, which set out to help you, will return to its own land, to Egypt. 8And the Chaldeans will come back and attack this city and they will capture it and destroy it by fire."

9Thus said the LORD: Do not delude yourselves into thinking, "The Chaldeans will go away from us." They will not. 10Even if you defeated the whole army of the Chaldeans that are fighting against you, and only wounded men were left lying in their tents, they would get up and burn this city down!

11 וְהָיָה בְּהֵעָלוֹת חֵיל הַכַּשְׂדִּים מֵעַל יְרוּשָׁלִָם מִפְּנֵי חֵיל פַּרְעֹה׃ ס 12 וַיֵּצֵא

11When the army of the Chaldeans raised the siege of Jerusalem on account of the army of Pharaoh, [12]Jeremiah was going to leave Jerusalem and go to the territory of Benjamin [a]-to share in some property there-[a] among the people. [13]When he got to the Benjamin Gate, there was a guard officer there named Irijah son of Shelemiah son of Hananiah; and he arrested the prophet Jeremiah, saying, "You are defecting to the Chaldeans!" [14]Jeremiah answered, "That's a lie! I'm not defecting to the Chaldeans!" But Irijah would not listen to him; he arrested Jeremiah and brought him to the officials. [15]The officials were furious with Jeremiah; they beat him and put him into prison, in the house of the scribe Jonathan—for it had been made into a jail. [16]Thus Jeremiah came to the [a]-pit and the cells,-[a] and Jeremiah remained there a long time.

[17]Then King Zedekiah sent for him, and the king questioned him secretly in his palace. He asked, "Is there any word from the LORD?" "There is!" Jeremiah answered, and he continued, "You will be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon." [18]And Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "What wrong have I done to you, to your courtiers, and to this people, that you have put me in jail? [19]And where are those prophets of yours who prophesied to you that the king of Babylon would never move against you and against this land? [20]Now, please hear me, O lord king, and grant my plea: Don't send me back to the house of the scribe Jonathan [b]-to die there."-[b]

[21]So King Zedekiah gave instructions to lodge Jeremiah in the prison compound and to supply him daily with a loaf of bread from the Bakers' Street—until all the bread in the city was gone. Jeremiah remained in the prison compound.

b-b Lit. "and let me not die there."

Pashhur son of Malchiah heard what Jeremiah was saying to all the people: [2]"Thus said the LORD: Whoever remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but whoever surrenders to the Chaldeans shall live; [a-]he shall at least gain his life[-a] and shall live. [3]Thus said the LORD: This city shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon's army, and he shall capture it."

[4]Then the officials said to the king, "Let that man be put to death, for he disheartens[b] the soldiers, and all the people who are left in this city, by speaking such things to them. That man is not seeking the welfare of this people, but their harm!" [5]King Zedekiah replied, "He is in your hands; the king cannot oppose you in anything!"

[6]So they took Jeremiah and put him down in the pit of Malchiah, the king's son, which was in the prison compound; they let Jeremiah down by ropes. There was no water in the pit, only mud, and Jeremiah sank into the mud.

[7]Ebed-melech the Cushite, a eunuch who was in the king's palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the pit. The king was then sitting at the Benjamin Gate; [8]so Ebed-melech left the king's palace, and spoke to the king: [9]"O lord king, those men have acted wickedly in all they did to the prophet Jeremiah; they have put him down in the pit, to die there of hunger." For there was no more bread in the city.

[10]Then the king instructed Ebed-melech the Cushite, "Take with you thirty[c] men from here, and pull the prophet Jeremiah up from the pit before he dies." [11]So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went to the king's palace, to [d-]a place below[-d] the treasury. There they got worn cloths and rags, which they let down to Jeremiah in the pit by ropes. [12]And Ebed-melech the Cushite called to Jeremiah, "Put the worn cloths and rags under your armpits, inside the ropes." Jeremiah did so, [13]and they pulled Jeremiah up by the ropes and got him out of the pit. And Jeremiah remained in the prison compound.

[14]King Zedekiah sent for the prophet Jeremiah, and had him brought to him at the third entrance of the House of the LORD. And the king said to Jeremiah, "I want to ask you something; don't conceal anything from me."

[15]Jeremiah answered the king, "If I tell you, you'll surely kill me; and if I give you advice, you won't listen to me."

[16]Thereupon King Zedekiah secretly promised Jeremiah on oath: "As the LORD lives who has [e]-given us this life,-[e] I will not put you to death or leave you in the hands of those men who seek your life."

[17]Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus said the LORD, the God of Hosts, the God of Israel: If you surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life will be spared and this city will not be burned down. You and your household will live. [18]But if you do not surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city will be delivered into the hands of the Chaldeans, who will burn it down; and you will not escape from them."

[19]King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am worried about the Judeans who have defected to the Chaldeans; that they [the Chaldeans] might hand me over to them to abuse me."

[20]"They will not hand you over," Jeremiah replied. "Listen to the voice of the LORD, to what I tell you, that it may go well with you and your life be spared. [21]For this is what the LORD has

day of the fourth month, the [walls of] the city were breached. [3]All the officers of the king of Babylon entered, and took up quarters at the middle gate—Nergal-sarezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim the Rab-saris,[a] Nergal-sarezer the Rab-mag,[a] and all the rest of the officers of the king of Babylon.

[4]When King Zedekiah of Judah saw them, he and all the soldiers fled. They left the city at night, by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the double walls; and he set out toward the Arabah.[b] [5]But the Chaldean troops pursued them, and they overtook Zedekiah in the steppes of Jericho. They captured him and brought him before King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon at Riblah in the region of Hamath; and he put him on trial. [6]The king of Babylon had Zedekiah's children slaughtered at Riblah before his eyes; the king of Babylon had all the nobles of Judah slaughtered. [7]Then the eyes of Zedekiah were put out and he was chained in bronze fetters, that he might be brought to Babylon.

[8]The Chaldeans burned down the king's palace and the houses[c] of the people by fire, and they tore down the walls of Jerusalem. [9]The remnant of the people that was left in the city, and the defectors who had gone over to him—the remnant of the people that was left—were exiled by Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, to Babylon. [10]But some of the poorest people who owned nothing were left in the land of Judah by Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, and he gave them vineyards and fields at that time.

[11]King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon had given orders to Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, concerning Jeremiah: [12]"Take him and look after him; do him no harm, but grant whatever he asks of you." [13]So Nebuzaradan, the chief of

The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, set him free at Ramah, to which he had taken him, chained in fetters, among those from Jerusalem and Judah who were being exiled to Babylon.

[2]The chief of the guards took charge of Jeremiah, and he said to him, "The LORD your God threatened this place with this disaster; [3]and now the LORD has brought it about. He has acted as He threatened, because you sinned against the LORD and did not obey Him. That is why this has happened to you. [4]Now, I release you this day from the fetters which were on your hands. If you would like to go with me to Babylon, come, and I will look after you. And if you don't want to come with me to Babylon, you need not. See, the whole land is before you: go wherever seems good and right to you."—[5][a-]But [Jeremiah] still did not turn back.[-a]—"Or go to Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has put in charge of the towns of Judah, and stay with him among the people, or go wherever you want to go."

The chief of the guards gave him an allowance of food, and dismissed him. [6]So Jeremiah came to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah, and stayed with him among the people who were left in the land.

[7]The officers of the troops in the open country, and their men with them, heard that the king of Babylon had put Gedaliah son of Ahikam in charge of the region, and that he had put in his charge the men, women, and children—of the poorest in the land—those who had not been exiled to Babylon. [8]So they with their men came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael son of Nethaniah; Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah; Seraiah son of Tanhumeth; the sons of Ephai the Netophathite; and Jezaniah son of the Maacathite. [9]Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan reassured[b] them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Stay in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you. [10]I am going to stay in Mizpah to attend upon the Chaldeans who will come to us. But you may gather wine and figs[c] and oil and put them in your own vessels, and settle in the towns you have occupied."

[11]Likewise, all the Judeans who were in Moab, Ammon, and Edom, or who were in other lands, heard that the king of Babylon had let a remnant stay in Judah, and that he had put Gedaliah son

[13]Johanan son of Kareah, and all the officers of the troops in the open country, came to Gedaliah at Mizpah [14]and said to him, "Do you know that King Baalis of Ammon has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to kill you?" But Gedaliah son of Ahikam would not believe them. In the seventh month, Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama, who was of royal descent and one of the king's commanders, came with ten men to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah; and they ate together there at Mizpah. [2]Then Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the ten men who were with him arose and struck down Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan with the sword and killed him, because the king of Babylon had put him in charge of the land. [3]Ishmael also killed all the Judeans who were with him—with Gedaliah in Mizpah—and the Chaldean soldiers who were stationed there.

[4]The second day after Gedaliah was killed, when no one yet knew about it, [5]eighty men came from Shechem, Shiloh, and Samaria, their beards shaved, their garments torn, and their bodies gashed, carrying meal offerings and frankincense to present at the House of the LORD. [6]Ishmael son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he walked. As he met them, he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah son of Ahikam." [7]When they came inside the town, Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the men who were with him slaughtered them [and threw their bodies] into a cistern.

[8]But there were ten men among them who said to Ishmael, "Don't kill us! We have stores hidden in a field—wheat, barley, oil, and honey." So he stopped, and did not kill them along with their fellows.—[9]The cistern into which Ishmael threw all the corpses of the men he had killed [a]in the affair of Gedaliah was the one that[a] King Asa had constructed on account of King Baasha of Israel. That was the one which Ishmael son of Nethaniah filled with corpses.—[10]Ishmael carried off all the rest of the people who were in Mizpah, including the daughters of the king—all the people left in Mizpah, over whom Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam. Ishmael son of Nethaniah carried them off, and set out to cross over to the Ammonites.

[11]Johanan son of Kareah, and all the army officers with him, heard of all the crimes committed by Ishmael son of Nethaniah. [12]They took all their men and went to fight against Ishmael son of Nethaniah; and they encountered him by the great pool in Gibeon. [13]When all the people held by Ishmael saw Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers with him, they were glad; [14]all the people whom Ishmael had carried off from Mizpah turned back and went over to Johanan son of Kareah. [15]But Ishmael son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

Then all the army officers, with Johanan son of Kareah, Jezaniah son of Hoshaiah, and all the rest of the people, great and small, approached 2the prophet Jeremiah and said, "Grant our plea, and pray for us to the LORD your God, for all this remnant! For we remain but a few out of many, as you can see. 3Let the LORD your God tell us where we should go and what we should do."

4The prophet Jeremiah answered them, "Agreed: I will pray to the LORD your God as you request, and I will tell you whatever response the LORD gives for you. I will withhold nothing from you."

5Thereupon they said to Jeremiah, "Let the LORD be a true and faithful witness against us! We swear that we will do exactly as the LORD your God instructs us through you—6Whether it is pleasant or unpleasant, we will obey the LORD our God to whom we send you, in order that it may go well with us when we obey the LORD our God."

7After ten days, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8He called Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers, and the rest of the peo-

When Jeremiah had finished speaking all these words to all the people—all the words of the LORD their God, with which the LORD their God had sent him to them—[2]Azariah son of Hoshaiah and Johanan son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You are lying! The LORD our God did not send you to say, 'Don't go to Egypt and sojourn there'! [3]It is Baruch son of Neriah who is inciting you against us, so that we will be delivered into the hands of the Chaldeans to be killed or to be exiled to Babylon!"

[4]So Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers and the rest of the people did not obey the LORD's command to remain in the land of Judah. [5]Instead, Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers took the entire remnant of Judah—those who had returned from all the countries to which they had been scattered and had sojourned in the land of Judah, [6]men, women, and children; and the daughters of the king and all the people whom Nebuzaradan the chief of the guards had left with Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, as well as the prophet Jeremiah and Baruch son of Neriah—[7]and they went to Egypt. They did not obey the LORD.

to you all My servants the prophets, to say, "I beg you not to do this abominable thing which I hate." [5]But they would not listen or give ear, to turn back from their wickedness and not make offerings to other gods; [6]so My fierce anger was poured out, and it blazed against the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem. And they became a desolate ruin, as they still are today.

[7]And now, thus said the LORD, the God of Hosts, the God of Israel: Why are you doing such great harm to yourselves, so that every man and woman, child and infant of yours shall be cut off from the midst of Judah, and no remnant shall be left of you? [8]For you vex me by your deeds, making offering to other gods in the land of Egypt where you have come to sojourn, so that you shall be cut off and become a curse[a] and a mockery among all the nations of earth. [9]Have you forgotten the wicked acts of your forefathers, of the kings of Judah and their[b] wives, and your own wicked acts and those of your wives, which were committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? [10]No one has shown contrition to this day, and no one has shown reverence. You[c] have not followed the Teaching and the laws that I set before you and before your fathers.

[11]Assuredly, thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to set My face against you for punishment, to cut off all of Judah. [12]I will take the remnant of Judah who turned their faces toward the land of Egypt, to go and sojourn there, and they shall be utterly consumed in the land of Egypt. They shall fall by the sword, they shall be consumed by famine; great and small alike shall die by the sword and by famine, and they shall become an execration[a] and a desolation, a curse[a] and a mockery. those who live in the land of Egypt as I punished Jerusalem, with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence. [14]Of the remnant of Judah who came to sojourn here in the land of Egypt, no survivor or fugitive shall be left to return to the land of Judah. Though they all long to return and dwell there, none shall return except [a few] survivors.

[15]Thereupon they answered Jeremiah—all the men who knew that their wives made offerings to other gods; all the women present, a large gathering; and all the people who lived in Pathros in the land of Egypt: [16]"We will not listen to you in the matter about which you spoke to us in the name of the LORD. [17]On the contrary, we will do *d-everything that we have vowed-d*—to make offerings to the Queen of Heaven and to pour libations to her, as we used to do,[e] we and our fathers, our kings and our officials, in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem. For then we had plenty to eat, we were well-off, and suffered no misfortune. [18]But ever since we stopped making offerings to the Queen of Heaven and pouring libations to her, we have lacked everything, and we have been consumed by the sword and by famine. [19]And when we make offerings to the Queen of Heaven and pour libations to her, is it without our husbands' approval that we have made cakes *f-in her likeness-f* and poured libations to her?"

[20]Jeremiah replied to all the people, men and women—all the people who argued with him. He said, [21]"Indeed, the offerings you presented in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem—you, your fathers, your kings, your officials, and the people of the land—were remembered by the LORD and brought to mind! [22]When the LORD could no longer bear your evil practices and the abominations you committed,

f-f Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

your land became a desolate ruin and a curse,[a] without inhabitant, as is still the case. [23]Because you burned incense and sinned against the LORD and did not obey the LORD, and because you did not follow His Teaching, His laws, and His exhortations, therefore this disaster has befallen you, as is still the case."

[24]Jeremiah further said to all the people and to all the women: "Hear the word of the LORD, all Judeans in the land of Egypt! [25]Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: You and your wives have [g-]confirmed by deed what you spoke in words:[-g] 'We will fulfill the vows which we made, to burn incense to the Queen of Heaven and to pour libations to her.' So fulfill your vows; perform your vows!

[26]"Yet hear the word of the LORD, all Judeans who dwell in the land of Egypt! Lo, I swear by My great name—said the LORD—that none of the men of Judah in all the land of Egypt shall ever again invoke My name, saying, 'As the Lord GOD lives!' [27]I will be watchful over them to their hurt, not to their benefit; all the men of Judah in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by sword and by famine, until they cease to be. [28]Only the few who survive the sword shall return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah. All the remnant of Judah who came to the land of Egypt to sojourn there shall learn whose word will be fulfilled—Mine or theirs!

[29]"And this shall be the sign to you—declares the LORD—that I am going to deal with you in this place, so that you may know that My threats of punishment against you will be fulfilled: [30]Thus said the LORD: I will deliver Pharaoh Hophra, king of Egypt, into the hands of his enemies, those who seek his life, just as I delivered King Zedekiah of Judah into the hands of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, his enemy who sought his life."

g-g Lit. "spoken with your mouth and fulfilled by your hands."

The word which the prophet Jeremiah spoke to Baruch son of Neriah, when he was writing these words in a scroll at Jeremiah's dictation, in the fourth year of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah:

[2]Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning you, Baruch: [3]You say, "Woe is me! The LORD has added grief to my pain. I am worn out with groaning, and I have found no rest." [4]Thus shall you speak to him: "Thus said the LORD: I am going to overthrow what I have built, and uproot what I have planted—[a]this applies to the whole land.[a] [5]And do you expect great things for yourself? Don't expect them. For I am going to bring disaster upon all flesh—declares the LORD—but I will [b]at least grant you your life[b] in all the places where you may go."

The word of the LORD to the prophet Jeremiah concerning the nations.

[2]Concerning Egypt, about the army of Pharaoh Neco, king of Egypt, which was at the river Euphrates near Carchemish, and which was defeated by King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, in the fourth year of King Jehoiakim son of Josiah of Judah.

[3]Get ready buckler and shield,
And move forward to battle!
[4]Harness the horses;
Mount, you horsemen!
Fall in line, helmets on!
Burnish the lances,
Don your armor!
[5]Why do I see them dismayed,
Yielding ground?

Their fighters are crushed,
They flee in haste
And do not turn back—
Terror all around!
—declares the LORD.

[6] [a-]The swift cannot get away,
The warrior cannot escape.[-a]
In the north, by the river Euphrates,
They stagger and fall.

[7] Who is this that rises like the Nile,
Like streams whose waters surge?
[8] It is Egypt that rises like the Nile,
Like streams whose waters surge,
That said, "I will rise,
I will cover the earth,
I will wipe out towns
And those who dwell in them.
[9] Advance, O horses,
Dash madly, O chariots!
Let the warriors go forth,
Cush and Put, that grasp the shield,
And the Ludim who grasp and draw the bow!"

[10] But that day shall be for the Lord GOD of Hosts a day when He exacts retribution from His foes. The sword shall devour; it shall be sated and drunk with their blood. For the Lord GOD of Hosts is preparing a sacrifice in the northland, by the river Euphrates.

[11] Go up to Gilead and get balm,
Fair Maiden Egypt.
In vain do you seek many remedies,
There is no healing for you.
[12] Nations have heard your shame;
The earth resounds with your screams.
For warrior stumbles against warrior;
The two fall down together.

a-a Lit. "Let not the swift get away, / Let not the warrior escape."

[13]The word which the LORD spoke to the prophet Jeremiah about the coming of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon to attack the land of Egypt:

[14]Declare in Egypt, proclaim in Migdol,
Proclaim in Noph and Tahpanhes!
Say: Take your posts and stand ready,
For the sword has devoured all around you!
[15]Why are your stalwarts swept away?
They did not stand firm,
For the LORD thrust them down;
[16]He made many stumble,
They fell over one another.

They said:
"Up! Let us return to our people,
To the land of our birth,
Because of the deadly[b] sword."
[17]There they called Pharaoh king of Egypt:
[b-]"Braggart who let the hour go by."[-b]

[18]As I live—declares the King,
Whose name is LORD of Hosts—
[b-]As surely as Tabor is among the mountains
And Carmel is by the sea,
So shall this come to pass.[-b]
[19]Equip yourself for exile,
Fair Egypt, you who dwell secure!
For Noph shall become a waste,
Desolate, without inhabitants.
[20]Egypt is a handsome heifer—
A gadfly[c] from the north [d-]is coming, coming![-d]
[21]The mercenaries, too, in her midst
Are like stall-fed calves;
They too shall turn tail,
Flee as one, and make no stand.

Handed over to the people of the north.

[25]The LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel, has said: I will inflict punishment on Amon[e] of No and on Pharaoh—on Egypt, her gods, and her kings—on Pharaoh and all who rely on him. [26]I will deliver them into the hands of those who seek to kill them, into the hands of King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon and into the hands of his subjects. But afterward she shall be inhabited again as in former days, declares the LORD.

[27]But you,
Have no fear, My servant Jacob,
Be not dismayed, O Israel!
I will deliver you from far away,
Your folk from their land of captivity;
And Jacob again shall have calm
And quiet, with none to trouble him.
[28]But you, have no fear,
My servant Jacob
—declares the LORD—
For I am with you.
I will make an end of all the nations
Among which I have banished you,
But I will not make an end of you!
I will not leave you unpunished,
But I will chastise you in measure.

47

The word of the LORD that came to the prophet Jeremiah concerning the Philistines, before Pharaoh conquered Gaza.

2 Thus said the LORD:
See, waters are rising from the north,
They shall become a raging torrent,
They shall flood the land and its creatures,
The towns and their inhabitants.
Men shall cry out,
All the inhabitants of the land shall howl,
3 At the clatter of the stamping hoofs of his stallions,
At the noise of his chariots,
The rumbling of their wheels,
Fathers shall not look to their children
Out of [a]sheer helplessness[a]
4 Because of the day that is coming
For ravaging all the Philistines,
For cutting off every last ally
Of Tyre and Sidon.
For the LORD will ravage the Philistines,
The remnant from the island of Caphtor.
5 Baldness[b] has come upon Gaza,
Ashkelon is destroyed.
O remnant of [c]their valley,[c]
How long will you [b]gash yourself?[b]

6 "O sword of the LORD,
When will you be quiet at last?
Withdraw into your sheath,
Rest and be still!"

7 How can it[d] be quiet
When the LORD has given it orders
Against Ashkelon and the seacoast,
Given it assignment there?

a-a Lit. "weakness of hands."
b Shaving the head and gashing the body were expressions of mourning; cf. Deut. 14.1.
c-c Septuagint reads "the Anakites"; cf. Josh. 11.22.
d Heb. "you."

48 Concerning Moab.[a]

מח לְמוֹאָב

Thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel:
Alas, that Nebo should be ravaged,
Kiriathaim captured and shamed,
[b-]The stronghold[-b] shamed and dismayed!
[2]Moab's glory is no more;
In Heshbon they have planned[c] evil against her:
"Come, let us make an end of her as a nation!"
You too, O Madmen, shall be silenced;[d]
The sword is following you.
[3]Hark! an outcry from Horonaim,
Destruction and utter ruin!

כֹּה־אָמַר יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל
הוֹי אֶל־נְבוֹ כִּי שֻׁדָּדָה
הֹבִישָׁה נִלְכְּדָה קִרְיָתָיִם
הֹבִישָׁה הַמִּשְׂגָּב וָחָתָּה׃
2 אֵין עוֹד תְּהִלַּת מוֹאָב
בְּחֶשְׁבּוֹן חָשְׁבוּ עָלֶיהָ רָעָה
לְכוּ וְנַכְרִיתֶנָּה מִגּוֹי
גַּם־מַדְמֵן תִּדֹּמִּי
אַחֲרַיִךְ תֵּלֶךְ חָרֶב׃
3 קוֹל צְעָקָה מֵחֹרוֹנָיִם
שֹׁד וָשֶׁבֶר גָּדוֹל׃

[4]Moab is broken;
[e-]Her young ones cry aloud;[-e]
[5]They climb to Luhith
Weeping continually;
On the descent to Horonaim
A distressing cry of anguish is heard:
[6]Flee, save your lives!
[f-]And be like Aroer in the desert.[-f]

4 נִשְׁבְּרָה מוֹאָב
הִשְׁמִיעוּ זְּעָקָה צעוריה צְעִירֶיהָ׃
5 כִּי מַעֲלֵה הלחות הַלֻּחִית
בִּבְכִי יַעֲלֶה־בֶּכִי
כִּי בְּמוֹרַד חוֹרֹנַיִם
צָרֵי צַעֲקַת־שֶׁבֶר שָׁמֵעוּ׃
6 נֻסוּ מַלְּטוּ נַפְשְׁכֶם
וְתִהְיֶינָה כַּעֲרוֹעֵר בַּמִּדְבָּר׃

[7]Surely, because of your trust
In your wealth and in your treasures,
You too shall be captured.
And Chemosh shall go forth to exile,
Together with his priests and attendants.
[8]The ravager shall come to every town;
No town shall escape.
The valley shall be devastated
And the tableland laid waste
—because the LORD has spoken.
[9]Give [f-]wings to Moab,

7 כִּי יַעַן בִּטְחֵךְ

8 וְיָבֹא שֹׁדֵד אֶל־כָּל־עִיר
וְעִיר לֹא תִמָּלֵט
וְאָבַד הָעֵמֶק
וְנִשְׁמַד הַמִּישֹׁר
אֲשֶׁר אָמַר יְהוָה׃
9 תְּנוּ־צִיץ לְמוֹאָב

a A number of parallels to this chapter occur in Isa. 15–16.
b-b Or "Misgab."
c Heb. ḥashebu, play on Heshbon.
d Heb. tiddommi, play on Madmen, the name of a town.
e-e Emendation yields "They cry aloud as far as Zoar"; cf. Isa. 15.5.
f-f Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

For she must go hence.[f]
Her towns shall become desolate,
With no one living in them.

[10]Cursed be he who is slack in doing the LORD's work! Cursed be he who withholds his sword from blood!

[11]Moab has been secure from his youth on—
He is settled on his lees
And has not been poured from vessel to vessel—
He has never gone into exile.
Therefore his fine flavor has remained
And his bouquet is unspoiled.

[12]But days are coming—declares the LORD—when I will send men against him to tip him over; they shall empty his vessels and smash his jars. [13]And Moab shall be shamed because of Chemosh, as the House of Israel were shamed because of Bethel, on whom they relied.

[14]How can you say: We are warriors,
Valiant men for war?
[15]Moab is ravaged,
His towns have been entered,
His choice young men
Have gone down to the slaughter
—declares the King whose name is LORD of Hosts.
[16]The doom of Moab is coming close,
His downfall is approaching swiftly.
[17]Condole with him, all who live near him,
All you who know him by name!
Say: "Alas, the strong rod is broken,
The lordly staff!"

[18]Descend from glory
And sit in thirst,[f]

29We have heard of Moab's pride—
Most haughty is he—
Of his arrogance and pride,
His haughtiness and self-exaltation.
30I know his insolence—declares the LORD—the wickedness that is in him,[h] the wickedness [i]he has[i] committed.
31Therefore I will howl for Moab,
I will cry out for all Moab,
I[j] will moan for the men of Kir-heres.
32With greater weeping than for Jazer
I weep for you, O vine of Sibmah,
Whose tendrils crossed the sea,
Reached to the sea,[f] to Jazer.
A ravager has come down
Upon your fig and grape harvests.
33Rejoicing and gladness
Are gone from the farm land,
From the country of Moab;
I have put an end to wine in the presses,
No one treads [the grapes] with shouting—
[f]The shout is a shout no more.[f]
34There is an outcry from Heshbon to Elealeh,
They raise their voices as far as Jahaz,
From Zoar to Horonaim and Eglath-shelishiah.
The waters of Nimrim
Shall also become desolation.
35And I will make an end in Moab
—declares the LORD—
Of those who offer at a shrine
And burn incense to their god.
36Therefore,
My heart moans for Moab like a flute;
Like a flute my heart moans
For the men of Kir-heres—
[f]Therefore,
The gains they have made shall vanish[f]—
37For every head is bald

Flame from the midst[l] of Sihon,
Consuming the brow of Moab,
The pate of the people of Shaon.[m]
[46]Woe to you, O Moab!
The people of Chemosh are undone,
For your sons are carried off into captivity,
Your daughters into exile.
[47]But I will restore the fortunes of Moab in the days to come—declares the LORD.

Thus far is the judgment on Moab.

49 Concerning the Ammonites.

Thus said the LORD:
Has Israel no sons,
Has he no heir?
Then why has Milcom[a] dispossessed Gad,
And why have his people settled in Gad's[b] towns?
[2]Assuredly, days are coming
—declares the LORD—
When I will sound the alarm of war
Against Rabbah of the Ammonites;
It shall become a desolate mound,
And its villages shall be set on fire.
And Israel shall dispossess
Those who dispossessed him
—said the LORD.
[3]Howl, O Heshbon, for Ai is ravaged!
Cry out, O daughters of Rabbah!
Gird on sackcloth, lament,
[c]And run to and fro in the sheepfolds.[c]
For Milcom shall go into exile,
Together with his priests and attendants.

Your strength is drained,-[d]
O rebellious daughter,
You who relied on your treasures,
[Who said:] Who dares attack me?
[5] I am bringing terror upon you
—declares the Lord GOD of Hosts—

Every one of you shall be driven [e]-in every direction,-[e]
And none shall gather in the fugitives.

[7] Concerning Edom.

Thus said the LORD of Hosts:
Is there no more wisdom in Teman?
Has counsel vanished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom gone stale?
[8] Flee, turn away, sit down low,
O inhabitants of Dedan,
For I am bringing Esau's doom upon him,
The time when I deal with him.
[9] [f]-If vintagers were to come upon you,
Would they leave no gleanings?
Even thieves in the night
Would destroy only for their needs!-[f]
[10] But it is I who have bared Esau,
Have exposed his place of concealment;
He cannot hide.
His offspring is ravaged,
His kin and his neighbors—
[g]-He is no more.-[g]
[11] "Leave your orphans with me,
I will rear them;
Let your widows rely on me!"

[2]Declare among the nations, and proclaim;
Raise a standard, proclaim;
Hide nothing! Say:
Babylon is captured,
Bel[a] is shamed,
Merodach[a] is dismayed.
Her idols are shamed,
Her fetishes dismayed.
[3]For a nation from the north has attacked her,
It will make her land a desolation.
No one shall dwell in it,
Both man and beast shall wander away.

[4]In those days and at that time—declares the LORD—the people of Israel together with the people of Judah shall come, and they shall weep as they go to seek the LORD their God. [5]They shall inquire for Zion; in that direction their faces shall turn; [b-]they shall come[-b] and attach themselves to the LORD by a covenant for all time, which shall never be forgotten. [6]My people were lost sheep: their shepherds led them astray, they drove them out to the mountains, they roamed from mount to hill, they forgot their own resting place. [17]Israel are scattered sheep, harried by lions. First the king of Assyria devoured them, and in the end King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon crunched their bones. [18]Assuredly, thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel: I will deal with the king of Babylon and his land as I dealt with the king of Assyria. [19]And I will lead Israel back to his pasture, and he shall graze in Carmel and Bashan, and eat his fill in the hill country of Ephraim and in Gilead.

[20]In those days and at that time
—declares the LORD—
The iniquity of Israel shall be sought,
And there shall be none;
The sins of Judah,
And none shall be found;
For I will pardon those I allow to survive.

e Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

Ruin and destroy after them to the last
—says the LORD—
Do just as I have commanded you.
[22]Hark! War in the land
And vast destruction!
[23]How the hammer of the whole earth
Has been hacked and shattered!
How Babylon has become
An appallment among the nations!
[24]I set a snare for you, O Babylon,
And you were trapped unawares;
You were found and caught,
Because you challenged the LORD.
[25]The LORD has opened His armory
And brought out the weapons of His wrath;
For that is the task
Of my Lord GOD of Hosts
In the land of the Chaldeans.
[26]Come against her [e]from every quarter;[e]
Break open her granaries,
[e]Pile her up like heaps of grain,[e]
And destroy her, let her have no remnant!
[27][f]Destroy all[f] her bulls,
Let them go down to slaughter.
Alas for them, their day is come,
The hour of their doom!
[28]Hark! fugitives are escaping
From the land of Babylon,
To tell in Zion of the vengeance of the LORD our God,
Vengeance for His Temple.

[29]Summon archers against Babylon,
All who draw the bow!
Encamp against her roundabout,
Let none of her people escape.
Pay her back for her actions,

v. 29. קריא ולא כתיב

Do to her just what she has done;
For she has acted insolently against the LORD,
The Holy One of Israel.
[30]Assuredly, her young men shall fall in her squares,
And all her warriors shall perish in that day
—declares the LORD.
[31]I am going to deal with you, O Insolence
—declares the Lord GOD of Hosts—
For your day is come, the time when I doom you:
[32]Insolence shall stumble and fall,
With none to raise her up.
I will set her cities on fire,
And it shall consume everything around her.

[33]Thus said the LORD of Hosts:
The people of Israel are oppressed,
And so too the people of Judah;
All their captors held them,
They refused to let them go.
[34]Their Redeemer is mighty,
His name is LORD of Hosts.
He will champion their cause—
So as to give rest to the earth,
And unrest to the inhabitants of Babylon.

[35]A sword against the Chaldeans
—declares the LORD—
And against the inhabitants of Babylon,
Against its officials and its wise men!
[36]A sword against the diviners, that they be made fools of!
A sword against the warriors, that they be dismayed!
[37]A sword against its horses and chariots,
And against all the motley crowd in its midst,
That they become like women!
A sword against its treasuries, that they be pillaged!

[39]Assuredly,

And ostriches shall dwell there;
It shall never be settled again,
Nor inhabited throughout the ages.

[40]It shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighbors—declares the LORD; no man shall live there, no human shall sojourn there.

[41]Lo, a people comes from the northland;
A great nation and many kings are roused
From the remotest parts of the earth.
[42]They grasp the bow and javelin,
They are cruel, they show no mercy;
The sound of them is like the roaring sea.
They ride upon horses,
Accoutered like a man for battle,
Against you, O Fair Babylon!
[43]The king of Babylon has heard the report of them,
And his hands are weakened;
Anguish seizes him,
Pangs like a woman in childbirth.

[44]It shall be as when a lion comes out of the jungle of the Jordan against a secure pasture: in a moment [h]-I can harry them out of it and appoint over it anyone I choose.-[h] Then who is like Me? Who can summon Me? Who is the shepherd that can stand up against Me? [45]Hear, then, the plan that the LORD has devised against Babylon, and has purposed against the land of Chaldea:

Surely the shepherd boys
Shall drag them away;
Surely the pasture shall be
Aghast because of them.
46At the sound of Babylon's capture
The earth quakes,
And an outcry is heard among the nations.

51

Thus said the LORD:
See, I am rousing a destructive wind
Against Babylon and the inhabitants of Leb-kamai.[a] 2I will send strangers[b] against Babylon, and they shall winnow her.
And they shall strip her land bare;
They shall beset her on all sides
On the day of disaster.
3Let[c] the archer draw his bow,
And let him stand ready in his coat of mail!
Show no pity to her young men,
Wipe out all her host!
4Let them fall slain in the land of Chaldea,
Pierced through in her streets.

5For Israel and Judah were not bereft[d]
Of their God the LORD of Hosts,
But their land was filled with guilt
Before the Holy One of Israel.

6Flee from the midst of Babylon
And save your lives, each of you!
Do not perish for her iniquity;
For this is a time of vengeance for the LORD,
He will deal retribution to her.

b Change of vocalization yields "winnowers."
c Some Heb. mss. and ancient versions read "Let not" here and in next line.

v. 3. כתיב ולא קריא

[7]Babylon was a golden cup in the LORD's hand,
It made the whole earth drunk;
The nations drank of her wine—
That is why the nations are mad.
[8]Suddenly Babylon has fallen and is shattered;
Howl over her!
Get balm for her wounds:
Perhaps she can be healed.
[9]We tried to cure Babylon
But she was incurable.
Let us leave her and go,
Each to his own land;
For her punishment reaches to heaven,
It is as high as the sky.
[10]The LORD has proclaimed our vindication;
Come, let us recount in Zion
The deeds of the LORD our God.

[11]Polish the arrows,
Fill the quivers!
The LORD has roused the spirit of the kings of Media,
For His plan against Babylon is to destroy her.
This is the vengeance of the LORD,
Vengeance for His Temple.

[12]Raise a standard against the walls of Babylon!
Set up a blockade; station watchmen;
Prepare those in ambush.
For the LORD has both planned and performed
What He decreed against the inhabitants of Babylon.

[13]O you who dwell by great waters,
With vast storehouses,
Your time is come, [e]the hour of your end.[e]
[14]The LORD of Hosts has sworn by Himself:

*v. 9 חסר א׳

e-e Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

I will fill you with men like a locust swarm,
They will raise a shout against you.

[15]He made the earth by His might,
Established the world by His wisdom,
And by His understanding stretched out the skies.
[16]f-When He makes His voice heard,-f
There is a rumbling of waters in the skies;
He makes vapors rise from the end of the earth,
He makes lightning for the rain,
And brings forth wind from His treasuries.
[17]Every man is proved dull, without knowledge;
Every goldsmith is put to shame because of the idol,
For his molten image is a deceit—
There is no breath in them.
[18]They are delusion, a work of mockery;
In their hour of doom, they shall perish.
[19]Not like these is the Portion of Jacob,
For it is He who formed all things;
And [Israel is] His very own tribe.
LORD of Hosts is His name.

[20]You are My war club, [My] weapons of battle;
With you I clubbed nations,
With you I destroyed kingdoms;
[21]With you I clubbed horse and rider,
With you I clubbed chariot and driver,
[22]With you I clubbed man and woman,
With you I clubbed graybeard and boy,
With you I clubbed youth and maiden;
[23]With you I clubbed shepherd and flock,
With you I clubbed plowman and team,
With you I clubbed governors and prefects.

v. 19. מלא ו׳

For all the wicked things they did to Zion before your eyes
—declares the LORD.

25See, I will deal with you, O mountain of the destroyer
—declares the LORD—
Destroyer of the whole earth!
I will stretch out My hand against you
And roll you down from the crags,
And make you a burnt-out mountain.
26They shall never take from you
A cornerstone or foundation stone;
You shall be a desolation for all time
—declares the LORD.
27Raise a standard on earth,
Sound a horn among the nations,
Appoint nations against her,
Assemble kingdoms against her—
Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz—
Designate a marshal against her,
Bring up horses like swarming[e] locusts!
28Appoint nations for war against her—
The kings of Media,
Her governors and all her prefects,
And all the lands they rule!

29Then the earth quakes and writhes,
For the LORD's purpose is fulfilled against Babylon,
To make the land of Babylon
A waste without inhabitant.
30The warriors of Babylon stop fighting,
They sit in the strongholds,
Their might is dried up,
They become women.
Her dwellings are set afire,
Her bars are broken.

To report to the king of Babylon
That his city is captured, from end to end.
[32]The fords are captured,
And the swamp thickets[e] are consumed in fire;
And the fighting men are in panic.

[33]For thus said the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel:
Fair Babylon is like a threshing floor
Ready to be trodden;
In a little while her harvesttime will come.

[34]"Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon
Devoured me and discomfited me;
He swallowed me like a dragon,
He filled his belly with my dainties,
And set me down like an empty dish;
Then he [e]-rinsed me out.-[e]
[35]Let the violence done me and my kindred
Be upon Babylon,"
Says the inhabitant of Zion;
"And let my blood be upon the inhabitants of Chaldea," Says Jerusalem.

[36]Assuredly, thus said the LORD:
I am going to uphold your cause
And take vengeance for you;
I will dry up her sea
And make her fountain run dry.
[37]Babylon shall become rubble,
A den for jackals,
An object of horror and hissing,[g]
Without inhabitant.
[38]Like lions, they roar together,
They growl like lion cubs.
[39][h]-When they are heated, I will set out their drink

[40]I will bring them down like lambs for slaughter,
Like rams and he-goats.
[41]How has Sheshach[i] been captured,
The praise of the whole earth been taken!
How has Babylon become
A horror to the nations!
[42]The sea has risen over Babylon,
She is covered by its roaring waves.
[43]Her towns are a desolation,
A land of desert and steppe,
A land no man lives in
And no human passes through.
[44]And I will deal with Bel in Babylon,
And make him disgorge what he has swallowed,
And nations shall no more gaze on him with joy.
Even the wall of Babylon shall fall.

[45]Depart from there, O My people,
Save your lives, each of you,
From the furious anger of the LORD.
[46]Do not be downhearted or afraid
At the rumors heard in the land:
A rumor will come one year,
And another rumor the next year
Of violence in the land,
And of ruler against ruler.
[47]Assuredly, days are coming,
When I will deal with Babylon's images;
Her whole land shall be shamed,
And all her slain shall fall in her midst.
[48]Heavens and earth and all that is in them
Shall shout over Babylon;

—declares the LORD.

49Yes, Babylon is to fall
[For] the slain of Israel,
As the slain of all the earth
Have fallen through Babylon.

Go, don't delay!

Though she fortify her strongholds up to heaven,
The ravagers would come against her from Me

54Hark! an outcry from Babylon,
Great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans.
55For the LORD is ravaging Babylon;
He will put an end to her great din,
Whose roar is like waves of mighty waters,
Whose tumultuous noise resounds.
56For a ravager is coming upon Babylon,
Her warriors shall be captured, their bows shall be snapped.
For the LORD is a God of requital,
He deals retribution.

[59] The instructions that the prophet Jeremiah gave to Seraiah son of Neriah son of Mahseiah, when the latter went with[j] King Zedekiah of Judah to Babylonia, in the fourth year of [Zedekiah's] reign. Seraiah was quartermaster.[e] [60] Jeremiah wrote down in one scroll all the disaster that would come upon Babylon, all these things that are written concerning Babylon. [61] And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you get to Babylon, see that you read out all these words. [62] And say, 'O LORD, You Yourself have declared concerning this place that it shall be cut off, without inhabitant, man or beast; that it shall be a desolation for all time.' [63] And when you finish reading this scroll, tie a stone to it and hurl it into the Euphrates. [64] And say, 'Thus shall Babylon sink and never rise again, because of the disaster that I will bring upon it. And [nations] shall have wearied themselves [for fire].'"[k]

Jehoiakim had done. 3Indeed, Jerusalem and Judah [b]-were a cause of anger for the LORD, so that-[b] He cast them out of His presence.

Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. 4And in the ninth year of his[c] reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, King Nebuchadrezzar moved against Jerusalem with his whole army. They besieged it and built towers against it all around. 5The city continued in a state of siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 6By the ninth day of the fourth month, the famine had become acute in the city; there was no food left for the common people.

7Then [the wall of] the city was breached. All the soldiers fled; they left the city by night through the gate between the double walls, which is near the king's garden—the Chaldeans were all around the city—and they set out for the Arabah.[d] 8But the Chaldean troops pursued the king, and they overtook Zedekiah in the steppes of Jericho, as his entire force left him and scattered. 9They captured the king and brought him before the king of Babylon at Riblah, in the region of Hamath; and he put him on trial. 10The king of Babylon had Zedekiah's sons slaughtered before his eyes; he also had all the officials of Judah slaughtered at Riblah. 11Then the eyes of Zedekiah were put out, and he was chained in bronze fetters. The king of Babylon brought him to Babylon and put him in prison, [where he remained] to the day of his death.

12On the tenth day of the fifth month—that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadrezzar, the king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, came [e]-to represent-[e] the king of Babylon in Jerusalem. 13He burned the House of the LORD, the king's palace, and all the houses of Jerusalem; he burned down the house of [b]every notable person.[-b] [14]The entire Chaldean force that was with the chief of the guards tore down all the walls of Jerusalem on every side. [15]The remnant of the people left in the city, the defectors who had gone over to the king of Babylon, and what remained of the craftsmen[f] were taken into exile by Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards. But some of the poorest elements of the population—[16]some of the poorest in the land—were left by Nebuzaradan, the chief of the guards, to be vine-dressers and field hands.

[17]The Chaldeans broke up the bronze columns of the House of the LORD, the stands, and the bronze tank that was in the House of the LORD; and they carried all the bronze away to Babylon. [18]They also took the pails, scrapers, snuffers, sprinkling bowls, ladles, and all the other bronze vessels used in the service. [19]The chief of the guards took whatever was of gold and whatever was of silver: basins, fire pans, sprinkling bowls, pails, lampstands, ladles, and jars. [20]The two columns, the one tank and the twelve bronze oxen which supported it, and the stands, which King Solomon had provided for the House of the LORD—all these objects contained bronze beyond weighing. [21]As for the columns, each was eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in circumference; it was hollow, and [the metal] was four fingers thick. [22]It had a bronze capital above it; the height of each capital was five cubits, and there was a meshwork [decorated] with pomegranates about the capital, all made of bronze; and so for the second column, also with pomegranates. [23]There were ninety-six pomegranates [b]facing outward;[-b] all the pomegranates around the meshwork amounted to one hundred.

יחזקאל

1 In the thirtieth year,[a] on the fifth day of the fourth month, when I was in the community of exiles by the Chebar Canal, the heavens opened and I saw visions of God. [2]On the fifth day of the month—it was the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin—[3]the word of the Lord came to the priest Ezekiel son of Buzi, by the Chebar Canal, in the land of the Chaldeans. And the hand of the Lord came upon him there.

[4]I looked, and lo, a stormy wind came sweeping out of the north—a huge cloud and flashing fire, surrounded by a radiance; and in the center of it, in the center of the fire, a gleam as of amber. [5]In the center of it were also the figures of four creatures. And this was their appearance:

They had the figures of human beings. [6]However, each had four faces, and each of them had four wings; [7]the legs of each were [fused into] a single rigid leg, and the feet of each were like a single calf's hoof;[b] and their sparkle[c] was like the luster of burnished bronze. [8]They had human hands below their wings. The four of them had their faces and their wings on their four sides. [9]Each one's wings touched those of the other. They did not turn when they moved; each could move in the direction of any of its faces.

[10]Each of them had a human face [at the front]; each of the four had the face of a lion on the right; each of the four had the face of an ox on the left; and each of the four had the face of an eagle [at the back]. [11]Such were their faces. As for their wings, they were separated: above, each had two touching those of the others, while the other two covered its body. 12And each could move in the direction of any of its faces; they went wherever the spirit impelled them to go, without turning when they moved.

13Such then was the appearance of the creatures. With them was something that looked like burning coals of fire. This fire, suggestive of torches, kept moving about among the creatures; the fire had a radiance, and lightning issued from the fire. 14*d*-Dashing to and fro [among] the creatures was something that looked like flares.-d

15As I gazed on the creatures, I saw one wheel on the ground next to each of the four-faced creatures. 16As for the appearance and structure of the wheels, they gleamed like beryl. All four had the same form; the appearance and structure of each was as of two wheels cutting through each other. 17And when they moved, each could move in the direction of any of its four quarters; they did not veer when they moved. 18Their rims were tall and frightening, for the rims of all four were covered all over with eyes. 19And when the creatures moved forward, the wheels moved at their sides; and when the creatures were borne above the earth, the wheels were borne too. 20Wherever the spirit impelled them to go, they went—wherever the spirit impelled them—and the wheels were borne alongside them; for the spirit of the creatures was in the wheels. 21When those moved, these moved; and when those stood still, these stood still; and when those were borne above the earth, the wheels were borne alongside them—for the spirit of the creatures was in the wheels.

22Above the heads of the creatures was a form: an expanse, with an awe-inspiring gleam as of crystal, was spread out above their heads. 23Under the expanse, each had one pair of wings extended toward those of the others; and each had another pair covering its body. [24]When they moved, I could hear the sound of their wings like the sound of mighty waters, like the sound of Shaddai,[e] a tumult like the din of an army. When they stood still, they would let their wings droop. [25][d]-From above the expanse over their heads came a sound.-[d] When they stood still, they would let their wings droop.

[26]Above the expanse over their heads was the semblance of a throne, in appearance like sapphire; and on top, upon this semblance of a throne, there was the semblance of a human form. [27]From what appeared as his loins up, I saw a gleam as of amber—[d]-what looked like a fire encased in a frame;-[d] and from what appeared as his loins down, I saw what looked like fire. [10]Then He said to me: "Mortal, listen with your ears and receive into your mind all the words that I speak to you. [11]Go to your people, the exile community, and speak to them. Say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD—whether they listen or not." [12]Then a spirit carried me away, and behind me I heard a great roaring sound: [a-]"Blessed is the Presence of the LORD, in His place,"[-a] [13]with the sound of the wings of the creatures beating against one another, and the sound of the wheels beside them—a great roaring sound. [14]A spirit seized me and carried me away. I went in bitterness, in the fury of my spirit, while the hand of the LORD was strong upon me. [15]And I came to the exile community that dwelt in Tel Abib by the Chebar Canal, and I remained where they dwelt. And for seven days I sat there stunned among them.

[16]After those seven days, the word of the LORD came to me: [17]"O mortal, I appoint you watchman for the House of Israel; and when you hear a word from My mouth, you must warn them for Me. [18]If I say to a wicked man, 'You shall die,' and you do not warn him—you do not speak to warn the wicked man of his wicked course in order to save his life—he, the wicked man, shall die for his iniquity, but I will require a reckoning for his blood from you. [19]But if you do warn the wicked man, and he does not turn back from his wickedness and his wicked course, he shall die for his iniquity, but you will have saved your own life. [20]Again, if a righteous man abandons his righteousness and does wrong, when I put a stumbling block before him, he shall die. He shall die for his sins; the righteous deeds that he did shall not be remembered; but because you did not warn him, I will require a reckoning for his blood from you. [21]If,

The word of the LORD came to me: 2O mortal, turn your face toward the mountains of Israel and prophesy to them 3and say: O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD. Thus said the Lord GOD to the mountains and the hills, to the streams and the valleys: See, I will bring a sword against you and destroy your shrines. 4Your altars shall be wrecked and your incense stands smashed, and I will hurl down your slain in front of your fetishes. 5I will cast the corpses of the people of Israel in front of their fetishes, and scatter your bones around your altars [6]in all your settlements. The towns shall be laid waste and the shrines shall be devastated. Thus your altars shall be laid waste and [a]-bear their punishment;-[a] your fetishes shall be smashed and annihilated, your incense stands cut down, and your handiwork wiped out; [7]and the slain shall fall in your midst. Then you shall know that I am the LORD. [8]Yet I will leave a remnant, in that some of you shall escape the sword among the nations and be scattered through the lands. [9]And those of you that escape will remember Me among the nations where they have been taken captive, [b]-how I was brokenhearted through-[b] their faithless hearts which turned away from Me, and through their eyes which lusted after their fetishes. And they shall loathe themselves for all the evil they committed and for all their abominable deeds. [10]Then they shall realize it was not without cause that I the LORD resolved to bring this evil upon them.

[11]Thus said the Lord GOD: Strike your hands together and stamp your feet and cry: Aha! over all the vile abominations of the House of Israel who shall fall by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. [12]He who is far away shall die of pestilence, and he who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who survives and is protected shall die of famine. Thus I will spend My fury upon them. [13]And you shall know that I am the LORD, when your slain lie among the fetishes round about their altars, on every high hill, on all the mountaintops, under every green tree, and under every leafy oak—wherever they presented pleasing odors to all their fetishes.

[14]I will stretch out My hand against them, and lay the land waste and desolate in all their settlements, from the wilderness as far as Diblah;[c] then they shall know that I am the LORD.

The word of the LORD came to me: 2You, O mortal, [say:] Thus said the Lord GOD to the land of Israel: Doom! Doom is coming upon the four corners of the land. 3Now doom is upon you! I will let loose My anger against you and judge you according to your ways; I will requite you for all your abominations. 4I will show you no pity and no compassion; but I will requite you for your ways and for the abominations in your midst. And you shall know that I am the LORD.

5Thus said the Lord GOD: [a]A singular disaster; a disaster-[a] is coming. 6Doom is coming! The hour of doom is coming! It stirs against you; there it comes! 7[b]The cycle has come around for you, O inhabitants of the land; the time has come; the day is near. There is panic on the mountains, not joy.-[b] 8Very soon I will pour out My wrath upon you and spend My anger on you; I will judge you according to your ways, and I will requite you for all your abominations. 9I will show you no pity and no compassion; but I will requite you for your ways, and for the abominations in your midst. And you shall know it was I the LORD who punished.

10Here is the day! See, the [b]cycle has come round; it has appeared. The rod has blossomed; arrogance has budded, 11lawlessness has grown into a rod of wickedness. Nothing comes of them, nor of their abundance, nor of their wealth; nor is there preeminence among them.-[b] 12The time has come, the day has arrived. Let not the buyer rejoice nor the seller mourn—for divine wrath shall overtake all her multitude. 13For the seller shall not return to what he sold so long as they remain among the living. For the vision concerns all her multitude, it shall not be revoked. And because of his guilt, no man shall hold fast to his life.

In the sixth year, on the fifth day of the sixth month, I was sitting at home, and the elders of Judah were sitting before me, and there the hand of the Lord GOD fell upon me. [2]As I looked, there was a figure that had the appearance of fire:[a] from what appeared as his loins down, [he was] fire; and from his loins up, his appearance was resplendent and had the color of amber. [3]He stretched out the form of a hand, and took me by the hair of my head. A spirit lifted me up between heaven and earth and brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the Penimith[b] Gate that faces north; that was the site of the infuriating image that provokes fury. [4]And the Presence of the God of Israel appeared there, like the vision that I had seen in the valley.[c]

[5]And He said to me, "O mortal, turn your eyes northward." I turned my eyes northward, and there, [d]north of the gate of the altar, was[d] that infuriating image on the approach.[b] [6]And He said to me, "Mortal, do you see what they are doing, the terrible abominations that the House of Israel is practicing here, [e]to drive Me far[e] from My Sanctuary? You shall yet see even greater abominations!"

[7]Then He brought me to the entrance of the court;[f] and I looked, and there was a hole in the wall. [8]He said to me, "Mortal, break through the wall"; so I broke through the wall and found an entrance. [9]And He said to me, "Enter and see the vile abominations that they are practicing here." [10]I entered and looked, and there all detestable forms of creeping things and beasts and all the fetishes of the House of Israel were depicted over the entire wall. [11]Before them stood seventy men, elders of the House of Israel, with Jaazaniah son of Shaphan standing in their midst. Everyone had a censer in his hand, and a thick cloud of incense smoke ascended. [12]Again He spoke to me, "O mortal, have you seen what the elders of the House of Israel are doing in the darkness, everyone in his image-covered chamber? For they say, 'The LORD does not see us; the LORD has abandoned the country.'" [13]And He said to me, "You shall see even more terrible abominations which they practice."

[14]Next He brought me to the entrance of the north [g]-gate of the House of the LORD;-[g] and there sat the women bewailing Tammuz.[h] [15]He said to me, "Have you seen, O mortal? You shall see even more terrible abominations than these."

[16]Then He brought me into the inner court of the House of the LORD, and there, at the entrance to the Temple of the LORD, between the portico and the altar, were about twenty-five men, their backs to the Temple of the LORD and their faces to the east; they were bowing low to the sun in the east. [17]And He said to me, "Do you see, O mortal? Is it not enough for the House of Judah to practice the abominations that they have committed here, that they must fill the country with lawlessness and provoke Me still further and [i]-thrust the branch to their nostrils?-[i] [18]I in turn will act with fury, I will show no pity or compassion; though they cry aloud to Me, I will not listen to them."

Then He called loudly in my hearing, saying, "Approach, you men in charge of the city, each bearing his weapons of destruction!" [2]And six men entered by way of the upper gate that faces north, each with his club in his hand; and among them was another, clothed in linen, with a writing case at his waist. They came forward and stopped at the bronze altar. [3]Now the Presence of the God of Israel had moved from the cherub on which it had rested to the platform[a] of the House. He called to the man clothed in linen with the writing case at his waist; [4]and the LORD said to him, "Pass through the city, through Jerusalem, and put a mark on the foreheads of the men who moan and groan because of all the abominations that are committed in it." [5]To the others He said in my hearing, "Follow him through the city and strike; show no pity or compassion. [6]Kill off graybeard, youth and maiden, women and children; but do not touch any person who bears the mark. Begin here at My Sanctuary." So they began with the elders who were in front of the House. [7]And He said to them, "Defile the House and fill the courts with the slain. Then go forth." So they went forth and began to kill in the city. [8]When they were out killing, and I remained alone, I flung myself on my face and cried out, "Ah, Lord GOD! Are you going to annihilate all that is left of Israel, pouring out Your fury upon Jerusalem?" [9]He answered me, "The iniquity of the Houses of Judah and Israel is very very great, the land is full of crime and the city is full of corruption. For they say, 'The LORD has forsaken the land, and the LORD does not see.' [10]I, in turn, will show no pity or compassion; I will give them their deserts." [11]And then the man clothed in linen with the writing case at his waist brought back word, saying, "I have done as You commanded me."

v. 8. א׳ נחה

a The raised platform on which the Temple stood; cf. 47.1.

10

I looked, and on the expanse over the heads of the cherubs, there was something like a sapphire stone; an appearance resembling a throne could be seen over them. [2]He spoke to the man clothed in linen and said, "Step inside the wheelwork, under the cherubs, and fill your hands with glowing coals from among the cherubs, and scatter them over the city." And he went in as I looked on. [3]Now the cherubs were standing on the south side of the House when the man entered, and the cloud filled the inner court. [4]But when the Presence of the LORD moved from the cherubs to the platform[a] of the House, the House was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the radiance of the Presence of the LORD. [5]The sound of the cherubs' wings could be heard as far as the outer court, like the voice of El Shaddai[b] when He speaks.

[6]When He commanded the man dressed in linen: "Take fire from among the cherubs within the wheelwork," he went in and stood beside a wheel. [7]And a cherub stretched out his hand among the cherubs to the fire that was among the cherubs; he took some and put it into the hands of him who was clothed in linen, who took it and went out. [8]The cherubs appeared to have the form of a man's hand under their wings.

[9]I could see that there were four wheels beside the cherubs, one wheel beside each of the cherubs; as for the appearance of the wheels, they gleamed like the beryl stone. [10]In appearance, the four had the same form, as if there were two wheels cutting through each other. [11]And when they moved, each could move in the direction of any of its four quarters; they did not veer as they moved. The [cherubs] moved in the direction in which one of the heads faced, without turning as they moved. [12]Their entire bodies—

backs, hands, and wings—and the wheels, the wheels of the four of them, were covered all over with eyes. [13]It was these wheels that I had heard called "the wheelwork."[c] [14]Each one had four faces: One was a cherub's face, the second a human face, the third a lion's face, and the fourth an eagle's face.

[15]The cherubs ascended; those were the creatures that I had seen by the Chebar Canal. [16]Whenever the cherubs went, the wheels went beside them; and when the cherubs lifted their wings to ascend from the earth, the wheels did not roll away from their side. [17]When those stood still, these stood still; and when those ascended, these ascended with them, for the spirit of the creature was in them.

[18]Then the Presence of the LORD left the platform[a] of the House and stopped above the cherubs. [19]And I saw the cherubs lift their wings and rise from the earth, with the wheels beside them as they departed; and they[d] stopped at the entrance of the eastern gate of the House of the LORD, with the Presence of the God of Israel above them. [20]They were the same creatures that I had seen below the God of Israel at the Chebar Canal; so now I knew that they were cherubs.[e] [21]Each one had four faces and each had four wings, with the form of human hands under the wings. [22]As for the form of their faces, they were the very faces that I had seen by the Chebar Canal—their appearance and [f]their features[-f]—and each could move in the direction of any of its faces.

Then a spirit lifted me up and brought me to the east gate of the House of the LORD, which faces eastward; and there, at the entrance of the gate, were twenty-five men, among whom

v. 13. שני טעמים

I saw Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people. [2][The LORD] said to me, "O mortal, these are the men who plan iniquity and plot wickedness in this city, [3]who say: 'There is no need now to build houses; this [city] is the pot, and we are the meat.'[a] [4]I adjure you, prophesy against them; prophesy, O mortal!"

[5]Thereupon the spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and He said to me, "Speak: Thus said the LORD: Such are your thoughts, O House of Israel; I know what comes into your mind. [6]Many have you slain in this city; you have filled its streets with corpses. [7]Assuredly, thus says the Lord GOD: The corpses that you have piled up in it are the meat for which it is the pot; but you shall be taken out of it. [8]You feared the sword, and the sword I will bring upon you—declares the Lord GOD. [9]I will take you out of it and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and I will execute judgments upon you. [10]You shall fall by the sword; I will punish you at the border of Israel. And you shall know that I am the LORD. [11]This [city] shall not be a pot for you, nor you the meat in it; I will punish you at the border of Israel. [12]Then you shall know that I am the LORD, whose laws you did not follow and whose rules you did not obey, acting instead according to the rules of the nations around you."

[13]Now, as I prophesied, Pelatiah son of Benaiah dropped dead. I threw myself upon my face and cried out aloud, "Ah, Lord GOD! You are wiping out the remnant of Israel!"

[14]Then the word of the LORD came to me: [15]"O mortal, [I will save] your brothers, your brothers, the men of your kindred,[b] all of that very House of Israel to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem say, 'Keep far from the LORD; the land has been given as a heritage to us.' [16]Say

Then they shall be My people and I will be their God. 21But as for them whose heart is set upon their detestable things and their abominations, I will repay them for their conduct—declares the Lord God."

22Then the cherubs, with the wheels beside them, lifted their wings, while the Presence of the God of Israel rested above them. 23The Presence of the Lord ascended from the midst of the city and stood on the hill east of the city. 24A spirit carried me away and brought me in a vision by the spirit of God to the exile community in Chaldea. Then the vision that I had seen left me, 25and I told the exiles all the things that the Lord had shown me.

12

The word of the Lord came to me: 2O mortal, you dwell among the rebellious breed. They have eyes to see but see not, ears to hear but hear not; for they are a rebellious breed. 3Therefore, mortal, get yourself gear for exile, and go into exile by day before their eyes. Go into exile from your home to another place be-the sword, from famine, and from pestilence, that they may recount all their abominable deeds among the nations to which they come; and they shall know that I am the LORD!

17The word of the LORD came to me: 18O mortal, eat your bread in trembling and drink your water in fear and anxiety. 19And say to the people of the land: Thus said the Lord GOD concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem in the land of Israel: They shall eat their bread in anxiety and drink their water in desolation, because their land will be desolate of its multitudes on account of the lawlessness of all its inhabitants. 20The inhabited towns shall be laid waste and the land shall become a desolation; then you shall know that I am the LORD.

21The word of the LORD came to me: 22O mortal, what is this proverb that you have in the land of Israel, that you say, "The days grow many and every vision comes to naught?" 23Assuredly, say to them, Thus said the Lord GOD: I will put an end to this proverb; it shall not be used in Israel any more. Speak rather to them: The days draw near, and the fulfillment of every vision. 24For there shall no longer be any false vision or soothing divination in the House of Israel. 25But whenever I the LORD speak what I speak, that word shall be fulfilled without any delay; in your days, O rebellious breed, I will fulfill every word I speak—declares the Lord GOD.

26The word of the LORD came to me: 27See, O mortal, the House of Israel says, "The vision that he sees is far ahead, and he prophesies for the distant future." 28Assuredly, say to them: Thus said the Lord GOD: There shall be no more delay; whenever I speak a word, that word shall be fulfilled—declares the Lord GOD.

The word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who prophesy; say to those who prophesy out of their own imagination: Hear the word of the LORD! [3]Thus said the Lord GOD: Woe to the degenerate prophets, who follow their own fancy, without having had a vision! [4]Your prophets, O Israel, have been like jackals among ruins. [5]You did not enter the breaches and repair the walls for the House of Israel, that they might stand up in battle in the day of the LORD. [6]They prophesied falsehood and lying divination; they said, "Declares the LORD," when the LORD did not send them, and then they waited for their word to be fulfilled. [7]It was false visions you prophesied and lying divination you uttered, saying, "Declares the LORD," when I had not spoken.

[8]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: Because you speak falsehood and prophesy lies, assuredly, I will deal with you—declares the Lord GOD. [9]My hand will be against the prophets who prophesy falsehood and utter lying divination. They shall not remain in the assembly of My people, they shall not be inscribed in the lists of the House of Israel, and they shall not come back to the land of Israel. Thus shall you know that I am the Lord GOD.

[10]Inasmuch as they have misled My people, saying, "It is well," when nothing is well, daubing with plaster the flimsy wall which *a-the people-a* were building, [11]say to those daubers of plaster: It shall collapse; a driving rain shall descend—and you, O great hailstones, shall fall—and a hurricane wind shall rend it. [12]Then, when the wall collapses, you will be asked, "What became of the plaster you daubed on?"

[13]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: In My fury I will let loose hurricane winds; in My anger

Certain elders of Israel came to me and sat down before me. [2]And the word of the LORD came to me: [3]O mortal, these men have turned their thoughts upon their fetishes and set their minds upon the sin through which they stumbled: Shall I respond to their inquiry? [4]Now speak to them and tell them: Thus said the Lord GOD: If anyone of the House of Israel turns his thoughts upon his fetishes and sets his mind upon the sin through which he stumbled, and yet comes to the prophet, I the LORD will respond to him [a]-as he comes with-[a] his multitude of fetishes. [5]Thus I will hold the House of Israel to account for their thoughts, because they have all been estranged from Me through their fetishes.

[6]Now say to the House of Israel: Thus said the Lord GOD: Repent, and turn back from your fetishes and turn your minds away from all your abominations. [7]For if any man of the House of Israel, or of the strangers who dwell in Israel, breaks away from Me and turns his thoughts upon his fetishes and sets his mind upon the sins through which he stumbled, and then goes to the prophet to inquire of Me through him, I the LORD will respond to him directly. [8]I will set My face against that man and make him a sign and a byword, and I will cut him off from the midst of My people. Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

[9]And if a prophet is seduced and does speak a word [to such a man], it was I the LORD who seduced that prophet; I will stretch out My hand against him and destroy him from among My people Israel. [10]Thus they shall bear their punishment: The punishment of the inquirer and the punishment of the prophet shall be the same, [11]so that the House of Israel may never again stray from Me and defile itself with all its transgressions. Then they shall be My people and I will be their God—declares the Lord GOD.

[12]The word of the LORD came to me: [13]O mortal, if a land were to sin against Me and commit a trespass, and I stretched out My hand against it and broke its staff of bread, and sent famine against it and cut off man and beast from it, [14]even if these three men—Noah, Daniel, and Job—should be in it, they would by their righteousness save only themselves—declares the Lord GOD. [15]Or, if I were to send wild beasts to roam the land and they depopulated it, and it became a desolation with none passing through it because of the beasts, [16]as I live—declares the Lord GOD—those three men in it would save neither sons nor daughters; they alone would be saved, but the land would become a desolation. [17]Or, if I were to bring the sword upon that land and say, "Let a sword sweep through the land so that I may cut off from it man and beast," [18]if those three men should be in it, as I live—declares the Lord GOD—they would save neither sons nor daughters, but they alone would be saved. [19]Or, if I let loose a pestilence against that land, and poured out My fury upon it in blood, cutting off from it man and beast, [20]should Noah, Daniel, and Job be in it, as I live—declares the Lord GOD—they would save neither son nor daughter; they would save themselves alone by their righteousness.

[21]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: How much less [should any escape] now that I have let loose against Jerusalem all four of My terrible punishments—the sword, famine, wild beasts,

The word of the Lord came to me: 2O mortal, how is the wood of the grapevine better than the wood of any branch to be found among the trees of the forest? 3Can wood be taken from it for use in any work? Can one take a peg from it to hang any vessel on? 4Now suppose it was thrown into the fire as fuel and the fire consumed its two ends and its middle was charred—is it good for any use? 5Even when it was whole it could not be used for anything; how much less when fire has consumed it and it is charred! Can it still be used for anything?

6Assuredly, thus said the Lord God: Like the wood of the grapevine among the trees of the forest, which I have designated to be fuel for fire, so will I treat the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 7I will set My face against them; they escaped from fire, but fire shall consume them. When I set my face against them, you shall know that I am the Lord. 8I will make the land a desolation, because they committed trespass—declares the Lord God.

salem: By origin and birth you are from the land of the Canaanites—your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. [4]As for your birth, when you were born your navel cord was not cut, and you were not bathed in water to a-smooth you;-a you were not rubbed with salt, nor were you swaddled. [5]No one pitied you enough to do any one of these things for you out of compassion for you; on the day you were born, you were left lying, rejected, in the open field. [6]When I passed by you and saw you wallowing in your blood, I said to you: "Live in spite of your blood." b-Yea, I said to you: "Live in spite of your blood."-b [7]I let you grow like the plants of the field; and you continued to grow up until you attained a-to womanhood,-a until your breasts became firm and your hair sprouted.

You were still naked and bare [8]when I passed by you [again] and saw that your time for love had arrived. c-So I spread My robe over you-c and covered your nakedness, and I entered into a covenant with you by oath—declares the Lord GOD; thus you became Mine. [9]I bathed you in water, and washed the blood off you, and anointed you with oil. [10]I clothed you with embroidered garments, and gave you sandals of a-dolphin leather-a to wear, and wound fine linen about your head, and dressed you in silks. [11]I decked you out in finery and put bracelets on your arms and a chain around your neck. [12]I put a ring in your nose, and earrings in your ears, and a splendid crown on your head. [13]You adorned yourself with gold and silver, and your apparel was of fine linen, silk, and embroidery. Your food was choice flour, honey, and oil. You grew more and more beautiful, and became fit for royalty. [14]Your beauty won you fame among the nations, for it was perfected through the splendor which I set upon you—declares the Lord GOD.

v. 4. ר׳ דגושה פעמיים

[15]But confident in your beauty and fame, you played the harlot: you lavished your favors on every passerby; [a]-they were his.-[a] [16]You even took some of your cloths and made yourself [a]-tapestried platforms-[a] and fornicated on them—[d]-not in the future; not in time to come.-[d] [17]You took your beautiful things, made of the gold and silver that I had given you, and you made yourself phallic images and fornicated with them. [18]You took your embroidered cloths to cover them; and you set My oil and My incense before them. [19]The food that I had given you—the choice flour, the oil, and the honey, which I had provided for you to eat—you set it before them for a pleasing odor.[e] And so it went—declares the Lord God. [20]You even took the sons and daughters that you bore to Me and sacrificed them to those [images] as food—as if your harlotries were not enough, [21]you slaughtered My children and presented them as offerings to them! [22]In all your abominations and harlotries, you did not remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, and lay wallowing in your blood.

[23]After all your wickedness (woe, woe to you!)—declares the Lord God—[24]you built yourself an eminence and made yourself a mound in every square. [25]You built your mound at every crossroad; and you sullied your beauty and spread your legs to every passerby, and you multiplied your harlotries. [26]You played the whore with your neighbors, the lustful[f] Egyptians—you multiplied your harlotries to anger Me. [27]Now, I will stretch out My arm against you and withhold your maintenance; and I will surrender you to the will of your enemies, the Philistine women, who are shocked by your lewd behavior.

[28]In your insatiable lust you also played the whore with the Assyrians; you played the whore with them, but were still unsated. 29You multiplied your harlotries with Chaldea, that land of traders; yet even with this you were not satisfied.

30g-How sick was your heart-g—declares the Lord God—when you did all those things, the acts of a self-willed whore, 31building your eminence at every crossroad and setting your mound in every square! Yet you were not like a prostitute, for you spurned fees; 32[you were like] the adulterous wife who welcomes strangers instead of her husband. 33Gifts are made to all prostitutes, but you made gifts to all your lovers, and bribed them to come to you from every quarter for your harlotries. 34You were the opposite of other women: you solicited instead of being solicited; you paid fees instead of being paid fees. Thus you were just the opposite!

35Now, O harlot, hear the word of the Lord. 36Thus said the Lord God: Because of your brazen effrontery, offering your nakedness to your lovers for harlotry—h-just like the blood of your children, which you gave to all your abominable fetishes:-h—37I will assuredly assemble all the lovers to whom you gave your favors, along with everybody you accepted and everybody you rejected. I will assemble them against you from every quarter, and I will expose your nakedness to them, and they shall see all your nakedness. 38I will inflict upon you the punishment of women who commit adultery and murder, and I will direct bloody and impassioned fury against you. 39I will deliver you into their hands, and they shall tear down your eminence and level your mounds; and they shall strip you of your clothing and take away your dazzling jewels, leaving you naked and bare. 40Then they shall assemble a mob against you to pelt you with stones and pierce you with their swords.

[41]They shall put your houses to the flames and execute punishment upon you in the sight of many women; thus I will put a stop to your harlotry, and you shall pay no more fees. [42]When I have satisfied My fury upon you and My rage has departed from you, then I will be tranquil; I will be angry no more.

[43]Because you did not remember the days of your youth, but infuriated Me with all those things, I [h]-will pay you back for your conduct-[h]—declares the Lord GOD.

Have you not committed depravity on top of all your other abominations? [44]Why, everyone who uses proverbs applies to you the proverb "Like mother, like daughter." [45]You are the daughter of your mother, who rejected her husband and children. And you are the sister of your sisters, who rejected their husbands and children; for you are daughters of a Hittite mother and an Amorite father. [46]Your elder sister was Samaria, who lived with her daughters to the north of you; your younger sister was Sodom, who lived with her daughters to the south of you. [47]Did you not walk in their ways and practice their abominations? Why, you were almost[a] more corrupt than they in all your ways. [48]As I live—declares the Lord GOD—your sister Sodom and her daughters did not do what you and your daughters did. [49]Only this was the sin of your sister Sodom: arrogance! She and her daughters had plenty of bread and untroubled tranquillity; yet she did not support the poor and the needy. [50]In their haughtiness, they committed abomination before Me; and so I removed them, as you saw.[i] [51]Nor did Samaria commit even half your sins. You committed more abominations than they, and by all the abominations that you committed you made your sisters look righteous. [52]Truly, you must bear the disgrace of serving as your sisters' advocate: Since you have sinned more abominably than they, they appear righteous in comparison. So be ashamed and bear your disgrace, because you have made your sisters look righteous.

[53]I will restore their fortunes—the fortunes of Sodom and her daughters and the fortunes of Samaria and her daughters—and your fortunes along with theirs. [54]Thus you shall bear your disgrace and feel your disgrace for behaving in such a way that they could take comfort. [55]Then your sister Sodom and her daughters shall return to their former state, and Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former state, and you and your daughters shall return to your former state. [56]Was not your sister Sodom a byword in your mouth in the days of your pride, [57]before your own wickedness was exposed? So must you now bear the mockery of the daughters of Aram[j] and all her neighbors, the daughters of Philistia who jeer at you on every side. [58]You yourself must bear your depravity and your abominations—declares the LORD.

[59]Truly, thus said the Lord GOD: I will deal with you as you have dealt, for you have spurned the pact and violated the covenant. [60]Nevertheless, I will remember the covenant I made with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish it with you as an everlasting covenant. [61]You shall remember your ways and feel ashamed, when you receive your older sisters and your younger sisters, and I give them to you as daughters, though they are not of your covenant. [62]I will establish My covenant with you, and you shall know that I am the LORD. [63]Thus you shall remember and feel shame, and you shall be too abashed to open your mouth again, when I have forgiven you for all that you did—declares the Lord GOD.

The word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, propound a riddle and relate an allegory to the House of Israel. [3]Say: Thus said the Lord GOD: The great eagle with the great wings and the long pinions, a-with the full plumage and the brilliant colors,-a came to the Lebanon range and seized the top of the cedar. [4]He plucked off its topmost bough and carried it off to the land of traders[b] and set it in a city of merchants. [5]He then took some of the seed of the land[c] and planted it in a fertile field; d-he planted and set it like a willow-d beside abundant waters. [6]It grew and became a spreading vine of low stature; it became a vine, produced branches, and sent out boughs. [He had intended] that its twigs should turn to him, and that its roots should stay under him.

[7]But there was another great eagle with great wings and full plumage; and this vine now bent its roots in his direction and sent out its twigs toward him, that he might water it more than the bed where it was planted—[8]though it was planted in rich soil beside abundant water—so that it might grow branches and produce boughs and be a noble vine.

[9]Say: Thus said the Lord GOD: Will it thrive? Will he[e] not tear out its roots and rip off its crown, so that its entire foliage withers? It shall wither, despite any strong arm or mighty army [that may come] to remove it from its roots. [10]And suppose it is transplanted, will it thrive? When the east wind strikes it, it shall wither—wither upon the bed where it is growing.

[11]Then the word of the LORD came to me: [12]Say to the rebellious breed: Do you not know what these things mean? Say: The king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, and carried away its king and its officers and brought them back with him to Babylon. [13]He took one of the seed royal and made a covenant with him and imposed an oath on him, and he carried away the nobles of the land—[14]so that it might be a humble kingdom and not exalt itself, but keep his covenant and so endure.

[15]But [that prince] rebelled against him and sent his envoys to Egypt to get horses and a large army. Will he succeed? Will he who does such things escape? Shall he break a covenant and escape? [16]As I live—declares the Lord GOD—in the very homeland of the king who made him king, whose oath he flouted and whose covenant he broke—right there, in Babylon, he shall die. [17]Pharaoh will not fight at his side with a great army and with numerous troops in the war, when mounds are thrown up and siege towers erected to destroy many lives. [18]He flouted a pact and broke a covenant; he gave his promise and did all these things—he shall not escape. [19]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: As I live, I will pay him back for flouting My pact and breaking My covenant. [20]I will spread My net over him and he shall be caught in My snare; I will carry him to Babylon and enter with him into judgment there for the trespass which he committed against Me. [21]And all the fugitives[f] of all his battalions shall fall by the sword, and those who remain shall scatter in every direction; then you will know that I the LORD have spoken.

[22]Thus said the Lord GOD: Then I in turn will take and set [in the ground a slip] from the lofty top of the cedar; I will pluck a tender twig from the tip of its crown, and I will plant it on a tall, towering mountain. [23]I will plant it in Israel's lofty highlands, and it shall bring forth boughs and produce branches[g] and grow into a noble

The word of the LORD came to me: [2]What do you mean by quoting this proverb upon the soil of Israel, "Parents eat sour grapes and their children's teeth are blunted"?[a] [3]As I live—declares the Lord GOD—this proverb shall no longer be current among you in Israel. [4]Consider, all lives are Mine; the life of the parent and the life of the child are both Mine. The person who sins, only he shall die.

[5]Thus, if a man is righteous and does what is just and right: [6]If he has not eaten on the mountains[b] or raised his eyes to the fetishes of the House of Israel; if he has not defiled another man's wife or approached a menstruous woman; [7]if he has not wronged anyone; if he has returned the debtor's pledge to him and has taken nothing by robbery; if he has given bread to the hungry and clothed the naked; [8]if he has not lent at advance interest or exacted accrued interest;[c] if he has abstained from wrongdoing and executed true justice between man and man; [9]if he has followed My laws and kept My rules and acted honestly—he is righteous. Such a man shall live—declares the Lord GOD.

[10]Suppose, now, that he has begotten a son who is a ruffian, a shedder of blood, who [d-]does any of these things,[-d] [11]whereas he himself did none of these things. That is, [the son] has eaten on the mountains,[b] has defiled another man's wife, 12has wronged the poor and the needy, has taken by robbery, has not returned a pledge, has raised his eyes to the fetishes, has committed abomination, 13has lent at advance interest, or exacted accrued interest—shall he live? He shall not live! If he has committed any of these abominations, he shall die; he has forfeited his life.

14Now suppose that he, in turn, has begotten a son who has seen all the sins that his father committed, but has taken heed and has not imitated them: 15He has not eaten on the mountains[b] or raised his eyes to the fetishes of the House of Israel; he has not defiled another man's wife; 16he has not wronged anyone; he has not seized a pledge or taken anything by robbery; he has given his bread to the hungry and clothed the naked; 17he has [e]-refrained from oppressing the poor;-[e] he has not exacted advance or accrued interest; he has obeyed My rules and followed My laws—he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, but shall live. 18To be sure, his father, because he practiced fraud, robbed his brother, and acted wickedly among his kin, did die for his iniquity; 19and now you ask, "Why has not the son shared the burden of his father's guilt?" But the son has done what is right and just, and has carefully kept all My laws: he shall live!

20The person who sins, he alone shall die. A child shall not share the burden of a parent's guilt, nor shall a parent share the burden of a child's guilt; the righteousness of the righteous shall be accounted to him alone, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be accounted to him alone.

21Moreover, if the wicked one repents of all the sins that he committed and keeps all My laws and does what is just and right, he shall live; he shall not die. 22None of the transgressions he committed shall be remembered against him;

because of the righteousness he has practiced, he shall live. 23Is it my desire that a wicked person shall die?—says the Lord GOD. It is rather that he shall turn back from his ways and live.

24So, too, if a righteous person turns away from his righteousness and does wrong, practicing the very abominations that the wicked person practiced, shall he live? None of the righteous deeds that he did shall be remembered; because of the treachery he has practiced and the sins he has committed—because of these, he shall die.

25Yet you say, "The way of the Lord is unfair." Listen, O House of Israel: Is My way unfair? It is your ways that are unfair! 26When a righteous person turns away from his righteousness and does wrong, he shall die for it; he shall die for the wrong he has done. 27And if a wicked person turns back from the wickedness that he practiced and does what is just and right, such a person shall save his life. 28Because he took heed and turned back from all the transgressions that he committed, he shall live; he shall not die.

29Yet the House of Israel say, "The way of the Lord is unfair." Are My ways unfair, O House of Israel? It is your ways that are unfair! 30Be assured, O House of Israel, I will judge each one of you according to his ways—declares the Lord GOD. Repent and turn back from your transgressions; let them not be a stumbling block of guilt for you. 31Cast away all the transgressions by which you have offended, and get yourselves a new heart and a new spirit, that you may not die, O House of Israel. 32For it is not My desire that anyone shall die—declares the Lord GOD. Repent, therefore, and live!

וְאַתָּה שָׂא קִינָה אֶל־נְשִׂיאֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל׃ 2 וְאָמַרְתָּ

What a lioness was your mother
Among the lions!
Crouching among the great beasts,
She reared her cubs.
3She raised up one of her cubs,
He became a great beast;
He learned to hunt prey—
He devoured men.
4Nations heeded [the call] against him;
He was caught in their snare.
They dragged him off with hooks
To the land of Egypt.
5When she saw herself frustrated,
Her hope defeated,
She took another of her cubs
And set him up as a great beast.
6He stalked among the lions,
He was a great beast;
He learned to hunt prey—
He devoured men.
7He [a]ravished their widows,[a]
Laid waste their cities;
The land and all in it were appalled
At the sound of his roaring.
8Nations from the countries roundabout
Arrayed themselves against him.
They spread their net over him,
He was caught in their snare.
9With hooks he was put in a cage,
They carried him off to the king of Babylon
And confined him in a fortress,
So that never again should his roar be heard
On the hills of Israel.

10Your mother was like a vine [b]in your blood,[b]
Planted beside streams,

a-a Emendation yields "ravaged their castles."
b-b Meaning of Heb. uncertain; emendation yields "in a vineyard."

Fit for a ruler's scepter.[c]
It towered highest [d]-among the leafy trees,-[d]
It was conspicuous by its height,
By the abundance of its boughs.
[12]But plucked up in a fury,
She was hurled to the ground.
The east wind withered her branches,
They broke apart and dried up;
And her mighty rod was consumed by fire.
[13]Now she is planted in the desert,
In ground that is arid and parched.
[14]Fire has issued from her twig-laden branch
And has consumed her boughs,
She is left without a mighty rod,
A scepter to rule with.

This is a dirge, and it has become a [familiar] dirge.

In the seventh year, on the tenth day of the fifth month, certain elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat down before me. [2]And the word of the LORD came to me:

[3]O mortal, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them: Thus said the Lord GOD: Have you come to inquire of Me? As I live, I will not respond to your inquiry—declares the Lord GOD.

c Heb. plural.
d-d Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

a-a Lit. "Will you arraign them, will you arraign, O mortal?"
b-b Lit. "raised My hand."

Egypt, I gave my oath to them. When I said, "I the LORD am your God," [6]that same day I swore to them to take them out of the land of Egypt into a land flowing with milk and honey, a land which I had sought out for them, the fairest of all lands.

[7]I also said to them: Cast away, every one of you, the detestable things [c-]that you are drawn to,[-c] and do not defile yourselves with the fetishes of Egypt—I the LORD am your God. [8]But they defied Me and refused to listen to Me. They did not cast away the detestable things they were drawn to, nor did they give up the fetishes of Egypt. Then I resolved to pour out My fury upon them, to vent all My anger upon them there, in the land of Egypt. [9]But I acted for the sake of My name, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations among whom they were. For it was before their eyes that I had made Myself known to Israel[d] to bring them out of the land of Egypt.

[10]I brought them out of the land of Egypt and I led them into the wilderness. [11]I gave them My laws and taught them My rules, by the pursuit of which a man shall live. [12]Moreover, I gave them My sabbaths to serve as a sign between Me and them, that they might know that it is I the LORD who sanctify them. [13]But the House of Israel rebelled against Me in the wilderness; they did not follow My laws and they rejected My rules—by the pursuit of which a man shall live—and they grossly desecrated My sabbaths. Then I thought to pour out My fury upon them in the wilderness and to make an end of them; [14]but I acted for the sake of My name, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations before whose eyes I had led them out. [15]However, I swore[b] to them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land flowing with milk and honey, the fairest of all lands, which

I had assigned [to them], [16]for they had rejected My rules, disobeyed My laws, and desecrated My sabbaths; their hearts followed after their fetishes. [17]But I had pity on them and did not destroy them; I did not make an end of them in the wilderness.

[18]I warned their children in the wilderness: Do not follow the practices of your fathers, do not keep their ways, and do not defile yourselves with their fetishes. [19]I the LORD am your God: Follow My laws and be careful to observe My rules. [20]And hallow My sabbaths, that they may be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I the LORD am your God.

[21]But the children rebelled against Me: they did not follow My laws and did not faithfully observe My rules, by the pursuit of which man shall live; they profaned My sabbaths. Then I resolved to pour out My fury upon them, to vent all My anger upon them, in the wilderness. [22]But I held back My hand and acted for the sake of My name, that it might not be profaned in the sight of the nations before whose eyes I had led them out. [23]However, I swore[b] to them in the wilderness that I would scatter them among the nations and disperse them through the lands, [24]because they did not obey My rules, but rejected My laws, profaned My sabbaths, and looked with longing to the fetishes of their fathers. [25]Moreover, I gave them laws that were not good and rules by which they could not live: [26]When they set aside every first issue of the womb, I defiled them by their very gifts[e]—that I might render them desolate,[f] that they might know that I am the LORD.

[27]Now, O mortal, speak to the House of Israel and say to them: Thus said the Lord GOD: By this too your fathers affronted Me and committed trespass against Me: [28]When I brought them to the land that I had sworn[b] to give them, and they saw any high hill or any leafy tree, they slaughtered their sacrifices there and presented their offensive offerings there; there they produced their pleasing odors and poured out their libations. [29]Then I said to them, "What is this shrine which you visit?" (Therefore such [a shrine] is called bamah[g] to this day.)

[30]Now say to the House of Israel: Thus said the Lord GOD: If you defile yourselves as your fathers did and go astray after their detestable things, [31]and if to this very day you defile yourselves in the presentation of your gifts by making your children pass through the fire to all your fetishes, shall I respond to your inquiry, O House of Israel? As I live—declares the Lord GOD—I will not respond to you. [32]And what you have in mind shall never come to pass—when you say, "We will be like the nations, like the families of the lands, worshiping wood and stone." [33]As I live—declares the Lord GOD—I will reign over you with a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with overflowing fury. [34]With a strong hand and an outstretched arm and overflowing fury I will bring you out from the peoples and gather you from the lands where you are scattered, [35]and I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples; and there I will enter into judgment with you face to face. [36]As I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I enter into judgment with you—declares the Lord GOD. [37]I will make you pass under the shepherd's staff,[h] and I will bring you into the bond[i] of the covenant. [38]I will remove from you those who rebel and transgress against Me; I will take them out of the countries where they sojourn, but they shall not enter the land of Israel. Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

v. 38. סבירין ומטעין לשון רבים

39As for you, O House of Israel, thus said the Lord God: Go, every one of you, and worship his fetishes and continue,[i] if you will not obey Me; but do not profane My holy name any more with your idolatrous gifts. 40For only on My holy mountain, on the lofty mount of Israel—declares the Lord God—there, in the land, the entire House of Israel, all of it, must worship Me. There I will accept them, and there I will take note of your contributions and the choicest offerings of all your sacred things. 41When I bring you out from the peoples and gather you from the lands in which you are scattered, I will accept you as a pleasing odor; and I will be sanctified through you in the sight of the nations. 42Then, when I have brought you to the land of Israel, to the country that I swore[b] to give to your fathers, you shall know that I am the Lord. 43There you will recall your ways and all the acts by which you defiled yourselves; and you will loathe yourselves for all the evils that you committed. 44Then, O House of Israel, you shall know that I am the Lord, when I deal with you for My name's sake—not in accordance with your evil ways and corrupt acts—declares the Lord God.

The word of the Lord came to me: 2O mortal, set your face toward Teman,[a] and proclaim to Darom,[a] and prophesy against the brushland of the Negeb.[a] 3Say to the brushland of the Negeb: Hear the word of the Lord. Thus said the Lord God: I am going to kindle a fire in you, which shall devour every tree of yours, both green and withered. Its leaping flame shall not go out, and every face from south to north shall be scorched by it. 4Then all flesh shall recognize that I the Lord have kindled it; it shall [6]Then the word of the LORD came to me: [7]O mortal, set your face toward Jerusalem and proclaim against her sanctuaries and prophesy against the land of Israel. [8]Say to the land of Israel: Thus said the LORD: I am going to deal with you! I will draw My sword from its sheath, and I will wipe out from you both the righteous and the wicked. [9]In order to wipe out from you both the righteous and the wicked, My sword shall assuredly be unsheathed against all flesh from south to north; [10]and all flesh shall know that I the LORD have drawn My sword from its sheath, not to be sheathed again.

[11]And you, O mortal, sigh; with tottering limbs and bitter grief, sigh before their eyes. [12]And when they ask you, "Why do you sigh?" answer, "Because of the tidings that have come." Every heart shall sink and all hands hang nerveless; every spirit shall grow faint and all knees turn to water because of the tidings that have come. It is approaching, it shall come to pass—declares the Lord GOD.

[13]The word of the LORD came to me: [14]O mortal, prophesy and say: Thus said the Lord GOD: A sword! A sword has been whetted and polished. [15]It has been whetted to wreak slaughter; [b-][therefore] it has been ground to a brilliant polish.[-b] [c-]How can we rejoice? My son, it scorns[-c] the rod and every stick. [16]It has been given to be polished and then grasped in the hand; for this has the sword been whetted, for this polished—to be put into the hand of a slayer. [17]Cry and wail, O mortal, for this shall befall My people, this shall befall all the chieftains of Israel: they shall be cast before the sword together with My people; oh, strike the thigh [in grief]. pen, seeing that it even scorns the rod?[-c]—says the Lord GOD.

[19]Further, O mortal, prophesy, striking hand against hand. Let the sword strike a second time and yet a third time; it is a sword for massacre, a sword for great carnage, that presses[c] upon them. [20]Thus hearts shall lose courage and many shall fall. At all their gates I have appointed slaughter[c] by the sword. Ah! it is made to flash brilliantly, it is honed[c] for slaughter. [21]Be united,[d] go to the right, turn left; whither are you bound? [22]I, too, will strike hand against hand and will satisfy My fury upon you; I the LORD have spoken.

[23]The word of the LORD came to me: [24]And you, O mortal, choose two roads on which the sword of the king of Babylon may advance, both issuing from the same country; and select a spot, select it where roads branch off to [two] cities. [25]Choose a way for the sword to advance on Rabbah of the Ammonites or on fortified Jerusalem in Judah. [26]For the king of Babylon has stood at the fork of the road, where two roads branch off, to perform divination: He has shaken arrows, consulted teraphim, and inspected the liver.[e] [27]In his right hand came up the omen against Jerusalem—to set battering rams, to proclaim murder, to raise battle shouts, to set battering rams against the gates, to cast up mounds, to erect towers.

[28][f]In their eyes, the oaths they had sworn to them were like empty divination; but this shall serve to recall their guilt, for which they shall be taken to task. [29]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: For causing your guilt to be recalled, your transgressions to be uncovered, and your sins to be revealed—all your misdeeds—because you have brought yourselves to [My] mind, you shall be taken to task.

6Every one of the princes of Israel in your midst used his strength for the shedding of blood. 7Fathers and mothers have been humiliated within you; strangers have been cheated in your midst; orphans and widows have been wronged within you. 8You have despised My holy things and profaned My sabbaths.

The word of the Lord came to me: [2]O mortal, once there were two women, daughters of one mother. [3]They played the whore in Egypt; they played the whore while still young. There their breasts were squeezed, and there their virgin nipples were handled. [4]Their names were: the elder one, Oholah;[a] and her sister, Oholibah.[b] They became Mine, and they bore sons and daughters. As for their names, Oholah is Samaria, and Oholibah is Jerusalem.

[5]Oholah whored while she was Mine, and she lusted after her lovers, after the Assyrians, warriors[c] [6]clothed in blue, governors and prefects, horsemen mounted on steeds—all of them handsome young fellows. [7]She bestowed her favors upon them—upon all the pick of the Assyrians—and defiled herself with all their fetishes after which she lusted. [8]She did not give up the whoring she had begun with the Egyptians; for they had lain with her in her youth, and they had handled her virgin nipples and had poured out their lust upon her. [9]Therefore I delivered her into the hands of her lovers, into the hands of the Assyrians after whom she lusted. [10]They exposed her nakedness; they seized her sons and daughters, and she herself was put to the sword. And because of the punishment inflicted upon her, she became a byword among women.

[11]Her sister Oholibah saw this; yet her lusting was more depraved than her sister's, and her whoring more debased. [12]She lusted after the Assyrians, governors and prefects, warriors[c] gorgeously clad, horsemen mounted on steeds—all of them handsome young fellows. [13]And I saw how she had defiled herself. Both of them followed the same course, [14]but she carried her harlotries further. For she saw men sculptured upon the walls, figures of Chaldeans drawn in vermilion, [15]girded with belts round their waists, and with flowing turbans on their heads, all of them looking like officers—a picture of Babylonians whose native land was Chaldea. [16]At the very sight of them she lusted after them, and she sent messengers for them to Chaldea. [17]So the Babylonians came to her for lovemaking and defiled her with their whoring; and she defiled herself with them until she turned from them in disgust. [18]She flaunted her harlotries and exposed her nakedness, and I turned from her in disgust, as I had turned disgusted from her sister. [19]But she whored still more, remembering how in her youth she had played the whore in the land of Egypt; [20]she lusted for concubinage with them, whose members were like those of asses and whose organs[c] were like those of stallions. [21]Thus you reverted to the wantonness of your youth, remembering[d] your youthful breasts, when the men of Egypt handled your nipples.

[22]Assuredly, Oholibah, thus said the Lord GOD: I am going to rouse against you the lovers from whom you turned in disgust, and I will bring them upon you from all around—[23]the Babylonians and all the Chaldeans, [the people of] Pekod, Shoa, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them, all of them handsome young fellows,

For I have spoken—declares the Lord GOD.

[35]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: Because you have forgotten Me and cast Me behind your back, you in turn must suffer for your wanton whoring.

[36]Then the LORD said to me: O mortal, arraign[f] Oholah and Oholibah, and charge them with their abominations. [37]For they have committed adultery, and blood is on their hands; truly they have committed adultery with their fetishes, and have even offered to them as food the children they bore to Me. [38]At the same time they also did this to Me: they defiled My Sanctuary and profaned My sabbaths. [39]On the very day that they slaughtered their children to their fetishes, they entered My Sanctuary to desecrate it. That is what they did in My House.

[40]Moreover, they sent for men to come from afar, [men] to whom a messenger was sent; and they came. For them, [Oholibah,] you bathed, painted your eyes, and donned your finery; [41]and you sat on a grand couch with a set table in front of it—and it was My incense and My oil you laid upon it. [42]And the noise of a carefree multitude was there, [c-]of numerous men brought drunk from the desert;[-c] and they put bracelets on their arms and splendid crowns upon their heads. [43]Then I said, [c-]"To destruction with adultery! Look, they are still going on with those same fornications of hers."[-c] [44]And they would go to her as one goes to a prostitute; that is how they went to Oholah and Oholibah, wanton women. [45]But righteous men shall punish them with the punishments for adultery and for bloodshed, for they are adulteresses and have blood on their hands.

[46]For thus said the Lord GOD: Summon an assembly against them, and make them an object of horror and plunder. [47]Let the assembly pelt them with stones and cut them down with

In the ninth year, on the tenth day of the tenth month, the word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, record this date, this exact day; for this very day the king of Babylon has laid siege to Jerusalem. [3]Further, speak in an allegory to the rebellious breed and say to them: Thus said the Lord GOD:

Put the caldron [on the fire], put it on,
And then pour water into it.
[4]Collect in it the pieces [of meat],
Every choice piece, thigh and shoulder;
Fill it with the best cuts[a]—
[5]Take the best of the flock.
Also pile the cuts[b] under it;
Get it boiling briskly,
And cook the cuts in it.
[6]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD:
Woe to the city of blood—
A caldron whose scum[c] is in it,
Whose scum has not been cleaned out!
Empty it piece by piece;
[d-]No lot has fallen upon it.[-d]
[7]For the blood she shed is still in her;
She set it upon a bare rock;
She did not pour it out on the ground
To cover it with earth.

[8]She[e] set her blood upon the bare rock,
So that it was not covered,
So that it may stir up [My] fury
To take vengeance.
[9]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD:
Woe to the city of blood!
I in turn will make a great blaze.
[10]Pile on the logs,
Kindle the fire,
Cook the meat through
And [f-]stew it completely,[-f]
And let the bones be charred.
[11]Let it stand empty on the coals,
Until it becomes so hot
That the copper glows.
Then its uncleanness shall melt away in it,
And its rust be consumed.
[12][d-]It has frustrated all effort,
Its thick scum will not leave it—
Into the fire with its scum![-d]

[13]For your vile impurity—because I sought to cleanse you of your impurity, but you would not be cleansed—you shall never be clean again until I have satisfied My fury upon you. [14]I the LORD have spoken: It shall come to pass and I will do it. I will not refrain or spare or relent. You shall be punished according to your ways and your deeds—declares the Lord GOD.

[15]The word of the LORD came to me: [16]O mortal, I am about to take away the delight of your eyes from you through pestilence; but you shall not lament or weep or let your tears flow. [17]Moan softly; observe no mourning for the dead: Put on your turban and put your sandals on your feet; do not cover over your upper lip, and do not eat the bread of comforters."[g]

[18]In the evening my wife died, and in the morning I did as I had been commanded. And when I spoke to the people that morning, [19]the people asked me, "Will you not tell us what these things portend for us, that you are acting so?" [20]I answered them, "The word of the LORD has come to me: [21]Tell the House of Israel: Thus said the Lord GOD: 'I am going to desecrate My Sanctuary, your pride and glory, the delight of your eyes and the desire of your heart; and the sons and daughters you have left behind shall fall by the sword. [24][h]And Ezekiel shall become a portent for you: you shall do just as he has done, when it happens; and you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.' [22]Accordingly, you shall do as I have done: you shall not cover over your upper lips or eat the bread of comforters;[g] [23]and your turbans shall remain on your heads, and your sandals upon your feet. You shall not lament or weep, but you shall be heartsick because of your iniquities and shall moan to one another."[h]

[25]You, O mortal, take note: On the day that I take their stronghold from them, their pride and joy, the delight of their eyes and the longing of their hearts—their sons and daughters—[26]on that day a fugitive will come to you, to let you hear it with your own ears. [27]On that day your mouth shall be opened to the fugitive, and you shall speak and no longer be dumb. So you shall be a portent for them, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

In the eleventh year, on the first of the month,[a] the word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, because Tyre gloated over Jerusalem, "Aha! The gateway[b] of the peoples is broken, it has become mine; I shall be filled, now that it is laid in ruins"—[3]assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD:

I am going to deal with you, O Tyre!
I will hurl many nations against you,
As the sea hurls its waves.
[4]They shall destroy the walls of Tyre
And demolish her towers;
And I will scrape her soil off her
And leave her a naked rock.
[5]She shall be in the heart of the sea
A place for drying[c] nets;
For I have spoken it
—declares the Lord GOD.
She shall become spoil for the nations,
[6]And her daughter-towns in the country
Shall be put to the sword.
And they shall know that I am the LORD.

[7]For thus said the Lord GOD: I will bring from the north, against Tyre, King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, a king of kings, with horses, chariots, and horsemen—a great mass of troops.

The word of the LORD came to me: [2]Now you, O mortal, intone a dirge over Tyre. [3]Say to Tyre:

O you who dwell at the gateway of the sea,
Who trade with the peoples on many coastlands:
Thus said the Lord GOD:

e-e Septuagint reads "vanished."
f-f I.e., of the sea. Emendation yields "the dry land."
g Understanding nathatti as second-person singular feminine; cf. 16.50 and note. But meaning of Heb. uncertain.

[a]-O Tyre, you boasted,
I am perfect in beauty.-[a]
[4]Your frontiers were on the high seas,
Your builders perfected your beauty.
[5]From cypress trees of Senir
They fashioned your planks;
They took a cedar from Lebanon
To make a mast for you.
[6]From oak trees of Bashan
They made your oars;
Of boxwood from the isles of Kittim,
Inlaid with ivory,
They made your decks.
[7]Embroidered linen from Egypt
Was the cloth
That served you for sails;
Of blue and purple from the coasts of Elishah
Were your awnings.
[8]The inhabitants of Sidon and Arvad
Were your rowers;
[b]-Your skilled men, O Tyre,-[b] were within you,
They were your pilots.
[9]Gebal's elders and craftsmen were within you,
Making your repairs.

All the ships of the sea, with their crews,
Were [c]-in your harbor-[c]
To traffic in your wares.
[10]Men of Paras, Lud, and Put
Were in your army,
Your fighting men;
They hung shields and helmets in your midst,
They lent splendor to you.
[11]Men of Arvad and Helech
Manned your walls all around,
And men of Gammad were stationed in your towers;

a-a Emendation yields: "O Tyre, you are a ship / Perfect in beauty."
b-b Emendation yields "The skilled men of Zemar"; cf. Gen. 10.18.
c-c Lit. "in you."

They hung their quivers all about your walls;
They perfected your beauty.

[12]Tarshish traded with you because of your wealth of all kinds of goods; they bartered silver, iron, tin, and lead for your wares. [13]Javan, Tubal, and Meshech—they were your merchants; they trafficked with you in human beings and copper utensils. [14]From Beth-togarmah they bartered horses, horsemen, and mules for your wares. [15]The people of Dedan were your merchants; many coastlands traded under your rule and rendered you tribute in ivory tusks and ebony. [16]Aram traded with you because of your wealth of merchandise, dealing with you in turquoise, purple stuff, embroidery, fine linen, coral, and agate.[d] [17]Judah and the land of Israel were your merchants; they trafficked with you in wheat of [e]Minnith and Pannag,[e] honey, oil, and balm. [18]Because of your wealth of merchandise, because of your great wealth, Damascus traded with you in Helbon wine and white wool. [19][f]Vedan and Javan from Uzal traded for your wares; they trafficked with you in polished iron, cassia, and calamus. [20]Dedan was your merchant in saddlecloths for riding.[f] [21]Arabia and all Kedar's chiefs were traders under your rule; they traded with you in lambs, rams, and goats. [22]The merchants of Sheba and Raamah were your merchants; they bartered for your wares all the finest spices, all kinds of precious stones, and gold. [23]Haran, Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Assyria, and Chilmad traded with you. [24][f]These were your merchants in choice fabrics, embroidered cloaks of blue, and many-colored carpets tied up with cords and preserved with cedar—among your wares.[f] [25]The ships of Tarshish were in the service of your trade.

[g]So you were full and richly laden

On the high seas.
26Your oarsmen brought you out
Into the mighty waters;
The tempest wrecked you
On the high seas.
27Your wealth, your wares, your merchandise,
Your sailors and your pilots,
The men who made your repairs,
Those who carried on your traffic,
And all the fighting men within you—
All the multitude within you—
Shall go down into the depths of the sea
On the day of your downfall.
28At the outcry of your pilots
The billows shall heave;
29And all the oarsmen and mariners,
All the pilots of the sea,
Shall come down from their ships
And stand on the ground.
30They shall raise their voices over you
And cry out bitterly;
They shall cast dust on their heads
And strew ashes on themselves.
31On your account, they shall make
Bald patches on their heads,
And shall gird themselves with sackcloth.
They shall weep over you, brokenhearted,
With bitter lamenting;
32They shall intone a dirge over you as they wail,
And lament for you thus:

Who was like Tyre when she was silenced
In the midst of the sea?
33When your wares were unloaded from the seas,
You satisfied many peoples;
With your great wealth and merchandise
You enriched the kings of the earth.

The word of the LORD came to me: 2O mortal, say to the prince of Tyre: Thus said the Lord GOD:

Because you have been so haughty and have said, "I am a god; I sit enthroned like a god in the heart of the seas," whereas you are not a god but a man, though you deemed your mind equal to a god's[a]—

3Yes, you are wiser than Daniel;
In no hidden matter can anyone
Compare to you.
4By your shrewd understanding
You have gained riches,
And have amassed gold and silver
In your treasuries.
5By your great shrewdness in trade
You have increased your wealth,
And you have grown haughty
Because of your wealth.

6Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: Because you have deemed your mind equal to a god's,

7I swear I will bring against you
Strangers, the most ruthless of nations.
They shall unsheathe their swords
Against your prized shrewdness,
And they shall strike down[b] your splendor.

h I.e., to ward off the calamity from the viewer; cf. Jer. 18.16, 49.17; Job 27.23; Lam. 2.15.

a This sentence is continued in v. 6; vv. 3–5 are parenthetical.
b Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

[8]They shall bring you down to the Pit;
In the heart of the sea you shall die
The death of the slain.
[9]Will you still say, "I am a god"
Before your slayers,
When you are proved a man, not a god,
At the hands of those who strike you down?
[10]By the hands of strangers you shall die
The death of the uncircumcised;[c]
For I have spoken
—declares the Lord GOD.

[11]The word of the LORD came to me: [12]O mortal, intone a dirge over the king of Tyre and say to him: Thus said the Lord GOD:
You were the seal of perfection,
Full of wisdom and flawless in beauty.
[13]You were in Eden, the garden of God;
Every precious stone was your adornment:
Carnelian, chrysolite, and amethyst;
Beryl, lapis lazuli, and jasper;
Sapphire, turquoise, and emerald;
And gold [d]-beautifully wrought for you,
Mined for you, prepared the day you were created.-[d]
[14][b]-I created you as a cherub
With outstretched shielding wings;-[b]
And you resided on God's holy mountain;
You walked among stones of fire.
[15]You were blameless in your ways,
From the day you were created
Until wrongdoing was found in you.
[16]By your far-flung commerce
You were filled with lawlessness
And you sinned.
So I have struck you down
From the mountain of God,
And I have destroyed you, O shielding cherub,

c According to popular belief, those who die uncircumcised and those left unburied are relegated to the lower level of the netherworld; cf. 31.18; 32.19 ff.

* v. 16. חסר א׳

From among the stones of fire.
[17]You grew haughty because of your beauty,
You debased your wisdom for the sake of your splendor;
I have cast you to the ground,
I have made you an object for kings to stare at.
[18]By the greatness of your guilt,
Through the dishonesty of your trading,
You desecrated your sanctuaries.
So I made a fire issue from you,
And it has devoured you;
I have reduced you to ashes on the ground,
In the sight of all who behold you.
[19]All who knew you among the peoples
Are appalled at your doom.
You have become a horror
And have ceased to be, forever.

[20]The word of the LORD came to me: [21]O mortal, set your face toward Sidon and prophesy against her. [22]Say: Thus said the Lord GOD:
I am going to deal with you, O Sidon.
I will gain glory in your midst;
And they shall know that I am the LORD,
When I wreak punishment upon her
And show Myself holy through her.
[23]I will let pestilence loose against her
And bloodshed into her streets.
And the slain shall fall in her midst
When the sword comes upon her from all sides.
And they shall know that I am the LORD.
[24]Then shall the House of Israel no longer be afflicted with prickling briers and lacerating thorns from all the neighbors who despise them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.
[25]Thus said the Lord GOD: When I have gathered the House of Israel from the peoples among which they have been dispersed, and have shown Myself holy through them in the sight of the nations, they shall settle on their own soil, which I gave to My servant Jacob, 26and they shall dwell on it in security. They shall build houses and plant vineyards, and shall dwell on it in security, when I have meted out punishment to all those about them who despise them. And they shall know that I the LORD am their God.

29 In the tenth year, on the twelfth day of the tenth month, the word of the LORD came to me: 2O mortal, turn your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him and against all Egypt. 3Speak these words:

Thus said the Lord GOD:
I am going to deal with you, O Pharaoh king of Egypt,
Mighty monster, sprawling in your[a] channels,
Who said,
My Nile is my own;
I made it for myself.
4I will put hooks in your jaws,
And make the fish of your channels
Cling to your scales;
I will haul you up from your channels,
With all the fish of your channels
Clinging to your scales.
5And I will fling you into the desert,
With all the fish of your channels.
You shall be left lying in the open,
Ungathered and unburied:
I have given you as food
To the beasts of the earth
And the birds of the sky.
6Then all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know
That I am the LORD.
Because you[b] were a staff of reed
To the House of Israel:

[7]When they grasped you with the hand, you would splinter,
And wound all their shoulders,[c]
And when they leaned on you, you would break,
And make all their loins unsteady.[d]

[8]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: Lo, I will bring a sword against you, and will cut off man and beast from you, [9]so that the land of Egypt shall fall into desolation and ruin. And they shall know that I am the LORD—because he boasted, "The Nile is mine, and I made it." [10]Assuredly, I am going to deal with you and your channels, and I will reduce the land of Egypt to utter ruin and desolation, [e]from Migdol to Syene, all the way to the border of Nubia.[-e] [11]No foot of man shall traverse it, and no foot of beast shall traverse it; and it shall remain uninhabited for forty years. [12]For forty years I will make the land of Egypt the most desolate of desolate lands, and its cities shall be the most desolate of ruined cities. And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries.

[13]Further, thus said the Lord GOD: After a period of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the peoples among whom they were dispersed. [14]I will restore the fortunes of the Egyptians and bring them back to the land of their origin, the land of Pathros,[f] and there they shall be a lowly kingdom. [15]It shall be the lowliest of all the kingdoms, and shall not lord it over the nations again. I will reduce the Egyptians,[g] so that they shall have no dominion over the nations. [16]Never again shall they be the trust of the House of Israel, recalling its guilt in having turned to them. And they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

[17]In the twenty-seventh year, on the first day of the first month, the word of the LORD came to me: [18]O mortal, King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon has made his army expend vast labor on Tyre; every head is rubbed bald and every shoulder scraped. But he and his army have had no return for the labor he expended on Tyre. [19]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon. He shall carry off her wealth and take her spoil and seize her booty; and she shall be the recompense of his army. [20]As the wage for which he labored, for what they did for Me, I give him the land of Egypt—declares the Lord GOD.

[21]On that day I will [h-]endow the House of Israel with strength, and you shall be vindicated[-h] among them. And they shall know that I am the LORD.

The word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, prophesy and say: Thus said the Lord GOD:

Wail, alas for the day!
[3]For a day is near;
A day of the LORD is near.
It will be a day of cloud,
An hour of [invading] nations.
[4]A sword shall pierce Egypt,
And Nubia shall be seized with trembling,
When men fall slain in Egypt
And her wealth is seized
And her foundations are overthrown.

[5]Nubia, Put, and Lud, and all [a-]the mixed populations,[-a] and Cub, and the inhabitants of the allied countries shall fall by the sword with them.

[10]Thus said the Lord GOD: I will put an end to the wealth of Egypt through King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon. [11]He, together with his troops, the most ruthless of the nations, shall be brought to ravage the land. And they shall unsheathe the sword against Egypt and fill the land with the slain.

[12]I will turn the channels into dry ground, and I will deliver the land into the hands of evil men. I will lay waste the land and everything in it by the hands of strangers. I the LORD have spoken.

[13]Thus said the Lord GOD: I will destroy the fetishes and make an end of the idols in Noph; and no longer shall there be a prince in the land of Egypt; and I will strike the land of Egypt with fear. [14]I will lay Pathros waste, I will set fire to Zoan, and I will execute judgment on No. [15]I will pour out my anger upon Sin, the stronghold of Egypt, and I will destroy the wealth of No. [16]I will set fire to Egypt; Sin shall writhe in anguish and No shall be torn apart; [a]-and Noph [shall face] adversaries in broad daylight.-[a] [17]The young men of Aven[b] and Pi-beseth shall fall by the sword, and those [towns] shall go into [22]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: I am going to deal with Pharaoh king of Egypt. I will break his arms, both the sound one and the injured, and make the sword drop from his hand. [23]I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. [24]I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put My sword in his hand; and I will break the arms of Pharaoh, and he shall groan before him with the groans of one struck down. [25]I will make firm the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh shall fail. And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I put My sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he lifts it against the land of Egypt. Who was comparable to you in greatness?

[3]Assyria was a cedar in Lebanon
With beautiful branches and [a]-shady thickets,-[a]
Of lofty stature,
With its top among [b]-leafy trees.-[b]
[4]Waters nourished it,
The deep made it grow tall,
Washing with its streams
The place where it was planted,
Making its channels well up
[c]-To all-[c] the trees of the field.
[5]Therefore it exceeded in stature
All the trees of the field;
Its branches multiplied and its boughs grew long
Because of the abundant water
That welled up for it.
[6]In its branches nested
All the birds of the sky;
All the beasts of the field
Bore their young under its boughs,
And in its shadow lived
All the great nations.
[7]It was beautiful in its height,
In the length of its branches,
Because its stock stood
By abundant waters.
[8]Cedars in the garden of God
Could not compare with it;
Cypresses could not match its boughs,
And plane trees could not vie with its branches;
No tree in the garden of God
Was its peer in beauty.
[9]I made it beautiful
In the profusion of its branches;
And all the trees of Eden envied it
In the garden of God.

v. 5 א׳ במקום ה׳

[10]Assuredly, thus said the Lord God: Because it[d] towered high in stature, and thrust its top up among the [b]-leafy trees,-[b] and it was arrogant in its height, [11]I delivered it into the hands of the mightiest of nations. They treated it as befitted its wickedness. I banished it. [12]Strangers, the most ruthless of nations, cut it down and abandoned it; its branches fell on the mountains and in every valley; its boughs were splintered in every watercourse of the earth; and all the peoples of the earth departed from its shade and abandoned it. [13]Upon its fallen trunk all the birds of the sky nest, and all the beasts of the field lodge among its boughs—[14]so that no trees by water should exalt themselves in stature or set their tops among the [b]-leafy trees,-[b] and that no well-watered tree may reach up to them in height. For they are all consigned to death, to the lowest part of the netherworld,[e] together with human beings who descend into the Pit.

[15]Thus said the Lord God: On the day it went down to Sheol, I closed[f] the deep over it and covered it; I held back its streams, and the great waters were checked. I made Lebanon mourn deeply for it, and all the trees of the field languished on its account. [16]I made nations quake at the crash of its fall, when I cast it down to Sheol with those who descend into the Pit; and all the trees of Eden, the choicest and best of Lebanon, all that were well watered, were consoled in the lowest part of the netherworld. [17]They also descended with it into Sheol, to those slain by the sword, together with its supporters,[g] they who had lived under its shadow among the nations.

[18][Now you know] who is comparable to you in glory and greatness among the trees of Eden. And you too shall be brought down with the

In the twelfth year, on the first day of the twelfth month, the word of the LORD came to me: 2O mortal, intone a dirge over Pharaoh king of Egypt. Say to him:

[a]-O great beast among the nations,-[a] you are doomed!
You are like the dragon in the seas,
Thrusting through their[b] streams,
Stirring up the water with your feet
And muddying their streams!
3Thus said the Lord GOD:
I will cast My net over you
In an assembly of many peoples,
And you shall be hauled up in My toils.
4And I will fling you to the ground,
Hurl you upon the open field.
I will cause all the birds of the sky
To settle upon you.
I will cause the beasts of all the earth
To batten on you.
5I will cast your carcass upon the hills
And fill the valleys with your [a]-rotting flesh.-[a]
6I will drench the earth
With your oozing blood upon the hills,
And the watercourses shall be filled with your [gore].
7When you are snuffed out,
I will cover the sky
And darken its stars;
I will cover the sun with clouds
And the moon shall not give its light.

I will darken above you;
And I will bring darkness upon your land
—declares the Lord GOD.
[9]I will vex the hearts of many peoples
When I bring your [c]shattered remnants[c] among the nations,
To countries which you never knew.
[10]I will strike many peoples with horror over your fate;
And their kings shall be aghast over you,
When I brandish My sword before them.
They shall tremble continually,
Each man for his own life,
On the day of your downfall.
[11]For thus said the Lord GOD:
The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon you.
[12]I will cause your multitude to fall
By the swords of warriors,
All the most ruthless among the nations.
They shall ravage the splendor of Egypt,
And all her masses shall be wiped out.
[13]I will make all her cattle vanish from beside abundant waters;
The feet of man shall not muddy them any more,
Nor shall the hoofs of cattle muddy them.
[14]Then I will let their waters settle,
And make their rivers flow like oil
—declares the Lord GOD:
[15]When I lay the land of Egypt waste,
When the land is emptied of [the life] that filled it,
When I strike down all its inhabitants.
And they shall know that I am the LORD.
[16]This is a dirge, and it shall be intoned;
The women of the nations shall intone it,
They shall intone it over Egypt and all her multitude
—declares the Lord GOD.

[17]In the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month,[d] the word of the LORD came to me: [18][e]O mortal, wail [the dirge]—along with the women of the mighty nations—over the masses of Egypt, accompanying their descent to the lowest part of the netherworld, among those who have gone down into the Pit. [19][f-]Whom do you surpass in beauty? Down with you, and be laid to rest with the uncircumcised! [20]They shall lie amid those slain by the sword,[-f][e][amid those slain by] the sword [Egypt] has been dragged and left with all her masses.

[21]From the depths of Sheol the mightiest of warriors speak to him and his allies; the uncircumcised, the slain by the sword, have gone down and lie [there]. [22]Assyria is there with all her company, their graves round about, all of them slain, fallen by the sword. [23]Their graves set in the farthest recesses of the Pit, all her company are round about her tomb, all of them slain, fallen by the sword—they who struck terror in the land of the living. [24]There too is Elam and all her masses round about her tomb, all of them slain, fallen by the sword—they who descended uncircumcised to the lowest part of the netherworld, who struck terror in the land of the living—now they bear their shame with those who have gone down to the Pit. [25]They made a bed for her among the slain, with all her masses; their graves are round about her. They are all uncircumcised, slain by the sword. Though their terror was once spread over the land of the living, they bear their shame with those who have gone into the Pit; they are placed among the slain. [26]Meshech and Tubal and all their masses are there; their graves are round about. They are all uncircumcised, pierced through by the sword—they who once struck terror in the land of the living. [27]And they do not lie with the fallen uncircumcised warriors, the warning, he would have saved his life. [6]But if the watchman sees the sword advancing and does not blow the horn, so that the people are not warned, and the sword comes and destroys one of them, that person was destroyed for his own sins; however, I will demand a reckoning for his blood from the watchman.

[7]Now, O mortal, I have appointed you a watchman for the House of Israel; and whenever you hear a message from My mouth, you must transmit My warning to them. [8]When I say to the wicked, "Wicked man, you shall die," but you have not spoken to warn the wicked man against his way, he, that wicked man, shall die for his sins, but I will demand a reckoning for his blood from you. [9]But if you have warned the wicked man to turn back from his way, and he has not turned from his way, he shall die for his own sins, but you will have saved your life.

[10]Now, O mortal, say to the House of Israel: This is what you have been saying: "Our transgressions and our sins weigh heavily upon us; we are sick at heart about them. How can we survive?" [11]Say to them: As I live—declares the Lord God—it is not My desire that the wicked shall die, but that the wicked turn from his [evil] ways and live. Turn back, turn back from your evil ways, that you may not die, O House of Israel!

[12]Now, O mortal, say to your fellow countrymen: The righteousness of the righteous shall not save him when he transgresses, nor shall the wickedness of the wicked cause him to stumble when he turns back from his wickedness. The righteous shall not survive through [a]his righteousness[a] when he sins. [13]When I say of the righteous "He shall surely live," and, relying on his righteousness, he commits iniquity, none of his righteous deeds shall be remembered; but for the iniquity that he has committed he shall die. shall die," and he turns back from his sinfulness and does what is just and right—15 if the wicked man restores a pledge, makes good what he has taken by robbery, follows the laws of life,[b] and does not commit iniquity—he shall live, he shall not die. 16 None of the sins that he committed shall be remembered against him; since he does what is just and right, he shall live.

17 Your fellow countrymen say, "The way of the Lord is unfair." But it is their way that is unfair! 18 When a righteous man turns away from his righteous deeds and commits iniquity, he shall die [c]for it.[c] 19 And when a wicked man turns back from his wickedness and does what is just and right, it is he who shall live by virtue of these things. 20 And will you say, "The way of the Lord is unfair"? I will judge each one of you according to his ways, O House of Israel!

21 In the twelfth year of our exile, on the fifth day of the tenth month, a fugitive came to me from Jerusalem and reported, "The city has fallen." 22 Now the hand of the LORD had come upon me the evening before the fugitive arrived, and He opened my mouth before he came to me in the morning; thus my mouth was opened and I was no longer speechless.

23 The word of the LORD came to me: 24 O mortal, those who live in these ruins in the land of Israel argue, "Abraham was but one man, yet he was granted possession of the land. We are many; surely, the land has been given as a possession to us." 25 Therefore say to them: Thus said the Lord GOD: You eat with the blood, you raise your eyes to your fetishes, and you shed blood—yet you expect to possess the land! 26 You have relied on your sword, you have committed abominations, you have all defiled other men's wives—yet you expect to possess the land!

[27]Thus shall you speak to them: Thus said the Lord God: As I live, those who are in the ruins shall fall by the sword, and those who are in the open I have allotted as food to the beasts, and those who are in the strongholds and caves shall die by pestilence. [28]I will make the land a desolate waste, and her proud glory shall cease; and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, with none passing through. [29]And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I make the land a desolate waste on account of all the abominations which they have committed.

you slaughter the fatlings; but you do not tend the flock. 4You have not sustained the weak, healed the sick, or bandaged the injured; you have not brought back the strayed, or looked for the lost; but you have driven them with harsh rigor, 5and they have been scattered for want of anyone to tend them; scattered, they have become prey for every wild beast. 6My sheep stray through all the mountains and over every lofty hill; My flock is scattered all over the face of the earth, with none to take thought of them and none to seek them. 7Hear then, O shepherds, the word of the LORD! 8As I live—declares the Lord GOD: Because My flock has been a spoil—My flock has been a prey for all the wild beasts, for want of anyone to tend them since My shepherds have not taken thought of My flock, for the shepherds tended themselves instead of tending the flock—9hear indeed, O shepherds, the word of the LORD: 10Thus said the Lord GOD: I am going to deal with the shepherds! I will demand a reckoning of them for My flock, and I will dismiss them from tending the flock. feed on rich grazing land. [15]I Myself will graze My flock, and I Myself will let them lie down—declares the Lord God. [16]I will look for the lost, and I will bring back the strayed; I will bandage the injured, and I will sustain the weak; and the fat and healthy ones I will destroy.[c] I will tend them rightly.

[17]And as for you, My flock, thus said the Lord God: I am going to judge between one animal and another.

To the rams and the bucks: [18]Is it not enough for you to graze on choice grazing ground, but you must also trample with your feet what is left from your grazing? And is it not enough for you to drink [d-]clear water,[-d] but you must also muddy with your feet what is left? [19]And must My flock graze on what your feet have trampled and drink what your feet have muddied? [20]Assuredly, thus said the Lord God to them: Here am I, I am going to decide between the stout animals and the lean. [21]Because you pushed with flank and shoulder against the feeble ones and butted them with your horns until you scattered them abroad, [22]I will rescue My flock and they shall no longer be a spoil. I will decide between one animal and another.

[23]Then I will appoint a single shepherd over them to tend them—My servant David. He shall tend them, he shall be a shepherd to them. [24]I the Lord will be their God, and My servant David shall be a ruler among them—I the Lord have spoken. [25]And I will grant them a covenant of friendship. I will banish vicious beasts from their land, and they shall live secure in the wasteland, they shall even sleep in the woodland. [26]I will make [e-]these and the environs of My hill[-e] a blessing: I will send down the rain in its season, rains that bring blessing. And you, O mortal, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say: O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD:

[2]Thus said the Lord GOD: Because the enemy gloated over you, "Aha! Those ancient heights have become our possession!" [3]therefore prophesy, and say: Thus said the Lord GOD: Just because a-they eagerly lusted to see you become a possession of the other nations round about, so that you have become the butt of gossip in every language and of the jibes from every people-a— [4]truly, you mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD: Thus said the Lord GOD to the mountains and the hills, to the watercourses and the valleys, and to the desolate wastes and deserted cities which have become a prey and a laughingstock to the other nations round about:

[5]Assuredly, thus said the Lord GOD: I have indeed spoken in My blazing wrath against the other nations and against all of Edom which, [a]-with wholehearted glee and with contempt, have made My land a possession for themselves for pasture and for prey.-[a] [6]Yes, prophesy about the land of Israel, and say to the mountains and the hills, to the watercourses and to the valleys, Thus said the Lord GOD: Behold, I declare in My blazing wrath: Because you have suffered the taunting of the nations, [7]thus said the Lord GOD: I hereby swear that the nations which surround you shall, in their turn, suffer disgrace. [8]But you, O mountains of Israel, shall yield your produce and bear your fruit for My people Israel, for their return is near. [9]For I will care for you: I will turn to you, and you shall be tilled and sown. [10]I will settle a large population on you, the whole House of Israel; the towns shall be resettled, and the ruined sites rebuilt. [11]I will multiply men and beasts upon you, and they shall increase and be fertile, and I will resettle you as you were formerly, and will make you more prosperous than you were at first. And you shall know that I am the LORD. [12]I will lead men—My people Israel—to you, and they shall possess you. You shall be their heritage, and you shall not again cause them to be bereaved.

[13]Thus said the Lord GOD: Because they say to you, "You are [a land] that devours men, you have been a bereaver of your nations,"[b] [14]assuredly, you shall devour men no more, you shall never again bereave your nations—declares the Lord GOD. [15]No more will I allow the jibes of the nations to be heard against you, no longer shall you suffer the taunting of the peoples; and never again shall you cause your nations to stumble[c]—declares the Lord GOD.

v. 5. א׳ במקום ה׳

[16]The word of the LORD came to me: [17]O mortal, when the House of Israel dwelt on their own soil, they defiled it with their ways and their deeds; their ways were in My sight like the uncleanness of a menstruous woman. [18]So I poured out My wrath on them for the blood which they shed upon their land, and for the fetishes with which they defiled it. [19]I scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed through the countries: I punished them in accordance with their ways and their deeds. [20]But when they came [d-]to those nations,[-d] they caused My holy name to be profaned,[e] in that it was said of them, "These are the people of the LORD, yet they had to leave His land." [21]Therefore I am concerned for My holy name, which the House of Israel have caused to be profaned among the nations to which they have come.

[22]Say to the House of Israel: Thus said the Lord GOD: Not for your sake will I act, O House of Israel, but for My holy name, which you have caused to be profaned among the nations to which you have come. [23]I will sanctify My great name which has been profaned among the nations—among whom you have caused it to be profaned. And the nations shall know that I am the LORD—declares the Lord GOD—when I manifest My holiness before their eyes through you. [24]I will take you from among the nations and gather you from all the countries, and I will bring you back to your own land. [25]I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and you shall be clean: I will cleanse you from all your uncleanness and from all your fetishes. [26]And I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit into you: I will remove the heart of stone from your body and give you a heart of flesh; [27]and I will put My spirit into you. Thus I will cause you to follow My laws and faithfully to observe My rules. [28]Then you shall dwell in the land which I gave to your fathers, and you shall be My people and I will be your God.

29 And when I have delivered you from all your uncleanness, I will summon the grain and make it abundant, and I will not bring famine upon you. 30 I will make the fruit of your trees and the crops of your fields abundant, so that you shall never again be humiliated before the nations because of famine. 31 Then you shall recall your evil ways and your base conduct, and you shall loathe yourselves for your iniquities and your abhorrent practices. 32 Not for your sake will I act—declares the Lord God—take good note! Be ashamed and humiliated because of your ways, O House of Israel!

33 Thus said the Lord God: When I have cleansed you of all your iniquities, I will people your settlements, and the ruined places shall be rebuilt; 34 and the desolate land, after lying waste in the sight of every passerby, shall again be tilled. 35 And men shall say, "That land, once desolate, has become like the garden of Eden; and the cities, once ruined, desolate, and ravaged, are now populated and fortified." 36 And the nations that are left around you shall know that I the Lord have rebuilt the ravaged places and replanted the desolate land. I the Lord have spoken and will act.

37 Thus said the Lord God: Moreover, in this I will respond to the House of Israel and act for their sake: I will multiply their people like sheep. 38 As Jerusalem is filled with sacrificial sheep during her festivals, so shall the ruined cities be filled with flocks of people. And they shall know that I am the Lord.

The hand of the Lord came upon me. He took me out by the spirit of the Lord and set me down in the valley. It was full of bones.

[2]He led me all around them; there were very many of them spread over the valley, and they were very dry. [3]He said to me, "O mortal, can these bones live again?" I replied, "O Lord God, only You know." [4]And He said to me, "Prophesy over these bones and say to them: O dry bones, hear the word of the Lord! [5]Thus said the Lord God to these bones: I will cause breath to enter you and you shall live again. [6]I will lay sinews upon you, and cover you with flesh, and form skin over you. And I will put breath into you, and you shall live again. And you shall know that I am the Lord!"

[7]I prophesied as I had been commanded. And while I was prophesying, suddenly there was a sound of rattling, and the bones came together, bone to matching bone. [8]I looked, and there were sinews on them, and flesh had grown, and skin had formed over them; but there was no breath in them. [9]Then He said to me, "Prophesy to the breath, prophesy, O mortal! Say to the breath: Thus said the Lord God: Come, O breath, from the four winds, and breathe into these slain, that they may live again." [10]I prophesied as He commanded me. The breath entered them, and they came to life and stood up on their feet, a vast multitude.

[11]And He said to me, "O mortal, these bones are the whole House of Israel. They say, 'Our bones are dried up, our hope is gone; we are doomed.' [12]Prophesy, therefore, and say to them: Thus said the Lord God: I am going to open your graves and lift you out of the graves, O My people, and bring you to the land of Israel. [13]You shall know, O My people, that I am the Lord, when I have opened your graves and lifted you out of your graves. [14]I will put My breath into you and you shall live again, and I will set you upon your own soil. Then you shall know that I the Lord have spoken and have acted"—declares the Lord.

[15]The word of the LORD came to me: [16]And you, O mortal, take a stick and write on it, "Of Judah and the Israelites associated with him"; and take another stick and write on it, "Of Joseph—the stick of Ephraim—and all the House of Israel associated with him." [17]Bring them close to each other, so that they become one stick, joined together in your hand. [18]And when any of your people ask you, "Won't you tell us what these actions of yours mean?" [19]answer them, "Thus said the Lord GOD: I am going to take the stick of Joseph—which is in the hand of Ephraim—and of the tribes of Israel associated with him, and I will place the stick of Judah [a]upon it[a] and make them into one stick; they shall be joined in My hand." [20]You shall hold up before their eyes the sticks which you have inscribed, [21]and you shall declare to them: Thus said the Lord GOD: I am going to take the Israelite people from among the nations they have gone to, and gather them from every quarter, and bring them to their own land. [22]I will make them a single nation in the land, on the hills of Israel, and one king shall be king of them all. Never again shall they be two nations, and never again shall they be divided into two kingdoms. The word of the LORD came to me: [2]O mortal, turn your face toward Gog of the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. Prophesy against him [3]and say: Thus said the Lord GOD: Lo, I am coming to deal with you, O Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal! [4]I will turn you around and put hooks in your jaws, and lead you out with all your army, horses, and horsemen, all of them clothed in splendor, a vast assembly, all of them with bucklers and shields, wielding swords. [5]Among them shall be Persia, Nubia, and Put, everyone with shield and helmet; [6]Gomer and all its cohorts, Beth-togarmah [in] the remotest parts of the north and all its cohorts—the many peoples with you.[a] [7]Be ready, prepare yourselves, you and all the battalions mustered about you, and hold yourself in reserve for them.[b] [8]After a long time you shall be summoned; in the distant future you shall march against the land [of a people] restored from the sword, gathered from the midst of many peoples—against the mountains of Israel, which have long lain desolate—[a people] liberated from the nations, and now all dwelling secure. [9]You shall advance, coming like a storm; you shall be like a cloud covering the earth, you and all your cohorts, and the many peoples with you.

[10]Thus said the Lord GOD: On that day, a thought will occur to you, and you will conceive a wicked design. [11]You will say, "I will invade a land of open towns, I will fall upon a tranquil people living secure, all of them living in unwalled towns and lacking bars and gates, [12]in order to take spoil and seize plunder"—to turn your hand against repopulated wastes, and against a people gathered from among nations, acquiring livestock and possessions, living at the center of the earth. [13]Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants and all the magnates of Tarshish will say to you, "Have you come to take spoil? Is it to seize plunder that you assembled your hordes—to carry off silver and gold, to make off with livestock and goods, to gather an immense booty?"

[14]Therefore prophesy, O mortal, and say to Gog: Thus said the Lord GOD: Surely, on that day, when My people Israel are living secure, you will [c]take note,[c] [15]and you will come from your home in the farthest north, you and many peoples with you—all of them mounted on horses, a vast horde, a mighty army—[16]and you will advance upon My people Israel, like a cloud covering the earth. This shall happen on that distant day: I will bring you to My land, that the nations may know Me when, before their eyes, I manifest My holiness through you, O Gog!

[17]Thus said the Lord GOD: Why, you are the one I spoke of in ancient days through My servants, the prophets of Israel, who prophesied for years in those days that I would bring you against them!

[18]On that day, when Gog sets foot on the soil of Israel—declares the Lord GOD—My raging anger shall flare up. [19]For I have decreed in My indignation and in My blazing wrath: On that day, a terrible earthquake shall befall the land am holy in Israel. [8]Ah! it has come, it has happened—declares the Lord GOD: this is that day that I decreed.

[9]Then the inhabitants of the cities of Israel will go out and make fires and feed them with the weapons—shields and bucklers, bows and arrows, clubs and spears; they shall use them as fuel for seven years. [10]They will not gather firewood in the fields or cut any in the forests, but will use the weapons as fuel for their fires. They will despoil those who despoiled them and plunder those who plundered them—declares the Lord GOD.

[11]On that day I will assign to Gog a burial site there in Israel—the Valley of the Travelers, east of the Sea. It shall block the path of travelers, for there Gog and all his multitude will be buried. It shall be called the Valley of Gog's Multitude. [12]The House of Israel shall spend seven months burying them, in order to cleanse the land; [13]all the people of the land shall bury them. [a]-The day I manifest My glory shall bring renown to them-[a]—declares the Lord GOD. [14]And they shall appoint men to serve permanently, to traverse the land and bury any invaders who remain above ground, in order to cleanse it. The search shall go on for a period of seven months. [15]As those who traverse the country make their rounds, any one of them who sees a human bone shall erect a marker beside it, until the buriers have interred them in the Valley of Gog's Multitude. [16][a]-There shall also be a city named Multitude.-[a] And thus the land shall be cleansed.

[17]And you, O mortal, say to every winged bird and to all the wild beasts: Thus said the Lord GOD: Assemble, come and gather from all around for the sacrificial feast that I am preparing for you—a great sacrificial feast—upon the mountains of Israel, and eat flesh and drink blood. [18]You shall eat the flesh of warriors and drink the blood of the princes of the earth: rams, lambs, he-goats, and bulls—fatlings of Bashan all of them. [19]You shall eat fat to satiety and drink your fill of blood from the sacrificial feast that I have prepared for you. [20]And you shall sate yourselves at My table with horses, charioteers,[b] warriors, and all fighting men—declares the Lord God. [22]From that time on, the House of Israel shall know that I the Lord am their God. [23]And the nations shall know that the House of Israel were exiled only for their iniquity, because they trespassed against Me, so that I hid My face from them and delivered them into the hands of their adversaries, and they all fell by the sword. [24]When I hid My face from them, I dealt with them according to their uncleanness and their transgressions.

[25]Assuredly, thus said the Lord God: I will now restore the fortunes of Jacob and take the whole House of Israel back in love; and I will be zealous for My holy name. [26]They will bear[c] their shame and all their trespasses that they committed against Me, when they dwell in their land secure and untroubled, [27]when I have brought them back from among the peoples and gathered them out of the lands of their enemies and have manifested My holiness through them in the sight of many nations. [28]They shall know that I the Lord am their God when, having exiled them among the nations, I gather them back into their land and leave none of them behind. v. 26. חסר א'

In the twenty-fifth year of our exile,[a] the fourteenth year after the city had fallen, at the beginning of the year, the tenth day of the month—on that very day—the hand of the LORD came upon me, and He brought me there. [2]He brought me, in visions of God, to the Land of Israel, and He set me down on a very high mountain[b] on which there seemed to be the outline of a city [c-]on the south.[-c] [3]He brought me over to it, and there, standing at the gate, was a man who shone like copper. In his hand were a cord of linen and a measuring rod. [4]The man spoke to me: "Mortal, look closely and listen attentively and note well everything I am going to show you—for you have been brought here in order to be shown—and report everything you see to the House of Israel."

[5]Along the outside of the Temple [area] ran a wall on every side. The rod that the man held was six cubits long, plus one handbreadth for each cubit; and when he applied it to that structure, it measured one rod deep[d] and one rod high.

[6]He went up to the gate that faced eastward and mounted its steps. He measured the threshold of the gate; it was one rod deep[d]—[e-]the one threshold was one rod deep.[-e] [7]Each recess was one rod wide and one rod deep, with [a partition of] 5 cubits between recesses; and the threshold of the gate, at the inner vestibule of the gate, was one rod deep. [8][e-]For when he measured it at the inner vestibule of the gate, it was one rod [deep].[-e] [9]Next he measured the vestibule of the gate, and it measured 8 cubits and its supports

2 cubits; the vestibule of the gate was at its inner end. [10][f]On either side of this eastern gate there were three recesses, all three of the same size; of identical sizes were also the supports[g] on either side. [11]He measured the opening of the gate and found it 10 cubits wide, while the gate itself measured 13 cubits across.[h] [12]At the fronts of the recesses on either side were [e]-barriers of one cubit;-[e] the recesses on either side were 6 cubits [deep]. [13]Their openings faced each other directly across the gate passage, so that when he measured from rear[e] of recess to rear[e] of recess he obtained a width of 25 cubits.[i] [14][e]-He made the vestibule[j]—60 cubits—and the gate next to the support on every side of the court.-[e] [15]And [the distance] from the front of the outer[e] gate to the front of the inner vestibule of the gate was 50 cubits. [16]The recesses—and their supports—had windows [e]-with frames-[e] on the interior of the gate complex on both sides, and the interiors of the vestibules also had windows on both sides; and the supports were adorned with palms.

[17]He took me into the outer court. There were chambers there, and there was a pavement laid out all around the court. There were 30 chambers on the pavement. [18]The pavements flanked the gates; the depth of the lower[k] pavements paralleled that of the gates. [19]Then he measured the width of [l]-the lower[k] court, from in front of the inner gate to in front of the outer gate-[l]—100 cubits.

[e]-After the east [gate], the north [gate].-[e] [20]Next he measured the gate of the outer court that faced north: its length and its width, [21]its cesses, supports, and vestibule had the above measurements. the width at the inner end of the great hall was also 20 cubits. And he said to me, "This is the Holy of Holies."

5 Then he measured the wall of the Temple. [It was] 6 cubits [thick] on every side of the Temple, and the side-chamber measured 4 cubits [across].[d] 6 The side chambers were arranged one above the other, in 33 sections.[e] All around, there were projections in the Temple wall to serve the side chambers as supports, so that [their] supports should not be the Temple wall itself. 7 The [f]winding passage[f] of the side chambers widened from story to story; [g]and since the structure was furnished all over with winding passages from story to story, the structure itself became wider from story to story.[g] It was by this means that one ascended from the bottom story to the top one by way of the middle one.

8 I observed that the Temple was surrounded by a raised pavement—the foundations of the side chambers; its elevation was a rod's length, or 6 cubits. 9 The outer wall of the side chamber was 5 cubits thick, and that which served as a walk between the Temple's side chambers 10 and the chamber complexes[h] was 20 cubits wide all around the Temple. 11 Of entrances to the side chambers giving on the walk, there was one entrance on the north side and one entrance on the south side; and the space[i] of the walk was 5 cubits thick all around. 12 And the structure that fronted on the vacant space at the [Temple's] western end was 70 cubits deep;[a] the walls of the structure were 5 cubits thick on every side; and it was 90 cubits wide.[a]

13 He measured the [total] depth of the Temple, 100 cubits;[j] and the depth of the vacant space and of the structure, with its walls, also came to 100 cubits.[k] [14]The front side of the Temple, like the vacant space on the east, was 100 cubits wide.[l] [15]He also measured the width[a] of the structure facing the vacant space in the rear, inclusive of its ledges,[m] 100 cubits.

Both the great hall inside and the portico next to the court—[16][n-]the thresholds[-n]—and the windows [o-]with frames[-o] and the ledges[p] at the threshold, all over the three parts of each, were completely overlaid[o] with wood. There was wainscoting from the floor to the windows, including the window [frame]s [17]and extending above the openings, [q-]both in the inner Temple and outside.[-q] And all over the wall, [q-]both in the inner one and in the outer,[-q] ran a pattern.[o] [18]It consisted of cherubs and palm trees, with a palm tree between every two cherubs. Each cherub had two faces: [19]a human face turned toward the palm tree on one side and a lion's face turned toward the palm tree on the other side. This was repeated all over the Temple; [20]the cherubs and the palm trees were carved on[r] the wall from the floor to above the openings.

As regards the great hall, [21]the great hall had four doorposts; and before the Shrine was something resembling [22]a wooden altar 3 cubits high and 2 cubits long and having inner cor-then from the middle ones. [6]For they were arranged in three tiers, and they had no columns like those of the chambers in the courts.[h] That is why the rise proceeded by stages: from the ground, from the bottom ones, and from the middle ones. [7]In the outer court, a wall 50 cubits long ran parallel to the chamber complex up to the chambers in the outer court;[h] [8]for the chambers in the outer court were themselves 50 cubits deep, thus completing 100 cubits alongside the edifice.[i] [9]Thus, at the foot of that complex of chambers ran a passage[j]—[k]of a width set by the wall in the outer court[-k]—which one entered from the east in order to gain access to them from the outer court.

[10]There was another chamber complex to the east[l] of the vacant space and the structure, [11]likewise with a passage in front—just like the complex on the north side, with which this one agreed in width[b] and depth[b] and in the exact layout of its exits and entrances. [12]Accordingly, the entrances to the chamber complex on the south side were approached from the east by the entrance at the head of [m]the corresponding passage along the matching wall.[-m]

[13]And he said to me, "The northern chambers and the southern chambers by the vacant space are the consecrated chambers in which the priests who have access to the LORD shall eat the most holy offerings. There they shall deposit the most holy offerings—the meal offerings, the sin offerings, and the guilt offerings, for the place is consecrated. [14]When the priests enter, they shall not proceed from the consecrated place to the outer court without first leaving here the vestments in which they minister; for the [vestments] are consecrated. c-c So with a number of Heb. mss. The usual vocalization yields "their shrines."

d The south wall of the First Temple enclosure was also the north wall of the royal enclosure; the two communicated by the Gate of the Guard (2 Kings 11.19). Thus Temple and palace could be regarded as a single dwelling ("tent") in the sense of Num. 19.14, and the death of a king in the palace would defile the Temple. Hence the zoning provisions of 45.2 ff.

e In accordance with the three preceding chapters; cf. 40.4.

4 cubits. [16]Now the hearth shall be 12 cubits long and 12 broad, square, with 4 equal sides. [17]Hence, the [upper] base[j] shall be 14 cubits broad, with 4 equal sides. The surrounding rim shall be half a cubit [high],[k] and the surrounding trench shall measure one cubit. And the ramp[l] shall face east.

[18]Then he[b] said to me: O mortal, thus said the Lord GOD: These are the directions for the altar on the day it is erected, so that burnt offerings may be offered up on it and blood dashed against it. [19]You shall give to the levitical priests who are of the stock of Zadok, and so eligible to minister to Me—declares the Lord GOD—a young bull of the herd for a sin offering. [20]You shall take some of its blood and apply it to [m-]the four horns [of the altar],[-m] to the four corners of the base, and to the surrounding rim; thus you shall purge it and perform purification upon it. [21]Then you shall take the bull of sin offering and burn it in the [n-]designated area[-n] of the Temple, outside the Sanctuary.

[22]On the following day, you shall offer a goat without blemish as a sin offering; and the altar shall be purged [with it] just as it was purged with the bull. [23]When you have completed the ritual of purging, you shall offer a bull of the herd without blemish and a ram of the flock without blemish. [24]Offer them to the LORD; let the priests throw salt on them and offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD. [25]Every day, for seven days, you shall present a goat of sin offering, as well as a bull of the herd and a ram of the flock; you[o] shall present unblemished ones. [26]Seven days they shall purge the altar and cleanse it; [p-]thus shall it be consecrated.[-p]

[27]And when these days are over, then from the eighth day onward the priests shall offer your burnt offerings and your offerings of well-being on the altar; and I will extend My favor to you—declares the Lord GOD.

Then he led me back to the outer gate of the Sanctuary that faced eastward; it was shut. [2]And the LORD said to me: This gate is to be kept shut and is not to be opened! No one shall enter by it because the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered by it; therefore it shall remain shut. [3]Only the prince may sit in it and eat bread before the LORD, since he is a prince; he shall enter by way of [a]the vestibule of the gate,[a] and shall depart by the same way.

[4]Then he led me, by way of the north gate, to the front of the Temple. I looked, and lo! the Presence of the LORD filled the Temple of the LORD; and I fell upon my face. [5]Then the LORD said to me: O mortal, mark well, look closely and listen carefully to everything that I tell you regarding all the laws of the Temple of the LORD and all the instructions regarding it. Note well who may enter the Temple and all who must be excluded from the Sanctuary. [6]And say to the rebellious House of Israel: Thus said the Lord GOD: Too long, O House of Israel, have you committed all your abominations, [7]admitting aliens, uncircumcised of spirit and uncircumcised of flesh, to be in My Sanctuary and profane My very Temple, when you offer up My food—the fat and the blood. You[b] have broken My covenant with all your abominations. [8]You have not discharged the duties concerning My sacred offerings, but have appointed them to discharge the duties of My Sanctuary for you.

Sanctuary—no alien whatsoever among the people of Israel. [10]But the Levites who forsook Me when Israel went astray—straying from Me to follow their fetishes—shall suffer their punishment: [11]They shall be servitors in My Sanctuary, appointed over the Temple gates, and performing the chores of My Temple; they shall slaughter the burnt offerings and the sacrifices for the people. They shall attend on them and serve them. [12]Because they served the House of Israel in the presence of their fetishes and made them stumble into guilt, therefore—declares the Lord God—I have sworn concerning them that they shall suffer their punishment: [13]They shall not approach Me to serve Me as priests, to come near any of My sacred offerings, the most holy things. They shall bear their shame for the abominations that they committed. [14]I will make them watchmen of the Temple, to perform all its chores, everything that needs to be done in it.

[15c]-But the levitical priests descended from Zadok,-[c] who maintained the service of My Sanctuary when the people of Israel went astray from Me—they shall approach Me to minister to Me; they shall stand before Me to offer Me fat and blood—declares the Lord God. [16]They alone may enter My Sanctuary and they alone shall approach My table to minister to Me; and they shall keep My charge. [17]And when they enter the gates of the inner court, they shall wear linen vestments: they shall have nothing woolen upon them when they minister inside the gates of the inner court. [18]They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen breeches on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with anything that causes sweat. [19]When they go out to the outer court—the outer court where the people are—they shall remove the vestments in evictions of My people—declares the Lord GOD. [10]Have honest balances, an honest ephah, and an honest bath.[f] [11]The ephah and the bath shall comprise the same volume, the bath a tenth of a homer and the ephah a tenth of a ḥomer; their capacity shall be gauged by the ḥomer. [12]And the shekel shall weigh 20 gerahs. [g]20 shekels, 25 shekels [and] 10 plus 5 shekels shall count with you as a mina.[g]

[13]This is the contribution you shall make: One-sixth of an ephah from every ḥomer of wheat and one-sixth of an ephah from every ḥomer of barley, [14]while the due from the oil—[h]the oil being measured by the bath[h]—shall be one-tenth of a bath from every kor.—As 10 baths make a ḥomer, so 10 baths make a ḥomer.[i]— [15]And [the due] from the flock shall be one animal from every 200. [All these shall be contributed] from Israel's products[h] for meal offerings, burnt offerings, and offerings of well-being, to make expiation for them—declares the Lord GOD. [16]In this contribution, the entire population must join with the prince in Israel.

[17]But the burnt offerings, the meal offerings, and the libations on festivals, new moons, sabbaths—all fixed occasions—of the House of Israel shall be the obligation of the prince; he shall provide the sin offerings, the meal offerings, the burnt offerings, and the offerings of well-being, to make expiation for the House of Israel.

[18]Thus said the Lord GOD: On the first day of the first month, you shall take a bull of the herd without blemish, and you shall cleanse the Sanctuary. [19]The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering and apply it to the doorposts of the Temple, to the four corners of the [16]Thus said the Lord GOD: If the prince makes a gift to any of his sons, it shall become the latter's inheritance; it shall pass on to his sons; it is their holding by inheritance. [17]But if he makes a gift from his inheritance to any of his subjects, it shall only belong to the latter until the year of release.[c] Then it shall revert to the prince; his inheritance must by all means pass on to his sons.

[18]But the prince shall not take property away from any of the people and rob them of their holdings. Only out of his own holdings shall he endow his sons, in order that My people may not be dispossessed of their holdings.

[19]Then he led me into the passage at the side of the gate to the sacred chambers of the priests, which face north, and there, at the rear of it, in the west, I saw a space. [20]He said to me, "This is the place where the priests shall boil the guilt offerings and the sin offerings, and where they shall bake the meal offerings, so as not to take them into the outer court and [d-]make the people consecrated."[-d] [21]Then he led me into the outer court and led me past the four corners of the court; and in each corner of the court there was an enclosure. [22]These unroofed[e] enclosures, [each] 40 [cubits] long and 30 wide, were in the four corners of the court; the four corner enclosures had the same measurements. [23][On the inside,] running round the four of them, there was a row of masonry, equipped with hearths under the rows all around. [24]He said to me, "These are the kitchens where the Temple servitors shall boil the sacrifices of the people."

He led me back to the entrance of the Temple, and I found that water was issuing from below the platform[a] of the Temple—eastward, since the Temple faced east—but the water was running out at the [b-]south of the altar,[-b] under the south wall of the Temple. [2]Then he led me out by way of the northern gate and led me around to the outside of the outer gate that faces in the direction of the east;[c] and I found that water was gushing from [under] the south wall. [3]As the man went on eastward with a measuring line in his hand, he measured off a thousand cubits and led me across the water; the water was ankle deep. [4]Then he measured off another thousand and led me across the water; the water was knee deep. He measured off a further thousand and led me across the water; the water was up to the waist. [5]When he measured yet another thousand, it was a stream I could not cross; for the water had swollen into a stream that could not be crossed except by swimming. [6]"Do you see, O mortal?" he said to me; and he led me back to the bank of the stream.

[7]As I came back, I saw trees in great profusion on both banks of the stream. [8]"This water," he told me, "runs out to the eastern region, and flows into the Arabah; and when it comes into the sea, into [d-]the sea of foul waters,[-d] the water will become wholesome. of various kinds [and] most plentiful, like the fish of the Great Sea. 11But its swamps and marshes shall not become wholesome; they will serve to [supply] salt. 12All kinds of trees for food will grow up on both banks of the stream. Their leaves will not wither nor their fruit fail; they will yield new fruit every month, because the water for them flows from the Temple. Their fruit will serve for food and their leaves for healing."

13Thus said the Lord GOD: These shall be the boundaries of the land that you shall allot to the twelve tribes of Israel. Joseph shall receive two portions, 14and you shall share the rest equally. As I swore to give it to your fathers, so shall this land fall to you as your heritage. 15These are the boundaries of the land:

As the northern limit: From the Great Sea by way of Hethlon, Lebo-[e]hamath,-[e] Zedad, 16Berathah, Sibraim—which lies between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath—[down to] Hazer-hatticon, which is on the border of Hauran. 17Thus the boundary shall run from the Sea to [f]Hazar-enon,-[f] to the north of the territory of Damascus, with the territory of Hamath to the north of it. That shall be the northern limit.

18As the eastern limit: A line between Hauran and Damascus, and between Gilead and the land of Israel: with the Jordan as a boundary, you shall measure down to the [d]Eastern Sea.-[d] That shall be the eastern limit.

19The southern limit shall run: A line from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth-kadesh, along the Wadi [of Egypt and] the Great Sea. That is the southern limit.

20And as the western limit: The Great Sea shall be the boundary up to a point opposite Lebo-hamath. That shall be the western limit.

e-e Brought up from v. 16 for clarity.
f-f Apparently identical with Hazer-hatticon in v. 16.

HOSEA

הושע

1 The word of the LORD that came to Hosea son of Beeri, in the reigns of Kings Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah of Judah, and in the reign of King Jeroboam son of Joash of Israel.

[2]When the LORD first spoke to Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea, "Go, get yourself [a-]a wife of whoredom and children of whoredom; for the land will stray[b] from following the LORD."[-a] [3]So he went and married Gomer daughter of Diblaim. She conceived and bore him a son, [4]and the LORD instructed him, "Name him Jezreel; for, I will soon punish the House of Jehu[c] for the [d-]bloody deeds at Jezreel[-d] and put an end to the monarchy of the House of Israel. [5]In that day, I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

[6]She conceived again and bore a daughter; and He said to him, "Name her Lo-ruhamah;[e] for I will no longer accept the House of Israel [f-]or pardon them.[-f] ([7]But I will accept the House of Judah. And I will give them victory through the LORD their God; I will not give them victory with bow and sword and battle, by horses and riders.)"

[8]After weaning Lo-ruhamah, she conceived and bore a son. [9]Then He said, "Name him Lo-ammi;[g] for you[h] are not My people, and [i-]I will not be your [God]."[-i]

[a]The number of the people of Israel shall be like that of the sands of the sea, which cannot be measured or counted; and instead of being told, "You are Not-My-People,"[b] they shall be called Children-of-the-Living-God. [2]The people of Judah and the people of Israel shall assemble together and appoint one head over them; and they shall rise from the ground[c]—for marvelous shall be [d]-the day of Jezreel!-[d]

[3]Oh, call[e] your brothers "My People,"
And your sisters "Lovingly Accepted!"

[4]Rebuke[e] your mother, rebuke her—
For she is not My wife
And I am not her husband—
And let her put away her harlotry from her face
And her adultery from between her breasts.
[5]Else will I strip her naked
And leave her as on the day she was born:
And I will make her like a wilderness,
Render her like desert land,
And let her die of thirst.
[6]I will also disown her children;
For they are now a harlot's brood,
[7]In that their mother has played the harlot,
She that conceived them has acted shamelessly—
Because she thought,
"I will go after my lovers,
Who supply my bread and my water,
My wool and my linen,
My oil and my drink."

[8]לָכֵן
הִנְנִי־שָׂךְ אֶת־דַּרְכֵּךְ בַּסִּירִים

a Vv. 1–3 anticipate the conclusion of the chapter.
b See 1.9.
c Meaning, perhaps, "from their wretched condition," or "to ascendancy over the land."
d-d I.e., the day when the name Jezreel will convey a promise (2.23–25) instead of a threat (1.4–5).
e The LORD addresses Hosea and his fellow North Israelites; see 1.9. The mother is the nation; her children the individual North Israelites.

[8]Assuredly,
I will hedge up her[f] roads with thorns
And raise walls against her,
And she shall not find her paths.
[9]Pursue her lovers as she will,
She shall not overtake them;
And seek them as she may,
She shall never find them.
Then she will say,
"I will go and return
To my first husband,
For then I fared better than now."
[10]And she did not consider this:
It was I who bestowed on her
The new grain and wine and oil;
I who lavished silver on her
And gold—which they used for Baal.
[11]Assuredly,
I will take back My new grain in its time
And My new wine in its season,
And I will snatch away My wool and My linen
That serve to cover her nakedness.
[12]Now will I uncover her shame
In the very sight of her lovers,
And none shall save her from Me.
[13]And I will end all her rejoicing:
Her festivals, new moons, and sabbaths—
All her festive seasons.
[14]I will lay waste her vines and her fig trees,
Which she thinks are a fee
She received from her lovers;
I will turn them into brushwood,
And beasts of the field shall devour them.
[15]Thus will I punish her
For the days of the Baalim,
On which she brought them offerings;
When, decked with earrings and jewels,
She would go after her lovers,
Forgetting Me
—declares the LORD.

f Heb. "your." Vv. 8–9 would read well after v. 15.

[16]Assuredly,
I will speak coaxingly to her
And lead her through the wilderness[g]
And speak to her tenderly.
[17]I will give her her vineyards from there,
And the Valley of Achor[h] as a [i-]plowland of hope.[-i]
There she shall respond as in the days of her youth,
When she came up from the land of Egypt.
[18]And in that day
—declares the LORD—
You will call [Me] Ishi,[j]
And no more will you call Me Baali.[j]
[19]For I will remove the names of the Baalim from her mouth,
And they shall nevermore be mentioned by name.

[20]In that day, I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, and the creeping things of the ground; I will also banish[k] bow, sword, and war from the land. Thus I will let them lie down in safety.
